

Chapter 430 Rayan's Impeachmen

Rayan said nothing during the whole ordeal. He just looked at Edison indifferently. He was waiting to see what tricks Edison could play.

On the surface, Rayan was as calm as ever, not letting the rage he felt show on his face.

He clenched his fists to suppress his anger as he looked at the fingers being pointed at him. He couldn't let it show on his face. Not in that tank of sharks.

He had thought that all the members of the Lu family would support him, and so he had decided to win over Zeke's support. If so, it would be possible for the Lu Group to survive the crisis.

But now, the situation seemed to be a little more difficult than he had imagined. Edison was even cooperating with outsiders to kick him out of office. Stupid bastard! He would only destroy the Lu Group single-handedly.

Rayan still didn't reply to any of their accusations, but the shareholders were instantly divided into two groups: the ones who supported Rayan, and those who opposed him. The two sides had such a violent fight, both causing a ruckus in the meeting room.

"Mr. Lu has done so much for the Lu Group over the years he has been here. If you don't want to give him the credit he deserves, that's fine. But you cannot deny his contributions to the company. Those alone are enough to make this treatment unreasonable.

"I agree! Thanks to him, you have all earned a lot of money these past few years. So even at a time like this, you should be grateful."

Zeke glanced at Rayan, who was currently at a loss. Rayan's eyelids fluttered quickly, a sign that he was panicking.

As a senior shareholder of the Lu Group, Zeke stood up and said, "Rayan has made great contributions to the company since he took over the Lu Group. His many merits clearly offset his demerits, so he should be given a chance."

Rayan frowned. He turned and looked at Zeke.

He hadn't expected Zeke would put in a word for him.

Now the situation was clear. The battle lines had already been drawn clearly.

The people led by Edison didn't want to let Rayan off that easily. They sounded as if they had much evidence to prove that Rayan was incompetent.

"The truth is that Rayan has made so many mistakes. And the result is so severe that now the company is declining. Why do you still insist that he is not the one to be blamed for this whole catastrophe?" one shareholder asked harshly.

"If you make a mistake, you should be brave enough to admit it. Your mistake has nothing to do with your past glory. Although the merits and demerits can be offset, it does not mean that you can turn a blind eye to the current situation and escape the consequences. Rayan, I'm not satisfied with your work this year."

That side of shareholders expressed their ideas dramatically. Each one took a turn to say what they thought about Rayan. They had forgotten all the credit that Rayan had made for the company. All of them were now nitpicking on everything he had done wrong.

Rayan analyzed the shareholders who were against him.

They were the senior shareholders who were used to giving orders. Each one of them was arrogant because they thought that they had made such great contributions to the Lu Group. When they had wanted to earn money, they had complimented Rayan a lot. They didn't dare to say a word against Rayan at that time.

Now they had the guts to oppose Rayan because they had finally gained support from other people.

Each and every single one of them was ungrateful.

Looking at the people shouting, Corbin was very furious. It was a shame he hadn't seen through their facade before the meeting.

They were all just bloodthirsty devils.

When the Lu family was soaring, they had relied on them, but now they were degrading the same people who helped when they needed it.

As they were criticizing Rayan, the door to the meeting room was suddenly opened.

A man walked in, followed by his security detail. No one could have guessed his age from his appearance.

"The Lu Group is having such an important meeting. How can I miss it?" Larry took off his sunglasses and looked around.

Most people lowered their heads out of habit when they sensed Larry's gaze, and finally, Larry's eyes met Rayan's.

"Who are you? Get out of here quickly. What does the general shareholder's meeting have to do with you?" Corbin pointed at Larry, urging him to go out. The bodyguards around Larry were quick to react. They immediately stood in front of Larry to protect him.

Before Corbin walked toward Larry, Rayan stopped him.

"Corbin, don't be impolite," Rayan said. Rayan had already known the reason why Larry was taking revenge and even his plans.

Now that he came to the meeting, Larry had to be so confident that he would win.

"Sorry to bother you, but I hold twenty percent of the shares of the Lu Group, so I guess it is imperative for me to attend the general shareholder's meeting," Larry explained, but he didn't care about their thoughts.

The bodyguard found a chair from behind and moved it to the other end of the table facing Rayan.

Larry held the armrest of the chair. As he was about to sit, he glanced at Rayan.

"Mr. Lu, do you mind if I sit here?"

"It doesn't matter where you sit. Help yourself."

Since Larry held twenty percent of the shares of the Lu Group, he was considered an important shareholder. Though he acted as if he already owned the Lu Group since the moment he came into the meeting room, no one could blame him.

Robin confirmed that all shareholders were there. Since Larry was also a shareholder, there was no need to hide anything in front of him. He started attacking Rayan.

"Rayan's faults are indeed more than one. Mr. Lu, don't you remember what you have done?" Robin was sitting not far away from Rayan.

Rayan's powerful aura was still intact. Even though many people were against him, he still sat there calmly like a king.

Robin looked back at Edison before he gained the courage to continue the accusation.

"When Mr. Lu got married, he never asked for the opinions of all shareholders. He married Janessa, the daughter of the Qiu Group. Although the Lu Group got a better reputation after their marriage, we also had to make a lot of sacrifices. How about the deficit at that time?"

After divorcing Janessa, he still used his power to keep Janessa in the Lu Group. What's more, he even let that woman stay near his side. Do you trust that woman too much or are you just too confident, Rayan? How could such a woman stay in this company? Shouldn't you give an explanation for this?"

After hearing this, many people sighed. Those who had supported Rayan were now a little hesitant about their judgment after hearing the issue that had been brought up.

Looking at the scene, Zeke came out to mediate with a smile, "That woman is just Rayan's ex-wife. What trouble can she probably cause? Mr. Lu didn't forget his wife. Instead, he even supported his wife who had been with him for three years, which meant he is a reliable man. He hasn't done anything wrong in my opinion."

On the surface, Zeke seemed to be trying to defend Rayan, but if people read his words carefully, they would see that Zeke was just stirring up trouble.

Zeke tried to picture Rayan as a reliable man who had deep feelings for his ex-wife, and that was why Rayan wouldn't say anything even if she lied to him.

"That was why Janessa was so bold to give the confidential information belonging to the Lu Group over to the Qiu family's company secretly. I don't know what Mr. Lu had been thinking when he let such a woman by his side." Robin had a strong offense, but the information he had gathered was not the complete story.

"But even the Qiu family is also in danger right now. If Janessa really stole our confidential trade strategies, why is the Qiu Group still on the verge of bankruptcy?"