

Love and Hatred Run Bone-Deep Chapter 07

Cecilia fell onto the floor in disbelief after being slapped hard on the face. “How dare you slap me, you bitch!”

In retaliation, she charged at the woman. Aaron could not pull her back.

Amid the chaos, Evan knocked hard on his office door and yelled, “Cecilia Rachlin, what are you trying to do?”

“Did you not see that? She tried to hit me!” Breaking down, Cecilia shrieked, “Who is she, Evan? Why did she walk out of your office? What were you guys doing in there?”

Evan furrowed his brows with a hint of disgust. He replied coldly, “She is my guest. Don’t be ridiculous.”

“Am I being ridiculous now?” Tears rolled down Cecilia’s cheeks as she pointed at the woman. “As your fiancée, do I not have the right to question your relationship with another woman?”

Evan let out a cold laugh. “Are you my fiancée, now? Whatever. Let’s call off the engagement.”

Cecilia froze on the spot. Evan returned to his office, but not before tossing something in her way.

He said to her, “I will release a public statement as soon as I can about calling off the engagement. Stop looking for me from now on.”

The item he tossed at her was his engagement ring.

“No way!” Cecilia bellowed.

She tried to run after Evan, but he impatiently yelled, “Security! What are you guys doing? Get her out of here—right now!”

A few security guards immediately sprung to action and dragged a crazy Cecilia out of the room. Aaron quietly apologized to Evan. Evan merely reminded him “Do not let her in again.”

Evan returned to his office. The stack of documents on his table caught his attention. He flipped through some pages before standing in front of the windows and staring down at Cecilia, who was still making a scene downstairs.

I moved closer to take a look at the documents. They were evidence of Peter’s misdeeds over these years.

The evidence from Jane's case from three years ago had been all but wiped out. Evan had no choice but to look into Peter's activities in the last three years.

The woman from just now was a private investigator, but Evan chose not to explain their relationship in order to piss Cecilia off.

Cecilia stormed out of the office building. Evan instructed his driver to tail her. He wanted to know where she was headed.

20 minutes later, the driver called. According to the driver, Cecilia was at Peter's studio now, and the two got into a huge fight, even throwing things around.

What was described as a fight was actually Cecilia's tantrum. After she released her anger, she left the studio for my house.

Thankfully, Evan had gotten my mom to safety. When no one answered the door, Cecilia grabbed a hammer and hit the door like crazy while demanding that my mom pay for it with her life.

My neighbor, terrified by Cecilia's actions, called 911. The police dropped by and took Cecilia with them.

I had no idea what conversation unfolded between Cecilia and Peter, but it must have had something to do with my mom. Judging from Cecilia's crazy behavior just now, she could have killed my mom if my mom were at home.

At the end of the day, Peter and Cecilia had not forgotten about my mom. They wanted to get rid of my mom, even though she had lost her sanity.

Evan stared at the photo of my house's damaged door, which the driver had sent him. His fingers trembled.

I bet he never expected such unhinged behavior from the gentle Cecilia.

A woman who took lives out of jealousy was clearly not in the right mind.

Evan stayed at the office and worked overtime that day. When he got home late at night, he found someone waiting for him in the shadows near the entrance of his house.

Upon seeing him, Cecilia jumped and gave him a hug. "Evan, you're home! I can finally meet with you."
