

Boss Is Reborn 41

Chapter 41. Called the police again

Ding Shan rubbed her head, which was still a little dizzy. She got up and struggled to get up from the ground. "Forget it. I'll go there myself."

Xiao Zhao hurriedly went forward to support Ding Shan and advised her, "Sister Shan, your body is too weak. Although you fainted temporarily to punish Ding Wan and Wang Chun, the two scoundrels, the Doctor also said that your body couldn't hold on any longer. Something will happen sooner or later. Just listen to me!"

Ding Shan shook her head and comforted Xiao Zhao, "I'm fine. It's a crucial period now. I won't fall. I want to cut off all their rights and injustice!"

Ding Shan's face was pale, but her eyes were full of determination. In her previous life, she had dragged her body to death and allowed them to bully her. She was not answering back to them every day.

That kind of helplessness and grief was like a ball of fire still burning in Ding Shan's chest. In this life, though she was still a little weak, she was many times stronger than in her previous life. So even though she had just been hospitalized, Ding Shan decided to go to the police station personally.

She knew well that this was a game of public opinion and the people's hearts. Many fans and passersby did not know the truth of the matter. The more she hesitated, the more disadvantageous it would be for her.

Ding Yuan was desperate. She made such a video to muddy the waters and confused the public. This way, the matter would be messed up. Many people would be confused. The heat would die down as time passed, and everything would be forgotten.

And as the saying goes, good news does not leave the house, but bad news spreads far and wide.

If Ding Shan could not dispel such negative rumors in the first place, people would not be willing to pay attention to this matter anymore. The news in the entertainment circle would dilute their memories, and in the end, they would only remember the last piece of news about Ding Shan being accused of domestic violence by her younger sister. They would tacitly agree that Ding Shan was just like what Ding Yuan had said.

Once she starts spreading rumors, and she's unable to refute them, it would get to a time when Ding Shan would not be able to explain them clearly.

Therefore, in this incident, Ding Shan knew that it was only by cutting the Gordian knot that she would not be led by the nose by Ding Yuan's rumors. Whoever could convince the public earlier would win the final say.

Ding Shan sneered. She was on the ethical side. As long as she told the truth, it would be fine. How could those three B*stards from the Ding family have the face to frame her and accuse her?

Didn't those three people like to bully her from the moral high ground as her parents and younger sister? Didn't she know that?

Moreover, she had been a celebrity for so many years. Naturally, she had the support of her fan base and the popularity of the crowd. Her title of the best actress was also genuine. Ding Yuan was too inexperienced to play the part of solo acting and fake crying with her!

Xiao Zhao saw that she could not persuade Ding Shan, so she could only sigh helplessly. These things were the obsession in Sister Shan's heart. If she did not handle it well, she might not be able to be at ease in taking care of her body. It was better to abide by her wishes.

Therefore, Ding Shan and Xiao Zhao disguised themselves and put on a big hat and mask on Ding Shan. They greeted the doctors and nurses and explained the situation. Under the distressed gazes of the doctors and nurses, they left the hospital quietly.

When the reporters who had just left rushed to the hospital to interview Ding Shan again after hearing the news, they could not find any trace of her.

A reporter with a more impatient personality went to the nurses' station and asked about Ding Shan's whereabouts. The young nurse was stunned and said in a daze, "Ding Shan just left. She said she was going to the police station."

This gave a few reporters a surprise. Some were extremely excited and felt that there was big news again. Some were worried that Ding Shan would be caught in a domestic storm and her career would be ruined.

Everyone had the exact guess. Ding Shan now had a younger sister accusing Ding Shan of having wild ambitions. She not only abused her younger sister, but she also deliberately set up a scheme to amass money. Suddenly, Ding Shan went to the police station. Could it be that there was indeed such a thing the police had summoned her?

Today was too exciting. It was destined to be a tsunami in the entertainment industry!

The few reporters listened only to the wind and rain and ran away without stopping, carrying their guns and cannons. They did not have time to listen to the weak explanation of the young nurse. "No... Ding Shan went to the police!"

Seeing the reporters disappear in a twinkle of an eye, the young nurse realized that her words seemed to have been misunderstood by them.

To the reporters, there was no difference. Time was money. They had to rush to the police station to get first-hand information. Ding Shan's family matter has now affected the hearts of millions of netizens!

Chapter 42: Three cases

When the reporters arrived at the police station, Ding Shan was already there. However, the police station was not a place where reporters could interview people. They could only wait at the entrance of the police station bitterly for news to come from inside.

The old policeman responsible for receiving Ding Shan also dealt with Ding Wan and Wang Chun. When he saw Ding Shan, he thought she was here to ask about the outcome of her parents' treatment. However, he did not expect Ding Shan to say that she wanted to report the case again firmly. Moreover, there were three cases. This perplexed all the police officers present. They did not know where Ding Shan stood with these three cases.

The young policeman who had almost beaten Ding Wan earlier was still kind enough to console Ding Shan, "We will investigate your family conflict diligently. It will be fine if you go back and wait for the results. If there are more details, you can fill them in at any time. However, there are three cases... .. Is there a misunderstanding? We can't be too confused. If we can't confirm it, it will be a false police report."

The other police officers had more or less understood Ding Shan's case. They were more sympathetic towards Ding Shan and nodded their heads one after another. They were afraid that Ding Shan might not understand the procedure of reporting to the police and was acting on impulse.

Ding Shan shook her head firmly and began to explain to the police officers clearly and orderly, "For the first case, I want to sue my sister, Ding Yuan, for spreading rumors on the internet. She deliberately smeared me and affected my reputation. This is a video that she contacted a reporter to release. I applied for an examination of her injuries. I did not do those injuries, but she spread rumors on a public platform out of thin air!"

As she spoke, Ding Shan took out her phone and played the video that had been forwarded by a large number of people on the Internet.

After the old policeman finished watching the video, he frowned. They were busy interrogating Ding Wan and Wang Chun, so they did not see the news.

At this moment, he realized that Ding Shan's report was based on something. If there was evidence after the examination that Ding Shan did not cause the injuries, then Ding Yuan was guilty of publicly fabricating facts to slander others.

The young police officer beside her also realized the matter was confusing. He picked up a pen and started to record it seriously.

Ding Shan sighed tiredly, then she said, "The second case that I want to talk about is to call the police on behalf of my sister, Ding Yuan. I did not do the injuries on her body. I don't know why she pushed the blame on me. However, as her sister, I still have to call the police on her behalf and find the real culprit!"

The police officers present were stunned again. First, she called the police on her sister for slandering her, and then she called the police on behalf of her sister to find the culprit. Even though the police had worked on cases for many years, they were still confused by these two cases. They had never seen such a contradictory but reasonable report!

The old policeman scratched his head in distress and thought for a while. These two cases had attained the criterion for handling. They were indeed illegal, and they were related. In that case, he could only summon Ding Yuan for a medical examination according to the law.

Two policemen were responsible for summoning Ding Yuan to the police station. The old policeman then asked Ding Shan what the third case was. He did not know why he felt a little uneasy, that the girl's family environment was too chaotic. First, she was beaten up by her parents in public.

The domestic violence and abuse cases had yet to be settled, and now there was another case of sisters accusing each other. The old police officer felt that the third case Ding Shan would talk about would probably be even more shocking.

Sure enough, Ding Shan nodded solemnly, as if she couldn't bring herself to say it. After hesitating for a while, she finally made up her mind and said, "I suspect that I'm not Ding Wan and Wang Chun's biological daughter, but I don't have any evidence. Please help me investigate the truth."

As soon as Ding Shan said that, everyone present widened their eyes in surprise. As police officers, they naturally knew what her words meant.

If Ding Shan was not Ding Wan and Wang Chun's biological daughter, then the severity of the incident could not be compared to the previous two cases. Kidnapping? Or was there something else going on?

The police officers' professional sense of smell was very sharp, and they realized that this might be the root of the Ding family's complicated relationship between parents and children.

All the police officers felt Ding Shan's suspicion was very plausible. Logically, everyone felt that Ding Wan and Wang Chun's actions did not seem like those of biological parents and were very unethical; if Ding Shan was not their biological daughter, everything seemed to make sense.

Everyone felt that it was not easy for Ding Shan to question their blood relationship at this juncture bravely. How much pressure did a person have to be under to doubt that she was not their biological daughter?

However, due to the strictness of their profession, the police officers only dared to think about it secretly in their hearts. They did not dare to express their thoughts and sympathies toward Ding Shan.

Chapter 43: 43. For paternity test

The old policeman fell into deep thought again. The third case that Ding Shan mentioned was indeed like a heavy bomb. His years of intuition made the old policeman feel that perhaps the truth of the matter was as Ding Shan had said. The reason behind it might be even more complicated. It might be a significant criminal case!

However, the police could not rely on their intuition to solve the case. Despite intuition, they still had to find evidence. The old policeman was a little troubled and asked Ding Shan in detail, "Have you investigated this? Perhaps you were adopted legally when you were still young? Or maybe you two are related by blood, but you don't have a good relationship?"

The old police officer felt he was being a little blunt, but this could only happen in a family with a bad relationship. He was afraid he would bring up Ding Shan's grief again, so he explained, "It's not that I don't believe you. It's just that it can only be considered a family dispute if you don't have any evidence and are purely suspicious. Our police station is still focused on persuasion."

Ding Shan nodded. She understood very well. It was said that it was difficult for an upright official to resolve family matters. If every child who quarreled with their parents came to the police station and said they suspected they were not biological children, it would be a mess. The most important thing was still getting evidence.

In her previous life, before she died, Ding Shan had heard the truth from Ding Yuan's mouth. However, these words could not be used as evidence, and no one would believe them. They would even treat Ding Shan as if she had lost her mind. Who would believe that a person would hear the truth about their past life before they died and then be reborn with hatred?

Ding Shan wanted to use reporting the case as a catalyst so that the police could follow this clue and find out the actual cause of the death of her biological parents!

Before that, Ding Shan could only prove through some means that she was not the biological daughter of the Ding family. Regarding this point, the police were afraid that Ding Shan could only suspect it and would not be able to build a case in the end. However, Ding Shan herself knew that Ding Wan and Wang Chun's crimes were already set in stone.

Ding Shan did not want to make things difficult for the police, so she asked politely, "Before I came here, I also checked. If it's just suspicion and there's no evidence, the police can't intervene. However, if the issue is not only that of the biological daughter but is related to the interests and personal safety of one of the parties, one can ask for help."

The old police officer listened to Ding Shan's unhurried voice and felt very gratified. He had seen too many hysterical and chaotic informants. After experiencing so much, Ding Shan could still state her thoughts clearly, allowing the case to be handled more smoothly. If people who came to report cases were like Ding Shan, the police would be much more relaxed.

Moreover, what Ding Shan said was reasonable, and the old policeman nodded.

"Ding Wan and Wang Chun were involved in violently beating you. They are suspected of mistreating you. If we look at it from this angle, your safety is threatened."

Ding Shan continued, "And as one of the parties involved, I reasonably suspect that Ding Wan and Wang Chun are scheming to use me to amass money and use me as a tool to make money. If I'm not their biological child but was abducted by them, what crime would they have committed?"

The old policeman frowned thoughtfully, "All of this is suspicion. But they would be committing a criminal offense if that's the case!"

Ding Shan's body was still frail, and she coughed. Xiao Zhao walked over and patted her back to help her breathe. Only then did everyone remember that Ding Shan had recently fainted and woken up, and she was being tormented in the police station; what an error!

Ding Shan calmed down and continued, "So, I'm going to do a paternity test with them. After what they did to me, I need to confirm if they are my biological parents. No matter what the outcome is, at least I may give up on this idea!"

Some of the soft-hearted police officers present were touched by Ding Shan's words. They felt that this girl was working too hard. Although she was so lively and beautiful on the big screen, she had been destroyed by her family in private.

This time, the old policeman did not hesitate and nodded in agreement.

"Initially, our police station would not accept the suspicion of blood relations. However, your situation is special. The matter of Ding Wan and Wang Chun beating you in public has already been settled. The domestic violence and abuse against you are still under investigation. Confirming blood relationships can be used as supporting evidence. We can do a paternity test first to see the specific situation. We can then decide whether we can file a case when the time comes!"

Ding Shan relaxed and finally revealed a smile. When the results of the paternity tests were revealed, Ding Wan and Wang Chun would not have run away totally.

This case was established!

Chapter 44: 44. Response

Ding Shan confirmed her statement with the police in the police station and stood up to leave. The old police officer was polite to Ding Shan and personally accompanied her to the door.

As soon as she opened the door, a large group of reporters rushed. They aimed their cameras at Ding Shan and the old police officer and fought to pass the microphone to the place closest to Ding Shan, throwing out a series of questions.

"Ding Shan, did you come from the hospital because the police summoned you?"

"Ding Shan, do you have anything to say about your sister's accusation?"

"Please respond to the domestic violence incident. Did you hit your sister?"

Some brave people even directly aimed the microphone at the old police officer without permission. "May I ask if Ding Shan has confirmed her criminal behavior? Will she be arrested?"

The old policeman had never seen such a scene before. For a moment, he was dazzled by the various cameras. He frowned and avoided the microphones that were nearly touching his face.

The old policeman cleared his throat with dignity. "Please calm down, everyone. This is the police station. Please don't make a scene!"

Ding Shan apologized to the old policeman sincerely. Her clear eyes swept across the many reporters, then she said, "Everyone, please calm down. Please don't disturb the order because of my problem. I can accept interviews, but let's not block the entrance of the police station. Come to the side." After saying that, she took the lead and walked to the side, leaving her position at the entrance of the police station.

The reporters were initially in a predicament. They all wanted to fight for the front seat to interview Ding Shan, but after being warned by the old policeman, they became a little nervous. When Ding Shan stared at them, they all quieted down.

For some reason, even though Ding Shan's eyes were not fierce and her voice was not loud, there was an inexplicable charisma. It was a calm and composed aura that no one dared to disturb.

The reporters obediently followed Ding Shan to the space beside them. They lowered their voices and did not make as much noise as before.

Ding Shan nodded her head in satisfaction, then revealed a kind smile.

The reporters seemed to have received credit, becoming bolder as they asked the question again.

Ding Shan's lips were pale, but her eyes were firm as she looked straight ahead at a camera, "First of all, I want to make it clear that my sister Ding Yuan's accusations against me are completely groundless. I don't know if there's anyone behind her, but after I saw the news, I was shocked and unhappy. I'm sorry that I am forced again to go public because of my family matters."

Ding Shan bowed slightly to express her apology, then she looked up and continued, "At the same time, I'm also sad about the scars on my sister's body. As her older sister, I can't believe someone would hurt her like this, so I've already reported it to the police. I implored the police to help my sister find the real culprit!"

When the reporters heard this, they were in an uproar again. What? Ding Shan was not summoned but came to report to the police. This was too dramatic. She was accused of domestic violence by her sister, yet Ding Shan was still willing to help her sister find the criminal. She was a beautiful person with a kind heart!

And the old reporters, who were slightly wise and experienced, instantly realized that Ding Shan was not just a beautiful person with a kind heart but was also very smart! After being accused, she did not rush to explain but directly reported to the police to find the perpetrator. Wasn't that the best response? Ding Yuan's accusation was self-defeating.

It seemed that Ding Shan had indeed been buried in the past. In the past, when Ding Shan's studio responded to the rumors, it was slow and tedious. It was full of absurdity, and not a single word was proper.

However, this time, Ding Shan disbanded the studio and personally made a beautiful counterattack. This decision was simply accurate!

Moreover, everyone couldn't help but sigh. In the past, under the double pressure of her family and manager, Ding Shan had been able to obtain excellent results. In the future, if she manages to do well, her celebrity path will probably become even more prosperous, and no one will be able to match her!

Of course, this was all in the future. The prerequisite for Ding Shan's bright future was that she could safely resolve the current situation. Now that Ding Shan was embroiled in so many damaging storms, it was hard to say if she would be able to turn things around or have the chance to stay in the entertainment industry!

The reporters had not been this excited for a long time. Indeed, wherever Ding Shan was, the topic was the same. The words just now were thoughtful and beautiful, even though it was a little official, but it did not stop them from extracting breaking news from Ding Shan's words! Hence, they were more enthusiastic about taking photos of Ding Shan.

Ding Shan slightly pulled back her eyebrows and looked exhausted. The corners of her eyes were red as if she was sad that her sister had accused her, and she also seemed worried about the scars on her sister's body.

Chapter 45: 45. Ding Yuan subpoenaed

The other main character of the topic, Ding Yuan, had just received a call from the police. She was summoned to the police station to explain the situation.

At that time, Ding Yuan was still immersed in the joy of the hot inquiry on Weibo. She was delighted when she saw the video of her accusation against Ding Shan go viral on the Internet.

She knew that those idiots on the Internet were just fence-sitters. No matter who said it, they would believe it. They would listen to every wind and rain, which helped her increase the topic's popularity.

Ding Shan, that idiot, could not compare to her regarding marketing strategy. She was the one who was suitable for the entertainment industry!

Ding Yuan sneered smugly. "Dear sister, I'll have to win this time. Do you think that it's still too late to resist now?" She was foolish. She deserved to be chastised!

Ding Yuan repeatedly checked the popular comments. When she saw that there were pretty several people who felt sorry for her, she laughed happily. The skeptical and disputed comments were secretly blocked by Ding Yuan's alternative account and reported.

Although many people in the comments section felt sorry for her, there were also many nasty comments. One person commented below, suspecting that Ding Yuan had put on makeup to fake it. He even said that the foundation on Ding Yuan's face was too thick and that there were traces of tears when she cried; she was too ugly.

This made Ding Yuan extremely angry. She used her alt account pretending to be a stranger and directly condemned. She felt that it was still not enough to vent her anger. She directly tapped on that person's profile picture and sent many private messages cursing.

Just as Ding Yuan's face was contorted and her long nails were typing rapidly on the phone screen, the police called.

Ding Yuan thought the police had seen the news and wanted to talk to her about Ding Shan beating her up.

After all, she had said in the video that Ding Shan often beat and abused her. This was considered domestic violence. Since Ding Shan could arrest her parents in the name of domestic violence, perhaps she could go to the police station and explain the situation, or could she also arrest Ding Shan and send her to the police station?

If that were the case, that would be great!

Ding Yuan's mind had utterly lost its rationality at this moment. She only wanted to destroy Ding Shan. She even thought that her methods were ingenious.

However, when Ding Yuan arrived at the police station entrance and saw Ding Shan standing at the police station entrance safely and being interviewed, her heart suddenly felt a little uneasy. Only then did she realize that she seemed to have overlooked something.

Why was Ding Shan here? Moreover, why did the police call her over before her?

Ding Yuan hesitated and wanted to walk forward to listen to what Ding Shan was saying. Then she heard Ding Shan say that she had already reported the case!

Ding Yuan was stunned on the spot. For a moment, she could not think straight.

Did Ding Shan report the case directly? She dared to report the case!

This action caught Ding Yuan off guard. Ding Yuan only thought of pushing the scars onto Ding Shan. She thought Ding Shan could not withstand the new wave of public opinion attacks and would secretly hide in the ward and cry.

She did not expect that Ding Shan would go to the police station and report the case before her!

What was Ding Shan trying to do? What did she say when she reported the case? Ding Yuan was a little flustered. If Ding Shan was the one who reported the case, then why did the police call her over?

At this moment, Ding Shan looked fine and was calmly submitting to the interview. She did not look like she had been interrogated. Could it be that they were going to interrogate her?

Ding Yuan's legs started to go soft. Only then did she realize that she seemed to have caused trouble. She had said too much in the video. It was too late to explain now!

Ding Yuan subconsciously wanted to run, but her appearance did not escape Ding Shan's eyes.

Ding Shan narrowed her eyes slightly. She looked past the camera and the reporters at the panicking Ding Yuan.

Ding Shan smiled in her heart. After delaying for so long, it was finally Ding Yuan's turn. On the surface, Ding Shan still pretended to be sad. She frowned slightly and looked at Ding Yuan from afar without saying a word.

The reporters immediately noticed that something was wrong with Ding Shan's expression. As Ding Shan looked over, they saw Ding Yuan not far away. At first, they did not recognize her. After all, Ding Yuan's face was not as recognizable as Ding Shan's; however, as Ding Shan softly muttered, "Little Yuan..." the reporters finally realized that this was the sister who was accusing Ding Shan!

In an instant, many cameras were aimed at Ding Yuan. Ding Yuan's footsteps, which were trying to flee, were helplessly frozen on the spot.

In the past, Ding Yuan had dreamed of standing on the big screen in Ding Shan's place. However, she had never been so afraid of the cameras facing her like this. Ding Yuan felt an unprecedented panic. What did that D*mn Ding Shan say? What should she do?

The reporters wanted to go forward to interview Ding Yuan but were stopped by two police officers. They had just summoned Ding Yuan. The police officer, who looked serious, said to the reporter, "I'm sorry, this Lady Ding is the subject of our summons. She is suspected of spreading rumors and slandering Ms. Ding Shan on the internet. We need to investigate."

Chapter 46: 46. Hang in there till the end

When Ding Yuan heard this, she tightly held her trembling hand and comforted herself. It was fine. He only said that she was spreading rumors and slander. It was not a big deal. Moreover, the injuries on her body were real. How could it be considered slander?

Then, the police continued, "At the same time, this Ding Yuan is also a victim. Ms. Ding Shan has entrusted us with investigating the true culprit of the injuries on this lady's body. We need to carry out a medical examination, so it is not convenient for you to accept an interview now! Please understand, Ms. Ding. Please!"

Ding Yuan stood rooted to the ground, unable to move. Her mind was filled with the medical examination mentioned by the police officer. Her eyes widened in disbelief.

Ding Yuan suddenly turned her head to look at Ding Shan standing behind the reporter. Her eyes were frighteningly red. Ding Shan! How dare you!

She reported the case to them to find the true culprit. To think that this B*tch Ding Shan would think of it! How could she have forgotten? Ding Shan had come to the ward to see her. She knew that CEO Jin had violated her!

Ding Yuan was so regretful that her intestines were about to turn over. She had just laughed at Ding Shan for being stupid, but in the end, she had forgotten such an important matter!

Now that the police wanted to examine her injuries, they couldn't find out, right? Ding Yuan had the thought of being lucky. She had washed countless times, and there were no fingerprints left. There shouldn't be any evidence left behind, right?

Ding Yuan was both anxious and regretful. She didn't want to admit that she had brought this upon herself, so she could only turn her emotions into hatred towards Ding Shan.

Ding Yuan wanted to rush up and tear Ding Shan's mocking face. 'B*tch, you wanted to ruin me on purpose. You knew that the Ding family couldn't afford to offend CEO Jin, yet you still came to report this to the police. She was determined to get everyone in the Ding family killed. Why didn't she realize in the past that other than being stupid, she was so vicious?'

Ding Shan looked at Ding Yuan's panicked and angry expression from afar. She hid behind the reporters and inadvertently smiled.

'Ding Yuan, are you surprised? This was the effect I wanted. Thank God the grease blinded you. You wanted to pin the injury on me. You gave me a chance. I was worried that CEO Jin's side would not be easy to use!'

Ding Yuan stared at Ding Shan for a while before slowly realizing that she had lost her composure. Her attitude was already very suspicious even before the investigation.

Ding Yuan forced herself to adjust her expression and kept comforting herself that she would be fine.

At that time, she had turned off all the surveillance cameras in the hotel to set up Ding Shan. Even if Ding Shan knew that director Jin was the one who did it, she did not have any evidence. As long as she did not relent on her previous statement, the police should not be able to find anything out. At most, because there was not enough evidence, they would not be able to conclude that Ding Shan had abused her, and they could not also say that she had slandered her.

At this point, this was the best outcome.

Ding Yuan advised herself not to panic. Otherwise, the more she said, the more mistakes she would make. She kept brainwashing herself. She had to remember that Ding Shan was the one who had hit her. However, because they were at home, there was no evidence. As for the medical examination, there were no fingerprints left. There was no way to prove that Ding Shan had done it!

Ding Yuan kept mulling over in her mind. After she thought of an excuse, she gradually calmed down and felt much more at ease.

Ding Shan's effort was terrific, but she was still too naive. This kind of thing, without evidence, at most, the police would mediate between them. They would not be able to solve the case. If she could stick to the accusation, the police would not be able to produce any evidence, and they would not be able to rule on her defamation.

It was a pity that they couldn't judge Ding Shan for domestic violence. This B*tch reacted quickly. This time, it was too good for her!

Ding Yuan was so angry that she almost gritted her teeth, but she didn't forget to put on an act for the camera.

She quickly adjusted her emotions and shouted at Ding Shan with teary eyes, "Sister! How can you say that I'm a slanderer? I don't blame you. I only hope that you can come home. Our house is already in a mess; how can you still report it to the police and say that you're looking for the culprit? Isn't this disturbance for the police?"

What she meant was that Ding Shan was the criminal. Why would a thief call for a thief to catch a thief? 'I'm only asking you to go home for your good.'

Ding Shan was not surprised by the meaning of Ding Yuan's words.

She had already expected Ding Yuan to be stubborn. She planned to hold out until the end. After all, her words had been uploaded onto the platform. If she denied it now, then she would be guilty of slander. Ding Yuan did not want to go to jail; she could only insist on accusing her.

Ding Shan wasn't sure if she could find any helpful evidence. But at the moment, this was the best way.

The rest could only be left to fate.

'It didn't matter if Ding Yuan could escape slander. Don't forget, CEO Jin was impatiently waiting at home!'

Chapter 47: 47. Trending

Ding Shan watched as Ding Yuan, with an anxious look on her face, was brought in by the two police officers. She silently curled her lips into a smile.

No matter what the consequence, she had to teach Ding Yuan the lesson that it was not easy to enter the entertainment industry. It was not enough to act like she was crying. She should use her brain before speaking!

It was a little ironic. Ding Shan had acting skills and brains. She had been working hard in the entertainment industry for more than ten years and had never suffered any losses when dealing with all kinds of people; in the end, in her previous life, she had fallen into the hands of her beloved family.

In her previous life, Ding Shan had acted in many plays and experienced all kinds of roles. She had acted in all kinds of situations in the world. The most authoritative director had once said that Ding Shan was a gift from God and that she had a great understanding at such a young age. She excelled at figuring out the roles.

However, despite her acting skills, Ding Shan had let her guard down in front of the Ding family. She never saw through their filthy hearts until her death.

Ding Shan lowered her head; her eyes were cold.

How could Ding Yuan have the face to think she could replace her? She once showed weakness in front of Ding Yuan when she was completely unguarded. However, Ding Yuan thought that it was through her brilliant method. She was too naive and funny!

Ding Shan stood alone, not speaking, with her head lowered. When the reporters saw that they could not interview Ding Yuan, they could only silently switch the camera to Ding Shan's face again.

When they saw her like this, they thought Ding Shan was still upset about her sister's behavior.

A reporter could not bear it and comforted her, "Ding Shan, don't be sad. Maybe there's been a misunderstanding? If your sister is willing to drop the charges and apologize to you, will you forgive her?"

Ding Shan slowly raised her head. The corners of her eyes were slightly red as she smiled weakly, "If she still recognizes me as her sister, I would naturally be reluctant to let her be detained. But if she, however, recognizes me, then she wouldn't..." Ding Shan did not make her words too clear; she wanted to say something but then sighed,

The reporters all understood. As the saying goes, if you're not kind, then don't blame me for being heartless. Her parents and sister had hurt Ding Shan.

However, some reporters did not like Ding Shan. They whispered, “The police haven’t concluded yet. Maybe you did it?”

The reporters in front of her turned around and looked at the talkative guy with disapproval. Ding Shan was already in such a miserable state, yet there were still people who suspected her of domestic violence. She looked like she would fall if the wind blew...domestic violence?

Ding Shan pursed her lips and did not get angry. She stood silently, not saying anything.

Seeing Ding Shan like this, another reporter could not help but speak up for Ding Shan, “As a reporter, you have to be responsible for what you say. You already said that there was no result. What nonsense are you spewing?”

Everyone’s gaze made the reporter from earlier feel a little guilty and leave the interview team dejectedly.

Ding Shan smiled bitterly. “I can understand everyone’s various guesses. Since that’s the case, let’s wait for the results!”

After saying that, Ding Shan said goodbye to Xiao Zhao. Xiao Zhao walked forward to support Ding Shan and bid farewell to the reporters before getting Ding Shan back to the car.

Once Ding Shan left, the reporters started to get busy. They brought the interview back to edit the layout. After a while.., # Ding Shan reported the case forcefully, # Ding Shan helped her sister find the Culprit, # Reversed, Ding Shan’s sister suspected of slander again, # Ding Shan’s sister was summoned by the police to be examined for injuries, and other entries took turns at trending on Weibo.

Under each topic, a large group of people was collected. Everyone was analyzing the truth behind these few trending articles. With different opinions, the matter became confusing.

The fans waiting for Ding Shan’s response were so happy that they shrieked. She was too handsome. She directly reported it to the police. Good job!

Of course, they did not believe that their goddess would abuse her sister. They were worried that Ding Shan would cover up for Ding Yuan because she was soft-hearted, so they endured this grievance. Now that they saw the trending topics, they finally felt relieved!

However, a portion of the netizens was still influenced by Ding Yuan. They felt that Ding Shan was so ruthless that she might do something that would cause them to abuse her and blame her!

A fraction of people also felt that Ding Shan’s matter was endless. It was almost becoming a drama series. Perhaps it was just hype!

After all, Ding Shan did not have any good exposure in the past. Who knew if the whole family had joined forces to put on an act to mislead the audience?

Therefore, under the hot trends, this percentage of the people argued that they didn’t believe in any explanations and hype. They only believed in the police report!

Chapter 48: 48. Let’s Start a company

The voices on the Internet were so many. There were even fans and haters quarreling with each other. It had been a long time since the entertainment industry had experienced such turmoil. It was not only the fans and casual browsers, but many celebrities were actively paying attention to Ding Shan's incident.

Some artistes had worked with Ding Shan before. Most of them thought that Ding Shan would not do such a thing.

But, because Ding Shan was too unusual in the past, no one had had a deep relationship with her. In the entertainment industry, where benefits were paramount, even close friends would turn against each other, even just a little. Not to talk about Ding Shan, who did not have good friends in the industry?

Therefore, most celebrities chose to play it safe at this moment and quietly pay attention to her. A few posted comments supporting Ding Shan, but because they were not big enough, they were quickly drowned out by more news.

Some female celebrities were secretly waiting to see Ding Shan fall so they could take the opportunity to swarm up and seize all of Ding Shan's resources and endorsements with their skills.

Generation after generation of female celebrities was like a wave that covered a passing wave. Whoever hit the beach, the sea would sweep up and soon disappear without a trace. No one would remember the youngest movie queen anymore. There would always be a replacement for younger and more beautiful women.

Therefore, at this moment, Ding Shan's situation was a little awkward.

She was isolated and helpless. There were different types of praise and criticism. Countless people wanted to see the shame of the movie queen. Countless people wanted to split the cake of the movie queen. There were also countless people waiting for Ding Shan to fall so that they could take revenge.

After all, Yang Hua and her team had done many bad things. Many people held grudges but did not dare to flare up. They all secretly held grudges against Ding Shan.

Xiao Zhao was a little worried. She had returned to her place with Ding Shan. She did not let Ding Shan look at her phone. She persuaded Ding Shan to lie on the spacious and comfortable sofa with her eyes closed to rest. The more she looked at her phone, the more worried she became.

Of course, she knew that Sister Shan was fighting a tough battle. Ding Yuan's injury test report would take some time to be released. During this period, no one knew how public opinion on the internet would ferment and how far it would develop. They did not have a professional team right now, so they had no way to take off.

Ding Shan heard Xiao Zhao's faint sigh while she was napping and slowly opened her eyes and comforted her lightly, "Don't worry, we won't lose."

Xiao Zhao quickly turned off her phone screen and tried to hide it behind her back.

Ding Shan smiled lazily. "Don't hide anymore. I don't need to see it to know there's nothing good to see on the Internet."

Xiao Zhao explained slowly, "Sister Shan, don't say anything depressing. You still have a lot of fans. They're all protecting you!"

Ding Shan closed her eyes and yawned lazily. She was a little tired, "Tell the support group not to quarrel or fight. Let those people talk."

Ding Shan was not worried because the more extensive the fermentation, the more voices of doubt. The more the truth was revealed, the more shocking it would be.

Xiao Zhao was a little down. "But sister Shan, we don't have a team anymore. There's only the two of us. If the support group doesn't help us control the direction of the comments, I'm afraid..."

Hearing her mention this, Ding Shan perked up and opened her eyes. She had already decided to participate in Yin Hui's variety show the last time. That was her comeback battle, and she knew this variety show would become famous. After debuting, the male team members were all excellent seedlings of superstars. It just so happened that she didn't have a team yet, so she was running solo.

Suddenly, a bold idea emerged from the bottom of Ding Shan's heart.

When Xiao Zhao saw that Ding Shan had opened her eyes and was in a daze, she assumed that Ding Shan wasn't feeling well. "Sister Shan, What's wrong?"

Ding Shan's eyes flickered with a dazzling light. This light was Ding Shan's longing to chase her dreams!

In the past, she had always been under the control of others and had bowed down to power and money. So why can't she become the stock?

Ding Shan curled her lips into a smile. Her eyes narrowed, and she said to Xiao Zhao with a bright smile, "Let's start a company!"

Little Zhao was stunned. Her mind was slow to react. Sister Shan's change of topic was too huge. Just now, she was still talking about the team and the support group. Why did she think of starting a company?

Xiao Zhao was confused. "Sister Shan, what company are we starting? Things are too messy right now. We don't have the staffing. The two of us won't be able to handle it!"

Although Ding Shan looked tired, she could not hide the eagerness in her eyes, "We'll start a management company. These messy things will be over soon. Since we don't have enough workforce, we'll hire people. We'll sign up the best actor! The most handsome male celebrity!"

Chapter 49: 49. Became a Big Tree

Xiao Zhao was stunned. She blinked and was surprised by the amount of information in Ding Shan's short sentence. "Sister Shan, are you saying... that we should open our agency? Become our boss?"

This was something that Little Zhao did not even dare to think about in the past!

Ding Shan narrowed her eyes as if she had already concluded about it. She used the calmest tone to say the most outstanding words, "That's right. We'll be the bosses. Sooner or later, we'll become the most powerful management company in the country and have most of the best actors and actresses."

Ding Shan's idea of opening a management company had been deep in her heart for a long time.

In the past, she had been so envious of other female stars because the management company was powerful. They were more challenging than her when it came to working. No matter what happened, the company would always be behind them. There was always a responsible manager helping them wholeheartedly.

Ding Shan thought bitterly, but what about herself? She could only be pushed and ridiculed by Yang Hua. She was sent from one set to another. There was once when the director bullied her. She cried and refused to act again, but she was still dragged and dragged by Yang Hua to the front of the director. She smiled and apologized obsequiously.

At that moment, Ding Shan understood that it was better to lean against a big tree. She did not have a big tree like others, so she could only be bullied and looked down upon.

Ding Shan had suggested that she wanted to sign up with a better management company that would be more professional. However, Ding Wan said Yang Hua had been a friend for many years. That was because he felt sorry about Ding Shan's young age and was afraid of her being tricked and bullied by outsiders, that this was a trustworthy person. In the end, she barely managed to open a studio.

Ding Shan could not resist, so she had no illusions about the team. She only relied on her strength to earn the respect of the directors and seniors in the industry. Meanwhile, Yang Hua also changed from the initial flattery to an overbearing and vicious outlook.

Ding Shan was finally about to break free from the sea of bitterness. She had her own money and memories of rebirth. She knew which people would become famous. She was also confident in her professionalism. So, why not make up for the regret of her previous life?

Ding Shan did not do it all to make money and become a boss. She did not rely on a good big tree in the past, but now, she has become a big tree herself.

It was said that those caught in the rain also want to hold an umbrella for others. Ding Shan was the same. She could fulfill her wishes and also shelter more people who had dreams. This was not a wasted life.

The more Xiao Zhao thought about it, the more excited she became. She had not expected sister Shan's goal to be so big. She wanted to expand her career with sister Shan!

Ding Shan looked at Xiao Zhao's excited expression and smiled, "Let's do it. Xiao Zhao, Ding Wan, and the others are all staring at me now. It's not convenient for me. I'll register under your name. We'll recruit people and get ready before I can come back!"

After saying that, Ding Shan couldn't hold it in anymore. She yawned twice and covered her head with a blanket. She mumbled, "I want to sleep well. Don't disturb me with anything."

Xiao Zhao wanted to ask Ding Shan about registering the company under her name. Wasn't sister Shan afraid that there would be problems in the future?

However, what sister Shan said made sense. If Ding Wan and the others discovered that Sister Shan had a different company under her name, they might even have some bad ideas. Sister Shan trusted her unconditionally!

Xiao Zhao didn't dare to disturb Ding Shan. She suppressed her excitement and waved her arms a few times. She clenched her fists and swore in her heart. 'Xiao Zhao, you must live up to your expectations. You must not disappoint, sister Shan! You must help sister Shan open the best management company!'

After that, Xiao Zhao carefully adjusted the air conditioner's temperature for Ding Shan. Then, she picked up the computer and went to work in another room.

Sister Shan's body was weak, and she needed to rest well. The rest of the things would be prepared by her!

Ding Shan slept exceptionally soundly. It was a long and leisurely sleep. It was as if she had never slept so soundly before. It was as if she wanted to compensate for her two lifetimes' fatigue.

When Ding Shan was about to wake up in a half-awake and half-asleep state, it was as if she saw herself dying in her previous life. The room was filled with blood, but she was no longer afraid.

It was as if she saw Ding Shan (herself) smiling at her in a pool of blood. She had said, "Live Well," and Ding Shan then became utterly awake.

She was in a daze on the soft sofa for a while before she smiled warmly. Yes, she wanted to live well.

Chapter 50: 50. Injury assessment

Ding Shan had slept for quite a long time. It was getting dark outside, but Ding Shan had slept exceptionally soundly. She stretched lazily before calling out softly, "Xiao Zhao? Are you still there?"

Xiao Zhao heard the sound from the living room and gently opened the study door. "Sister Shan, you're awake!" Then, she walked toward Ding Shan with her face full of joy. She was excited and could not hide the happiness in her entire body.

Ding Shan smiled dotingly. "What's wrong? Why are you so happy?"

Xiao Zhao's big eyes immediately sparkled as she rushed to Ding Shan's side. "Sister Shan! I saw that you were sleeping soundly, so I didn't want to disturb you. I have two pieces of good news!"

Ding Shan got up and lay down comfortably on the sofa. When she heard that, she raised her eyebrows. "Which two?"

Xiao Zhao giggled. "The first is that I've registered the company according to your instructions. That's not important. What's important is the second one. Ding Yuan's injury test results are out!"

Ding Shan was a little surprised. "So fast?"

Xiao Zhao looked excited. "So many people are paying attention to this matter now. The Internet is in an uproar. The police naturally had to consider the social impact and sped up the progress. Sister Shan, guess what?"

Ding Shan looked at the smile on Xiao Zhao's face and guessed that the result would be beneficial to her. However, she still pretended and asked, "Don't keep me in suspense. What's the result?"

Xiao Zhao laughed out loud, "The evidence that Ding Yuan and the artificial, they wanted to frame you. Fortunately, Sister Shan, you reported the case and had her injuries examined. This investigation found that the marks on her body were all made by a man. It has nothing to do with you, Sister Shan!"

Ding Shan initially knew that director Jin caused the wounds on Ding Yuan's body. However, many days had passed, and the most crucial evidence was gone.

Initially, she only hoped to rely on reporting to the police to prove to everyone that she did not do it. The injury examination was just additional evidence, so she did not have much hope for the final result. However, she did not expect that even the traces of the man could be found.

Xiao Zhao had a gossipy look on his face, "Sister Shan, if I remember correctly, didn't you go to the ward to visit Ding Yuan that day? That man should be CEO Jin! Oh My God, they were fiddling... Aiya, I'm embarrassed to say it!" Xiao Zhao, who said that she was embarrassed, had a wicked smile on her face.

Ding Shan was also curious and amused by Xiao Zhao's gossipy expression. "Hurry up and tell me, how did you find out?"

Xiao Zhao frowned and quietly moved closer to Ding Shan, "I've secretly asked around! The marks on Ding Yuan's body were almost gone. She probably knew they wouldn't be able to find anything, so she didn't act arrogantly at first. However, she never expected that her back and waist would still have bruised fingerprints! When it was further scrutinized, it was a man's!"

Xiao Zhao said as she gestured with her hands as if he could already imagine the scene.

Ding Shan was stunned for a moment before she burst into laughter. She did not expect that there would be a breakthrough in such a matter.

That's right. A scumbag like CEO Jin had spent much money to toy with a female celebrity. He must have used all sorts of maneuvers. Ding Yuan was even sent to the hospital the next day. He must have gone through a lot of trouble.

Ding Shan had never thought about this before. After all, she was not interested in other people's sex life. She did not know what evidence CEO Jin would have left behind. Now that the results were out, she felt that it was sufficient.

Ding Yuan probably did not expect CEO Jin to leave a fingerprint on her back. The size of his hands was not something that Ding Shan could have imprinted.

The more Ding Shan thought about it, the more interesting it became. She initially thought she couldn't confirm Ding Yuan's slander without sufficient evidence, but she didn't expect to find such erotic evidence.

Xiao Zhao excitedly took out her phone and shared it with Ding Shan, “The police released the results just now. Ding Yuan’s injury test report and punishment results have been uploaded. She has been fined and detained. Sister Shan, look at the comments. I’m dying of laughter!”

Ding Shan scrolled up to take a look. The comments under Weibo were all about Ding Yuan. Many people rushed over immediately, saying they had long noticed that the marks on the wounds were not right when they watched the video. It was impossible to achieve that effect unless one weighed 200 to 300 kilograms.

Some revealed that they were unique fans. They were also guessing what props Ding Yuan had used.

Xiao Zhao held back her laughter. “Ding Yuan is shooting herself in the foot!”