Chapter 461: Rena's Thought

In Chinatown.

It was bustling and the crowd swarmed.

In this land, there was a Chinatown in each city.

It was a place for all those who left home to relieve their homesickness.

A Lamborghini roared into the street, attracting many attentions.

Crunch!

At last, the car stopped in front of the "SH guildhall".

The large guildhall, in Chinatown, seemed to stand out from the crowd, which was quite solemn.

Compared with the bustling streets, the guildhall was a little more serene.

The large board with the words "SH guildhall" was decorated with iron and silver, which was majestic.

The antique construction was built by green bricks in shape of hanging eaves.

The bluestone floor tiles stained with moss seemed antique and weather-beaten with the drizzle.

In the corner, there was a water tank where planted water lilies, which also appeared to be poetic in the drizzle.

Tiana got out of the car and walked slowly towards the “SH guildhall”.

“It’s a private place. Admittance of staff only.”

A sudden angry rebuke stopped Tiana’s steps.

Then she looked at the direction of the sound.

Four young people in Tang Costume came with solemn expression.

“I just want to have a look.” Tiana smiled, “Since we’re from the same country, there’s no need for you to be that harsh. And I’m not a thief.”

“It’s a private place. If you don’t leave, don’t blame us for our rudeness.”

The leader among them said in a determined voice, without giving Tiana a chance to retort.

Tiana shrugged to show her indifference and left.

After getting in the Lamborghini, she rubbed her hair with distress and muttered.

“It is just the headquarter of Grand Freemasons. What private place?”

After the car started, it drove towards the end of the street.

On account of Tiana’s special identity, it was easy for her to find out where the headquarter of Grand Freemasons was.

But she could not enter it, let alone to investigate!

Watching the Lamborghini drive away, the young leader said, "Two men stay here. There is a distinguished guest we saved from the sea, who is not a person to be trifled with. Anyone, except our member is not allowed to enter the SH guildhall, and the junior member also should not enter the eastern yard."

"Yes, we got it."

The leader warned again with a deliberately lower voice.

"Be careful. I have got some news that even Mr. Yales and our head treat the distinguished guest as a guest of honor. What's more, Mr. Yales has recently asked Rena to look after him. So you can imagine the result of you disturbing the guest."

When heard the news.

The other three maintained discreet silence and looked solemn.

In the eastern yard of SH guildhall.

Squeak...

Rena returned to the room after pouring the water.

She opened the door and looked at Jack who was lying on the bed.

Sympathy for Jack was shown on her beautiful face.

“You were still fine when we left. It's only been a few days, how could you make such a mess of yourself? I really envy your wife since you had travelled so far to find her. Grandpa is right. It's all destiny, true love only happened at the right time without a second later or earlier. I just don't have the luck to catch the right time.”

While saying, Rena looked a little guilty and self-condemned.

“I am to be blamed for your coming all the way here to encounter the danger.”

It was not difficult to find out the purpose of Jack's visit with the power of Grand Freemasons.

What's more, Carlos and Rena was clear about the misunderstanding between Jack and Amber.

But they didn't expect after they came back here as what he said Jack came here too.

And now he was injured like that.

Rena had intended to inform Amber to pick up Jack.

But her grandpa and the leader stopped her.

The assassination was unusual. If they sent Jack back, it was possible that there would be another assassination, even getting the Knight Family involved.

Rena walked slowly to the bedside. Looking at the medical equipment, she sighed.

After sitting by Jack, she looked at Jack's face and was in a daze.

In the TM Villa District, it was about the midnight.

“What?!”

Mr. Ward stood up from the bed suddenly without a little sleepiness and looked shocked, “Young master... Who did this? Who?”

There was a pause for a few seconds.

Fury appeared on Mr. Ward's face.

Mr. Ward, who had always been as stable as a mountain and as calm as water, showed a rare beast-like furious look.

“There is no need to call the old master. I'll handle it by myself!”

Pop!

He hanged up.

Mr. Ward's expression was ferocious and there was coldness in his squinted eyes.

While clenching his teeth, he held his cell phone tightly.

"Call old master for help? I can't even get in touch with him now! And now young master is... It's my fault!"

Mr. Ward was blaming himself with tears in his eyes.

Just then.

Daisy, who came back from the hospital, came in and noticed the look of Mr. Ward.

She stared at him and asked, "Mr. Ward, what happened?"

Mr. Ward answered, "Daisy, you take charge of here now, I have something urgent to deal with."

Then he went upstairs to pack up his things, leaving Daisy in shock.

Ten minutes later.

Mr. Ward left the TM Villa District.

At the same time.

In the SH guildhall.

Rena was still in a daze.

She stared at Jack as if she wanted to printed his features in her mind.

It was silent all around except the slight ticking of the testing equipment.

For a long time.

“When will you open your eyes and look at me?”

Rena suddenly asked.

Upon she uttered this sentence, she was astonished.

She patted her face and blamed herself with shame and annoyance, “Oh. What am I saying? Jack has married. Am I being shameless?”

While saying, she felt increasing heat raising from her body.

Then she went out in a hurry, “Be sensible. Please be sensible, Rena. Take a cold bath. Yeah, a cold bath will bring me to reason.”

While in the bed.

Jack’ eyelids trembled slightly.

He was awake actually when Rena was in a daze just now.

But he was too weak to make others notice that.

“Alas...”

Hearing Rena’s words just now, he sighed silently.

Rena walked out of the room, found a water pipe nearby, and held a few handfuls of water on her face, but it did not work for her perturbed state of mind.

“Do I really need to take a cold bath?”

Rena hesitated and patted her face gently.

At the same time.

Outside the SH guildhall.

After leaving Chinatown, Tiana parked the Lamborghini in the nearby parking lot, then she returned to Chinatown alone and went around to the side of SH guildhall.

She had a look at the towering wall.

Tiana smiled proudly, “Nothing could stop me let alone this short wal. Since I can’t get in through the gate, I can still find a way here!”

Chapter 462: The Fight Between Two Ladies

When she finished her words.

Tiana took a deep breath and stepped back.

Then she sped up to rush forward.

She leaped into the air and climbed over the wall with the support of the wall.

Pop!

Her feet landed on the ground.

Tiana was delighted and proud that it was easy for her to climb over the wall.

While she was proud, she dared not be careless.

Since SH guildhall was the headquarter of the Grand Freemasons, it would be troublesome if she was caught.

So she was close to the wall carefully with a serious expression, glancing alertly around.

The courtyard was quite and deserted.

“Maybe no one will come to such a deserted yard?”

Tiana felt more reassured.

However.

Blah, blah...

There was suddenly a sound of running water.

It was like thunder.

And it disturbed the quietness of the yard.

Tiana became nervous instantly.

Before she turning around, there was a soft voice behind her.

"I'm sorry. I am actually a human being."

The pupil of Tiana shrank to the extreme.

And her heart was racing.

She turned around abruptly and saw a extremely beautiful woman, who was standing in front of her and staring at her with her big and bright eyes.

God, she was so beautiful.

Tiana was so shocked.

As a female, Tiana envied her when she saw the woman's face.

What's more, the woman was staring at Tiana, and the loveliness of the woman made Tiana feel as if her heart was about to melt.

Wait! Tiana realized that she was noticed!

Why did she care about the woman's face at this time?

Actually, Rena was also shocked.

Rena was a member of Grand Freemasons and the granddaughter of the great elder, Carlos.

There were few people who could break into SH guildhall since she was young.

Because those who have interaction with Grand Freemasons were clear what the SH guildhall was.

And this was the first time she saw a invader.

The woman who climbed over the wall in front of her can be regarded as an intruder!

But the sudden "encounter" made Rena be in shock for a long time.

Rena blocked the water pipe sometimes with her right thumb and sometimes she loosened it with a gush of water, then she blocked the water pipe again.

In this way.

The scene lasted for five seconds.

Tiana said suddenly, "Weird! Maybe I got in a wrong place. I'm sorry and I'll leave right now."

Then she stepped back, ready to escape over the wall.

It was troublesome that she was caught breaking into the headquarter of the H Grand Freemasons.

Not to mention her special identity.

"Stop!"

Rena came to her sense, then there was great coldness in her beautiful eyes.

She dropped the water pipe and stood in front of the wall with sharp eyes.

"Do you think me as a fool? Here's SH guildhall. How could you get in here accidentally?"

Rena said with cold voice, "If you want to leave, leave something or defeat me!"

It was terrible!

Tiana cried out silently.

But she alertly glanced at the gate of the courtyard with serious look.

"Don't worry. No one than me would be here. If anyone come, I'll stop them." Rena could read Tiana's thoughts.

Tiana shrugged, "I disdain to defeat a woman. You'd better let me go like nothing happened, or..."

She deliberately paused, then she folded her fists to beg with a pitiful look, "Please let me go, please."

It was impossible!

Trespassing into the headquarter of Grand Freemasons is undoubtedly a provocation.

It was Tiana's luck that only Rena was here now.

If others in the SH guildhall noticed her, she would not leave here safely today.

Although Tiana was competitive, she would not go too far regardless of her safety.

It was the best result if she could get away with it, even if she would lose face.

Faced with Tiana's sudden begging for mercy, Rena was stunned.

Then there was a greater coldness on her face.

"Are you humiliating me? What do you mean by you disdain to defeat a woman?"

Rena asked with chill in her eyes.

She was a great member of Grand Freemasons. She wanted to get rid of others' view on her identity as a female and the granddaughter of Carlos by continuously improving herself since her childhood.

So now Tiana's words touched her sore spot.

The next second.

Rena rushed to Tiana like an arrow away from the bow.

Tiana wore a solemn expression, knowing that she could not fool Rena to get away with it.

Then Tiana gritted her teeth and rushed directly to Rena.

Bang!

When the two drew near each other, they gave each other a punch.

Almost at the same time, their expressions changed greatly.

The punch was just a measurement.

The two were both surprised by the strength of each other.

Since Rena was an experienced great member of Grand Freemasons, and Tiana was an experienced member of an international organization.

There was surely gap between their strength.

But the gap was definitely not wide.

They both gained nothing by the punch.

But it inspired the desire of the two to win the fight.

After that, they launched an attack against each other suddenly with quick movement like a gust of wind.

Their attacks were quick and direct.

They were “weak women” in the eyes of others, but they were fighting in a violent and courageous way.

But on account of birth.

Rena’s attacks were more fierce, or more aggressive than Tiana’s.

It was just because of this difference.

After a moment of the fight, Tiana fell into a disadvantageous position.

Although she start learning fighting from an early age, her strength was not a match on Rena’s, who had accumulated much experience by witnessing many actual cruel battle scenes.

Rena’s identity, a Lieutenant of an area meant the top fighting capacity of that region.

It came from actual fighting!

Perhaps Tiana was better than Rena in others aspects.

But she was naturally weaker than Rena when it comes to fighting.

Bang!

When they were fighting, Rena grasped the chance to punch Tiana's chest.

While Tiana was retreating, she bent her hand into a claw and scratched three bloodstains on Rena's arm.

"Hiss~"

After stabilized her body, Tiana gasped with pains and glared at Rena resentfully, "You horrible chick.

How can you hit my chest?"

"They are too flat. I am just giving a favor to make them bigger."

Rena frowned, glanced at the scratches on her right arm, and ignored it. Then she rushed to Tiana again with quick speed.

In imposing manner, her attack was like a fierce tiger dashing down a mountain.

Tiana frowned and her eyelids twitched a little.

Then Tiana did not dodge, but went directly at Rena.

During the fierce fighting with Rena, Tiana moved under the fence without a trace.

“I’ll fight it out with you!”

Tiana suddenly exclaimed, then her right foot, like a whip, went directly at Rena with roaring wind.

Tiana’s movement was powerful and speedy.

Rena wore a sullen face and raised her arms to defend.

Bang!

Tiana’s whip-like attack made Rena stagger a little.

There were pains appearing on Rena’s face, and she could feel a sharp pain in her arms.

However.

“Bye.”

Although Tiana made a successful attack, she did not take advantage of the victory to continue the fight, but turned around and climbed over the wall to leave.

The situation changed too fast.

Rena was dumbfounded.

Her slim fingers moved a little unconsciously.

Just now, she had even prepared for Tiana's fierce attacks after her successful hit.

"You're horrible chick."

Rena muttered a curse. Then she moved her arms and said thoughtfully, "But why did she break into SH guildhall? And she doesn't look like a person with bad intentions."

In the room.

Jack was lying on the bed.

He heard the sound of fighting outside just now.

He realized quickly that there was Tiana's voice!

But he just could not stop the fight on account of his current condition.

The arrival of Tiana made Jack kind of delighted.

"Does Amber ask her to come for me?"

Chapter 463: For You, I Can Even Flat Mountains and Seas

"Hum... It's so close."

Tiana got in the Lamborghini and patted her chest breathlessly, "Thanks to my wit."

But when she touched the position where Rena punched, she felt a great pain and took a gasp.

Then she cursed with anger, "That chick is so mean."

She looked down and hesitated for a second, then she put one of her hand on her breasts.

Maybe...

"Tiana. What are you doing?"

Tiana shook her head fiercely and tried to get rid of this bold idea.

Then she started the car and it was like flashing lightning, speeding away from the Chinatown.

After making sure that no one was following her, Tiana slowed down.

She frowned and pondered, "It's quite difficult to find out what the Grand Freemasons was searching at the seaside that night. But if I give up, isn't it completely impossible to find Jack?"

Before leaving, what she told Steve and Rosie was purely comforting them.

Tiana did that was to comfort both the couple and Amber.

The mastermind behind such dangerous assassination must be powerful and determined to kill Jack.

Even Tiana was not sure that Jack was still alive.

It they could not find Jack as soon as possible, he would be in great danger even if he was safe now.

What's more, Amber was pregnant.

Thinking of this, Tiana rubbed her hair fretfully.

“How could my years of experience is useless in this matter?”

On the other side.

At the suburban airport.

Mr. Ward hurried to the airport with his luggage.

Then he entered the airport runway through the VIP access.

The private plane had parked on a runway earlier before.

The plane took off after Mr. Ward boarded.

Looking at the airport on the outskirts of the city farther and farther below, Mr. Ward wore a sullen expression with strong homicidal intent.

“Young master, may you wait for me!”

As he spoke, the temperature in the cabin seemed to have plummeted to freezing point.

Mr. Ward, for a long time, had always been as calm as water and as gentle as the spring breeze.

Even if he often got angry.

But it was rare for him to show such undisguised homicidal intent.

When it came to Jack, it was difficult for him to contain his emotion no matter how hard he tried.

It was only a few days.

Young master had suffered such things.

He had no knowledge of it at all if Steve didn't told him.

On the phone, Steve's tone showed that he had no idea to deal with Jack's disappearance.

Otherwise, such a big shot like him would never show a tone of panic and apprehension.

"A big shot that even Steve is no match to him, I'd like to see what this person could do in front of me."

The chill in hie words made the cabin eve colder.

The air of Mr. Ward changed dramatically, which was chilly, stern and unparalleled.

If Jack was here, he would be shocked.

Even Jack had never seen the presented Mr. Ward!

Night was falling.

After waking up, Amber sat by the window blankly.

There were clear moon and bright stars in the sky.

In her red and swollen eyes, there were tears flashing.

She lowered her head slowly and stroked her bulging belly gently, then the tears dripped down her face.

She didn't remember how many times she had cried these days.

She was immersed in an atmosphere of grief every day.

Jack's "betrayal" was like a heated and sharp knife that pierced her heart.

And the bulging belly was like a heavy burden on her shoulders.

Although Jack had been here now, he had suffered before she could see him.

A string of grievous news was beating her overwhelmingly.

If these happened to others, they would have been crushed.

Actually, she had the idea of committing suicide several times.

But she held it back at the thought of the baby in her belly.

A woman was weak, but the motherhood made her tough.

The saying accorded with the state of Amber at this time.

“Dear, I’ll get through it. For you, I will.”

Amber raised her head and watched the lights outside with tearful eyes, then she opened her red lips and murmured in a low hoarse voice, “Jack, where are you?”

In the study.

Steve browsed his computer over and over again.

The information was the real-time investigated information delivered by the company’s internal intelligence department.

He staring at the computer and looked tired with red eyes.

It was not for Jack, but for Amber.

Now his daughter was so haggard. As a father, how could he stand by?

The door opened.

Rosie came in with a bowl of ginseng soup in her hands.

“Have a rest. What if you ruin your health like this?”

“Don’t worry. I’ll be fine and keep on for our daughter.”

Steve stared at the computer and waved his hand, “Now Jack’s whereabouts are unknown. Although Tiana told us to rest assured, we all know that she was comforting us. What will happen to Amber if we can't find Jack as soon as possible?"

"Alas..."

Rosie sighed and let him be. Then she handed the ginseng soup to Steve, "I can understand that you work so hard for our daughter. I am also willing to help her if I am capable enough. But you should take care of yourself first. Why don't you eat the ginseng soup and take a five-minute break?"

"I don't need it. You'd better take the soup to Amber."

Steve pinched his nose wearily, "She has lost all desire for food and drink, besides, she's pregnant now. So she is the one who needs to build up her health. I'm fine. I have to look through these information at the first time. I'm afraid that I will miss something if I stop."

"You..."

Rosie looked sullen but finally she swallowed her tongue back.

Then she showed a look of melancholy and helplessness, "What should we do with it, since Mr. Patrick is also missing at this time?"

Then she left the study with the ginseng soup.

While staring at the computer, Steve wore a sullen look gradually, "More and more things involved in this matter. I don't know if I can withstand the pressure with my weak body."

At the quiet night.

In the SH guildhall.

The light was dim in the room of the eastern courtyard.

Lying on the bed, Jack twitched his eyelids and finally opened his eyes with difficulty.

"Amber and our baby are waiting for me to make an apology and take them home."

After his eyes gradually regained the sight and adapted to the light in the room.

Jack's eyes became extremely firm and fierce, as if he could destroy everything.

"Amber is looking for me. I must pull through as soon as possible. For you, I can even flat mountains and seas, not to mention my body."

A whole week in a coma made Jack feel the weakness of limbs.

After a brief adjustment, he tried to stretch his arms and legs.

But he was no anxious, he would do it step by step.

It was his luck to survive, and he could wait for a few seconds.

His fingers, hands and arms...

Jack was trying to stretch step by step.

Every stretch was bitterly difficult for him.

Even if he just lifted his fingers, he felt like he was lifting something weighty.

Soon, sweats oozed from his forehead.

Rena was taking a nap on the bedside and fell asleep while accompanying and attending to Jack.

At this time she felt something moving around her in a daze.

Then she raised her head and rubbed her eyes.

When she saw Jack opening his eyes, she woke up completely in an instant with twinkle in her beautiful eyes.

“You wake up!”

Jack did not answered and was still trying to stretch.

Rena was ecstatic when she noticed Jack’s hand stretching.

She comforted Jack with care, "Don't worry. Take your time. You'll be fine. You've been in a coma for a week, and it's normal for people to be numb after lying on the bed for a week. Stretch a little, and you will be fine."

However.

When she was comforting him. Jack suddenly looked scared, with his bloodshot eyes wide open.

As if he was encountering a ghost.

It startled Rena.

She asked worriedly, "Jack, what's the matter with you? Are you okay?"

"My legs..."

Jack opened his lips laboriously and made a hoarse and scared voice, "Why can't I feel my legs?"

Chapter464: Jack Was Disabled

Bang!

Jack's words seemed like a bolt from the blue.

Rena was stunned, her beautiful face turned pale.

She opened her beautiful eyes wide and looked at Jack's legs in disbelief.

"My legs, my legs..."

Jack was lying on the bed with a panicked expression, and almost distorted facial features. He wailed desperately, "Why can't I feel my legs? Why can't I move my legs? "

Jack struggled desperately in fear.

At this moment, he wasn't even as he was just now, twisting his body in an almost maddening posture.

But no matter how twisted he was, his legs still didn't move!

The red eyes were filled with panic and crystal tears.

Rena suddenly woke up.

She hurriedly held down Jack, who was struggling desperately, "Calm down and be patient. It's okay, and it's not what you think. Your body has not fully recovered yet. You will hurt yourself with such moves!"

"But I don't feel anymore in my legs."

Tears flowed from the corner of Jack's eyes. He struggled in horror, and ignored Rena's comfort.

Loss of sensation in the legs meant handicapped!

This not only meant that he would have to spend his entire life in a wheelchair, but it would also make him lose his identity as the heir to the Hughes family.

One year later, the Hughes family would choose the head of the family.

But the Hughes family would never tolerate that its next master was disabled!

"It's okay, I believe it will be okay. You have been lying down for so long, and have suffered such a serious injury, which must have an impact on your body. Now your legs are out of sensation, but it must be temporary. As long as you slowly adapt, you will recover."

Rena's face paled, holding Jack desperately, tears already in her beautiful eyes.

"You lied to me!"

Jack looked like a beast, and hissed at Rena.

The roar made Rena completely stunned.

Facing Jack's scarlet eyes, Rena felt fear like never before.

She was terrified, as if by instinct.

"It's over. There is nothing left!"

Jack struggled, crying in pain. He propped up the bed with both hands, trying hard to sit up.

But several times in a row, he fell heavily on the bed.

The constant crash made Rena wake up.

She suppressed the fear in her heart, raised her hand and wiped the tears from the corner of her eyes.

"It's okay. Don't be afraid. I'm here."

She leaned over, and supported Jack to help him sit up.

Jack looked at his legs madly, and slammed them with both hands.

This scene frightened Rena.

Then, Jack looked at Rena in despair, tears streaming down his face, "Really, I cannot feel them anymore..."

Looking at the tearful Jack.

While Rena was terrified and distressed, her heart seemed to be torn apart.

She had seen Jack's high and vigorous spirits.

But now, this man who could tug at her heartstrings cried in front of her like a child.

Men did not shed tears easily unless they were very sad.

How desperate and painful was Jack at this time?

Next second.

Jack suddenly whispered like having hysteria, "Go home. Yes, go home. My wife and child are still waiting for me to go back and admit my mistakes. I, I want to go back. Amber is asking people to find me, and she must be very worried about me..."

He seemed to ignore Rena beside him.

Jack dragged himself under the bed.

Flop!

With both hands empty, Jack fell to the ground.

At that moment, Jack felt as if he was a dead dog.

He struggled and cried, and his teeth clenched. At this moment, in his scarlet eyes full of tears, there was almost crazy determination.

Exhausting all his strength, Jack supported the ground with both hands and crawled towards the door little by little.

"Go home. I want to go home... My wife and child are still waiting for me..."

Rena sat on the chair in despair, looking at Jack who was struggling on the ground like a dying dog.

Her red lips trembled. In silence, two lines of tears flowed down the corners of her eyes.

"Jack! Why are you still thinking about your wife and children? "

Rena screamed with all her strength in her crying voice.

"Because they are my wife and my child!"

Jack didn't look back, and he was so weak that his voice was as low as a mosquito. But it had an indescribable firmness, echoing clearly in the room.

"I am a husband and a father..."

Rena's delicate body trembled. At that moment, her tears seemed to be like river water bursting a bank, and she couldn't help it at all.

She covered her red lips with her right hand and looked at Jack with distressed eyes.

Grandpa was right. It was not right for fate to come too early or too late.

It could only be at the right time...

Rena stood up and walked to Jack in despair.

"I don't allow you to abuse yourself. If you want to go home, you should be totally healed!"

"But do I have the fucking time to recover?"

Jack stopped, finally raised his head and looked up at Rena, "I'm crippled, crippled! Please don't pity me. Let me crawl out of here, even if I look like a dog. It's better to die in a deserted corner!"

"Die?!"

Rena's eyes flickered, and the distress and pain instantly turned into peace.

She gritted her teeth severely and sneered, "You want to die? It's not that easy. You can't die with me here! "

After that, she leaned over and dragged Jack towards the bed in a brutal gesture.

"Let go of me. Please let me go."

Jack struggled desperately. But at this time his legs were not conscious, and he couldn't struggle with Rena at all.

What's more, his body was extremely weak.

This made his struggle seem dispensable.

Rena struggled to help Jack and threw him onto the bed.

"You lie down well, and we will treat you if you are sick. Even if you are disabled, our Grand Freemasons is able to ask the top doctors in the world to treat you!"

Jack lay on the bed and stared at the ceiling desperately.

Tears flowed as the body trembled.

"Wait here, I'll call Grandpa."

Rena was unusually calm, with a cold tone.

When she reached the door, she suddenly stopped.

"You can die if you want, but you should think about your wife and child. When you die, your wife is a widow, and your child is an orphan."

After speaking, she stopped staying and left quickly.

And Jack, who was lying on the bed, finally showed a gleam of light in his gloomy eyes following these words.

His hands clenched into fists quietly.

Rena braced and walked out of the room. As soon as she stepped out of the room, she couldn't help crying.

Her peerless face was full of tears.

She bit her arm tightly, and even traces of blood appeared.

This was to force herself not to cry.

She hurried towards the place where grandpa lived.

Patter!

Rena opened the door.

In the room, Carlos was flipping through a book. Seeing Rena's appearance, his expression suddenly changed.

She did not wait for him to speak.

Rena finally released her arm, no longer suppressing her crying, and threw herself into Carlos's arms.

"Grandpa, Jack is disabled..."

Chapter465: The Dragon Fell into the Abyss

Carlos trembled.

He was shocked.

Finally, he sighed sadly.

"The doctor was right."

Rena, who threw herself into Carlos's arms and howled and cried, raised her head with teary eyes, and looked at Carlos in disbelief.

"Did you know it a long time ago?"

Carlos nodded solemnly.

"After being injured, poisoned, and jumping into the sea, he was very lucky to be able to get his life back. When the doctor rescued, the poison was already flowing through the blood. At that time, the doctors were helpless. It was purely on the face of our Grand Freemasons and his seniority that the doctors had made every possible effort."

Carlos looked helpless and twitched the corners of his mouth, "As a result, they really saved Jack. But at that time, the doctors said that the poison entered his blood. Even if he was saved, it might damage some organs or cause paralysis. This is normal and very likely."

Looking at Rena, who was shocked, Carlos smiled bitterly and stroked her head lightly.

"I knew what you thought of Jack, so Mr. Ward and I didn't tell you. But I didn't expect Jack to find out so soon... He was able to pick up a life, and it has exceeded all our expectations. How can he ask not to be disabled? "

Rena was dazed.

At that moment, tears flowed quietly.

She felt as if her chest was choked with stones, and she was suffocating.

The despair and pain of Jack just now were still vivid.

They cut her heart fiercely like a sword.

She asked unwillingly, "How can I tell him? He can't accept it. Do you really have no choice? "

"Yes, I cannot do it."

Carlos shook his head.

As he said, he raised his dry and old hand and gently wiped the tears from the corners of Rena's eyes.

"You are already an adult, and have to act like an adult. An adult should accept some facts and realities that he or she does not want to accept."

Rena's lips moved slightly, but she was still unwilling to face it.

That man was so high-spirited before.

Why should God be so unfair and let him become disabled?

But she hadn't spoken yet.

Carlos slowly got up, "Let's go. Take me to see Jack, and call the doctors. It's time for Jack to accept the truth."

...

Ten minutes later.

Carlos took Rena and five doctors into Jack's room.

Jack was lying on the bed, staring blankly at the ceiling, motionless.

He seemed to be out of his body, with only one body left.

"Jack..."

Rena whispered, "I brought my grandpa and the doctors."

Jack did not respond. In silence, a tear came from the corner of his eye again.

This scene made Rena almost cry.

She covered her mouth, couldn't bear to look, turned and walked outside the house.

Carlos shook his head helplessly, and stepped forward and said, "Jack, these five are the top doctors. I bring them to help you treat your legs."

There was a gleam in Jack's eyes.

He looked at the five doctors with expectation, and finally his eyes fell on Carlos.

"Really... Could I still be saved?"

A weak sentence was full of endless expectations.

He was like a dying man, and eager to grasp the last straw.

Carlos already knew the result, but at that time he didn't dare to admit it directly.

Instead, he said, "How do you know if you don't try it?"

Five doctors stepped forward at the same time to make a joint diagnosis of Jack.

After being in a coma for seven days, the room was transformed into an "emergency room" by Carlos.

Some medical examination equipment was also in the room.

Outside the house, Amber bit her arm tightly to resist crying, letting the tears flow.

Hearing Jack's words, it seemed as if countless red-hot knives were dividing her heart bit by bit.

What could be more miserable than letting one accept the desperate reality?

Before that, Jack was an outstanding elite at the top.

Although Rena was arrogant and competitive, she also admitted that Jack was indeed excellent.

It had nothing to do with the background of the Hughes family, and it was because of Jack's excellence.

Otherwise, he wouldn't be able to stir her heartstrings.

Knowing that Jack was married, she still couldn't control her love for him like a moth to a fire.

But now... He fell into the abyss.

Inside, it was quiet.

Carlos stood by, kept silent, and watched everything in front of him quietly.

The five doctors looked attentively and performed a diagnostic examination for Jack.

However, Jack's eyes were always shining, and he looked at the five doctors with great expectations.

He wanted to detect clues from the expressions of the five doctors.

But the five doctors looked indifferent from beginning to end.

Everything was checked.

Jack asked eagerly, "Doctor, is there any chance I can recover?"

"Mr., wait a minute. There are still a few more checks. It will take time to wait for the results."

One of the doctors pointed to several instruments in the corner.

Jack nodded, breathing faster unconsciously. He took a few deep breaths, but still couldn't control it.

"Hope. This is my only hope..."

He murmured, his hands clenched into fists, and his body trembled.

Seeing this, Carlos couldn't hide the disappointment in his eyes.

Such a real talent... He unexpectedly fell to this point. God had no vision!

With the strength of Grand Freemasons, it was easy to investigate everything about Jack.

Carlos was amazed by his ability.

Even if he did not have the background of the Hughes family, and his father, Patrick, was not the master of this family.

Carlos also had no doubt that with Jack's ability, he could even rise directly to a high position with only a little help.

What's more, he, a senior statesman of Grand Freemasons, whose generation name was Yuan, was also surprised at Jack's disposition.

Time passed slowly.

The test reports had results one after another.

He looked at the five doctors who gathered together to discuss the conclusion.

There was always hope in Jack's eyes.

At this moment, seconds were like years.

At last.

The five doctors exchanged their looks and walked to Jack.

One of the doctors also signaled Carlos to come closer.

Then he said slowly.

"The test results were not abnormal. But as judged during the rescue, it was a miracle for this gentleman to survive. And now he loses consciousness in his legs and is unable to move. It should be a sequelae caused by the poison penetrated into the blood."

"Then I... Can I recover?" Jack asked expectantly.

The doctor was silent for a second and shook his head.

"We have discussed that your disability can't be checked for any specific indicators and cannot be cured. Maybe... This situation will accompany you for the whole life. "

The doctor said the most desperate fact in a calm tone.

Carlos stared at Jack's expression silently.

After hearing the doctor's words, Jack's body trembled fiercely.

The light of hope in his eyes quickly disappeared.

All that was left was endless gloom.

Inside the house, it fell into a dead silence.

Outside the house, Rena couldn't restrain herself, and quietly poked her head out to stare at Jack.

In the next second, Jack smiled sadly, causing Rena to feel very heartbroken.

Jack smiled, and stared at his legs, desperately lamenting.

"I'm scrapped. I'm completely scrapped. I'm also... It was completely over... All efforts were wasted because of these legs..."

There was a deep sense of death in his words.

When he finished speaking, Jack's complexion suddenly turned pale, and a mouthful of blood poured out from the corner of his mouth.

It was bright red and dazzling.

Chapter 466 She Is Lovesick Because of Him

Jack suddenly blacked out and fell heavily on the bed.

Nobody expected this.

"Jack!"

Rena's face turned pale and she immediately rushed in.

But she was stopped by Carlos.

Five doctors came forward to give Jack a diagnosis and one of them responded, "Nothing serious with him."

Rena and Carlos were both relieved then.

Carlos turned around to look at Rena and said, "Rena, take care of him."

Rena's eyes were filled with tears while she watched her grandpa leave with the five doctors.

She walked slowly towards Jack, staring at his pale face and the blood at the corner of his lips was like a sharp knife that pricked in her eyes.

"It's gonna be fine. Everything's gonna be fine. You are not alone. You still have me."

Her crying sounds came out of her red lips slowly.

Rena gently wiped the blood at the corner of Jack's mouth.

Then she lay on Jack's chest slowly and gently.

She murmured with tears, "I'm with you. I won't let you be in any danger again."

It was a cool night.

The private plane arrived at the airport.

Mr. Ward walked out of the plane with a serious expression.

People from the office of the Hughes Family had already waited outside the airport.

After leaving the airport, Mr. Ward directly got into the car.

"Go to QY International Group, the one that belongs to the Knight Family."

"Mr. Ward, you rushed here to visit the Knight family, is there anything wrong?"

The one who was responsible for picking Mr. Ward up asked.

A cold light flashed across Mr. Ward's eyes and he looked at the driving mirror of the car.

"People who talk too much will get their tongue pulled out and go to hell."

"Sor, sorry, Mr. Ward."

The receiver turned out to be afraid. He hurriedly apologized and started the car.

Mr. Ward looked out of the window and pondered.

He had not yet informed the Hughes family about what happened to Jack.

It was a lucky thing that Jack came to this place alone this time.

In other words, people of the Hughes family did not know where Jack was this time.

Now that Patrick was "missing" and there was nobody to lead the Hughes family anymore. People of the Hughes family had already divided into many parties.

In Mr. Ward's opinion, he had better not tell the Hughes family that Jack was missing because it obviously did more harm than good.

He also tried hard to stay low-key on this trip.

Staying low-key was also the only protection he could offer to Jack.

Therefore, even now that he had landed, he didn't go to live in the office of the Hughes family but chose to directly go to the house of the Knight family.

When Mr. Ward arrived at the house of the Knight family, it was already nearly midnight.

What made Mr. Ward a little surprised was that the lights in the house of the Knight family were still all on.

"Mr. Ward, I'll wait outside."

The office receptionist said respectfully.

Mr. Ward made him feel terrified and cold. He didn't dare to say anything more in front of Mr. Ward.

"You can go now. I came here for something personal."

Mr. Ward waved his hand and said indifferently.

After the receiver drove away, he went up and rang the doorbell.

Soon, a servant came to open the door.

"Is it Mr. Ward?"

"I want to see Mr. Knight."

Led by the maid, Mr. Ward walked into the villa.

However, after entering the house, he didn't see Amber and her parents.

He frowned and asked, "Where is Mrs. Hughes, Mr. Knight, and Mrs. Knight?"

The servant said with a gloomy face, "Mrs. Hughes suddenly fainted. Mr. Knight asked doctors to check on her."

Boom!

Mr. Ward's expression changed greatly as he hurriedly got up and headed upstairs.

He walked into the room with worry, the scene in front of him made his heart sank.

Steve gestured to Mr. Ward to keep quiet.

And beside him, Rosie was crying with her hands covering her face.

Amber was lying in the bedroom without moving. Her expression was indifferent and her eyes were dull.

And at the bedside, two doctors were doing examinations on Amber with strange expressions.

Mr. Ward was really worried as he looked at this. When his eyes fell on Amber's thin face, he couldn't help but feel heartbroken. Her slightly swollen belly also made his eyes red.

"Mr. Ward, come out to talk."

Steve wearily led Mr. Ward outside.

When they stood in the corridor, Steve rarely took out a cigarette to smoke.

"What's going on?" Mr. Ward said in a deep voice.

Steve didn't answer him directly. He just kept smoking with his heads lowered and smoked extremely hard.

He finished the cigarette in three puffs.

After casually throwing the cigarette to the ground, he then said, "Jack betrayed Amber. After she came back, she had been in tears all day and didn't eat or drink anything. When Jack came here, they met with each other but didn't get a chance to talk to each other. Then something wrong happened to Jack."

"Amber is already pregnant. Then she suffers great physical and psychological damage because of Jack's betrayal, so she has long been physically and mentally exhausted. When she knew what happened to Jack this time, her weak body couldn't hold it anymore. "

Steve rubbed his face and said guiltily, "Rosie is worried about Amber so she wants to come over to keep Amber company. But we didn't expect that we would see her faint on the floor. Now, she has already woken up, but just now you also saw how she is."

Speaking of this, Steve signed.

His eyes were even flooded with tears.

"As her father, I'm really useless. Seeing my daughter become like this, but I can do nothing."

Mr. Ward patted Steve's shoulder and comforted him, "It's okay, everything will be alright."

Since I'm here, I will do everything I can to find young master Hughes."

"Let's go in first."

Steve wiped away the tears at the corner of his eyes. As he walked into the room, he tried hard to pretend to be strong.

Mr. Ward followed closely behind.

And at that time, the two doctors finished the examination.

One of them said, "The baby is fine but your daughter is in a dangerous situation."

Hearing that the baby was fine, Mr. Ward, Steve, and Rosie all breathed a sigh of relief.

But the latter part of what the doctor said made them feel disturbed.

"Doctor, how is my daughter doing?" Rosie asked with a crying voice.

Since Amber woke up, she had remained dull like this.

This made Rosie and Steve heartbroken as if their hearts were hurt by something.

However, the doctor said, "Your daughter is fine."

Steve frowned, "You first tell us she is in a dangerous situation, then you tell us she is fine, how is she exactly?"

"Mr. Knight, your daughter is physically healthy but she is mentally sick."

The doctor said seriously, "If you can't solve her mental problem as soon as possible, she will break down according to her current mental state. Even the baby will..."

After a pause, the doctor leaned over to pack up his things and said, "Mr. Knight, you should have heard the saying that nothing is more lamentable than a dead heart, right?"

"Is there a way to treat my daughter? Or prescribe some medicine?"

Steve's eyes were red with anxiety.

"I'm sorry, it's a mental problem and there's no cure." The doctor shook his head and the two of them left.

"Amber..."

Rosie sat on the edge of the bed crying. She raised her hand and waved it in front of Amber's blank eyes, "Mom is here, can you see me?"

"Daughter, you say something. Mom and dad are here, you can't scare us like this." Steve simply squatted by the bed and grabbed Amber's hand.

But Amber still remained motionless without changing her looks.

Mr. Ward slowly walked to the bedside with a sad look.

Seeing that Amber had lost a lot of weight, even he couldn't help but have tears in his eyes.

Mr. Ward said to her softly with a trembling voice, "Mrs. Hughes, I come to see you..."

Hearing his words, Amber's eyes suddenly flickered for a moment.

Then, two drops of tears dripped down the corners of her eyes.

Her pale, cracked, and dry lips moved and she said, "My love... disappeared..."

Chapter 467 I Want Him to Kneel in Front of Me and the Baby to Apologize

Amber cried silently.

Drops of crystal tears dropped along the corner of Amber's eyes like strings of pearls.

Mr. Ward, Steve, and Rosie felt their hearts in sharp pain when seeing this.

"Amber..."

Rosie directly fell on Amber's chest to hug her daughter tightly.

Steve also couldn't conceal his sadness and he kept wiping his tears.

The couple watched Amber become emaciated step by step.

As her parents, they really suffered and felt their hearts in pain.

But their greatest pain was that they were unable to do anything!

Mr. Ward really felt heartbroken and he cried.

He knelt on the ground and begged, "Mrs. Hughes, health is the most important thing. I will try all means to find Mr. Hughes."

After saying that, he heavily kowtowed on the ground again.

"Mr. Ward!"

Steve was startled and hurriedly stopped him.

But Mr. Ward insisted on doing this.

When he raised his head, he was already in tears.

"Old Mr. Hughes has disappeared. I was ordered to take care of Mr. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes. Now that Mr. Hughes is missing and Mrs. Hughes is in such a state, it's all my fault."

Dang!

Again, he knocked his head on the ground.

When he raised his head again, his forehead was already bruised and flooded with blood.

Steve cried with snot and tears but could not stop crying.

"Mrs. Hughes, you must recover sooner. I know you love Mr. Hughes so much. But I guarantee in my life that Mr. Hughes has no affair with that woman, it is only a misunderstanding. If you don't take care of yourself, how can you go find him?"

Dang!

He kowtowed again.

His kowtow this time startled Mr. and Mrs. Knight.

And Amber, who had been crying silently, had finally got some light in her dull eyes again.

Mr. Ward slowly raised his head. Despite the blood seeping from his forehead, he held back all his tears and said in grief.

"Seeing you torture yourself like this, I really can't bear it. Even if Mr. Hughes has already died. You are still pregnant with his only offspring..."

After saying that, Mr. Ward couldn't suppress his sadness anymore.

He used his old hands to cover his face and cried.

The sound of crying echoed in the house for a long time.

Suddenly, a slight and weak voice sounded.

"Mom, I... I am a little hungry."

Boom!

The voice was as low as a mosquito's cry, but it sounded like a big thunder blast in the room. Her voice even sounded louder than Mr. Ward's cry.

Steve and Rosie both looked at Amber in excitement and ecstasy.

Even Mr. Ward wiped his tears and looked at Amber with surprise.

At that moment, Amber's eyes were finally glowing with light. The light was weak but her eyes were no longer dull like before.

There was an indescribable determination on her pale and haggard face.

Feeling the gaze of her parents and Mr. Ward, she lowered her head and gently touched her belly.

"The baby... is hungry too..."

"Quick, do it quickly! Make some delicious food. Make Amber's favorite food."

Steve was ecstatic. He laughed and cried like a child.

"Good, good, Amber. Wait a moment. I will go to make some food for you."

Rosie's face was full of smiles. She never smiled so happily recently.

She wiped the tears from her face, got up, and walked out. Probably because she was too excited, she was even a little staggered.

Mr. Ward also smiled happily with relief.

No medicine could solve mental problems.

As long as she could still eat, she would recover.

Nothing was more lamentable than a dead heart.

Now Amber finally had the desire to live now.

"Mr. Ward..."

Amber looked at Mr. Ward weakly, "Is it... really just a misunderstanding?"

"It is indeed a misunderstanding!"

Mr. Ward nodded solemnly, "I guarantee with my head, that day..."

Amber smiled lightly and shook her head, "Since it is a misunderstanding, I will wait for him to personally come and explain to me. I want him to kneel in front of me and the baby to apologize."

"Good!"

Mr. Ward was delighted and she said with a serious expression, "If Mr. Hughes refuses to kneel on the ground to apologize, I will try all means to force him to kneel down and apologize to you!"

Amber smiled and she soothed her frowned eyebrows.

After immersing in sorrow for nearly half a month, there finally appeared slight joy in the house of the Knight family.

Soon, Rosie personally cooked a lot of delicious food.

The maids were instructed to bring all of the dishes into Amber's bedroom.

But Amber finally only picked a bowl of thin porridge and quietly ate it up with some pickles.

Even like this, her parents and Mr. Ward were still happy.

This was the first time in half a month that Amber took the initiative to eat something. No one persuaded her, she ate it willingly.

After the meal, Rosie stayed to accompany Amber.

Steve and Mr. Ward walked into the study.

"Thank you, Mr. Ward, thank you, Mr. Ward. If it wasn't for you, Rosie and I would really have broken down."

As soon as they entered the study, Steve burst into tears of excitement. He also shook Mr. Ward's hand and thanked him.

"This is all my fault. You don't need to thank me."

Mr. Ward waved his hand guiltily and then asked, "How is the investigation going this time?"

"We haven't found anything yet."

Steve's expression was obscure and his face was filled with helplessness, "The other party is too strong and they can nearly control everything. Perhaps only the Hughes family can find out something."

"The Hughes family?"

Mr. Ward shook his head, "The last choice I have is to tell the Hughes family about this. If the fact that old Mr. Hughes is missing and Mr. Hughes had an accident is exposed, it will do more harm than good in the Hughes family."

Steve nodded and said dejectedly, "But with our force, we have found nothing after investigating for such a long time."

"I have an idea."

Mr. Ward's words made Steve's eyes light up.

Before Steve asked a follow-up question, Mr. Ward said, "However, I need to know the whole story in the shortest possible time. Only after I know everything could I use this method."

"No problem!"

Steve nodded and pointed to the computer, "Inside the computer is all the information that I have found with the support from QY International Group and my partners' intelligence agencies in the past few months. In addition to that, I have a niece who works in an international organization. She can also provide help to you. I will invite her over tomorrow."

"Good!" Mr. Ward nodded his head.

...

It was finally morning.

Jack finally woke up after he spat blood and fainted.

Who he saw first was Rena. She seemed to be really exhausted and there were two dark circles under her eyes.

Even though she was exhausted, Rena still forced herself to open her eyes wide.

"You... Did you not sleep all night?"

Jack asked weakly.

Rena propped her chin with both hands and stared at Jack "Didn't you see the two black circles under my eyes? Aren't they enough?"

Jack pulled the corner of his mouth and smiled.

Bitter, lonely, obscure.

Rena felt her heart broke seeing him like this.

There was no vitality on Jack's face at all, as if he had fallen into the abyss of darkness.

And there only remained sadness and desperation.

Once he was a big shot with glory.

Rena stretched herself to press down the complex and sad emotions in her heart.

She looked back outside and said, "The weather is nice and the air in the morning is fresh. Let me take you out for a walk."

Jack said indifferently, "Going out in that damn wheelchair?"

Rena shrugged. She blinked and smiled oddly, "If you don't want to use the wheelchair, I can also carry you."

Chapter 468 My Heart Already Belongs to Someone, I Can't Afford to Let A Girl Waste Her Youth on Me
The sun was warm and the breeze was gentle.

The air was fresh.

Although Jack was still sitting in the wheelchair, he still felt much better.

But when he saw the wheelchair he was sitting in, he still frowned.

His weak and pale face was covered with depression.

Rena stood behind the wheelchair. She stretched herself and felt somewhat sad,

"You always call it a damn wheelchair. Why don't you let me carry you? Isn't it much more comfortable?"

Jack shook his head, "I'm married."

Rena froze.

Her already tired eyes instantly went dull.

She quietly grabbed the wheelchair pushers tightly. She used so much force that veins emerged on the back of her fair-skinned hands.

After a few seconds of silence, Rena suddenly smiled and said, "It's okay, I'm taking care of you according to my grandfather's order.."

Jack said indifferently, "You can go rest, I want to be alone."

"I'm not tired!" Rena shook her head and smiled. She was pretending to be relaxed.

"Get out of my sight!"

Jack suddenly stormed out.

Rena's smile froze and she instantly felt aggrieved.

Her eyes turned red and she almost cried.

"I know you're in a bad mood. I won't bother you. Call me if you want to return."

Rena put a cell phone on Jack's. Then she turned around and left.

But she quietly raised her right hand to wipe the corner of her eyes and couldn't help but walk in quick steps.

Seeing Rena accelerated her pace to leave.

Jack smiled lonely with deep eyes.

"My heart already belongs to someone. How can I afford to let a girl waste her youth on me?"

His expression gradually cooled down.

Jack gritted his teeth with his eyes filled with reluctance.

"My wife and my child were still waiting for me at home. I do not believe that I can never stand up again."

He put his hands on the armrests of the wheelchair and tried to get up with all his might in a trembling way.

But as soon as his feet hit the ground, they became soft as if he didn't have feet at all.

He hurriedly fell backward and sat back in the wheelchair.

But his eyes were bloodshot and there was anger in them,

"I must... stand up again!"

Jack gritted his teeth and tried again.

He didn't want to accept this fact and he wouldn't let go of any single chance.

He wanted to stand up again.

He wanted to walk back to Amber with dignity.

He also wanted to become the head of the Hughes family with dignity.

If he was crippled, people of the great Hughes family would definitely turn him away. Even his father wouldn't be able to help him.

He didn't want all the efforts he had made to be in vain.

He was not afraid of anything. Even if he lost everything, he still had the courage to start up again.

But he feared that he would lose the opportunity to start again.

He tried again and again, then he failed again and again.

After trying five times, Jack was so tired that he sweated and panted.

And his hands were trembling a lot as he supported himself to get up with them.

"I am too weak. My physical situation has declined too much in just one week."

Jack was almost out of breath. His sweat fell like rain and all his clothes were wet.

"One more time, it will work. My life is decided by myself, not God."

Jack took a deep breath. Then with his hands on the armrests to support him, he tried to stand up again.

When his feet got in touch with the ground, they were still too weak to support his body.

However, this time Jack was too tired, so much so that when he fell, he did not fall back to sit in the wheelchair.

Bang!

Jack fell to the ground and the wheelchair also fell. The metal pusher smashed heavily on his back.

The smash almost made him pass out.

"Damn!"

Tears appeared in Jack's eyes as he heavily punched the ground with his fists.

The stone floor was incredibly hard, so the punch made four of his knuckles hurt and blood flew out.

But Jack did not care about it.

How could the pain in the hand outweigh the pain of being disabled?

Jack gritted his teeth and supported himself with his hands on the ground.

Then he arched his upper body to push away the wheelchair pressed against his body.

It was simple for normal people.

But Jack couldn't feel his legs. He felt he was lifting something extremely heavy as he did this.

Poof!

Jack pushed away from the wheelchair. Then he turned over and lay on the ground.

Without blinking his eyes, he stared directly at the shining morning sun.

He laughed.

He laughed sadly.

His laughter was heartbroken.

His sound of laughter echoed in the courtyard.

But the louder he laughed, the more tears filled his eyes.

He tilted his head to look at the corner of the towering courtyard wall and painfully said, "I am now crippled. I can't even walk out of this courtyard. What is the difference between me and a trapped beast? No, not a trapped beast, how can a beast be crippled? I am obviously like a dead man..."

The laughter echoed in the courtyard, there was endless sadness in his laughter.

On the other side of the SH guildhall.

Rena suddenly stopped after leaving in tears.

She wiped away the tears from the corners of her eyes and suddenly murmured worriedly, "What if something happens to him after I leave?"

She stomped her foot in worry.

Rena blamed herself in shame, "Oh my God. Am I crazy? I said I would take care of him. How could I walk away?"

She patted her tired face with dark circles under her eyes, "I am not tired. I am not tired at all. Why did I think nonsense without sleeping all night?"

Rena turned around and ran towards the east courtyard.

When she got close to the east courtyard, she suddenly heard a sad laugh in the courtyard.

Her expression changed dramatically and she rushed into the east courtyard.

The scene of Jack crying and laughing sadly on the ground made Rena totally heartbroken.

'What happened during the short time when I was away?'

She rushed to Jack's side and asked with a pale face, "Jack, why did you fall on the ground? Get up!"

"I can't even stand up. What's the big deal about me lying on the ground?"

Jack said with a smile and let Rena pick him up.

Jack's feet could not support him, so his whole body could only be supported by Rena.

Just as Rena held Jack head-on and tried to "push" him back into the wheelchair.

She slipped and lost balance.

"Ah!"

She screamed.

Jack fell back into the wheelchair.

And Rena also fell on Jack.

In an instant, they looked into each other's eyes and their lips got in touch.

At that moment, the smile on Jack's face disappeared.

Rena's mind was blank.

Time seemed to freeze.

After a second pause, Rena stood up in a hurry like a frightened kitten.

She felt so shy that her beautiful face turned totally red.

She seemed to be flustered and she didn't know what she should do.

She mumbled, "Accident. It was just an accident! Don't think about nonsense. I, I didn't mean it. I didn't have any unusual feelings towards you."

"Get me back to my room, I want to sleep." Jack said calmly.

"Huh? Oh, okay, okay."

Rena nodded her head.

Then she pushed him towards the room.

When standing behind Jack, the corner of her mouth went up slightly. She felt a little sweet.

She quietly touched her lips with the index finger of her left hand.

After helping Jack settle down, Rena turned to leave. She was really tired.

As she walked out, she felt more relaxed in her heart.

She smiled and sometimes pursed her lips.

When she walked to the courtyard, she stopped to look at the place where Jack had just fallen and murmured softly, "So... This is how he tastes?"

She was about to leave the place after she said this.

Suddenly, the sweet smile on her face disappeared.

There was only endless coldness left on her face.

Rena's sharp eyes fell on the corner of the wall.

Chapter 469 A Visitor with An Intention

Above the high wall.

It was empty.

But the expression on Rena's face was as cold as frost, she sternly asked, "Who is there?!"

Just as her words ended, a rustling sound came outside the wall.

A pretty face slowly appeared from the wall.

The girl spat out her tongue and said with helplessness, "I just climbed up and you found me. Are you born to catch me?"

Seeing that familiar face.

The coldness on Rena's face dissipated a little, she slowly raised her right fist and sneered, "Do you want to be hit swelling for free again?"

Tiana froze as she stayed on the top of the wall.

She then looked down at her own boobs almost subconsciously.

Hiss~

This was a really bold idea.

"Do you know the consequences of coming to climb the wall of SH guildhall more than once?"

Rena warned with a deep voice.

SH guildhall was the headquarters of the Grand Freemasons and it oversaw other three thousand six hundred halls.

Even if Tiana had no bad intentions in climbing the wall over the wall, SH guildhall was never a place people could come at will.

Tiana came two times and every time, she met Rena.

If she met someone else, she would have already been captured by people of the Grand Freemasons.

Of course, Tiana knew the consequences of trespassing at SH guildhall.

But she now has only one small clue related to the Grand Freemasons.

She now only wanted to find out what the people of the Grand Freemasons found in the sea at night

Jack disappeared.

If she didn't break into Grand Freemasons, how could she find other clues?

However, she still had to deal with Rena's warning.

Tiana blinked her eyes and pretended to be ignorant. She asked, "What consequences?"

Rena suddenly laughed.

With seriousness in her eyes, she looked at Tiana with a playful smile, "Do you think I have bigger boobs than you so that I am less clever than you?"

Tiana froze. In an instant, raging anger appeared on her pretty face.

She retorted with shame and anger, "What's the big deal to have big boobs?"

"It is a big deal to have big boobs!"

Rena raised her eyebrows and smiled. Her smile was so beautiful that even the moon couldn't compare with it.

Almost at the same time, her expression suddenly turned extremely cold.

She accelerated her pace and rushed to the wall.

"You get down!"

In a blink.

A panic appeared on Tiana's face.

"Bye-bye."

Seeing that Rena was about to jump onto the wall with a run-up, she directly arched her chest and jumped down from the wall.

Rena originally wanted to directly drag Tiana down from the courtyard wall.

Since Tiana ran, she failed to achieve her goal.

She pressed her palm on the top of the wall and went out with the support of her hands.

Then she landed in the alley and ran to chase Tiana.

She was not a woman with big boobs but no brain.

On the contrary, battle skills were not the only reason for her to become one of the Grand Freemasons'

Lieutenant at such a young age. She was also quite clever.

The first time Tiana trespassed the SH guildhall could be treated as an accident.

What about the second time?

The first time she came out of the blue, but the second time she obviously came prepared.

At the same time, Rena was chasing Tiana.

In the room, Jack was lying on the bed and his deep eyes were glowing.

"Not going back is perhaps the best way to protect Amber and the baby this time."

Jack murmured and used his hand to quietly grab his legs.

When he first knew his legs were disabled, he wanted to leave the Grand Freemasons and went back to Amber.

But now, he calmed down.

He knew that if he went back, he would put the Knight family in danger.

So, although he heard Tiana's voices clearly just now, he suppressed his desire and said nothing.

Since Tiana went back, she must find some clues. But Jack wished that she didn't find anything.

His legs were disabled and the man who tried to kill him that night was nowhere to be found.

Perhaps it was his best choice for him to hide under the protection of the Grand Freemasons.

Even if he ended up dead, he didn't bring any harm to Amber and her parents.

Jack's eyes turned to be firm and he said with reluctance, "I don't believe that I can't stand up in this life... Even if I go back, I have to walk back with dignity."

The other side.

Rena was chasing Tiana and the two of them were running in the alley at a high speed.

Due to the house arrangement in Chinatown, there were alleys between houses.

"Beauty, can you stop chasing me? I really went the wrong way!"

With her forehead covered with sweat, Rena shouted loudly at Tiana.

"If you stop running, then I will stop chasing!"

With a heroic look on her face, Rena twitched her mouth and sneered, "You should thank me now for not asking others to surround you."

"We can't be together." Tiana suddenly said.

Rena, "....."

What was she thinking about?

Suddenly, in her front, Tiana used her right foot to kick the wall next to her. With the help of the counter-thrust, she leaped to the left wall. Then she used her left foot to kick again.

She repeated such actions three times and directly jumped up a nearly three meters high wall.

"You can't run away!"

Rena froze as she saw this and she also followed suit.

She jumped on the wall almost the same time with Tiana.

As soon as Rena stood still, she narrowed her eyes and a cold light emerged from her eyes.

She smashed the tiles on the courtyard wall with her fist and threw one of them at Tiana.

Bang!

Tiana felt a sharp pain in the part of her left knee while she was escaping.

With a shriek, she instantly lost her balance and fell down from the wall.

"Now, are you still running?"

Before Tiana could stand up, the light in front of her was blocked.

Rena walked up to her side and looked down on her from a high position.

Tiana also caught a glimpse of a sword in Rena's hands from the corner of her eyes.

Tiana immediately changed into a serious expression, "Are you going to kill me just because I climbed the wall of your house?"

Rena waved the dagger in her hand.

She said in a cold and stern voice, "Why do you come to Grand Freemasons repeatedly?"

At this moment, there was no kindness on Rena's face at all, there was only coldness and seriousness.

Rena's words were so harsh and cold that she seemed to say that if Tiana dared to stammer, the dagger in the hand would unmercifully fall.

Tiana's expression changed.

She asked with a frown, "What was the Grand Freemasons trying to find on the beach that night?"

Boom!

Rena was startled and her eyes were glowing with the light of disbelief.

How did Tiana know that?

Although the Grand Freemasons sent thousands of people out that day, they still tried their best to stay low-key.

How could such a girl know about it?

In a flash, Rena felt chilled on her back.

Just as she was startled to freeze, Tiana's eyes flashed and she rolled a few times away to stand up.

Then she jumped up the wall and disappeared above the wall.

Rena suddenly came back to her senses.

But the top of the wall was already empty and she clearly couldn't get Tiana anymore.

She was really surprised and afraid.

When she first met Tiana, she still thought it was just a game.

But after hearing what Tiana said just now, she immediately became distressed.

"She came to SH guildhall just to check on what happened that night. She has an intention. I have to warn my grandfather immediately."

After saying that, Rena turned around and hurriedly returned to SH guildhall with a sullen face.

And on the other side.

After escaping from Chinatown, Tiana quickly got back into her car.

She patted her chest with her heart beating quickly, "So close, fortunately, I am a clever one.

Otherwise, I would really have been caught today."

She raised her eyebrows and suddenly remembered how surprised Rena was when hearing what she said.

"They must have some kind of secrets. It's just a pity that every time I meet that woman with big boobs.

It seems that I have to use some other methods to achieve my goal. It's getting late, I better go back to the Knight family first."

Chapter 470 Isaac Wells

"Idiot!"

Carlos's expression was gloomy as he stared at Rena.

"Since you already know her purpose, you should have kept her on the spot. Now that the Grand Freemasons can afford some twists and turns, but Jack can't!"

"Grandpa, it's my fault, what should we do now?"

Rena lowered her head, she lowered her head with self-blame.

She met Tiana two times. In Rena's opinion, Tiana's thinking mode was strange and she always thought outside the box.

Which made Rena less alerted when seeing her.

After all, who would care about the other party's boobs when dealing with something serious?

Only when Tiana asked that question did Rena realize how serious the situation was.

"She is already alerted. It is already too late to catch her now."

Carlos frowned in contemplation with a gloomy face, "You go back to the east courtyard, I will ask Boss to get more people here. From now on, the entire SH guildhall is under martial law."

"Grandpa, why don't we transfer Jack to some other places?" Rena suggested.

Carlos looked serious, "What other place is safer than the headquarters of the Grand Freemasons?"

He waved his hands and asked Rena to leave.

Only after she left did Carlos murmured in a low voice, "A force that could block the road to assassinate

Jack and they can hide in the dark without being found by Grand Freemasons. If we transfer Jack to some other place, he is destined to die."

After saying that, Carlos got up to go to the Boss of Grand Freemasons with the walking stick.

They had to deal with this carefully.

The woman tried to infiltrate the the SH guildhall twice.

Her purpose was to find out what the Grand Freemasons was finding on the beach the night Jack disappeared.

Obviously, she came for Jack.

Carlos found it hard not to link this with the force who tried to assassinate Jack.

If the woman was just scouting, then there should be more assassination forces followed.

In the headquarters of Grand Freemasons.

With the rising smoke, there was a faint scent in the room.

On the broad wall, there hung three huge portraits.

And in front of the portraits, there was a case table.

Behind the case table, there was a white-haired middle-aged man sitting there straight.

His expression was placid and he seemed to be quite a calm one.

The gold-rimmed glasses on the bridge of his nose added some elegance and gentleness to him.

He was the Boss of the Grand Freemasons, Isaac Wells.

Knock, knock.

A knock sounded at the door.

The white-haired middle-aged man looked up and saw Carlos, a warm smile appeared on his calm face.

He got up and came forward to help Carlos sit on the chair.

"If you need me, just ask someone to call me over, why bother to come here in person?"

"You are the Boss. How can I order you at will?"

Carlos joked.

Isaac shrugged his shoulders and said, "You are the senior one. What I achieved today is also thanks to your help."

Carlos smiled blandly.

Then the smile on his face gradually disappeared and he said seriously, "Someone has already known Jack is in the SH guildhall."

"What?"

Isaac was astonished, "From beginning to end, we finished the action carefully. Even local giants don't know we were looking for someone by the sea, how could it be exposed?"

Carlos smiled bitterly, "Rena found it. A woman tried to climb over the wall of the east courtyard to break in the SH guildhall twice, and..."

After a pause, Carlos said in a deep voice, "And when Rena was chasing that girl just now, the girl asked a question in order to escape. She asked what we were looking for that night by the sea."

After his words, the room fell into silence.

Isaac's expression sank and he was not elegant and gentle anymore.

Under his gold-rimmed glasses, there appeared a harsh cold light in his eyes.

At this moment, it was as if the temperature of the entire hall had dropped to the freezing point.

As a Boss, being gentle and elegant was only the appearance he showed to others.

If others really thought he was gentle and elegant, it would be a big mistake.

"Carlos, the person who intends to kill Jack has not been found out yet."

Isaac said in a deep voice, "Now that they have found out that Jack is in the SH guildhall, we will be passive next."

"Are you afraid?" Carlos raised his eyebrows and asked.

Isaac pulled the corner of his mouth and said, "I never know the meaning of being afraid."

Carlos smiled faintly.

Immediately after, Isaac shrugged, "Fine, I'll move into the east courtyard from now on."

"You're at least the Boss. Is it proper for you to move there to protect Jack?" Carlos asked with surprise.

Isaac smiled spontaneously, "Come on, isn't it why you come personally? As the Boss, it is not a big deal if I go to protect one of the youngest seniors in the Grand Freemasons."

"You are really smart." Carlos helplessly smiled.

Isaac adjusted the glasses on the bridge of his nose and smiled.

He didn't deny what Carlos said.

He remained silent for a while and slowly said, "Now that the head of the Hughes family is missing.

Carlos, are you sure that we are getting into this mess? It is really a mess."

The smile on Carlos's face disappeared.

He said slowly with a serious face, "I'm sure!"

With a command from Isaac, the entire SH guildhall began to be noisy. It was no more peaceful at the door.

The martial law level was raised to the highest at the same time.

Isaac also personally moved to the east courtyard and chose a room.

This was also the first time Jack met the so-called Boss of the Grand Freemasons.

What made Jack slightly dismayed was that Isaac's age was beyond his expectation.

At first, he thought Isaac was at least fifty years old.

But in fact, although Isaac's hair was white, he didn't seem like an old man. It could be told from his mental state and his appearance. Isaac seemed to be in his early thirties, only a few years older than Jack.

"Are you very surprised?"

Isaac sensed Jack's astonished gaze.

"You looked young." Jack nodded and did not hide his surprise.

"Not as young as you."

Isaac let out a strange laugh, "You are the youngest senior of the Grand Freemasons."

The two men looked at each other and laughed at the same time.

After that, Isaac shrugged his shoulders.

"By the way, only a few people in the Grand Freemasons knew that I moved into the east courtyard to protect you. And I don't want to tell many people. "

After a pause, he narrowed his eyes slightly and glanced meaningfully at Rena who was standing beside Jack with her head lowered.

Then he said with a smile, "But you and Rena can rest assured. Although I live here, I won't appear a lot. I mainly stay in the room to do paperwork and will not interfere with you two. In other words, you can also pretend that I do not exist and do whatever you want. I won't say anything as long as you don't make too much noise."

Jack suddenly couldn't laugh anymore.

What did Isaac mean?

As for Rena, her slender body trembled and she seemed to be on fire.

She blushed and stared at Isaac with shyness.

Then she indignantly stomped her foot.

"Boss, how could you talk to your sister like this? You are really shameless."

Inside the Grand Freemasons, perhaps she was the only one who dared to speak to Isaac like this while in a lower position.

"I raised you from childhood and I gave you a lot of care. How can you describe me as a shameless one?"

Isaac pretended to be helpless and got up to leave, "Love will disappear. I was only caring about your mental health."

Seeing Isaac left, Rena trembled slightly and she blushed a lot.

With her head lowered, she did not dare to look at Jack.

Just now, Isaac was clearly suggesting something.

How could she bear it?

At that moment, she did not dare to look at Jack.

The atmosphere in the room became a bit odd.

Even Jack was shocked by Isaac's "shamelessness".

He rubbed his nose and broke the silence in the room.

"It's hard to imagine the scene where he raised you."

"What?"

Rena froze for a moment and looked at Jack with confusion.

Jack laughed, "Anyway, I was raised by my mother but you were raised by him?"

Rena got his meaning.

She angrily glared at Jack and raised her hand to fiercely pinch his arm, which made Jack grimace in pain.

"You bastard. You and my brother have just met for the first time. How can you two bully me together?"
