

Boss Is Reborn After Everyone's Betrayal!

021. The Duck Flew Away

Ding Wan's voice had just faded then the phone he had thrown on the sofa rang.

Ding Wan walked over to pick up the phone. When he saw the caller's name, his expression froze.

It was Yang Hua calling.

Ding Wan did not intend to pick up. Firstly, he was angry. He felt that Yang Hua had gone overboard and almost caused a lot of trouble. Secondly, Wang Chun was still by his side. It was inevitable that he would feel a little awkward after saying that he had cut off contact.

Wang Chun saw that Ding Wan's expression was not right, so she guessed a thing or two. Without saying anything, she went forward and snatched Ding Wan's phone.

Wang Chun sneered and picked up the phone, and turned on the speakerphone. "Yang Hua, it just so happens that I'm with Old Ding. I'll inform you once more. Don't look for my man again. Now that your job is gone and no one in the industry dares to use you, why don't you quickly find another way out and don't harass me?"

Wang Chun did not give Yang Hua the chance to speak at all. The words that came out of her mouth were like a machine gun. "If you still can't give up, let Old Ding tell you." After saying that, she looked at Ding Wan and glared at him fiercely. "Speak!"

Ding Wan had a helpless look on his face. In his heart, he also blamed Yang Hua. Now that he thought about it, why did she look for him? Originally, he had a lot of money to enjoy the blessings of all people, but it was all messed up by this idiot Yang Hua.

Ding Wan's words were also filled with anger. "Yang Hua, in the past, things were consensual, but you shouldn't have done that. You had designs on Ding Shan. You B*tch, you have designs on me too. I can't let you do that. You better pray for yourself!"

On the other end of the phone, Yang Hua heard the couple chiming in. She was so angry that her chest hurt, even more, she couldn't help but roar, "Are both of you idiots? Do you still have the time to scold me now? I've already said that all of this was done by that little b*tch, Ding Shan. She froze all of her bank cards! Don't you know?"

"What?" Ding Wan cried out in shock. He didn't care about what Yang Hua did anymore. He directly hung up the phone to check his bank cards.

Wang Chun still couldn't believe it. "Is it Yang Hua's trick again? Ding Shan doesn't have the guts! She was just being submissive just now!"

Ding wan cursed, "F*ck, we can't use the money anymore! We were cheated by that Little B*stard!"

Wang Chun quickly took the phone and checked for a long time. She found that all the accounts were frozen and they didn't have the authority to use the money anymore.

Wang Chun's face was twisted and she screamed, "How is that possible? Does she have the brain to play us like a fool? Was she doing it on purpose from the beginning?"

Ding Wan was so remorseful that his intestines were turning. He valued money as his life. Now that he did not have money, he had lost more than half of his life!

Ding Wan could not hold it in anymore, he cursed at Wang Chun, "You Idiot, how can you be a mother? It's still not possible. She's been acting very strange these two days! Don't you know when to be careful? I've long felt that she's been acting a little strange these two days!"

Wang Chun's eyes were red with anxiety. "You still have the nerve to scold me! Why don't continue to indulge in debauchery here? And you're blaming me for it? If it weren't for the things that you and Yang Hua did, that little b*tch Ding Shan wouldn't have left us! How would she dare to do that in the past?"

Ding Wan was so angry that he was pacing around the house. He kept dialing Ding Shan's number, but how could he find Ding Shan again?

Ding Wan was so angry that he threw his phone away. "D*nm this little B*stard! If I catch her, I'll kill her!"

Wang Chun quickly contacted the studio but was told that they did not know what was going on either. Xiao Zhao had just asked for the social media account.

Wang Chun almost lost her breath. Just now, Ding Shan had been pretending to be miserable in front of her. It turned out that it was all an act. Now, she had been careless and the situation had gotten out of control.

Wang Chun was still hoping for the best. "We're still that little B*tch's legal parents. She won't be able to get rid of us!"

Ding wan said exasperatedly, "She's already an adult! Her name is all over the contract. She's already prepared to fall out with us! Just because you're stupid, you were easily fooled by her. Why didn't you wait for me to get back and make the arrangements?"

Wang Chun was already angry, to begin with, so when he heard this, she became even angrier. "What's the point of saying all this now? Wait for you? Could I find you?"

Ding Wan clutched his head in despair. "I told you to treat her better! Coax her a little! I forced her into a corner. This time, the duck has flown!"

Wang Chun was also panicking. "Then what should we do? We have to bring her back!"

Ding Wan slowed down and said, “We still have to find a way to contact her and see if we can change her mind. hasn’t she always been thinking about little Yuan?”
