

Boss Is Reborn 370

Chapter 370. The End

After that, Xiang Hong held a wedding and invited some friends to marry Ding Shan.

At first, Ding Shan thought that this was not a good idea. She wanted to wait for Xiang Hong's parents to agree, but Xiang Hong said, "You're marrying me. What does it have to do with them?"

In the end, the two of them got married. Soon after they got married, they had two children. After the children were born, Xiang Hong's parents seemed to have the intention to relent. They even mentioned that they wanted to see their children.

However, Xiang Hong's attitude was firm. He said, "Ding Shan gave birth to the children. Never look at your grandchildren again if you don't acknowledge Ding Shan."

These words angered the two old people to death. After a while, the two old couple thought that since Ding Shan and Xiang Hong were already married and had children, and Ding Shan's reputation in the entertainment industry had been very good all these years, many of their old friends also liked to watch Ding Shan's movies. At the thought of this, they finally lowered their heads and personally invited Ding Shan and Xiang Hong to bring their children home to acknowledge their ancestors.

However, Xiang Hong still seemed to have some opinions about how his parents had made things difficult for Ding Shan in the past. He didn't want his two children to follow their grandparents, so the two elders had difficulty seeing their grandchildren.

"Alright, then, come over." Ding Shan was relieved.

Ding Shan drank two glasses of wine at the banquet and was soon drunk. Xiang Hong helped her to rest when he suddenly received a call from Lin Si.

"Uncle left two days ago," Lin Si sighed. He read Ding Shan's letter and cried before he left. He said that he had let her down.

Xiang Hong lowered his head and looked at Ding Shan in his arms. "Got it; I'll let Ding Shan know."

Xiang Hong recalled some things from the past.

After the 'Idol Creation Camp' competition ended, Ding Shan and Xiang Hong officially got together.

During that time, Xiang Hong investigated the identity of 'Madam Lin', who had tried to harm Ding Shan. He found out that Madam Lin was the eldest aunt of Lin Si, but she was only the second wife.

Lin Si's eldest uncle was also the heir to the Lin family. Back then, his first wife had given birth to a daughter. However, the policy at that time only allowed one child. Lin Si's eldest uncle was an official of the central government, so he could not break the rules. Therefore, he secretly sent the child away. When his first wife found out, she almost went crazy. She was in pain all day and died in less than two years.

Later on, Lin Si's uncle married his current wife, but unfortunately, she had two daughters and no boys.

Uncle Lin probably thought it was karma that he did not have a son. As he grew older, he wanted to find his wife's daughter to repent.

He had searched for many years but to no avail. The child had encountered human traffickers after being sent to a foster family, and no one knew where she had been sent.

Xiang Hong suspected that Ding Shan might be the child and someone might have deliberately arranged the human traffickers. That was why Madam Lin targeted Ding Shan after discovering she had become a big star.

Madam Lin didn't want Ding Shan to return to the Lin family and compete with her two children for the inheritance.

If Ding Shan were willing to return to the Lin family, they would talk about it. Xiang Hong told Lin Si about this matter. Lin Si was shocked, but Xiang Hong told him not to tell the Lin family.

After Ding Shan found out about this, she was silent for a long time.

Ultimately, she rejected Lin Si's request for her to do a DNA test with his uncle. She smiled and said, "It's fine. I'm living a good life now. I have a husband and children. That's enough."

After all, this was the decision of the person involved, and Lin Si was helpless.

Later on, Ding Shan found out that Lin Si's uncle was seriously ill, so she wrote a letter and asked Lin Si to pass it on to his uncle. The letter's content was straightforward: "I don't hate you."

It was a very calm and indifferent sentence.

Sleeping in Xiang Hong's arms, Ding Shan woke up in a daze. She opened her eyes and found herself in Xiang Hong's parents' house. The two children were playing with a tablet on the carpet beside her.

In her daze, she thought that her rebirth was a dream.

"You're awake?" The man's gentle voice sounded, and then a kiss landed on Ding Shan's forehead.

Ding Shan hugged Xiang Hong tightly, fearing that this beautiful dream would shatter.

Ding Shan occasionally revealed such a worried and confused expression, and Xiang Hong was already used to it. He ruffled Ding Shan's hair and hugged her tightly to comfort her.

"Dad, I see you!" The little boy suddenly shouted in surprise and then showed the tablet to his parents.

It was an edited video of a variety show that was very popular a few years ago.

In the video, the man in the spotlight firmly walked step by step toward the woman in the audience, his eyes full of passion.

Below the stage, countless audience members were screaming and cheering, witnessing their love.
