

Chapter 371 He Pushed You Ou

Looking at her dress, Janessa was bewildered. Is there anything wrong with this dress?

Janessa looked at Rylan for an answer, but Rylan shook his head to show that he had no idea.

Having witnessed the interaction between Rylan and Janessa, Gracie immediately comprehended.

"Oh, so the dress was bought by Mr. Feng. The woman who bought the dress this afternoon is likely his secretary. If I had known earlier, I wouldn't have quarreled with her for such a long time. I would have no problem to let Miss Qiu have it."

Gracie's words were irritating. She sounded as if it was Janessa's fortune that she was wearing the dress Gracie fancied, and Janessa could wear it was all because Gracie's generosity.

Gracie looked down upon Janessa.

Rylan remembered that he had driven his secretary to the clothing shop in the afternoon. However, he didn't know much about ladies' things. Therefore, Rylan had to ask the secretary for a favor. He told her about Janessa's size and appearance so that she would pick the best clothes for her.

The secretary bought the clothes. But she was in a bad mood after handing them over to Rylan.

Rylan's intentions of avenging Janessa were greeted by her pretty smile.

Her warm smile made him nod unconsciously, and he was intoxicated.

Janessa wanted to handle the problem by herself without the assistance of anyone else.

After all, the grudge was between Gracie and her.

"Miss Mo, since you like this dress, I will send it to the Lu Group villa after the wine party.

There's no need to be stubborn; it's just a dress. I will send it to you if you want."

Janessa's plain and indifferent words worsened the situation between the two.

Gracie claimed to have given the dress to Janessa deliberately. But Janessa would only give it to Gracie after having worn it.

"How dare you! Don't go too far, Janessa. You don't have to be arrogant now that you have Mr. Feng's support." Gracie always lost an argument with Janessa since she was not as eloquent and articulate as Janessa was. Janessa always found it easy to articulate and express her words during a quarrel. But Gracie found it difficult despite having practiced her words.

"Well, shut up. Aren't you ashamed enough?" Rayan began to regret letting Gracie and Janessa meet up. He had planned to use Gracie to piss Janessa off.

But Gracie was not an intelligent woman, and consequently, she couldn't win any of the arguments she had with Janessa.

However, it was too late to regret it now.

"Let's go!" Janessa left together with Rylan and Alana.

Upon arrival at the venue, Rylan got committed elsewhere. Janessa and Alana found a spot at a quiet corner and got seated.

"Janessa, you were so awesome just now. You're lucky you didn't get to see the look on Rayan's face. It was unfortunate that Rayan would choose such a woman as his girlfriend Shame on him!"

Their conversation was so interesting that Alana couldn't help but watch.

Though the two men, Rylan and Rayan didn't talk in the whole process, Janessa could imagine how bad the look on Rayan's face was.

The first round ended with Janessa being the victor.

"Well, we have not seen Imani despite having looked around. She has little dirty tricks, and we do not know where she is hiding. Speaking of dirty tricks, we have to be careful." Janessa looked around cautiously and didn't find anything out of place.

"By the way, why are you so sure that Imani will be deceitful after coming here?"

"It's a long story. I got pregnant as a consequence of Imani's little tricks." Janessa showed off proudly. She narrated the story of how Imani framed her and Rayan and how they escaped.

More than 20 minutes later, Janessa took a sip of juice to moisten her throat.

"Oh, I see. So we should be careful about this woman. But probably she has left already! Try not to drink the wine here. Just drink what you have brought with you.

As the two were discussing, the person who had been watching Janessa in the corner couldn't help but feel a little disappointed, then, a new idea came to his mind. He turned around and left silently.

All the wine parties were similar. The organizer introduced the people and the agenda of the party. Then they would have an open dance and get the chance to interact with everyone they wanted to make friends with.

The primary purpose of the wine party was to offer a platform for all the businessmen and women to interact face-to-face.

The attendees could talk with the big shots whom they couldn't see normally at this time.

After the short opening speech, the ball was about to begin.

Customarily, the organizers were always first to dance. So the rest of the guests stood back to watch the man and the woman on the dance floor.

After the dance, Janessa felt a bit tired. Rayan was still standing not far from her. Janessa always had the feeling that Rayan's eyes were boring onto her. But she never saw anything whenever she turned to look at him to confirm.

Alana was invited to the dance floor when the second dance was performed. Two hands suddenly appeared in front of Janessa.

One was from Rylan, the closest friend to Janessa, and the other... Janessa raised her head and found that it was Rayan.

Janessa had to think for a while as she looked at the two men standing in front of her. She decided she would go with Rylan.

"I'm curious as to why you chose me." Rylan looked at Rayan, who was displeased.

"Nothing. Rayan's eyes were irritating. So I had to choose you. I want to piss him off," Janessa said honestly.

Rylan hoped that Janessa could not be so blunt. He always felt that he was not important to her whenever she spoke frankly.

"You are so honest. Rayan is dancing with that woman. Do you want me to take you there?" Rylan saw that Rayan had turned around.

"What?" Before Janessa could realize it, she had been pushed away.

She fell into a familiar embrace after rotating in the air for a few seconds.

Their eyes met when she raised her head.

"Why is it you?"

"Who else do you think that has caught you? It's Rylan who pushed you out!" said Rayan coldly.

But he didn't hold Janessa's hand for long. He felt that Janessa had lost some weight after he touched her waist.

But Rayan continued to dance without expressing what he thought.

The two rarely danced. But they danced very well together probably because they had feelings for each other. The dance got better and better. They danced so well that they were the only ones left on the dance floor at the end.