

Born Winner 691

Chapter 691 To Pay a Visit

Now that it was autumn, dawn came much later.

Jack had awoken early while it was still dim outside.

He strictly controlled his daily routine and never allowed himself to slack off in the slightest.

Since he was still pretending to be disabled, he couldn't go outside to train.

The only thing he could do instead was to stay at home on his wheelchair and train his upper body strength.

Until now the mess had turned worse and worse.

This sometimes made him feel very oppressed, but the harder he worked then the greater chance he would have, to overcome any of the crises in the future.

This was because success was not a result you could get overnight, instead success was always achieved through putting in as much effort as was possible.

When Amber finally woke up, Jack had finished his training.

She could clearly see from his bare upper body that his defined muscles that were all in perfect proportion. Although his physique was still not that of a bodybuilder, you could still really see the muscles and strength he had acquired from his training.

“Jack, you woke up early again to do your exercises?” Amber walked over to Jack with her sleepy eyes and hugged Jack’s neck from behind, and then added, “You really never allow yourself to slack off, do you?”

Jack smiled, looked down at his body and muttered, “The speed that my body is developing at is almost terrifying.”

He whispered softly.

However there were still feelings of doubt within him.

After the events that occurred over the other side of the ocean he had still continued to pretend he was disabled. However, ever since he had returned, more incidents had been occurring one after the other, so technically speaking, he did have to slack off his training here and there.

In addition to this, he was only able to train his upper body strength, so to be more precise his overall physique was still not up to standards.

However with just this short period of training, it not only increased the strength due to his slack off of training but also it seemed that he even made a breakthrough.

“Is something wrong?”

Amber asked suspiciously.

Jack shook his head and said, “Everything’s fine, but despite how strong I’ve become currently, I’ll still always doubt if it’s enough.”

As the head trainer of the Hughes family, Brent’s systematic training was not only aimed at Jack, but was also to teach and train the younger generations of the Hughes family.

If only because of that Brent’s systematic training was so special, the younger generations of the Hughes family would be all benefited.

However, Jack was still sure that even if the younger generation members didn’t slack off, they were still inferior to him both physically and in terms of their fighting skills.

This was because Jack had a natural gift unlike them.

What’s more, was that when he was attacked at the other side of the ocean, even though he had poison flowing through his whole body he was still able to recover fully, which in itself was a very remarkable thing.

Regardless whether the toxicity levels were strong or weak, since the purpose of this poison was for murder; it could have been very fatal.

But in comparison to Jack, Yael who had also been poisoned needed countless people to come and donate blood and numerous Head Doctors had to come over and try all they could to ensure he didn't die. And despite all of this help, he was still in a vegetative state.

In addition to this, even though Grand Freemason had needed to gather Head Doctors to help Jack, the scene had never been as grand as Yael's.

In any case, the final result had turned out very differently for both of them.

After a long period of silence.

Jack didn't wait for Amber to speak.

Jack couldn't help but look back, only to find that Amber had her arms around his neck and her eyebrows frowned, seemingly in a daze.

"What's wrong?" Jack asked gently.

"It twitched again."

Amber pointed to her right eyelid rather irritated and said, "What the hell is going on?"

Jack frowned slightly, stroked her head lightly and said calmly, "Don't overthink too much, perhaps you are just being a bit too over anxious and therefore making this out to be a bigger problem than it is. Just don't put too much pressure on yourself, relax a bit and it will all be ok."

"Hm."

Amber nodded, but she still had a frown on her face.

Jack felt helpless as he watched Amber go to wash herself.

Was she only over worrying so much because the due date for her pregnancy was approaching?

A thought then came into Jack's mind.

They had been experienced too many different incidents recently. And perhaps because so many people in the family had also suffered accidents recently and the people who were left unharmed had suffered a lot of pressure.

This worry she was left with coupled with the pregnancy, could very well be likely to have caused the state that Amber was in currently.

Jack then said to himself, "I need to work overtime today since I need to finish all the arrangements for tomorrow. This way I can stay at home tomorrow and spend a whole day resting with Amber.”

Once Jack had made up his mind about this, he then went to the bathroom to wash up himself with Amber.

After having breakfast together, Mr. Ward and Jack both rushed over to the DT real estate agency, while Daisy stayed at home with Amber.

According to the previous plan, Daisy was meant to go to the hospital with Vinna after breakfast to deliver breakfast to Lyndall and Lone Wolf. However, because of Jack’s request, Daisy stayed at home instead to accompany the troubled Amber.

Vinna’s condition was a lot better now, so she could now go alone to the hospital to look over Yael.

In the garden.

Amber was sitting on the swing, gently swaying and bathing in the sun, while at the same time she looked down at her stomach, still frowning and worried.

She didn’t know why, but from the moment her right eyelid had twitched, she had been constantly worrying that something was going to happen.

Her right eyelid continued to twitch, and each time it did made Amber grow even more worried.

After having watered the flowers, Daisy then walked over to Amber and sat down on the swing next to her.

When she saw the frown on Amber's face, Daisy then asked, "Are you still worrying about why your right eyelid is twitching?"

"Yes..."

Amber nodded but as if she knew what Daisy was going to say next she then hurriedly added, "It's not just about my right eyelid twitching, but my whole body has been restless these past few days. I just have this feeling that something is going to happen."

"A woman's sixth sense."

Daisy calmly said.

"Yes, that's it." Amber nodded and continued, "I don't know why I feel this way, but the feeling has been growing stronger and stronger the past two days."

Daisy looked at Amber deeply and watched the smile on her face slowly faded.

She was a killer, and was also the top assassin on the Dark Net Assassin Squad rankings.

A killer's intuition was always extremely sensitive.

In addition to this she was also a woman, so was able to empathize with how Amber was feeling at this time.

She took a deep breath.

Daisy then hugged Amber for a while and said soothingly, "Don't worry, I'm still here for you, even if the sky was to fall one day I would be here to protect you, ok?"

"Daisy..."

Amber's body trembled slightly, "Thank you."

She had told everyone in the family the same thing now; however she had mentioned it to Jack more than once.

Despite this, the only words she had gotten back from everyone was just words of comfort, but now that she had gotten someone to acknowledge her feelings, she couldn't help but feel slightly more reassured.

It's not that she was reproaching Jack, since after all these thoughts and feelings she was having were a bit absurd.

However being in a state of worry all day long, she felt it was a lot more reassuring to hear words of acknowledgement rather than words of comfort.

For the entire day.

Daisy and Amber were together the whole time.

When Mr. Ward had returned home, he sat down comfortably to read his book and drink some tea.

Everything seemed calm and peaceful.

The sun was beginning to set.

The night was gradually approaching.

When Amber checked the time, it was already seven o'clock in the evening.

She then asked Mr. Ward rather suspiciously, "Mr. Ward, is Jack working overtime tonight?"

"Yes, it seems Master Hughes forgot to mention this to Mrs. Hughes."

Mr. Ward put down the book in his hand and added, "He is working overtime tonight to finish all of the arrangements for tomorrow, so that tomorrow he can stay with you at home the whole day."

"Really?" Amber was overjoyed to hear this.

At this moment, Daisy had just passed by Mr. Ward, and when she saw the book that Mr. Ward was reading she instantly began to blush.

“Mr. Ward, do you always put a children’s picture book inside another book when you read?”

Mr. Ward then coughed twice and his face turned red.

However, he then received a call from the real estate agency.

Mr. Ward began to frown in confusion when he answered the phone.

“Drive her away!” Mr. Ward gave a short reply, and when he hung up the phone, the gentle smile he originally had on his face turned to anger.

This sudden scene stunned both Daisy and Amber.

“Mr. Ward, what happened?” Amber asked.

Mr. Ward waved his hand angrily, and didn’t say anything.

Anger grew inside of him.

That bitch who didn’t even know the difference between good and bad, and who dared dig up the ashes of the Madam, what right did she have to ask to pay a visit?

If Master Hughes didn't kill her, then why don't I?

Chapter 692 Let's Meet

Although Mr. Ward was not a bloodthirsty, but as the elder of the Grand Freemasons, he entered the Hughes Family later and became Patrick Hughes' servant.

Would the blood is his hands... be less?

He had been secretive about the period when he was in the Grand Freemasons and even Jack was reluctant to mention it.

That was because he was getting old and his mind was peaceful, so he didn't want to talk about the memorable past years.

Otherwise, his rank was obviously low in hierarchy compared to Carlos Juan Yales, why would he still make Carlos fear of him? How did he force Carlos and Rena Yales to leave the city before the date what they had planned at that time?

Mr. Ward disdained to investigate the past between the Parry Family and Jack.

However, when Katherine Parry's mother dug Sophie Burton's grave and forced Jack, Mr. Ward had always taken that to his heart seriously.

According to Mr. Ward, for the heinous crime of humiliating the deceased, killing the mother of Katherine was basically not enough!

It was only because Jack did not continue to investigate after Katherine's mother death, so he never mentioned his attitude toward Katherine.

If the Young Master did not mention it, how could a servant dare to talk about that?

According to Mr. Ward's guess, Jack might actually cherish some old friendship.

But Katherine survived.

Anyway, it didn't mean that her fault could be forgiven.

Not only she did not flee to a faraway place, but now she also came to see him instead.

From Mr. Ward's point of view, that was simply acting recklessly!

However, Amber Hughes and Ms. Hill were clearly aware of Mr. Ward' anger, that was given off from all over his body.

The two looked at each other in dismay were a little bit stunned.

Mr. Ward's had always been a person who remained calm even in dangerous situations, his normal state was to be steady as a rock.

If it wasn't an extremely serious event, it was hard for him to have too much emotion.

But now, in front of them, he couldn't suppress his anger.

What the hell was going on?

Soon, Mr. Ward's cell phone rang again.

Seeing the phone number, Mr. Ward, who was already furious, frowned his brows deeper.

Like an angry beast, he pressed the answer button.

"I told you to tell them fuck off!"

The sullen voice was resolute and powerful.

Amber and Ms. Hill were stunned tongue-tied.

On the phone, the person who worked in the property, trembling with fear, said, "Mr. Ward, they said they came to apologize."

"There is no need to apologize, if an apology is useful, then the Death God would have no job!"

Pow!

Mr. Ward hung up the phone.

After three years of marriage, how could the Parry Family apologize for what they did to the Young Master?

When the Madam Sophie was seriously ill and was hospitalized; Katherine took the money that should be used to save her life to buy a house for Tommy Parry as a betrothal gift.

They didn't care about the life of the Madam, what kind of apology should they give?

Sophie passed away and was laid to rest. Katherine's mother humiliated her dead body and dug her grave to scatter its ashes. What kind of apology should they give?

How could Katherine have the right to apologize?

Mr. Ward's look was extremely sulky.

In his opinion, Katherine was still alive only because Jack had sympathy. And now she came again to apologize, was she here to offer her own head?

Otherwise, what kind of apology?

The expression of Amber and Ms. Hill changed greatly.

Mr. Ward's reaction was clearly something serious.

The two of them wanted to say something but then hesitate. Looking at Mr. Ward's expression at that moment, they didn't know how to speak.

Just then, Amber's cell phone rang.

She picked it up and saw that it was an unknown number, but she got through.

"Sure enough, you are a nostalgic person, and you never changed your number."

On the phone, a familiar voice instantly made Amber's body tremble, and her heart felt like if a needle pierced it.

It was Katherine's voice!

At that time, the past memories of the classmates surged.

In an instant, Amber's feelings became very complex.

Jack, Sophie and the Parry Family's behavior towards Jack and his mother came to mind.

All the memories and various emotions disappeared completely as if bubbles broke.

Amber said indifferently, "We should not stay in contact, don't disturb me."

Regardless of what happened during the three-year marriage between Katherine and Jack, in fact,

Amber had never been concerned about that matter.

However, after Jack and Katherine divorced, the attitude of the Parry Family and Katherine made her sick.

Especially when Sophie's grave was dug up.

When Jack cried like a baby in her arms, didn't she feel a pain like a knife being twisted in her heart and cried?

Sophie was Jack's mother.

And she was also her mother in law.

How could a human being humiliate a deceased?

But Just when Amber was about to hang up, during the phone call, Katherine's voice suddenly rose.

"Amber, I'm here to apologize. I sincerely want to come to you and Jack to apologize, please give me a chance!"

That screaming pleading, even if Amber did not turn on the hands-free, however it was clearly heard by

Ms. Hill and Mr. Ward, who were not far away.

Mr. Ward looked awkward immediately, and the right hand that just held the teacup gave off strength.

With a "pop", the teacup shattered into several pieces and the tea flowed all over his hands.

Also Amber's movements paused.

On the phone, Katherine continued to plead.

"Amber, I know that I made a lot of mistakes, I know that my sins are terrible. During the time I disappeared, I have been reflecting on myself and I always felt guilty on myself. Even if my mother dead, I know that it was all her fault. If I can't meet with you and Jack to apologize, I won't never feel at ease in my life."

"Please see me, please Amber, for the sake of our four years of university, weren't we best friends before? You never wanted to make me sad, you have always been the kindest to me."

"I just want to see you and apologize in front of you, please, please Amber..."

The sound of crying and begging made everyone perceive that strong feeling of guilty through the phone.

Amber hesitated.

Daisy's eyes flickered, she was supporting Amber but actually, she felt a bit chilly.

However, Mr. Ward simply said, "Mrs. Hughes, that person is not different from an animal. She had hurt us. Why should we accept an apology and let her live peacefully? I beg you, Mrs. Hughes, don't see her!”

His words were resolute and domineering.

At that moment, even if Mr. Ward used the word “beg”, his attitude was not different from giving pressure.

Amber’s eyes flashed and she looked determined.

She was about to comply with Mr. Ward’s request and opened the mouth to say no.

Suddenly, Katherine wailed on the phone.

“Amber, when we were in college, you told me that if you had a child in future, you would have accepted me as a godmother. You can not see me, Jack can also not see me, and even the baby doesn’t have to let me be his godmother. But could I not see him a while as a godmother?”

“Just for a moment. After meeting, I will leave forever from here and disappear from your and Jack’s lives. Everything will be over.”

Amber’s body trembled.

Those two words were like a heavy hammer hitting her heart fiercely.

In the four years of university, she and Katherine had been close and intimate friends. During their carefree youth, she actually made that promise.

That promise could also not be taken seriously, but those words touched the memory of Amber once again.

Her heart melted and she agreed, "Okay, come in."

Hearing those words, Mr. Ward was taken aback, and he sighed deeply.

Also Daisy, after Amber hung up the phone, said reluctantly, "Amber, your heart is too soft!"

Chapter 693 Forget The Past; Look Forward To The Future

"Just take it as putting an end to the past once and for all."

Amber smiled bitterly.

She wanted to be mean but Katherine's cries and the words she said made her wanted to put an end to everything.

She was done allowing Katherine to interrupt her life with Jack.

Katherine Parry was a thorn.

A thorn that bothered her and Jack.

She didn't mind about their three years marriage but everything she'd done to Jack.

She wanted to push this person out of their life with one meeting.

Amber thought it was worthwhile.

Otherwise, she could chase Katherine away today, but she might reappear sometimes someday in the future.

Entrance of TM Villa District.

Inside a Maserati Quattroporte.

Jenny sat on the driver seat looking astonishedly at Katherine with a flood of tears gushed down her cheeks.

She asked with her blinking blue eyes, "Kate, aren't Jack and you are friends? That tone just now..."

Katherine did not behave like they were friends just now.

And she was sure that it was a female's voice that she heard from the other side of the phone.

"It's alright, let's go in."

Katherine wiped away her tears at the corners of her eyes and smiled forcefully, "I can't meet Jack directly, I need to meet his wife before if I want to see him."

"Huh?"

Jenny was puzzled, but she started the car anyway.

TM Villa's gate opened when the light is on.

Jenny was delighted with this function.

She drove the car into the villa slowly.

Katherine's crying and begging image flashed back in her mind.

She asked regardless, "Are you truly a friend of Jack Hughes?"

"Spouse!" Katherine said.

Boom!

Jenny felt she was struck by lightning, "But, but the woman you called is Jack's wife."

"She was my best friend during university."

Katherine sobbed and took a deep breath, she forced a smile and looked at Jenny, "You get it now?"

Jenny was stunned.

Spouse, best friend, spouse.

It was complicated but easily understandable.

Did Katherine mean that woman stole her husband and Jack married her best friend?

Darn it!

Jack Hughes, a cold-blooded disabled bastard.

Jenny became furious thinking all these, Jack's reputation was destroyed in her heart.

What did grandma see in such a bastard?

Felling Katherine's sorrow, Jenny comforted, "Just calm down and let go of the past, if you want, I can avenge you later, okay?"

To Jenny, Katherine did a huge favour by bringing her to Jack, she was a true friend.

Jenny became annoyed whenever she thought of what happened at the bar.

Jack Hughes that bastard, abandoned his wife, letting her worked as a bar lady and was almost molested.

He needed to be taught a lesson!

"It's fine, those are all history, you saved me and I arranged a meeting between you and Jack. You're the main focus today, I'm not important."

Katherine smiled forcefully.

Her smile gave Jenny heartache.

But since Katherine said so, she suppressed her anger and continued driving.

However, when Jenny turned away to drive, she missed the moment where Katherine's sorrowful and pitiful expression transformed into an evil smile. Katherine's right hand even grabbed the purse discreetly.

The Maserati Quattroporte was driven into the villa.

Both of them saw Daisy Hill standing at the front door soon as they got down the car.

Daisy frowned, "There's a tag along?"

"She's a friend, here to accompany me."

Katherine's eyes were still teary and red.

"Why? Am I not welcome?" Jenny raised her neck and stared at Daisy.

For her, it was extremely not fair that Katherine had to beg for a meeting after being treated unfairly.

Unlike Katherine, she won't bow down to evil power and wouldn't let Katherine being bullied again.

Why should the right one kneel for the wrong ones?

However, Daisy replied coldly, "Not welcome indeed."

"You..."

Jenny got furious, her face turned red at once.

It was Katherine that stopped her by giving her a pull on the arm.

When both of them raised their heads again, Daisy was walking towards the villa while she said coldly.

"Mrs Hughes was kind enough to meet you, say what you want and leave. She is pregnant and you're not welcome here by anyone."

Cold-hearted, ruthless.

Jenny became even more furious, "What's with this family? Where does all the arrogance come from?"

"That's enough."

Katherine comforted, "It seems like Jack is not home. We'll stay a bit longer in there and you can meet him when he's home."

"I don't feel like meeting him anymore, I want to go home."

Jenny said angrily. She wanted to meet Jack because she and grandma travelled here specifically just to meet him last time.

And grandma kept something secret about her intention last time, not telling her.

Out of curiosity, she wanted to know the person Jack that her grandmother willing to travelled far to meet.

But now...

Disappointed!

Completely disappointed!

"We are already here, let's meet him if it's possible."

Katherine said sadly, "And I've mentioned just now during the phone conversation that I would like to apologise to my best friend and have a little chat."

"Alright then." Jenny nodded helplessly.

They walked into the villa while chatting.

Amber was sitting on the sofa.

Mr Ward sat on the side holding a cup of tea with one hand and closed up a book with another. He looked at Katherine and Jenny coldly.

Meanwhile, Daisy came out from the kitchen with tea serving.

"Have a seat." Daisy said coldly.

Jenny frowned with dissatisfaction.

While Katherine as usual, showing a guilty face. She looked at Amber and walked towards the living room with Jenny by her side.

"Long time no see, Amber."

Katherine's voice was low and sounded regretful. She looked at Amber with tearful eyes and a forceful smile.

"Yeah, what do you want to speak about?"

Amber was calm, this meeting was not about reunification but cutting off ties. There was never a union or whatsoever.

There was only hatred!

Katherine smiled.

She raised opened her purse suddenly and reach inside.

Her action made Mr Ward frowned at once and became alert.

Daisy even went closer next to Amber discreetly.

"This family, are they all mental?"

Jenny said inwardly, realising what happened.

Next.

Katherine took out a red box from her purse, put it on the table and pushed it in front of Amber with a smile.

"This is a gift I, as the godmother prepared for the baby, a long-lived locket, wishing the child eternal health and happiness."

Amber's face softened seeing the locket.

It was a mother's nature to love their children.

Mr Ward and Daisy exchanged a glance, they were puzzled.

Katherine then asked Daisy, "Ms Hill, could you fetch me a bottle of alcohol please?"

"What?"

Daisy stunned.

Katherine smiled, "I want to have a drink with Amber, but since she's pregnant, she shall drink tea."

She turned to Amber while speaking, "Let's forget the past and look forward to the future, you are his life from now on."

Chapter 694 A Life Threatening Encounter

Low voice but each word uttered struck to the core.

She looked regretful and sad.

Amber was astounded.

So were Mr Ward and Daisy Hill.

They exchanged a glance suspiciously.

Would a vicious woman like her suddenly regret all her doings and behaved this way?

Jenny was angry seeing what happened, she clenched her teeth.

If it wasn't for Katherine, she would jump in front and scolded the three of them.

Where was justice nowadays? A homewrecker took power while the good ones bowed down lowly?

Jack's reputation in Jenny's heart had completely crashed.

She didn't know why grandma came for Jack but she had decided to change her mind once she got home after witnessing all this nonsense.

What a bastard, worthless man!

There was only silence in the living room.

Watching the sad and pitiful Katherine, Jenny couldn't hold it longer, "Why? What more do you want?

Death?"

Death?!

Mr Ward and Daisy looked at each other, their eyes shined brightly.

That... was a good idea!

A person like her deserved to be killed a thousand times.

They were more than willing to perform task their young master refused to.

However, Amber looked at Daisy, "Daisy, go fetch the alcohol."

"Amber..."

Daisy looked at Amber surprisingly.

Amber smiled lightly. She looked at Katherine and said, "Please mean what you said. Leave Jack and I alone after a glass of wine and a cup of tea, we do not want our life interrupted by you in the future."

She wanted to cut all ties and end this nonsense now.

That's why she agreed to meet Katherine.

If the chords were not cut completely, Katherine could intervene in their life anytime in the future.

Their friendship had long gone!

An end for good! Once and for all!

"Alright!"

Katherine nodded with tears rolled down her cheeks.

Jenny almost exploded seeing all this.

Despite trying so hard to endure, her face was red due to anger and she stared angrily at Amber with her blue eyes.

Where was the law?

Where was the moral?

Where was the just?

Holy Jesus, who gave this family the right to step on the pitiful Katherine like this?

Jenny wrapped her arm around Katherine's unconsciously, it was a gesture of comfort and support.

Although she was naive, Jenny could put herself into Katherine's shoes and felt her misery.

She also felt repugnant towards Amber, Daisy and Mr Ward.

Soon, Daisy brought out a bottle of wine and a glass.

Bottle was opened, without decanting, she poured Katherine a glass. She seemed extremely annoyed during the process.

Her action was like oil added onto Jenny's flame.

What a bully!

They were all bullies!

Katherine received the glass calmly and in the middle of passing a cup of tea to Amber, she said suddenly. "Oh yes, she is Jenny Kool, she tagged along to meet the admirable Jack Hughes."

Hearing that, Amber, Mr Ward and Daisy turned to look at the angry Jenny at the same time.

Jenny felt their stared and shook angrily, "There's no need to meet, he's not home anyway, we will be leaving once Katherine is done."

"The Kool?!" Mr Ward became alert.

He recalled Patrick's call of reminder out of a sudden.

Mr Ward's face stiffened abruptly.

He looked straight at Jenny with anger, he created a powerful and fearful atmosphere around him.

Regardless of whether this lady was a Kool or not, they had to be alert when the Kool family was involved.

Mr Ward's changes stunned everyone.

Jenny was stared at fiercely by Mr Ward, like a beast starring at its prey.

Jenny was frightened, she asked carefully, "What do you want, Mr?"

"Why are you here to see our young master?" Mr Ward asked.

The atmosphere in the living room was cold as ice.

"I'm here for a chat, is that a problem?"

Jenny tried to hide her fear and looked back straight at Mr Ward. "But I lost interest after seeing all of you, a bunch of disgusting people, I'll leave soon as Katherine finished her drink with this woman."

"Good!"

Mr Ward said in a cold tone with full alert.

While he uttered "good", he moved towards Amber's side.

Better be safe than sorry.

Jack had been asking him and Daisy to stay and protect Amber at home.

Now that a Kool came to visit, of course, they had to be cautious!

Despite Mr Ward's sharp eyes couldn't catch any sign of lying from Jenny.

"Amber I'm sorry!"

Katherine said.

All of them turned to Katherine once again.

Amber and Daisy were astounded by Mr Ward's sudden change.

But both of them understood the reason behind his reaction.

Amber was present that night when Jack called Mr Ward up to the roof to discuss Patrick's reminder.

Thus, she knew to be cautious with the Kool family!

Coincidentally, the lady in front was a Kool.

Amber had been having a bad feeling and anxiety these few days, so she became extra cautious too.

Without further ado, she had to send them out the soonest possible.

Amber raised the teacup, "I hope you keep to your words, or I won't be merciful in the future."

It was a warning and a threat.

Katherine smiled pitifully and bottomed up her glass.

Amber drank the tea too.

The pitiful smile on Katherine's face turned brighter as Amber swallowed her tea.

At this very moment.

Bang!

A loud explosion along with the sound of broken glass crashing onto the ground came from nearby.

At the same time, a body was thrown into the house and hit the ground heavily.

It happened too sudden, Amber and the rest who was in the living room were stunned.

There was the sound of bombing from the outside that could be heard almost simultaneously

"Bring the target and kill the rest!"

A voice was heard, as sharp as a sword, followed by the sound of rapid footsteps.

"Daisy, protect Mrs Hughes!"

Mr Ward gained consciousness and shouted at the same time he grabbed the bottle on the table and stand in front of Amber.

In the meantime, Daisy had moved behind Amber.

They kept Amber in the middle to protect her.

Under the dim light outside, there were more and more figures that could be seen gathering.

There was a huge crowd with rapid footsteps.

It was a life-threatening encounter.

Chapter 695 Time To For The Kill

At DT Agency.

The night scenery was filled with magnificent and colorful neon lights and the roads were filled with cars. Jack was concentrating on amending a contract. The rest of the office area was dark and only his office was brightly lit. He had to work overtime so that he could accompany Amber for the entire day tomorrow while not affecting the company's daily functions.

In the past when he wasn't around, it would be Mr. Ward and Yael who would make the decisions in the company. Now that he was back, he should do these on his own. After he had proofread the project proposals, Jack leaned back onto his wheelchair and rubbed his tired eyes. He practically worked continuously through the day. He had to proofread the proposals, correct various reports, and project plans.

He turned around to look at the neon lights outside and smiled. After he finished his work tonight, he would be able to spend some quality time with that silly girl tomorrow.

Jack stretched his back and was about to return to his work when his phone beeped with an incoming message. He picked up the phone and was immediately stunned. It was an unknown number and the message was so simple that it contained only two words.

Unknown sender: Return Immediately!

Mystery man?! Jack was dumbfounded for a moment before he snapped to his senses. His heart almost jumped out of his throat and his body was covered with goosebumps. The mysterious man had been keeping a watch at the TM Hills Villa. Jack could only think of the mystery person who would send those two words via an unknown number. The shorter the message, the more urgent the situation!

Based on the mystery man's personality, he wouldn't send such a short message unless the matter had reached its most critical point! If not, he would have settled it in the dark without alarming Jack.

“Amber...” Jack muttered as his eyes refocused and he stood up immediately from the wheelchair.

Jack flew like a bolt and rushed downstairs. At this point, Jack couldn't be bothered with pretending anymore.

His wife was at home! His wife was waiting for him at home! He had to go home in the fastest possible manner even if Madam Hughes would find out that he was not disabled.

‘Damn it! What the hell happened at home?’ Jack thought as he rode the lift down and began to panic.

He could not calm himself down when he thought of Amber. His emotions raged wildly within him.

Ding dong!

The lift finally reached the ground floor and Jack dashed out of the building. Just as he exited the building, he suddenly stopped. At an open space outside the building, ten men were waiting for him!

Each of the men held a long sword tightly in their hands. They were ready to kill.

Jack was startled and then came to his senses. It was too quiet! From the time he left the office to going down to the lobby and then out of the building, it was unusually quiet, and he did not see a single person.

It was already late and it was normal that most of the people in the building had left for the day. But the building had security guards on patrol and manning the lobby through the night. How come he didn't see any security guards on his way out of the lobby?

'Was this a trap and I was ambushed?' Jack thought coldly as he prepared for action. He clenched his fists and tensed his muscles up until they were stiff as rocks.

"The reports were wrong, cut off his head!" The low voice immediately erupted everyone to action.

Immediately, the ten assassins dragged their swords on the ground sending sparks flying, and rushed towards Jack for the kill, "Die!"

Jack narrowed his eyes and immediately rushed to counter strike. Amber was in danger at home and that was enough to rattle him. Now in face of the ten killers, he just wanted to quickly settle the fight in front of him! He had to finish this fight in the fastest way possible and return to the TM Hills villa.

Jack immediately transformed into a fighter and a killer. Instantly the ten killers' pupils constricted. Now the killers started to fear and feel the terror that Jack exuded. It was as if standing outside the building was not a person but the Killer God!

Thud! In a flash, Jack's right feet stomped the ground and he launched himself towards the ten killers.

His strong physiques enabled each of his strikes to be overpowering. There were no frills and no combating skills involved.

Jack was unfazed that the killers were armed with long swords and he struck at the nearest killer.

Bash!

With a grunt, the killer froze and sounds of bones breaking could be heard. The killer immediately threw up a mouthful of blood but was blocked by the black mask that he wore. The blood oozed out of the mask and onto the ground.

Swoosh, swoosh, swoosh...

Almost at the same time, the wind around them picked up.

Jack raged ferociously as his eyes stared like a predator fixated on a prey.

Jack was surrounded by the men with the long swords as he continued rushing forward. His left arm wrapped around the neck of the first killer and dragged him along. With a twist and then a flick... slash slash slash...

Several long swords landed on the first killer.

Jack's actions horrified several of the killers. How could he move so swiftly?

Just as several of the killers were stunned, Jack turned and grabbed one of the killer's wrists and ...

Crack!

Jack immediately broke the wrist of the killer. Now Jack took the killer's sword in his hands.

"Time for the kill!" Jack roared and sent chills running down the spines of all the killers. The remaining eight killers now doubted themselves. It was as if they were not there to kill Jack but instead, Jack was there to kill all of them!

Slash! In a flash, another pool of blood splattered and it whipped the killers back to their senses. Now the remaining seven killers surrounded Jack and rushed towards him.

Clank clank clank...

Jack held the sword with both his hands and fought the seven killers. Jack's muscles erupted with energy and it was as if the swords formed a wall and Jack repeatedly defended the slashes.

Sparks flew and the area reverberated with the clashing of the swords. Under the glow amber lights, shadows danced around in the open space while the pungent odor of blood filled the air.

Even if he pretended to be crippled, Jack had not stopped his physical training. Although his strength had deteriorated some after he confined himself onto the wheelchair, he regained his strength after some intensive training.

These killers were nothing compared to the Twelve Golden Guards of the Dragon Cavalry!

He continued his attacks and blood continued to be splashed. Killers continued to collapse under his sword. Now Jack couldn't consider so much.

He could expose that he lied about his disability, he could also fight it out with no regard for his life, he could even fight to the death with these street thugs.

So long as... he quickly returned to his wife because her life was in danger!

Chapter 696 I'll Split You In Half If You Harm My Young Master

At the TM Hills Villa.

Death was lingering in the air. It was quiet as the swords swung and fresh blood splashed about. Tens of killers rushed silently towards them. It was as if all of them were robots and executing their orders to kill in silence.

The living room was in a mess and the pungent odor of blood filled the air. There were bodies on the ground. Mr. Ward and Daisy were covered with blood as they held onto the blood-soaked sword. The edge of the sword was jagged after repeated strikes on the blade. The two of them stood firm and placed Amber, Jenny and Katherine behind them for protection. To be accurate, they were protecting Amber. Faced with thirty killers, Mr. Ward and Daisy couldn't have the ability to protect everyone.

Presently, even the security guards of the villa complex were silent and dared not respond. After all... they were just security guards and not skilled bodyguards.

Although Mr. Ward was advanced in age, in a high-intensity fight where the odds were stacked against them, Mr. Ward would fight to his last breath. During the pause, Mr. Ward stared like a wild beast as he glared at all the thirty killers around him.

"Damn it, all of them are like watermelons for me to slash!" Mr. Ward cursed and then spit out his blood-laced saliva.

Daisy was cool and focused. She could calmly handle this as the top few killers on the Azrael list. But that was if she was facing the killers alone. Now she also had to protect Amber. Mr. Ward and Daisy were panting due to their repeated efforts to protect Amber.

Daisy slowly twisted the long sword and then said solemnly, "Mr. Ward, it's time for you to leave with

Amber.”

Mr. Ward shuddered and then glared at Daisy, “Don’t you think that I can handle this?”

“You should know when to retreat!” Daisy said firmly and then she raged.

The next moment, Daisy lifted the two swords and swung like the God of death, and lunged at the thirty killers.

The sword swung and blood splattered about. Sparks flew each time the swords clashed. The scene was terrifying. It was as if the blood and gore in the movies came to life.

Mr. Ward did not advance and neither he retreated. He stood in place with his hands firmly holding the sword. This was the tactic that he and Daisy came up with. One person would rush forward for the kill while the other remained behind to protect Amber.

Amber was the most important person! They had to protect her even at the cost of their lives. In this tactic, they were able to prevent the killers from getting close to Amber. All the killers were targeting Amber.

Daisy fought valiantly within the pack of killers. Mr. Ward did not look at her but was looking at their surroundings.

'Why hadn't the mystery person appeared?' Mr. Ward pondered.

The mystery man protected them in the shadows. Ever since the mystery man exposed himself by talking directly to Jack, Mr. Ward felt that something was amiss.

Mr. Ward's guess was confirmed when the first killer was thrown into the villa. The first exchange was between the mystery man and the killers! But after the fight continued, Mr. Ward and Daisy risked themselves several times to protect Amber. The mystery man had disappeared. What was going on?

As Daisy was killing the attackers and Mr. Ward was deep in thoughts, Amber was already so terrified that she looked pale. She sat on the ground as her body continued to tremble in fear. She had seen what was unraveling in front of her but only in the movies. Amber never expected that those bloody scenes in the movies would happen in reality. The blood, the terror, and the bodies of killers piled up on the ground. All these were like a sledgehammer pounding directly onto Amber's nerves.

"Hubby, hubby..." Amber continued to mutter in the commotion.

Jenny and Katherine were also terrified as they cowered in fear beside Amber. They were drenched in cold sweat and pale from the horrors that they were witnessing. Both of them were slightly better when compared to Amber but they were also hiding under the table.

Jenny and Katherine didn't dare to move. During the brief attack, if it wasn't for Mr. Ward and Daisy protecting Amber and incidentally also protected them, they might have already been killed.

Suddenly, Amber's expression changed drastically as her body shuddered violently.

"Argh!" Amber grabbed her abdomen tightly and she cried in agony, "Mr... Mr. Ward, my stomach... hurts!"

Kaboom! It was as if Mr. Ward was struck by a lightning bolt. Immediately Mr. Ward's eyes turned bloodshot as he turned to look at Amber, "Missus..."

Amber held onto her abdomen tightly as her face contorted from the pain and her veins on her face throbbed. The agonizing yells broke the silence of the villa.

"Ow! It hurts... my stomach hurts... Mr. Ward... my baby... ah!" Amber tried to get the words out as she struggled with the pain and finally yelled agonizingly.

This not only alarmed Mr. Ward but Jenny also was shocked. But Katherine laughed, "He caused me to lose my mother. Now I want him to taste the pain of losing his wife and child..."

"Katherine, you..." Jenny's expression changed drastically when she heard what Katherine said and glared at Katherine with her blue round eyes.

Smack!

Amber grabbed Katherine's arm and demanded, "The tea, you, what did you put in the tea?"

"Nothing, just some abortion medicine," Katherine replied coldly. The fear that she experienced had disappeared and now she was creepily determined. She even started to grin.

"Ah! I'll split you in half!" Mr. Ward yelled and rocked the villa. In a flash, he rushed back to Amber with his sword.

Bloodline! This was the bloodline of the Hughes family! This was Master Jack's bloodline!

But now... all kinds of thoughts flashed before his eyes. Guilt and madness engulfed him entirely.

Katherine was shocked when she saw Mr. Ward rushing towards her.

In a flash, she stood up and although she was petite, she lifted the table and tossed it towards Mr.

Ward. At the same time, she grabbed Jenny with both her hands and pushed Jenny towards Mr. Ward.

Kaboom! The table was cut into two in mid-air by Mr. Ward. As the table was split into two, it revealed a fury that no one had ever seen on Mr. Ward's face. It was as if he had lost his mind and became insane. The sword in his hands never stopped and went directly for Katherine. He didn't stop even when he saw Jenny being pushed forward to become a human shield for Katherine.

"I will split you into halves for hurting my master's bloodline!"

Chapter 697 Messy, Disappointed

"Ah!"

Jenny Kool was so shocked that she screamed.

She should have escaped from Katherine's arrest with her powerful skills.

But everything changed too fast.

It was so fast that she was unable to react.

When looking at Mr. Ward who stayed faraway, Jenny strongly felt that she was going to die soon!

However.

Dang!

Out of the blue, Mr. Ward took out a long sword and sparkle could be seen on it. His sword moved in another direction.

At the moment.

Mr. Ward who was in a state of anger was dumbfounded.

Just then.

Katherine pushed Jenny towards Mr. Ward.

After that, she turned around and dragged Amber who showed a suffering expression and shivered due to painfulness.

“Amber, do you think I will let you go because of our good relationship in the past? It’s all because of you that reduce me to this kind of situation. Today, you and your child must die!”

She bit her teeth and said that while dragging Amber dominantly towards the entrance.

“Let go of me, let go...my baby, my baby...”

Katherine pulled Amber’s long hair, she felt extremely painful.

She struggled for a while and felt the painfulness from her womb. She quickly protected her womb with her hands sufferingly.

A woman was weak but a mother was strong.

Amber did not care about the painfulness of her hair at the moment, she even did not want to bother

Katherine who bullied her violently.

There was only one thought in her mind.

Child!

Protecting her child!

“Mrs. Hughes!”

Mr. Ward was outraged, he pushed away Jenny and chased after her.

Just then.

“Watch out, Mr. Ward!”

Daisy’s shouting voice was as loud as the thunder.

Mr. Ward stretched his body, he could feel a sense of deadly danger arose.

He even felt a sense of coldness from his back.

He turned around in a flash.

The thirty killers that surrounded Daisy rushed towards him at the moment.

Under the light.

Every long sword shone sharply.

Bang!

When looking at the long sword approaching him.

Mr. Ward only wanted to save Amber at the moment, he did not have the intention to fight. So, he pushed Jenny towards the killers.

After that, he jumped heavily and moved in another direction speedily. He chased after Katherine and Amber.

“Ah!”

Jenny was scared when she was pushed towards the direction of the long knives.

She closed her eyes instinctively when she felt that she was going to die soon.

However, the expected trauma did not happen to her.

Jenny opened her eyes, she found that they had put away all their long knives.

The killers seemed to ignore her and passed by her. They rushed towards Mr. Ward directly.

Jenny was confused.

The scene passed in a blink of an eye.

But Daisy caught it clearly.

She shrank her eyes and showed a dull expression.

“Ah...child...Katherine...please let go of my child...”

Amber begged her sufferingly from faraway. Daisy stretched her body and suppressed all her messy emotion and thought.

Without hesitation, she took her sword and moved towards them.

In the past, her life was messy.

She was a killer but she was tortured by her useless father that her life was abnormal.

She gradually lived the way she wanted it to be after she met Jack. Jack changed her life from survival mode to living mode.

Amber was Jack's wife.

The child in Amber's womb belonged to Jack.

She would never allow Amber and the child to be in danger!

However, there was a lot of killers there.

No matter it was Mr. Ward who chased after them at first or Daisy who followed them afterwards, they were blocked by the killers.

Katherine was as if a mad woman.

She pulled Amber's hair with one hand and grabbed her elbow with another hand. Then, she dragged

Amber to another side violently, they went in the direction of the car.

She only wanted to take revenge at the moment!

It was the noxious vow that she had made during the night she had dug the hole to bury her mother.

Even if she would die, she wanted to bring along Amber and her child to hell!

She was reduced to this kind of situation because of Amber.

Because the child in Amber's womb belonged to Jack!

"I want you to die, I want you to die. I want Jack to experience the bitterness of losing his family..."

"My current situation and my broken family and all because of Jack, I blame him for coaxing me to divorce. So, I am reduced to this kind of situation."

"Why do I have to suffer from the disintegration of family without doing anything wrong? Why can Jack live peacefully and lovely with you bitch after he commits the serious guilt?"

...

Katherine muttered crazily while dragging Amber with strength.

Amber wanted to resist. She could have resisted with her strength under her normal status and she would not be dragged by Katherine violently and have no strength to fight back.

But she was pregnant.

After consuming the medicine, the painfulness from her womb spread across her entire body.

Let alone, she protected her womb firmly, she wanted to protect her child. Under the painfulness, she only had the thought to protect her child determinedly.

Shock, nervousness and disappointment spread across her body.

She was unable to resist when the pain level arose.

“Jack...Jack...our child...”

Amber’s eyes were reddened, tears flowed out. She kept begging and crying, she was extremely disappointed.

“Mrs. Hughes!”

“Amber!”

In the villa.

Mr. Ward and Daisy were blocked by the killers, they found it hard to move. They could not even enter the villa.

They were outraged when watching Amber being brought away by Katherine.

But every killer rushed towards them without fear of death.

Even if some killers were defeated, a new batch of killers would replace them and tangled both of them.

“Why? Why does it happen?”

Jenny was stunned, she covered her brain with her hands and showed a shocked and startled expression, “Why do you lie to me? I don’t want to be like this, I only want to see him. Why do you make use of me?”

She asked a series of question as if she had hysteria.

She did not have much experience, she was naive and ignorant.

But she was not foolish, she had responded at the moment. Katherine who she took pity on was making use of her. Then, she concealed it to everyone that she gave poisonous pills to the pregnant woman in the public!

How could she do such an evil thing, was she a poor woman anymore?

At the moment, Jenny was dispirited.

The incident changed her view of life and value.

In the mess.

Jenny felt that the surrounding was darkened.

She raised her head and saw a masked man standing in front of her.

There was a knife being stabbed in his chest. He pressed it to slow down the blood from flowing out.

When she looked at the masked man.

The masked man stretched his hand and grabbed her elbow suddenly, "Follow me!"

While Mr. Ward and Daisy did not notice the scene in the mess.

Their attention only focused on Amber who was brought away by Katherine!

Outside the villa.

Katherine opened the door of the car and threw Amber violently to the back seat.

Then, she quickly sat on the driver seat and started the engine. She muttered "I want to kill you, I want to kill you" while driving out of the villa.

At the entrance of the villa.

Mr. Ward and Daisy were extremely outraged as they were blocked by the killers.

“Daisy, kill them all!”

After Mr. Ward roared, he used the long sword and attacked the shoulder of the killer. His long sword was sunken directly.

When they were fighting fiercely.

Katherine drove towards outside of the TM Villa District.

While at a place nearby the Maserati.

The car light was on, the car made a quick turn. The old Nissan chased after them.

In the Maserati.

Amber laid on the back seat. Although her consciousness was blurry, she kept protecting her belly with her hands.

Her face was pale and even her expression was twisted because of the pain.

She was scared and desperate.

She muttered before she lost her consciousness, "Jack...child..."

Chapter 698 The Child...

The night was as dark as ink.

The road was full of traffic.

There was a car, weaving through the traffic at breakneck speed.

Jack gripped tightly the steering wheel with both hands, his face was stained with blood. Made him look extraordinary hideous at that moment.

On the passenger seat, there was a long sword, but the blades were all curled and chipped.

His right foot was already full on the throttle.

He had just finished the fight as fast as he could and was hurrying back home at breakneck speed.

Not caring of anything, even his own life.

Every now and then a sharp pain could be felt from his heart. The pain was like needles and knife stabbing on it, and it hurt so much that Jack even became short of breath.

He opened his mouth and kept taking deep breaths, hoping to suppress the pain.

But deep breaths made his neck thick and veins were protruding.

And the heartache still didn't stop at all.

“Amber... Amber...”

In severe pain, Jack murmured as he took deep breaths.

His eyes fixed dead on the road. Even though his heart was crushed into a ball, he couldn't care more than to compress it even once.

Something had happened back home.

Amber was in danger.

He had to get back as fast as he could.

His wife... his child... was everything to him!

Suddenly, his phone rang.

Jack endured the extreme pain of his heart and hurriedly picked up the phone.

The mysterious man's hoarse voice rang out unexpectedly.

“Amber has been drugged and kidnapped. Come quickly to South of the city!”

Rumble!

The cold and emotionless voice was like a bolt from the blue exploded in Jack's ears.

At that very moment.

Jack's both eyes reddened as if he was a raging beast.

His whole body trembled, gritting his teeth. His throat let out a hoarse, beast-like growl, "You, how can you be so useless?"

The mysterious man was supposed to protect them in the dark.

But last time, when Amber was kidnapped by George, it was Yael who sacrificed his own life to save her.

And this time, it was surprising that the same thing happened again even with previous experience.

What was the point of so-called protection...?

Snap!

The mysterious man didn't explain and simply hung up the phone.

Jack threw his phone onto the passenger seat furiously.

With that, he clutched the steering wheel with both hands and jerked it hard to change course. The car drifted and immediately drove to the Southern of the city.

The sudden change of direction.

Catching the surrounding cars off guard. As three cars that were moving crashed into each other.

Jack didn't care about it at all.

His hands were locked on the steering wheel, the veins on the back of his hands protruding.

At that moment.

Jack's red eyes were overflowing with killing intent as if there was a sea of blood churning in his red eyes.

And his face, his neck, even more veins stood out. As if small snakes were climbing on him.

The horror!

The thirst for blood!

The outrage!

That fuelled Jack that made him into a totally different person. The unstoppable madness could be felt from him.

The car he drove, was like a beast, engine roaring as it sped along.

...

Screech!

A Maserati stopped in a deserted area.

It was pitch black all around.

Even the moon and the stars were obscured by the dark clouds.

Only the headlights of the Maserati shone brightly.

The surrounding area had been deserted and overgrown with weeds. No one knew how long it had been abandoned.

Click!

Katherine opened the door, her face was cold as ice, but her eyes were filled with insanity.

She ignored Amber who had fainted earlier.

Instead, she went around to the trunk and took out the foldable shovel she had put it in when Jenny hadn't paid attention to.

Crackle... crackle...

The shovel made quick work of chiselled down the somewhat hard surface.

Katherine gritted her teeth with sweat pouring. As she swung her shovel quickly.

The soil tumbled.

As the compacted soil on the surface was dug away, the loose soil underneath it became extremely easy to excavate.

Inside the Maserati.

Amber's face was pale and bloodless. As she was unconscious and was limping on the back seat.

Both of her hands were always on her belly, guarding the baby inside her with care.

Her eyebrows were frowning, as the pain was written on her pale face even she was unconscious.

Suddenly.

Amber's body twitched violently.

Sharp, intense pain from her abdomen abruptly jolted her out of her stupor.

Her eyelashes fluttered lightly.

Amber slowly opened her eyes.

She stared vacantly into the darkness around her. She was able to identify that she was at a wasteland on the outskirts. But that was all she could be sure of.

Fear, panic, despair and all sorts of emotions instantly swept through her.

She struggled to sit up.

Because she heard a noise outside and she wanted to find out what was going on then.

The sharp pain in her abdomen tugged at every nerve in her torso.

It made it extremely difficult for her to move even a slight bit.

While sitting up, she had to endure the sharp pain in her abdomen.

“I must keep the baby safe, it’s me and Jack’s. I, I have to escape...”

That was Amber’s thought.

Since she was a child, she had never been so determined.

She was even more determined than when she returned to Jack from overseas.

The child was her flesh and blood.

It was also the bloodline of Jack.

When she tried raising her head and lifting her own upper body.

Amber felt enormous pain sweeping through her whole body.

Amber instantly bit her lips, forcing herself to endure the instinctive screaming under the immense pain.

Because she clearly knew that the sound outside was made by Katherine.

At that point, if Katherine found out that she had awakened, it would be completely over for her.

Thump!

Amber fell back on the seat.

Her body trembled, and the excruciating pain all over her body felt as if countless sharp knives were cutting into her fiercely.

In a trance.

Her consciousness was a bit fuzzy.

Suddenly.

She felt that her right hand became moist and sticky.

An unpleasant smell of blood rushed into her nostrils.

At that moment.

Amber's mind went blank.

Her teeth clenched on her lips, with a sudden force, there was bleeding on her lips.

The feeling of terror and despair filled Amber's entire body.

It even made her instantly forget all the pain all over her body.

Her body was trembling as tears cascaded from her eyes.

Instinctively.

She touched her lower body with her right hand. And the sensation of being wrapped by sticky wetness became more obvious.

Her tears poured out.

The horrible thought was magnifying infinitely.

Amber's teeth were already clenched into the flesh of her lips. She didn't let go of it as blood kept flowing out.

Because she knew that if she were to let go of it, the wailing would follow.

She slowly raised her right hand. Even though it felt like she was lifting thousands of pounds.

But still, she raised her hand with difficulty. With all her effort and determination.

The inside of the car was dark.

The only light source was from the headlight.

When her right hand came into her view.

Even it was dim, with only some light.

Amber's eyes wide opened. At that moment, her facial features were twisted in extreme pain and sorrow.

Blood!

Her right hand was clearly stained with blood!

It was coming out from under her stomach.

The child...

Chapter 699 Be A Strong Mother

"Ah!"

At this moment, Amber could no longer contain herself and screamed.

Women were extraordinarily strong after becoming mothers.

She was able to hold back the pain and not yell out because of her child.

But when it came to her child, she couldn't be strong anymore.

"Baby ... my baby ..."

Bang!

Amber's eyes widened. She kicked open the car door in a panic and stumbled out of the car.

She could no longer care much.

That horrible thought in her head was growing like a wild weed.

Keep the baby!

She had to protect her child at all costs!

This was the only obsession of a mother at such a life-or-death moment.

As soon as she got out of the car, Amber shuddered and stumbled towards the distance.

The sudden change caused Katherine, who was digging a hole, to freeze in horror.

By the time she came back to her senses, Amber had already stumbled a dozen meters away.

"Huh! Bitch, where else do you want to run to in the middle of nowhere?"

Katherine snorted with an awful smile.

At this moment, she looked very grim and cold, as if she was an evil spirit from hell. She held a shovel in her hand and chased after Amber unhurriedly.

She wasn't worried about Amber escaping at all.

In the middle of nowhere, Amber was pregnant and had just swallowed the abortion pill. In such a state, her escape at this time was just a death struggle.

But since Amber wanted to escape, she didn't want to immediately envelop Amber in despair.

Since she wanted to run, she would just let her run!

Anyway, she couldn't escape and eventually had to be buried alive.

Looking at Amber, who was stumbling and staggering, the corners of Katherine's mouth curled up in a teasing sneer, and she looked extremely sinister.

The more wretched and miserable Amber was at this point, the more pleasure it brought to Katherine.

This was a kind of morbid sense of pleasure.

Memories of the past recurred to her.

She was now living a life of misery, and it was all thanks to Jack and Amber.

Why should the "bad guys" be able to enjoy the blessings, while she, the victim, had to suffer hardships and poverty?

"Amber, just stop. You can't get away. You deserve what you get!"

The teasing smile on Katherine's face was wide. She waved the shovel in her hand and quickened her pace to catch up.

To make fun of a dying person, of course, she had to give her a little more urgency. That was what made it exciting!

In this way, she felt more comfortable in her heart!

"Baby ... my baby ..."

Amber's pale face was filled with panic and despair as she felt Katherine rapidly approaching her from behind.

She felt that behind her was the cold wind blowing out of hell, which came overwhelmingly towards her, as if to swallow her up.

But her tearful eyes were filled with determination and resolve.

Even though she had a sharp pain coming from her abdomen, she did not stop.

She gritted her teeth and held on, running away in disarray.

She fell again and again and got up again and again.

Amber's body was already covered in blood and mud, and she was in a terrible state.

But she still did not stop.

She had to escape.

She could die, but she had to give the baby in her belly a chance to live!

"Jack ... where are you? I... I need you ..."

Amber cried and howled, and she had never been more helpless.

Darkness came over her eyes.

Bang!

She missed a step and fell to the ground again.

This time.

Amber struggled several times but was unable to stand up. The severe pain had nearly exhausted her and weakened her body to the extreme.

She even got unconscious again and felt dizzy.

"Run, why don't you keep running?"

Behind her, Katherine's playful sneer rang out.

Amber looked back. In the darkness, Katherine slowly waved the shovel and was walking towards her unhurriedly.

"Katherine, please spare ... spare my child ..."

Amber collapsed to the floor. She trembled and wailed and begged.

"Spare your child?"

Katherine snickered: "Why should I spare your child? He's that bastard's kid! It's better if he's dead!"

After a pause, Katherine suddenly changed the subject.

"But, I really didn't expect you to beg me like that. I couldn't compete with you in anything in college. In my eyes, you were the lucky one favored by God. Your extraordinary family background made me envious countless times. And just now, you looked so condescending. Now, how come you suddenly become so humble in front of me?"

Her words were harsh and sounded crazy.

Amber was in tears, and her body was in severe pain.

But she still didn't give up. She grabbed the weeds on the ground with both hands and struggled to crawl forward slowly as if she were a dead dog.

Behind her, a blood-stained pavement was left, which was incomparably creepy.

Katherine was in no hurry, and the smile on her face grew wider and wider with complacency.

What she wanted was this image in front of her.

The worse Amber was, the more relieved she could be when she finally died.

She looked at Amber as she struggled to crawl like a dying dog.

Katherine suddenly said, "But, Amber, I really have one thing better than you. That is, I was married to Jack, while he was married to you for the second time. In other words, you took my leftovers, and you took the trash I didn't want and treated it like the apple of your eye. Tsk ..."

Amber ignored her. While she was crying in despair, she kept whispering Jack's name.

When a person was most desperate and helpless, all she could think of to rely on was the person closest to her.

"Jack ... help me, help me ..."

A sense of weakness rushed toward her.

And darkness came over her eyes more frequently.

She could feel that all the strength in her body was flowing rapidly.

Just now she was able to grasp the weeds and crawl forward, but at this time, she could barely even hold on to the weeds.

However.

Hearing Amber's cry for help, Katherine, who sneered playfully, became furious.

Her expression was cold.

"Until you die, you are still thinking about that bastard. I'm done playing with you!"

As she spoke, she walked in front of Amber with big strides.

Pop!

She directly stepped on Amber's right hand with her right foot and ravaged it fiercely.

"Ah!"

The nerves of the fingertips were linked with the heart. Amber sobered up because of the pain and screamed miserably.

She instinctively used her left hand to push Katherine's right foot, but Katherine's right foot did not move at all, and she even kept rubbing the sole of her shoe on the back of her right hand.

It hurt!

It hurt like hell!

Amber's pale face looked painful. She burst into tears and felt desperate and helpless to the core.

But the severe pain did not last long.

A strong feeling of weakness swept through her entire body, and Amber couldn't hold on any longer.

Her head tilted and she passed out directly.

In the darkness.

"Crunch ... crunch ..."

Katherine kept rubbing the sole of her right shoe against the back of Amber's right hand.

She gritted her teeth and carried on for ten seconds or so before she stopped.

Then she took a frigid look at the large hole she had just dug halfway in front of the Maserati.

Katherine raised her hand, wiped the sweat from her forehead, and tossed the few strands of hair behind her ear.

Looking at Amber, who was unconscious on the ground, a smile suddenly appeared on her cold face.

"Amber, my best friend, I'm going to kill you right here."

As she spoke, she slowly raised the shovel in her right hand high into the air, and the killing intent in her eyes was overwhelming.

Chapter 700 The Man Who Will Kill You ... Is Coming!

The dark night was silent.

Only the headlights of the Maserati in the distance glowed with afterglow.

Katherine stood in the darkness while the shovel in her hand was raised high in the air.

At this moment, her killing intent was overwhelming.

The smile on Katherine's face grew wider and wider as she looked at Amber, who was unconscious on the ground.

As long as this shovel fell, most of the hatred in her heart could be reduced.

She was finally able to avenge the death of her family!

"Mom, you can rest in peace now. I've finally helped you take revenge."

Katherine closed her eyes and said with relief.

Buzz!

In the darkness, a strong wind whistled.

The shovel in her hand carried all her strength and slashed down toward Amber's head.

At this moment, time seemed to have been slowed down.

Poof!

A muffled sound.

Blood splashed.

The shovel came to a screeching halt less than ten centimeters from Amber's head.

Katherine's body trembled, and she opened her eyes with a look of disbelief and horror.

She looked down at her chest.

In the darkness, she could vaguely see an object being stuck in her chest.

Great pain gradually swept through her body.

How ... could this happen?

Katherine's eyes widened, and she had the feeling of dreaming in a trance.

But the growing pain in her chest brought her back to reality quickly.

She raised her hand and grabbed the object on her chest.

It was a ballpoint pen!

"Can a pen ... also kill people?"

She said slowly and weakly as if she couldn't believe it.

As she spoke, blood flowed down from her mouth.

At this moment, Katherine felt as if her eyes had regained their clarity.

Tap ... tap ...

The sound of unhurried footsteps rang out as if the man was walking idly.

Katherine looked in the direction where the sound came from, where a man was slowly walking.

Gradually, Katherine's eyes widened with disbelief. She couldn't believe it.

She had been extremely careful when she kidnapped Amber and left, and she was sure no one was following her.

That was why she just teased Amber recklessly and was not in a hurry.

But where did this person in front of her come from?

"Every flower and grass can be a killing weapon!"

His hoarse voice, as if countless gravel rubbed against his throat.

As the distance drew closer, Katherine gradually got a better look at the man.

And his unhurried steps revealed that he was also stumbling.

The man was walking this way, while still covering his chest with his left hand.

When the man stood in front of her, Katherine finally saw his face.

It was a pale old face that was so cold that it did not have the slightest change of expression.

And blood was still dripping from the corners of his mouth, just the same as she was now.

It was just that the person in front of her was emitting a magnificent killing intent, so she instantly had the feeling of being locked in by a fierce beast and chilling all over.

"Why? Why is this happening?"

Katherine smiled sadly in shock. Blood stained her teeth and flowed out. She shook her head, "It can't be like this. Why would it be like this? No one could have followed me."

The mystery man did not move, and he looked at Katherine with cold eyes, as if he was looking at a dead person.

In this world, as long as he wanted to follow a person, not many people could find him yet.

Not to mention that Katherine was just an ordinary person.

"I'm going to kill her. I want to avenge my mother. I won't give up, I won't just give up ..."

Katherine's eyes widened, while her blood-stained face once again became fierce and frantic. She raised the shovel furiously.

However.

Bang!

With a sharp pain in her right wrist, the shovel flew out of her hand.

And then, "bang", Katherine felt her shoulder blade was hit hard, as if by a heavy hammer.

Her body swayed violently and she fell to the ground on both knees.

The pain was so great that she threw back her head and let out a miserable scream of pain, and her body trembled violently.

The man simply attacked her with his hand, yet her shoulder blade was broken on the spot.

The mystery man slowly lowered his right hand and said indifferently, "If you don't want to be completely crippled before you die, then just kneel."

His voice was frigid, like the cold wind blowing out of hell.

A touch of fear appeared on Katherine's fierce and crazy face.

Her eyes swished red, and tears came out of her eyes.

Various emotions such as reluctance, anger and resentment surfaced in her mind.

"It was so close. It was so close I could have gotten this bitch killed to avenge my mom and make Jack feel the pain of losing a loved one too."

Katherine shuddered and wailed in a hoarse voice.

Men and women were born with a gap in their physical condition.

What was more, the man in front of her gave her irresistible and terrifying oppression.

She knew there was no hope for revenge!

With this man in front of her, she simply could not kill Amber.

Suddenly.

Katherine raised her head and stared at the mystery man with hatred. She spat out blood and screamed, "Kill me. If you want to kill me, then just do it!"

Her voice was mournful, yet she was determined.

She knew that there was no hope for revenge, and that death would await her.

And at that moment, she could also feel the ballpoint pen stuck in her chest was rapidly taking away her life.

The feeling of weakness and dizziness from the loss of blood was crashing down on her.

Instead of waiting for the blood to run out and die, or being tortured to death by Jack's men, she would rather die right now. This was obviously better.

In fact, since she had decided to take revenge, she was already prepared to pay with her life.

Her family was gone.

Her father was dead.

Her mother died, too, right in front of her and Jack. The experience of that night was like a nightmare that always haunted her.

And her brother was completely disabled.

When a person was desperate to the extreme, he was fearless in the face of death.

However.

Then, the mystery man's words made Katherine's remaining sanity collapse instantly.

He said coldly, "You don't deserve it!"

These simple words were like a thunderclap in Katherine's ears.

In an instant, with a complex expression, her features twisted.

With her head bowed and her body trembling, she burst into tears.

She didn't even deserve to beg for death ...!

Suddenly, two beams of blinding light shot from the distance.

The mysterious man turned his head and looked quietly at the car speeding in the distance. Then he said indifferently, "Here comes the man who is going to kill you."

He had been following Katherine and had informed Jack in time.

That was why Jack and he arrived at almost the same time.

The car sped along, running all the way across the wasteland and coming rampantly this way.

Crack!

With a sharp brake, the car drifted directly in place, lifting up the weeds and gravel and stopping in place.

Bang!

Jack opened the car door and rushed out with a horrified look.

Once he saw the image in front of him, Jack's mind went completely blank and his body went numb.

He roared, "Amber!"

He jumped straight to Amber's side and hugged her in a panic.

"Amber, buck up. I'm coming. It's okay. It's going to be okay."

Jack held Amber tightly, and the way Amber looked all over was terrifying and made Jack tingle.

At this moment, Jack's eyes were red and his nose twitched, and he instantly cried like a child.

He saw the blood beneath Amber.

And he even stopped breathing for a moment.

His neck instantly became thicker.

Meanwhile, blue veins stood out on his face and neck, like earthworms.

"It's okay, it's going to be okay, Amber, I'm here, I'm here."

Jack was terrified and tried to pick up Amber.

At this moment, even if he was tough, it was difficult for him to be sensible.

His wife and kids were everything to him!

However.

Just as Jack was about to get up, Katherine asked as she cried, "She ... should be dead, right? You're crying like a dog, just like what happened to me after I got divorced from you."