

BOOT CAMP 1801

Chapter 1801: Love Rival

The compartment was shaking so much that creaking sounds could be heard everywhere. The entire compartment was shaking up and down. Ye Jian had been lying on the roof of the compartment the entire time. She used both hands to pull the rope tightly and slide the wheels so that the leader could be slowly pulled from the compartment to the top of the compartment.

"I'll slowly retreat. You can crawl forward slowly like me." At this moment, Ye Jian, who had always been calm, was slowly pulled up by the rope as the instructor held the edge of the compartment with both hands. Beads of sweat could be seen on her temples. As she talked to the leader, she slowly maintained a starfish posture and was retreating.

The leader had a fracture in his arm, so his movements were restricted. Fortunately, his comrades from the Xueyu unit were pulling the rope in front of the car. The leader just needed to maintain the same posture as Ye Jian.

There was a layer of ice on top of the compartment. As Ye Jian moved forward and backward, the ice was smoothened a little. The resistance on the slippery ice reduced and sped up the leader's progress.

"Steady, steady, just a little bit more. Just a little bit more!" Ye Jian retreated to the junction between the compartment and the front of the truck. She pulled the rope around the leader with her arms and worked together with her comrades for almost 15 minutes. Finally, she successfully rescued the first trapped person.

As long as they managed to successfully rescue the first one, it meant that this method was successful!

The creaking sounds stopped as the leader got down the truck. The vehicle also stopped shaking. J5 quickly leaned on the ice to check if there were any signs of the truck's wheels sliding down. After taking a closer look, he stood up and said happily to Ye Jian, "The wheels aren't sliding down! We can proceed with the second round of rescue!"

He was most afraid that the wheels would slide toward the cliff before the rescue process was completed. Even if he used rocks to stop the wheels, he would not be able to rest assured. Now that they had rescued the injured party, it was undoubtedly good news that the wheels were still in their original state.

Ye Jian, who was lying down, heaved a sigh of relief. She didn't stand up but gave J5 an 'okay' sign, indicating that she could proceed with the second round of rescue.

"Good job!" The senior soldier who supported the leader gave Ye Jian a thumbs up and praised her loudly, "You're a female soldier that we admire! You're amazing!"

Very, very good!

Qin Xiu, who was standing on top of the pile of snow, looked at the slender figure that had successfully rescued the leader. His elegant and beautiful face broke into a faint smile.

Every time he saw her, she was full of sunshine and fearless.

She was brave, but she always knew how to act within her means. A woman who knew how to act within her means knew how to move forward. She would not overdo things, just like how a cup of water would not be overfilled, she knew how to act within her means.

This woman, who was probably in her first year of university, seemed to understand this principle quite well.

Coming from the capital to the northwest, Du Jiayi was surprisingly tactful. Mrs. Qin said that she would be a good wife to her husband and children. She would take good care of him and strive for improvements.

Qin Xiu took Mrs. Qin's words to heart. A family like theirs wouldn't marry the person they loved, but a wife that would help their family.

Along the way, Du Jiayi's attitude made those few soldiers who were dissatisfied with her suffer continuously. However, they were unable to voice their bitterness.

Despite this, the leaders approved of her and criticized the female soldiers who were at odds with Du Jiayi.

Chapter 1802: Good Taste

From this, one could see Du Jiayi's methods. Just as Mrs. Qin said, the second daughter of the Du family was indeed suitable to be his wife.

But in the end, such a powerful person met Ye Jian, who managed to suppress her with just a few words. This was the first time he heard her apologize.

From this, it could be seen that Ye Jian was not only meticulous but also very cautious. She could immediately tell that Du Jiayi had ulterior motives.

When she heard Du Jiayi's apology, she did not say anything polite like 'it's okay'. She only smiled and remained silent. This was telling Du Jiayi that she would not be calculative and that she should behave herself.

Using silence to answer was far more effective than speaking.

It had to be said that she was truly a pure-hearted girl who knew how to protect herself. Du Jiayi even wanted to take the opportunity to step on her and gain a good impression in front of the leader. This move was really terrible.

"Pull hard! Pull up, pull up!"

J5's voice came from the front. They started to rescue the second trapped soldier. The man was heavier than the rest. The moment the male soldier grabbed the compartment, he could see the entire compartment sinking.

J5 was so shocked that he shouted and ordered the men to pull the rope harder.

Qin Xiu's heart sank as he looked at Ye Jian. His lips, which always had a gentle smile, were pursed into a straight line. He exuded a coldness that was comparable to frost.

His gaze was fixed on Ye Jian. He didn't realize that he was in as much danger as Ye Jian.

The pile of snow that Qin Xiu was standing on was precisely the pile of snow that made everyone's hearts tremble. It was like a small mountain of snow. Once the front truck slipped, he would immediately inform the truck at the back to drive to support the truck in front.

Standing here was equivalent to standing on the edge of a cliff. The tip of his foot was less than ten centimeters away from the edge.

"You'll be safe and sound." Seeing that she had successfully rescued the male soldier, Qin Xiu, who had a faint smile in his eyes, calmly retracted his gaze. He chuckled softly and said, "A smart girl who knows when to retreat has always been luckier than others."

The sound of a vehicle starting up could finally be heard from behind. The temperature was too low, so low that the soldiers there had to start the ignition several times before the vehicle started running.

Listening to the sound of the motor amidst the howling wind, it somehow gave people a sense of security.

The truck at the back had already been shoveled halfway with snow. Li Jinnian glanced at the tall figure standing at the top of the pile of snow before picking up the speed of shoveling snow into the truck.

After 40 minutes of shoveling snow, he and a few soldiers from the military depot had already paved a three-meter long road for the truck at the back. As long as the front truck needed support from the rear, they could immediately retreat.

Time passed quickly. When Xia Jinyuan asked V8 what time it was, he realized that he had been driving for more than two hours. When the truck reached a high slope, V8 pointed ahead and said, "Q King, there's light ahead! We're almost there!"

Indeed, they were almost there. After being separated from Ye Jian for nearly ten hours, they could finally meet each other on the Tibet Line of Mazar Daban.

Similarly, Qin Xiu also saw a car flashing by on the high slope in the distance. The military depot had sent reinforcements!

The rescue mission was nearing its end. The rescue mission would end once the last trapped soldier was rescued. At this point in time, it would not be of much use if more soldiers came to help.

They could only shovel away the snow that had broken the Tibetan Line and return it to normal.

Chapter 1803: Is There Something Wrong With Reporter Qin?

As this was a situation where communication was not convenient, the military depot only knew that they had lost contact with 20 people. They did not know the outcome of the rescue, so they continuously sent people over to provide support to ensure everyone's safety.

The communication base station and satellite base station in the northwest of the border were all entering the final phase of the project. By June or so, communication between the various military depots could be maintained through the satellite base stations even if there was a blizzard.

If anything happened to the trucks driving along the Tibetan Line, they could immediately contact the various military depots via satellite phones and request help.

The security of the soldiers at the northwest border of the country had always been perfect. Even their barracks had been modified a few times so that the soldiers who came back from patrol and sentry duty would no longer suffer from the cold and freeze.

Everything would naturally get better. As the country progressed and military strength increased, everything would get better!

Qin Xiu flashed the light three times at the truck coming from afar. If the soldier sitting in the front passenger seat saw it, he would quickly respond and also flash three times with the truck's headlights.

"There's someone standing on the light above! It's impossible for him to appear on high ground. The preliminary conclusion is that the high ground is a pile of snow caused by the avalanche." V8 analyzed it quickly. At the same time, the truck's headlights flashed three times.

Xia Jinyuan didn't say anything. He just nodded slightly in response.

His lover was not far ahead. As for him, no matter how anxious he was, he could not speed up the truck. It was going downhill now. ... He was afraid that the truck would rush down the cliff.

Qin Xiu saw that the soldiers in the truck ahead had seen him, so he was about to retract his gaze when suddenly, he heard a miserable scream from the truck behind him. He was so shocked that his fingers trembled and he quickly turned his head to look.

The compartment was sinking!

"Drive, drive!" J5's expression changed drastically. The moment he opened his mouth, Qin Xiu, who had been paying attention to the situation, had already opened the car door.

When the soldier who was keeping an eye on Qin Xiu saw this, he shouted at the driver, "Drive, drive!"

The tense and prepared automobile soldiers completed the entire process from gearing up to hitting the accelerator in three seconds. The wheels of the car rolled across the gravel road, and with a boom, it drove several meters away.

Ye Jian grabbed the curved pole of the compartment tightly and shouted at the last two female soldiers, "Hold on tight! Don't panic!"

The truck started to shake. The automobile soldiers in the car in front hugged the steering wheel tightly and stepped on the accelerator to support the car ahead of them. They towed the car that was falling toward the cliff to the side of the road.

The wheels of the car were covered in ice. With a few vibrations, ice fell out from the gaps of the wheels. The members of the Xueyu unit were anxious. They shouted at Ye Jian, "Hold on tight. If the situation is bad, let go immediately!"

The Tibetan soldier shouted at the driver, "Prepare to jump off the car at any time, do you understand?!"

The door to the driver's seat was half open. If the driver had to abandon the car, the driver could immediately jump out.

Liu Yuan and Wei Jiayue were so frightened that they hugged each other. They wanted to scream too, but they didn't dare to. The female soldiers in the compartment didn't scream. They just stood there, not wanting to cause trouble.

The preparation work was done very well, and they cooperated very well with each other. The compartment that was already half-inclined was adjusted again as the truck in front supported the rear truck. At the same time, the compartment that was originally hanging in the air was pulled up to the side of the road about 30 centimeters.

Due to the restriction of the truck in front, it was impossible to pull the entire truck up.. If it was dragged any further, the front of the truck would be forcefully twisted to the side of the cliff, making it easier for the entire truck to fall off the cliff.

Chapter 1804: Won't Comfort The Female Soldiers

The special forces of the Xueyu unit broke out in a cold sweat.

If something happened to Ye Jian here, they wouldn't care about the consequences. They would never forgive themselves.

Qin Xiu looked at the upright compartment, his heart beating wildly. He couldn't help but gently close his eyes and raise his hand to cover his chest. When he opened them again, he looked down at his feet. The two ropes that he could see had been dragged by the truck and were directly sinking into the snow.

It was not safe here. He needed to go down.

The soldiers below raised their heads and shouted at Qin Xiu, who was standing high up, "Reporter Qin, come down quickly! It's not safe there anymore! Come down quickly!"

When the ropes sank into the snow, it was equivalent to cutting the accumulated pile of snow into two. If the upper layer of snow collapsed, the entire layer of snow would fall along with it. Qin Xiu, who was standing on top, would fall down along with the falling snow.

Qin Xiu responded, then carefully stepped on the snow to slowly descend. He had only taken a few steps when the place where he was standing earlier was pressed down by a large piece of snow that had collapsed from above. Following that, at least three square meters of snow fell directly toward the cliff.

Hearing the sound behind him, Qin Xiu's lips were pursed tightly. Without turning back, he quickened his pace and rushed down.

The Tibetan soldier saw that the snow on top was peeling off like scales, layer by layer, before sinking down. The snow that was piled up until it connected to the mountain fell in large amounts, making even him, a veteran who had been in the Tibetan Line for 17 to 18 years, tremble in fear.

Luckily, Reporter Qin wasn't a coward. He knew that something was wrong behind him, so he didn't even turn his head to look and just rushed down.

Qin Xiu, who had rushed down, became a vicious wolf at the end. When the snow under his feet felt loose, he directly pounced forward. First, he used the fierce stance of a hungry tiger pouncing on its prey. Then, he 'kowitz-ed' at the end and fiercely fell down.

Although his posture was not elegant, Qin Xiu did not care too much when he saw a small avalanche occurring on the snow that was originally piled into a small mountain. His priority was naturally his life.

When the people in the truck at the back saw that the snow had once again turned into an avalanche, the female soldiers were so frightened that their faces turned ashen. Meanwhile, the male soldiers were slightly more stable.

"Reporter Qin... Are you alright?" Fu Hui, whose knees were weak from fear, stuttered.

Li Jinnian looked at the collapsed pile of snow, and his originally cold expression turned even colder. The person standing on top must have some skills. Otherwise, why would he dare to stand at the most dangerous spot?

He must have stood up there because he was confident. As for whether anything happened... He said to the five female soldiers who were frightened like birds, "There's a 50% chance that something happened."

The female soldiers burst into tears upon hearing this.

Li Jinnian glanced at them before walking away.

They would only know if they saw it with their own eyes. What was the use of crying?

Qin Xiu didn't know that he had triggered the tears of the five female soldiers. He and the male soldiers from the Xueyu unit tightened the rope. He had to tighten it a little so that the woman on top of the compartment wouldn't be in any danger.

The female soldiers from the cultural troupe were rather relaxed because they knew how to balance themselves. Ye Jian pulled the rope and pulled the last female soldier out of the compartment. She reminded her like how she reminded all the previous ones, "Relax your body. Look up. Breathe deeply and don't lower your head."

Her voice was sweeter than it sounded in the truck. It was clear and gentle, like a hot spring in winter. It was so warm that it warmed one's heart.. Du Jiayi, who was pulling the rope, slightly narrowed her eyes.

Chapter 1805: Disappointed

When people interacted with each other, it would have something to do with fate. They had to first have a good affinity with each other before they could get along with each other. When these two factors were combined, it was their affinity.

Du Jiayi felt that she had no affinity with this female soldier who had been lying on the top of the compartment for almost three hours.

They had yet to meet, but just by listening to her voice, no matter how gentle and moving it was, she could not like this female soldier. There was even a hint of dislike.

It was very strange. She had always liked to see if she could get along with that person before deciding if they could become friends. However, she was already with this female soldier before they even properly met.

Perhaps it was because Ye Jian did not take her words seriously when she crawled over and needed to clarify things. In short, even though Ye Jian saved her, she could not like her.

"This is the last person trapped! Ye Jian, pull the rope tight!" J5, who had been keeping a close eye on Ye Jian, was so nervous that he couldn't see anyone else but Ye Jian.

There were only 11 minutes before it would be three hours since the rescue operation started. Ye Jian, the female soldier, was lying down and swaying. From time to time, she would violently jerk on the compartment. It had been 2 hours and 49 minutes!

The truck was still suspended in the air. In the cold winter, the wind was so cold that one's bones would hurt. They were stiff from standing at the side of the road. Ye Jian, who was lying on top of the truck, must have her hands, feet, ears, and even the tip of her nose frozen by now.

The most common thing for the Xueyu unit to do during winter training was to stand in the wind for two hours. After the training ended, they wanted to move their legs but their limbs wouldn't listen to their brain. It was as if they were immobilized.

As a female soldier, Ye Jian had been exposed to the wind for almost three hours. They respected her for being able to last until now.

They respected the persistence of this female soldier!

Ye Jian could hear J5's words. She raised her hand slightly and made an 'okay' gesture. Then, she tightened the rope again. She needed to slowly pull Du Jiayi, who couldn't use any strength and couldn't climb onto the edge of the compartment. She needed to pull her arms up to the top of the compartment.

Du Jiayi had a good psychological quality. She could still chat with Ye Jian when her legs were in the air.

She grabbed the rope tightly with both hands and relaxed her whole body. She raised her head slightly and looked at the female soldier who hadn't complained about being tired until now. Her face was red from the wind. She said to Ye Jian, "It's been hard on you tonight. You pulled all of us up alone. It's been three hours. Do your arms hurt?"

It was a very ordinary conversation, as if Du Jiayi was casually finding topics to chat about and relax.

Ye Jian, who was very vigilant, already had her guard against her. Hence, she only smiled at her and didn't answer her.

Ye Jian's experience from her previous life told her that she must remain silent when interacting with such a person. As long as it was not a question that she had to answer, it was best to smile and use silence to tell her that she didn't want to talk about it.

Du Jiayi waited for Ye Jian's reply with a smile before narrowing her eyes again. Her shoulders were already parallel to the truck. She lowered her head to hide the displeasure in her eyes. As soon as she lowered her head, her relaxed body tensed up. She quickly raised her head again, not daring to lower her head.

Her entire body was suspended in the air, and below her feet was a bottomless abyss.. Just one look at it was enough to scare all the cells in her body into screaming.

Chapter 1806: Frightened

"Don't lower your head. Slowly stretch your hands and place them on the top of the truck. Breathe deeply and put your weight on your arms. Don't be afraid. The male soldiers will tighten the rope in front. They'll keep pulling you to the front of the truck." Ye Jian naturally noticed the fear in her eyes and knew why she was scared.

The searchlight shone with white light. Du Jiayi, who suddenly raised her head, could not help but close her eyes and look away.

Without a doubt, Du Jiayi was a very beautiful and elegant soldier. She had a beautiful oval face and delicate eyebrows. Although her eyes were closed, her eyeliner highlighted her bright and charming eyes.

At this moment, although her eyes were closed, the trace of arrogant confidence between her brows was still obvious. This was a female soldier who liked to make herself the center of everything. No wonder when they first met, she spoke as though she was giving out orders.

“Ye Jian, go back!” When J5 saw that half of the body of the last female soldier had already been pulled up, he immediately told Ye Jian to go back. After saying that, he immediately stared at the wheels of the truck. The muscles on his face were tense as if he had entered a battle. Every part of him was exuding a sharp aura.

Du Jiayi, who finally climbed up, slowly opened her eyes. She saw the female soldier slowly retreat in a starfish posture while she was pulled by the rope.

The roof of the truck was bearing the weight of two people. Even though they were both female soldiers, the roof still creaked from the weight. This was a sound that made one’s scalp tingle and their hair stand on end.

They could not hear the noises while they were inside the truck just now due to the wind but they could hear everything clearly now. The sounds were so loud that they made one’s soul tremble.

Du Jiayi, whose body was as stiff as a rock, knew that her face must be pale at this moment. She also knew how ugly her expression must be.

She would never let others see her ugliest and most cowardly side.

Now, another female soldier could see everything clearly. She was not only embarrassed but also wished that the female soldier could close her eyes and not look at her anymore!

“The roof of the car has been frozen. Spread open your arms and legs like me. Not only can you shift your center of gravity like this but you can also maintain your balance.” Ye Jian had been staring at Du Jiayi. She saw the stiffness in Du Jiayi’s face. The moment she opened her eyes, a shadow flashed past her beautiful eyes.

Ye Jian was not a busybody, nor was she very curious. She did not care about the shadow in the other party’s eyes at all and only did her job.

At that moment, Xia Jinyuan had already arrived. He jumped out of the truck and covered his face so that only his sharp eyes could be seen.

Li Jinnian looked at the familiar figure who was fully covered. It took him a few seconds to realize who it was.

He said to the five female soldiers who were so cold that they looked like they would faint at any moment, “The five of you, go rest in the truck.”

They really needed to rest. Their feet had been on the cold snow this whole time. No matter how they moved and even if they stomped their feet, it was not enough to warm them up.

They, who did not even want to move their lips, quickly nodded to express their gratitude. Then, they protected each other and helped each other to the truck that had just arrived.

Han Zheng was the first to jump down. He saw five figures wearing thick clothes walking toward him. They were all women. Han Zheng's eyes lit up. His gaze swept across the five figures like an X-ray.. He was looking for his target.

Chapter 1807: Learn Something

The first one was not her. She was too short.

Neither was the second one. She walked differently.

The third, fourth, fifth... They were all not here. They did not have the aura that Du Jiayi had when she walked.

That benefactor, including his mother, had said that the second daughter of the Du family had a good temperament. Even if it were clothes worth 20 yuan, she would still look like she was wearing luxurious clothes.

To him, it was called being arrogant. It could not be called temperament at all.

“You must be cold. Hurry up and get in the truck to rest. The water in the thermal flask isn't cold yet. Hurry up and take a sip of warm water to warm your stomach.” Han Zheng went up to them and supported one of the female soldiers who was walking like a daughter of a wealthy family. His deep voice was filled with tenderness.

When G3, who jumped out of the car, saw this, he felt goosebumps.

Then, he coughed softly. V8, who was in front, coughed as well.

He was correct.

This fellow, who had been in love more than ten times, was indeed different. He was so experienced in seducing women that he had already mastered it. They were still thinking of how to open their mouths when his hands were already on a female soldier's shoulders!

What was more despicable was that Han Zheng had never shared his tips with his comrades at all. The rest of them stood like wooden stakes and waited for the female soldiers to come over. They only nodded reservedly.

The female soldier, Wu Ziwei, really needed someone to help her. Han Zheng saved the beauty in time, so she was extremely grateful. “Thank you, I'll have to trouble you.”

She even said it so softly. V8, who was closest to them, was dumbfounded when he heard that... Damn, she was even thanking him!

The target approached and V8 decisively stretched out his leg.

Han Zheng, who was talking to the female soldiers, seemed to have a detector under his feet. He avoided his comrades' feet and turned back after taking a few steps. "Let's give them all the hot water in the truck. They're all so cold that their bodies are trembling. I'm afraid they might catch a cold."

V8, G3, and the others felt their teeth hurt when they heard this.

The female soldiers were handed to Han Zheng to take care of. Xia Jinyuan, who had already spoken to Li Jinnian for a while, instructed loudly, "Take the shovels and try to clear the path within five hours."

It was not a small-scale collapse. Five hours was a conservative estimate.

Li Jinnian only saw the figures of the Xueyu unit members and knew that the other members of Storm Commando had not arrived yet. His eyes were slightly dark as he shoveled the snow. He said to Xia Jinyuan, "I plan to apply for winter training every winter in the future. I'll need your guidance."

"Not only do you have to enter the highlands every year to complete winter training, but you also have to increase your combat ability on the land. Your combat skills on the sea are already quite advanced. Next, increase your combat ability on the land. You'll definitely achieve something after three years of hard work. Work to be on par with the US Navy SEALs before aiming to surpass them."

The US Navy SEALs were one of the world's top ten special forces. It was established in 1962 and had been around for 40 years. It became the trump card for the US in local wars and to deal with emergencies.

Hearing this, Li Jinnian threw a large chunk of snow off the cliff and said in a calm tone, "The special forces you're leading are a true assault force in our country. If it weren't for this chance to work together, I wouldn't have known that you guys are so powerful.

"I'm targeting you guys now. As for the SEALs..." Li Jinnian lowered his head slightly and did not continue. With the sound of snow being shoveled, he seemed to have said something else.. His thin lips moved slightly, but no one knew what he said.

Chapter 1808: Courageous, Heartless

Xia Jinyuan tossed the snow in the shovel away. He raised his gloved hand and patted Li Jinnian, who had a cold frown on his face. He smiled. "With your ability, we all believe that such a day will come."

He shoveled the snow quite quickly. With just a few sentences, he swept away a few square meters of snow.

He could not be happy yet. Du Jiayi, this snake, was by the little fox's side. Although he knew that his little fox was a smart girl, Du Jiayi, this woman, was good at pretending to be a good person. She also spoke very well and seemed to be a very cultured woman when one talked to her... This was her deceitful appearance. She had deceived countless people this way!

The real Du Jiayi was a venomous snake! One would not know when she would bite, and the person bitten would probably die without even knowing what bit them. It was that elegant, caring, and considerate Du Jiayi!

This woman's methods were even more vicious and scheming than a man's!

If the direct and honest little fox met her... He was really afraid that she would suffer!

Seeing this, Li Jinnian thought that Xia Jinyuan was working so hard to see Ye Jian as soon as possible. He tightened his grip and matched his pace, tossing large chunks of snow toward the cliff.

"You have to be bold, be careful, and have sharp eyes. You have to know what they need a man to give them at that moment. Just now, a few of the female soldiers even walked unsteadily. They clearly needed someone to help support them, so I went to help them get into the truck and said a few words of concern. If you're considerate, they'll only thank you. How could they be angry?"

"I won't pounce on them like a hungry wolf and deliberately touch them. I'm very gentlemanly, alright? Didn't you see that I only supported their arms and shoulders when I helped them get into the truck? When they struggled to climb up, I got them to kneel on my knees and hold my shoulder with one hand as I climbed up. I didn't do anything wrong during the entire process. This is called gentlemanly behavior."

Han Zheng shared his experience openly so that he could solve the doubts of the bachelors.

When the group of bachelors heard that, they really thought that 'listening to a gentleman's words is better than studying for ten years.' He was indeed capable of having dated more than ten women.

Receiving his comrades' gazes that were full of admiration, Han Zheng enjoyed it very much. "Alright, I'll teach you more in the future. I'll let you know how to make women happy so you can marry a good wife. Work first. Clear the path in five hours. After all, this will be a little hard."

It was indeed a lot of work. The members of the Xueyu unit massaged Ye Jian's shoulders. Then, they helped her rub her hands. After confirming that her body was fine, they picked up the shovel and started shoveling snow.

They needed to clear out the road as soon as possible and try to drag the truck in front back to the road.

Du Jiayi looked at Ye Jian, who was being served as a princess by the male soldiers. She sneered.

She must be a female soldier who liked to show off. Otherwise, why was she alone in the truck with so many male soldiers around?

She had seen many female soldiers like this. They had no background and could endure hardships. They were ambitious and clever, just like Liu Yuan and Wei Jiayue who were in her team. They were clearly only 30% capable, but they gritted their teeth and pretended to be very capable.

Hah, no matter how pleasant her voice was, it could not hide her competitive nature.

Chapter 1809: Not A Good Soldier!

Those male soldiers were really too humble. So many of them were serving one person, rubbing her hands and massaging her shoulders. Was there a need to protect a soldier like this?

If a soldier did not suffer, how were they a soldier?!

Du Jiayi, who was secretly observing, had a dark expression on her face. From the corners of her eyes, she saw that the higher-ups in their group were about to get up. Due to the leader's arm fracture, his simple act of getting up was so stiff that he was about to fall. With her sharp eyes, she immediately jogged over and reminded Liu Yuan, who was closest to the leader, "Liu Yuan, quickly help our leader up."

The sleepy Liu Yuan had been keeping watch of the other leader whose hands were wrapped with bandages. After everyone successfully broke free, she, who had just narrowed her eyes, was suddenly awakened. She got up in a rush. "Leader, do you want to walk? Let me help you."

"Let me help you. You were sleeping just now, right? If you're tired, go to sleep. I'll help the leader." Du Jiayi, who was walking over, reached out to help the leader's uninjured arm. "Wei Jiayue doesn't look too good. Hurry up and take a look at her. She might be sick."

"I saw that the rescue team has brought over some commonly used medications. Do you think Wei Jiayue needs them?"

The leader was a little anxious when he heard that. "Quickly go over and take a look. You're the only one in our group who has learned to nurse."

"Alright, then. Call me if you need me." Liu Yuan looked at her empty hand and looked indifferently at Du Jiayi, who openly pushed her away. Heh, this person really had not changed. Did she think that everyone was like her, who only knew how to perform in front of the leaders?

Faced with her comrade's indifferent gaze, Du Jiayi maintained a polite smile. She raised her chin slightly to return the arrogant look that matched her temperament. "It's all thanks to Liu Yuan's knowledge in nursing that our group was spared from many dangerous encounters. Thank you, Liu Yuan."

She thanked her sincerely so no one would doubt her sincerity.

Ye Jian, who was carrying the commonly used medications, paused for a moment before walking over with her usual expression. "I'm sorry to disturb you. There are some commonly used medications here. I wonder if you need them?"

J5 and the others were busy shoveling snow, while she was granted a short break and a task to communicate with the art troupe to see if they needed any more help.

The members of the Xueyu unit would appear in situations that might not be suitable for soldiers. Hence, their identities had to be concealed. It was not suitable for them to appear too many times in front of others.

Ye Jian, on the other hand, was different. She was a female soldier. Even if she joined the Xueyu unit, it would still take her three years to do so. She could appear in public.

Like Xia Jinyuan, all Ye Jian revealed was her pair of eyes that were as dark as the night. She had a cold-resistant mask on her nose and lips, so the leader could only see her eyes.

“You always appear when we need help the most. I really don’t know how to express our gratitude.” Du Jiayi took the bag containing the medications. After she finished speaking with a sincere gaze, she smiled at the leader, who moved his body a little. “Leader, this female soldier in front of you is called Ye Jian. You should remember her name. When you return to the capital, you have to mention her to your superiors.

“She lay on top of the truck alone for three hours and saved all of us. She didn’t even need the male soldiers to do anything. The three hours of back and forth have exhausted her. Fortunately, the male soldiers know how to care for her. They massaged her and rubbed her hands for a long time before her complexion improved slightly..”

Chapter 1810: Does It Hurt When It Comes Back To Bite You?

Speaking was indeed an art. The kind of person who sat at a certain height would definitely have a different understanding of things compared to people who sat at a different height.

The higher one stood, the more one could tell whether there was a deeper meaning to these words from just one sentence. Whether there was a hidden meaning behind these words, whether the person speaking wanted to secretly express something or what sort of mentality did the person speaking have when they said those words... All these could be found out.

As the leader of the troupe and someone who possessed an extremely high political upbringing, he could tell what Du Jiayi meant.

First: Ye Jian was a female soldier and she was very brave. However, she was too valiant and did not look like she was handling things well.

Second: As a female soldier, she was weaker than a male soldier. She knew that this was the case but she still persisted. This meant that she was a female soldier who liked to compete. She seemed to be lacking in composure.

Third: Since she chose to persevere, she was naturally tired after the incident and needed all the male soldiers to serve her. It would appear that she lacked the arduous spirit a soldier should have.

Fourth: The male soldiers were not strict enough when it came to handling matters. They were also overly concerned about the female soldier, making their relationship seem a little messy.

This was the leader’s understanding from Du Jiayi’s words. However, it could not be denied that if this performance-loving female soldier had not persisted for three hours and gritted her teeth to save them, they would probably still be in the truck, scared.

Hence, the instructor smiled and said, "You're right. We have to reward the soldiers who risked their lives to save us tonight. Ye Jian, it's been hard on you tonight. If it weren't for you, we would probably still be in the truck."

Then, he said earnestly, "However, you have to think twice before doing something like this. Don't tire yourself out too much."

After all, he was not a soldier from the troupe. Even if he wanted to give some pointers, he could only say a few words in a reserved manner. If he said too much, it would incur resentment.

Liu Yuan gently weighed the bag with the medications. The soft sounds seemed to be interrupting the leader's words. Then, she smiled at Ye Jian with kindness and gratitude.

Hearing this, Ye Jian, who already knew what to do, said politely, "You're right. My comrades were also worried that I'd throw off the balance if I climbed up. If I wasn't careful, the entire truck would have fallen off the cliff. Fortunately, I'm light. Although my comrades were nervous, I could still complete the mission entrusted to me by my comrades."

Ye Jian was never a pushover. Faced with Du Jiayi's gratitude and hidden words, as well as the advice of a higher-up, she politely tried to explain why a female soldier like her was the one who climbed up the truck's roof.

"You all must have thought it through. That's why we're all safe." The higher-up was enlightened. He was affected by Du Jiayi's words but now, he looked at Ye Jian with a gentle gaze. "You're very brave. You're bold and quick-witted. Good job, Ye Jian! Our army needs female soldiers like you."

As he spoke, he looked at Du Jiayi. Then, he turned her head and looked at the other soldiers who had yet to recover from their shock. He sighed and said, "Jiayi, all of you need to learn from her. The truck just shook a little yet all of you were so scared that you screamed. Meanwhile, Ye Jian was lying on the roof of the truck alone. She could still remain calm and continue to save us. You have to learn from her courage.."
