

Chapter 363 A Bug

Janessa would not give up on Rayan. After all, what they had was just a misunderstanding. She knew that Rayan would surely forgive her as long as he still loved her.

As the saying went, it was hard for a man to chase a woman. But it was easy for a woman to chase a man. That will be her motivation.

At that moment, she was determined that she would win back Rayan again. It seemed to be difficult. But Janessa didn't care. Since Rayan had taken ninety steps towards her, she would complete the remaining ten steps.

For a while, Janessa tried to recall Rayan's favorite food. When she finally remembered it, she hummed happily as she cooked in the kitchen.

She even hummed children's songs to her baby. Now that she had a baby, she would tell her baby whatever she did.

Despite knowing that her baby was just a little fetus now, she still wanted to connect with it.

It seemed like every mother would have such a feeling. In her case, she just wanted to tell her baby all sorts of things. Pregnancy was indeed a very magical process. She couldn't see the baby now. She couldn't feel it, either. But she was overflowing with maternal love for her baby. Her heart felt full and warm.

Janessa caressed her flat belly and smiled to herself. After cooking, she put the food in a heat-retaining lunch box. She left a part of them at home for Rayan in case he wanted more. After washing and a few minutes of dolling up, she left with the lunch box in her hands.

After considering for a while, Janessa still drove her car and put the food in the passenger seat. Janessa smiled to herself when she thought about Rayan eating the food she cooked every time.

Janessa knew it was one of his weaknesses against her. "Rayan, let's see how you will react this time." Janessa giggled with satisfaction and drove away.

It might be because it was two o'clock in the afternoon, there weren't many cars on the road. Janessa reached downtown in no time.

Janessa was about to turn to another intersection in front of the Lu Group when the car in front of her suddenly braked. Janessa quickly turned the car to the sidewalk. It was not in accordance with the rules. But it could make the cars behind her be on guard.

Sure enough, the cars behind slowly stopped after Janessa's car stopped on the sidewalk. Janessa breathed heavily, realizing she was holding her breath. Janessa's attention immediately went to Rayan's lunchbox that she placed on the passenger seat.

Because of the sudden brake she did just now, the lunch box on the passenger seat fell to the ground due to inertia. 'Idiot.' Janessa cursed herself. She should have just placed it somewhere safer. With a slight frown, she bent over the driver's seat to look for it. Thankfully, when she took out the lunch box, she opened it and saw that it was fine. Janessa's mood instantly brightened when she realized how lucky she was.

In terms of the lunchbox falling on the car floor, Janessa reasoned to herself. "Fortunately, the car is cleaned regularly. The inside of the car is also not dirty. I should be fine." Janessa looked at the lunch box and smiled happily. However, Janessa's festive mood didn't last long when she suddenly saw something from the corner of her eye. Curious, Janessa took it out. Upon seeing it, she found that it was the cushion compact that Alana gave her.

"I couldn't find it after searching for so long. So this is where it has been." Although it wasn't her favorite, Janessa was still happy to get what she had lost back.

Usually, she would not care about it if she lost the things she bought. However, this was a gift from Alana. That was why she couldn't throw it away. Moreover, she felt it was a waste that had only used it for a week before losing it.

Considering it was a gift, she felt so sorry and guilty when she lost it.

Pleased, Janessa threw the cushion compact on the passenger seat. Unfortunately, it hit the lunchbox.

Then she saw something falling out of the cushion compact.

Curious, Janessa picked it up carefully. It was like a small black ball. She was confused. She didn't know what it was. She didn't place it here herself. But why was it in her cosmetics?

Janessa looked at the thing she was holding more carefully and thought, 'Is this a bug?'

Seeing its appearance, Janessa believed it was a bug. But how could this thing appear in her cosmetics?

Janessa silently thought for a while, looking for the connection. Then, she suddenly remembered that she had met Shelby in a shopping mall. She was sure that Shelby borrowed this cushion compact. Since that day, she had never seen this cushion compact again.

She inspected the thing again. 'So, this must be a bug. I suspect that Shelby had put it in my cushion compact.

No wonder Shelby had never gone to such a high-end place to buy clothes. Janessa thought it was merely a coincidence that Shelby met her that day.

Considering that she put a bug in her things, it seemed that everything was arranged on purpose.

Janessa pressed the bug. Then, suddenly, it recalled all the things she said in the car in the past few days. No wonder Gracie didn't record anything else but the conversation in the car.

Shelby was in cahoots with Gracie.

Janessa laughed bitterly. She truly thought that Shelby had really changed. In the past, Shelby stole a document from her computer and framed her for it. Now, Shelby deceived her again for Gracie.

'Good, very good,' Janessa thought to herself.

Janessa had seen through Shelby. Now that she knew Shelby was such a person, she didn't need to be kind anymore.

Janessa quickly took out her phone and blacklisted Shelby on all social platforms.

Janessa didn't need friends like Shelby who betrayed her. She'd rather be friends with a stone.

Annoyed by what she just knew, Janessa looked at the bug again and had a marvelous idea. Knowing that Gracie must be still recording her, Janessa pretended that she knew nothing and put the bug back into the cushion compact box.

Now that Janessa knew Gracie was listening to her, she had decided she would let that woman listen to how she won Rayan's love back.

Janessa carefully put the cushion compact on the passenger seat and dialed Corbin's number.

Upon answering her call, Janessa said, "Are you in the company?" Janessa said in a soft voice as if water could be squeezed out from it. Anyone would believe she was speaking with Rayan at the moment. She imagined Gracie's jealousy and smirked to herself.

Corbin was audibly surprised by her overly sweet greeting. "W-Well, he is in the company now!" In the first place, Corbin was surprised to receive a call from Janessa. Fortunately, he was not in Rayan's office at that time. If he was, he would have been in trouble.

Although Janessa only said five words, Corbin knew what she wanted to ask was whether Rayan was in the company or not. After all, there was no way that she would ask about whether he himself was in the office.

Remembering Janessa's greeting and tone, he thought, 'When did Janessa begin to talk to me in such a way?' Well, considering Rayan's personality, Corbin believed that he must have arranged it and told Janessa to ask questions in this way.

That must be it. The two of them must have made a deal!

Corbin believed that Rayan and Janessa must have conspired to play tricks on him.

If they didn't, why would they do the same thing at the same time?

"Oh, so you're in the company. I've cooked some food for you. I'm on my way to the company now." Janessa was slightly nervous. She was putting on a show for Gracie. But she didn't know if Corbin would understand.

Confused, Corbin asked, "What's wrong with you? Did something happen?" After all, it was so strange for Janessa to say such words to him. Her tone sounded like she was Corbin's girlfriend.

Corbin was utterly confused like there was some inside joke he was not catching. He didn't know what had happened.

After hearing Corbin's response, Janessa was speechless. Sure, she knew that this guy didn't understand why she was acting that way. But at this time, she couldn't give up when she was close to succeeding.

"What? You're coming downstairs to meet me? Oh, don't worry about me. You don't need to do that. I can go upstairs by myself. After all, I'm so familiar with the Lu Group!"

Corbin snorted. "Well, I didn't say that I would meet you downstairs. Just come up if you have arrived." Corbin felt that there was something with Janessa who spoke such a way. However, he didn't understand her reason.

Their conversation made Corbin sweat and tremble all over. If Rayan knew about it, Corbin would resign immediately before Rayan told him to.

After all, no one would accept the fact that Corbin had something to do with his boss's girlfriend. Definitely not Rayan. Corbin could already imagine Rayan's fury if he knew about it.

"Well, I need to go now. I'm driving. See you later!" Janessa said cheerfully. She also made a gesture of throwing a kiss. The sound was so clear that she was sure Gracie would be furious upon hearing it.

Although Gracie couldn't see Janessa, just listening to the voice would be enough to make Gracie livid.

After Janessa ended the call, she looked at the phone with a winner's expression.

'Gracie, guess what? No matter what you do, I'm the one who is going to have a relationship with Rayan now.'

Janessa thought. She wouldn't let Gracie win over her with her dirty tactics. Never.
