

Reborn at Boot Camp: General, Don't Mess Around!

Chapter 31: Relying on Myself Only

Ye Ying had no idea what was going on in the principal's office. The bell of the evening study session rang as she returned to school from the public health center in town, supporting He Jiamin with her hand.

The classroom of Class Two Grade Eight was located on the third floor. The moment they appeared at the classroom door, every student quieted down in an instant and stared at Ye Ying.

A few girls who were not on very good terms with Ye Ying started to giggle, filling the classroom with whispers again.

Tan Wei ran from her seat and grabbed Ye Ying by her hand. Mrs. Ke had not come back from the office. She must inform Ye Ying of the current situation. She said, "Yingying, let's talk outside."

Ye Ying couldn't help but frown. Lips pursed, she asked, "What happened?"

Everyone was looking at her in a weird way.

"Bad things happened!" Tan Wei said in a low voice anxiously, "Somehow, Zhang Bin found that love letter, and he has just been called to the principal's office. Hurry up and go check it out."

Love letter? Love letter?!

Ye Ying was shocked for only one second. As she came to herself, her face turned pale, her watery eyes glared with fury, and her body trembled without control.

Likewise, her mother Sun Dongqing was shaking all over due to anger in the principal's office. She would have torn Zhang Bin—who handed in the love letter—into pieces if her husband had not held her back tightly.

"Auntie, I'm just stating the facts. Why are you glaring at me? This love letter was written by Ye Ying and it has nothing to do with Ye Jian. How can you wrong Ye Jian?" Zhang Bin was not intimidated by Sun Dongqing's glare. He had been waiting for this day after Ye Jian told him what happened to her.

No wonder Ye Jian had such a miserable life in school. It was Ye Ying and her family who had been pulling the strings! Zhang Bin was confident because he was simply stating the facts! And he was not afraid of Sun Dongqing who would swear at him!

Stung by Zhang Bin's words, Sun Dongqing experienced a heartache. Since she could not criticize Zhang Bin, she stared at Ye Jian and cursed her, "What have we ever done to you to make you treat your sister this way? You are ruining her future!"

"Turns out you know that such a scandal is damaging. So do I!" Ye Jian sneered. It seemed that her glamorous facial features had been blanketed by ice and frost. And her pitch-black eyes were cold, without any emotion in them. "Aunt, if you dare ruin my future, I will do anything to protect myself. I don't care if you are my mother's sister or not!"

Hatred was vaguely showing in her calm and cool eyes. It was impossible to separate that kind of hatred from her eyes.

"What? What? What are you..." Sun Dongqing yelled increasingly louder. But as she looked Ye Jian in the eye, her heart sank abruptly. It seemed like she was unable to say those brutal words to her at that moment.

Principal Chen had realized what was going on. Even an irritated rabbit would bite people. Obviously, Ye Jian was striking back at her attackers.

As he observed that Ye Zhifan's face had turned gray, Principal Chen said in a deep voice, "Zhang Bin, go back to your classroom and ask Ye Ying to come to my office." It's time to hear the explanation from Ye Ying.

He hoped that Ye Ying's character was as outstanding as her academic performance.

Hearing this, Mrs. Ke felt bitter in her mouth and weak in her feet. The principal did not give her a chance to leave the office.

Outside the office, Ye Ying was taking a deep breath and about to knock when the door opened abruptly. She coughed repeatedly out of fear.

As soon as Zhang Bin laid eyes on Ye Ying, he opened the door completely and strode away.

Hearing her daughter's voice, Sun Dongqing dashed out and hugged Ye Ying. She cried, "Yingying, my child, I'm sorry that you have been mistreated..." It seemed like she was in tears, but she lowered her voice and said quickly, "Just blame everything on Ye Jian. Do not admit you have written the love letter! Relax, mom and dad have got your back!"

"What if..." Ye Ying was really scared. She had indeed written the love letter. How could she blame it on Ye Jian?

Chapter 32: Ye Ying's Malevolence

Sun Dongqing could tell her daughter's panic from her voice. Staring at Ye Ying with her gloomy eyes, she threatened in a low voice, "Unless you want to get kicked out from the school! Otherwise..."

Although Principal Chen did not know Ye Ying very well, he had learned to observe people by looking at their eyes upon meeting face to face.

After examining Sun Dongqing and Ye Ying silently for a while, he smiled and pointed at the love letter handed in by Zhang Bin. He said in a moderate speed, "Ye Ying, I suppose you can recognize this love letter."

"I do," said Ye Ying nervously with her head down and hands clasped. There was a bit of trembling in her voice. "I wrote this on behalf of Ye Jian. Principal, I am the one who should be punished, because I didn't talk my sister out of doing it. Please don't punish her. Just punish me."

Principal Chen closed his eyes gently. He had to admit that he was rather disappointed with this academically outstanding student.

His voice became dull when he spoke again, "Oh. Tell me why she asked you to write the love letter instead of writing it herself."

"Ha. Let me tell you why Principal Chen. My niece's handwriting is ugly as hell, so it's difficult for her to compose a legible love letter!" Sun Dongqing was glad that her daughter had regained her composure.

Since her daughter had denied writing the letter, she'd doubted that the school would force Ye Ying to admit it.

Under Principal Chen's watch, Ye Ying pursed her lips and nodded slowly without saying a word. She agreed with her mom.

Impatiently, Sun Dongqing stood up for her daughter and tried to reaffirm Ye Ying's words. "Principal, my daughter never lies. She is a kid with integrity. You can tell that from her scores. She is the Merit Student every year!"

Mrs. Ke turned around and rubbed her temples. Even Ye Ying knew how to improvise. Who would have thought her mom was less mature than a teenager?!

"Academically speaking, she is outstanding. As for her character..." Principal Chen paused. The rays shooting from his eyes became increasingly sharp. "Ye Jian, you ask them! I wonder if anyone will dare to mistreat you in my presence!"

It meant that Principal Chen was supporting Ye Jian wholeheartedly.

Heart racing, Ye Ying had the impulse to escape from the office. Under the grave atmosphere, she clenched her fists tightly while brainstorming to come up with a strategy.

Now that Principal Chen was on Ye Jian's side, she could not follow her mom's instructions!

Moments later, she turned around suddenly and looked at Sun Dongqing in confusion, "Mom, you and dad are not here for only one love letter, are you?"

"Yes, I wrote it for Ye Jian. But it is totally normal. Nowadays, girls like writing love letters in private. Don't make a fuss like you always have."

Ye Jian had always known that Ye Ying was a very cunning woman. But what Ye Ying was doing right now was beyond her imagination. At such a young age, Ye Ying could destroy her mother's reputation for her own sake.

Like father, like daughter. She was indeed Ye Zhifan's child.

Sun Dongqing was bewildered because she had not realized what her daughter was doing. But Ye Zhifan stood up excitedly, "Sun Dongqing, can you stop causing trouble for me and our daughter?!"

"It's nothing more than a private love letter from a little girl! Why do you have to spread it around to everyone? You also made me think that our niece had seduced her teacher!"

Ye Ying covered her mouth and exclaimed, "Seducing teacher? Mom! What are you talking about?!"

Her tiny face seemed so astonished that she was about to collapse. Ye Ying turned around and grabbed Ye Jian by the hand and explained, "Sister, ignore my mom. You know how she is. She likes making a fuss."

See? This was Ye Ying. She always had a way to keep herself out of trouble.
