I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 611-As soon as these words were spoken, everyone was dumbfounded and they all looked at Jing Zhen.

A king of a country being arrested was something they had never thought of before.

Even Jing Zhen's peach blossom eyes twitched as he looked at Ji Wuyou.
"And then?"

"Without the permission of His Majesty the King, we certainly won't let them in. We stopped them directly outside the palace!" Ji Wuyou said straightforwardly, "Don't worry, all our royal guards are sworn to serve His Majesty the King to the death!"

After Ji WUYOU finished speaking, he placed a hand on his chest and swore, "We swore to never let outsiders humiliate His Majesty the King! We swore to defend the dignity of our country!"

As soon as Ji Wuyou spoke, the royal guards in the room immediately knelt down with their right hands on their chests and bowed as they shouted, "We swore to defend His Majesty the King!"

This was the military salute of Country A.

Jing Zhen looked at the people while he held his chin up.

His eyes were slightly red.

No matter how fierce the palace fights were back then, no matter how his mother had killed all the royal family members, and whatever crisis he had faced in the palace that forced him to leave Country A, he knew that his country loved him.

Just like now, Ji Wuyou and his royal guards didn't even know what happened, but they could immediately stand by his side without asking any questions.

Because the royal family of Country A was the face and symbol of Country A to the outside world. If even the King could be taken away by anyone, then wouldn't anyone just bully Country A at will?

As Jing Zhen was thinking about this, another royal guard rushed in. "Your Majesty, the people from the United Nations said they might not need to arrest Your Majesty. One of their directors said he wanted to talk to you."

Talk...

Jing Zhen frowned, not knowing what they were up to, and nodded directly. "Then bring that director in."

When the man ran out to call someone, Shen Ruoqing hesitated and looked at Jing Zhen. "Do they know about your scientific research?"

Jing Zhen nodded.

Shen Ruoqing asked again, "Since they know, why do they want to talk?"

Jing Zhen looked at his daughter, knowing that she had never been involved in such intrigue and was always straightforward, so she didn't understand the subtleties. Hence, he spoke with a meaningful tone, "You'll probably know soon."

Shen Ruoqing raised her eyebrows.

She looked at Chu Cichen and saw that he seemed to understand what the other party was up to.

She simply waited for that person to enter.

A tall, white man in a black suit entered, exuding a strong diplomatic demeanor. As soon as he entered, he said cheerfully in fluent English, "Your Majesty, I'm here to make friends. "

This sentence made Shen Ruoqing frown.

At first, they said that they were here to arrest Jing Zhen, but now they were here to make friends. So what were they really here for?

As Shen Ruoqing was thinking about this, Jing Zhen spoke, "Oh? And you are?"

"You can call me Karl, Your Majesty. I'm here to help you."

Jing Zhen frowned. "Oh? I wonder what you are here to help me with?"

Upon hearing this, Shen Ruoqing frowned even more.

King Jing Zhen waved his hand, and Ji Wuyou led the guards to quickly leave with their heads bowed. Ji Wuyou stood directly at the door.

Karl then looked at Shen Ruoqing and Chu Cichen.

King Jing Zhen said, "This is our Crown Princess of Country A and her husband. You can speak directly."

Instead of getting straight to the point, Karl smiled at Shen Ruoqing and said, "So, this is the Crown Princess? I've heard of your great reputation, but meeting you in person is even better. You are incredibly beautiful! It is an honor to see you in person. I believe you will be a great queen in the future. I know that Country A has no tradition of having a female ruler, but other countries have had them, so with the support of our Country Y, your position will surely be recognized by the world. '

Shen Ruoqing. "?"

Although it was true that Country A had never had a female ruler before, and King Jing Zhen's forceful decision to make her the Crown Princess had indeed caused some dissatisfaction and other thoughts among the people, why would Karl say that the people of Country Y would support her?

Was she very close with the people of Country Y?

Shen Ruoqing pursed her lips and nodded at Karl.

King Jing Zhen frowned and then suddenly laughed. "Mr. Karl, we appreciate your visit to Country A. But our people are very supportive of the Crown Princess, and I believe that they will also stand by her. This is our own internal affair, and we don't need Country Y to worry about it. '

Karl, however, seemed surprised. "Your Majesty, perhaps my information is a bit wrong? I heard that some people in the military are not satisfied."

There were indeed some people in the military who were not satisfied, but King Jing Zhen wouldn't admit it. "Oh, really? Who is not satisfied? I didn't know about that."

King Jing Zhen pretended to be confused, and Karl couldn't explicitly name who it was. Hence, he awkwardly laughed before continuing seriously, "Your Majesty, I have no ill intentions. I am here to make friends with you. Do you know that your current situation is very worrisome?"

King Jing Zhen remained seated on the throne and asked, "What's wrong with my situation?"

Karl began to explain. "We received a report that you developed a technology that violates human safety and have already used it on humans. We have obtained a lot of evidence, both testimonial and physical, so you can't deny it. As a result, the United Nations Office wants to detain you, believing that you have become an international threat!"

Shen Ruoqing narrowed her eyes, not expecting it to be true.

The person who reported them was undoubtedly Song Chen because King Jing Zhen's research had only been used on him.

Song Chen actually went to the United Nations to report them, despite knowing that the Doom organization was an internationally wanted evil organization!

She clenched her jaw and stared at Karl.

King Jing Zhen, on the other hand, rested his chin on his hand and looked at Karl with a half-smiling expression. "Mr. Karl, my research has not harmed humans, and so far, I have only used it on Song Chen. Shouldn't that be harmless?"

"How could it be? Your research itself is a mistake." Karl sighed. "You have violated international law."

King Jing Zhen seemed a little nervous. "What should we do then?"

"It's actually quite simple." Karl smiled and revealed his purpose....

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 612-Karl smiled kindly and offered a seemingly innocent suggestion. “Your Majesty, I understand that you had no intention of causing harm to human society with your research; you were merely conducting it in private. In fact, we all know that various regions are secretly researching all kinds of things, and this is nothing new. Scientific progress must continue! Nowadays, human society is developing a metaverse, and your technology could actually be said to be for the metaverse! By digitizing human brain data and using it in computers, we can enter the digital age.

Karl rambled on, essentially saying that in their view, King Jing Zhen’s actions weren’t that serious. However, he changed his tone. “But why is it that others aren’t in trouble, while you are? It’s because you’ve solved this difficult problem and developed a technology that connects human neurons to computers, digitizing human thoughts. This has become your original sin!

“Your Majesty, you are an outstanding scientist, so you really don’t need to worry about this. You can abandon everything and just be a good king. As for your research results, if you make the technology public, all labs will know the answer. By then, I believe the United Nations would no longer focus solely on you. Wouldn’t that be a great outcome?”

Karl spoke casually, but his words nearly shocked Shen Ruoqing out of her wits. The officials of China always put the people first. This was the first time she had encountered such a shameless... politician.

She knew that Song Chen wanted this technology to achieve immortality and much more. But shouldn’t the United Nations, for the sake of human safety, at least try to suppress the emergence of this technology until the level of social development reached that point?

King Jing Zhen, even though he was interested in this research, kept it secret after making the breakthrough. He was even willing to hide his identity as a royal crown prince for the sake of this technology and watch his own daughter be locked in a cave without giving it up...

Hence, Shen Ruoqing was dumbfounded by their outrageous tactics.

Jing Zhen’s expression also turned cold. “Have your country Y and the Doom organization joined forces?”

Karl laughed. “Your Majesty, this is not called cooperation; it is a win-win situation...”

It was just a euphemism.

Jing Zhen’s face darkened.

Shen Ruoqing turned to Karl. “Aren’t you afraid of people’s resistance by doing this in your country?”

Karl laughed. “Princess, today I am only representing myself, not country Y. What does it have to do with our country?”

Shen Ruoqing.

This was utterly shameless! Had Country Ys international power become so strong that they could casually insult others like this?

Moreover! This wasn’t an arrest; it was a blatant attempt to steal their research! Song Chen’s threats didn’t work, so they went straight to the officials?

Jing Zhen narrowed his eyes. “What if I refuse to cooperate?”

Karl smiled like a fox. ‘Then you’ll be violating human security laws and endangering our safety. We have the right to arrest you.’”

He sighed quietly, “After your arrest, it’s best for you to confess everything. Otherwise, I’m afraid we’ll have to resort to torture. You know, there are no limits when it comes to international affairs.”

The implication was that Jing Zhen would have to confess if he were arrested.

Seeing that King Jing Zhen and Princess Shen Ruoqing had unhappy expressions, Karl laughed and said, “I know that Your Majesty and the Princess will need to discuss this matter thoroughly. But it’s not a problem, we can wait. We will give Your Majesty some time to consider. However, if Your Majesty does not comply within the time limit willingly, I won’t be able to predict the consequences.”

Karl then nodded to Jing Zhen, glanced at Shen Ruoqing, and took a step back. "Your Majesty, Karl will take his leave now."

Before leaving, he seemed to be giving them a reminder, but it was actually a warning. "Oh, by the way, the time limit for our arrest this time is five days. That is to say, you only have five days to think it over. Your Majesty, I don't think you want to start a war, do you? Country A has developed so well, and if a war were to break out, it would likely set the country back by fifty years. The people of Country A probably don't want to go to war either.'

After leaving these words, he truly left.

The room then fell silent.

Shen Ruoqing stared at Karl with a gaze that seemed to want to burn him. Anger was boiling in her eyes.

She suddenly turned to Jing Zhen. "They are pushing us too far!"

Regardless of whether Jing Zhen's technology was illegal or not, their current behavior could only be described as blatant robbery.

However, Jing Zhen patted the armrests of his chair, seemingly having anticipated all of this. He spoke calmly, "When it comes to international affairs, not everyone can be considered a person with morals. More often, it's about fighting and profiting. "

He sighed softly, "Jingjing, I'm afraid this is going to be troublesome."

Country Y had pushed him to his limits.

Shen Ruoqing sneered, "What's there to be afraid of? We can just fight them if we have to!"

Jing Zhen looked at her but remained silent.

Shen Ruoqing asked, "Father, is there really no other way?"

Jing Zhen looked at her. "Actually, there is a way."

Shen Ruoqing was slightly taken aback. "What is it?"

Jing Zhen smiled. "From the beginning to the end, strength is the ultimate rule. As long as we have enough strength, we can resist them."

"Strength..." Shen Ruoqing bit her lips. "Our royal family of Country A is one of the three major economic empires. Isn't that enough?"

"Not enough," Jing Zhen said slowly. "Do you know where the other two economic empires are?"

Shen Ruoqing shook her head.

Jing Zhen said, "One is in Country Y. In fact, Karl's family is part of that empire."

Shen Ruoqing didn't expect it to be them. "What about the other one? Aren't the three major economic empires supposed to maintain a balance of power? If we can win them over, won't it be enough?"

Jing Zhen sighed, "No, the other empire has a rule that they will not participate in power struggles. So, we can only ally with one economic empire now."

'Who?'

"The Loong Corporation.."

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 613-Shen Ruoqing didn't expect it to be them. "What about the other one? Aren't the three economic empires supposed to keep each other in check and balance? If we can win them over, will that be enough?"

Jing Zhen sighed, "No, alas, of our three economic empires, the other one has a rule, which is not to get involved in power struggles. So, there's only a single power we can try to win over now. "

'Which one?'

"Loong."

As soon as Jing Zhen said this, Shen Ruoqing was slightly taken aback.

Loong Corporation?

The Eastern Dragon?

It was a very mysterious existence. Since being suppressed by the three economic empires a few years ago, it had disappeared from the public eye. No one knew which industries belonged to them, let alone who their leader was.

Hence, where could they find the Loong Corporation in such a short time?

Both Shen Ruoqing and Jing Zhen were obviously thinking about this problem.

Upon hearing this, Chu Cichen, who was standing nearby, fell silent for a moment. He then spoke up, "The Loong Corporation is still in the development stage, so everything is kept secret from the outside world. I can help you get in touch with them."

As soon as he said this, Jing Zhen immediately asked, "Do you know the person in charge of the Loong Corporation?"

Chu Cichen nodded.

Jing Zhen immediately said, "Actually, I've always wanted to get to know them."

After saying this, he looked at Shen Ruoqing and explained, "The Loong Corporation is different from the three economic empires. The empires have accumulated wealth over several generations, while the Loong Corporation has developed rapidly in recent years due to the tailwind of the internet and information industry. They are young and vigorous. I wanted to get away from the Country A's royal family before, so I thought about joining them. But unfortunately, they've only been established for six years. Otherwise, they might have crushed the three economic empires."

Jing Zhen finished speaking and looked at Chu Cichen, saying disdainfully, "So don't blame me for not liking you. You are indeed outstanding among the younger generation, but compared to the founder of the Loong Corporation, you still fall short."

Chu Cichen. Yes, what you said is right, Father-in-law."

Jing Zhen continued, "Oh, right, since you know them, why not try to join them? The Chu Corporation is now developing rapidly in China, and its status is now equal to the four great families in the capital. Logically speaking, the three economic empires should extend an olive branch to you, but because of your special relationship with Jingjing, the other two economic empires have ignored you. Everyone already considers you to be part of Country A's royal family..."

Chu Cichen coughed and wanted to say that the Chu Corporation already received protection from the Loong Corporation, but after some thought, he didn't say it in the end.

So he continued to cough and said, "Yes, Father-in-law, you're right."

"Don't just brush me off like that. It seems like you don't even care about their founder? You can't be so arrogant. You are capable, but Jingjing is even more capable in many aspects. In my opinion, the only person in this world who can stand beside my daughter is the person in charge of the Loong Corporation! "

Chu Cichen listened to these words, feeling unspeakably bitter!

He wasn't arrogant; he just didn't think he was as good as what his father-in-law said.

A hint of helplessness flashed in Chu Cichen's eyes. It had always been this way since ancient times; mothers-in-law tended to grow fonder of their sons-in-law, while fathers-in-law never seemed to find them good enough. After all, it was as if they had taken away their precious daughters. Moreover, his relationship with Shen Ruoqing was quite special, which made it easy for him to be seen as a scumbag.

At this moment, Chu Cichen's attitude became more sincere, and he coughed.

"Father-in-law, rest assured. I know the founder of the Loong Corporation, so I will definitely get along well with him... I'll establish a good relationship with them." The last six words were incredibly awkward for him to say. Shen Ruoqing seemed lost in thought as she glanced at him.

Feeling guilty, Chu Cichen hurriedly avoided her gaze.

Shen Ruoqing seemed to understand something...

Jing Zhen spoke again as a reminder, “If our Country A wants to cooperate with the Loong Corporation, it’s best to invite them to visit our royal family. This way, we can announce it publicly.”

Chu Cichen thought for a moment. “Okay, I’ll arrange it. Let’s discuss the timing...”

waved his hand. “How about four days from now? Didn’t they just say that the final date was five days later? ‘

Chu Cichen nodded. “Alright.”

Seeing that he agreed so readily, Jing Zhen urged, ‘Then hurry up and make the arrangements. Get in touch with them, okay?’

” ” Chu Cichen silently walked out with a helpless expression. “Alright, Father-in-law, I’ll arrange it right away.”

As Chu Cichen left, Shen Ruoqing seemed to sense something, and a hint of interest flashed in her eyes.

Just as she was about to catch up to Chu Cichen, Jing Zhen called out to her, “Jingjing, wait a moment.”

Shen Ruoqing stopped and turned back to Jing Zhen. “Father, what’s up?”

Now, only the father and daughter were left in the room. Jing Zhen stepped down from the king’s throne. He was wearing the king’s uniform – a suit adorned with gold threads that looked luxurious, but it seemed like a cage trapping him inside.

Shen Ruoqing couldn’t help but feel pity for her father at the moment.

She became more serious.

looked at her, thought for a moment, and said, “Don’t be upset because people in the military have opinions about you. It’s not necessary. I’ll be the one dealing with them.”

Shen Ruoqing nodded and replied, “I have no problem.”

Jing Zhen. “?”

Shen Ruojing smiled. "I've never cared about what outsiders think. If anyone disapproves of me, I can beat them into submission. So, Father, you don't need to feel so much pressure."

Upon hearing this, Jing Zhen's eyes suddenly reddened.

His daughter had finally grown up and could protect him...

As he was feeling sentimental, he heard Shen Ruojing's next words. "If it really doesn't work, just abdicate. Haven't you taken a liking to Chu Yu? Let him inherit the throne; he's a boy."

Jing Zhen.

In the end, his daughter still wholeheartedly wanted to retire and didn't want to work!

He then forced a smile as he watched Shen Ruojing leave the room and chase after Chu Cichen.

couldn't help but sigh.

A daughter couldn't be kept at home forever. Now, her heart was all on her man!

Jing Zhen silently shook his head

But then, he thought of the threat from Karl, and his expression turned sour.

Shen Ruojing had no idea what her father was thinking. At that moment, she had stepped outside and saw Chu Cichen waiting there.

Chu Cichen, now wearing a black suit, stood there quietly, looking like Song Chen from a while ago. The corner of Shen Ruojing's lips curled as she walked toward him.

Just as Chu Cichen was about to say something, Shen Ruojing suddenly asked, "What is your relationship with the Loong Corporation?"

Note: Loong can also be referred to as Eastern Dragon

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 614-Chu Cichen didn't expect Shen Ruoqing to be so perceptive. He raised his eyebrows, about to say something, but Shen Ruoqing laughed. "I know."

Chu Cichen was stunned. "You know?"

"Mhm." "How did you know?"

"I guessed."

Chu Cichen didn't expect Shen Ruoqing to be so clever. He smiled warmly. "How did you guess?"

Shen Ruoqing explained, "You used to go to the Chu Corporation every morning. Although the company seems huge, its workload isn't that much for you. However, after finishing your work in the morning, you would still work in the afternoon and evening, so you must be dealing with other work. Is that other work related to the Loong Corporation?"

Chu Cichen looked at her and smiled. "Yes."

He really wanted to ruffle Shen Ruoqing's hair, but considering that they were in Country A, he held back to avoid displeasing his father-in-law.

Recalling his last visit, his father-in-law had always thought that he was Song Chen and treated him well on the surface. The usual things he would say to him were...

"Can't you find a way to let Jingjing marry into your family?"

"Chu Cichen doesn't look like he would be a good son-in-law, but Jingjing will be the Queen of Country A in the future. They can't always live separately, right?"

"Anyway, Country A practices polygamy. Ruoqing is the Queen, so she can marry multiple men. So, you can let her marry you too!"

.....

Every time he met Jing Zhen, the latter would nag like this, leaving Chu Cichen feeling both amused and annoyed.

Chu Cichen had always respected Jing Zhen, so he behaved obediently whenever Jing Zhen said these things. Over time, Jing Zhen sensed something off because Song Chen should have some resentment toward Jing Zhen.

In any case, it was fortunate that Jing Zhen noticed something off.

In the end, when he invited Chu Cichen for tea, he didn't let him drink the drugged tea.

Thinking of that day, Chu Cichen would still shudder in fear.

He hadn't noticed his father-in-law's murderous intent. His father-in-law had called him over for a chat, talking about Shen Ruoqing's identity and seeking a son-in-law, suggesting Chu Cichen marry into their family.

Then, he quietly poured him a cup of tea.

It was their first time sitting together. Just as Chu Cichen was about to drink the tea, Jing Zhen confirmed his identity and stopped him. "You're not Song Chen."

At that time, Chu Cichen wanted to play dumb, but Jing Zhen continued, "Song Chen wouldn't drink what I give him."

Song Chen would always be on guard against Jing Zhen, so he wouldn't eat or drink anything given by him.

Chu Cichen was dumbfounded at that moment. Thinking about the recent serious injury of Lu Cheng in his homeland, Chu Cichen suddenly understood. "Father-in-law, have you been sending people to kill Song Chen?"

It was on that day that Chu Cichen and Jing Zhen teamed up and turned the tables.

As Chu Cichen was thinking about the previous events, Shen Ruoqing spoke again, "So, you're an employee of the Loong Corporation, right?"

Chu Ciche.

An employee?

As he was about to explain something, Shen Ruoqing said, "After all, you're busy every day planning for them. This is why you've been pushing the Chu Corporation to develop in the capital, right? The Chu Corporation has never been suppressed by the three major economic empires, thanks to the silent support of the Loong Corporation. And your overseas influence comes from the Loong Corporation, right?"

Chu Cichen.

He opened his mouth, wanting to explain that he was the founder. But he then heard Shen Ruoqing's next words. "So, would it be difficult if you want to invite your boss to Country A?"

Chu Cichen swallowed the words he was about to say and hesitated for a moment. "It should be okay, I guess?"

Shen Ruoqing thought for a while.

Chu Cichen had always been decisive in his actions, and he had a dominant presence in the Chu Corporation. Last time, she saw that the people from the Loong Corporation respected him during their live meeting. Those unreliable people were probably his subordinates.

Recalling what Jing Zhen said, the Loong Corporation wasn't an individual's creation but was established by several people led by the founder. So, Chu Cichen must have been recruited into the organization.

Therefore, asking him to seek help might indeed be difficult for him.

Thinking about this, Shen Ruoqing coughed lightly. She recalled Chu Tianye's groveling appearance when he wanted money. Next, she looked at Chu Cichen and stretched out her hand to pinch his arm. "Well, thank you for your hard work!"

Chu Cichen.

Ruoqing had always been cold and aloof. When did she ever show such girlish behavior?

Her sudden friendliness left Chu Cichen somewhat stunned.

He even swallowed and thought that he must have met a fake Shen Ruoqing!

Of course, Chu Cichen wouldn't show too much astonishment. After all, if he dared to look shocked, he certainly wouldn't enjoy such treatment again.

So, he didn't mention his identity and just smiled. "For you, no matter how hard it is, it's worth it. "

Shen Ruojing was indeed touched and looked at Chu Cichen with even more affection. Her appearance now resembled Chu Tianye's usual demeanor, which Chu Cichen enjoyed greatly.

He decided to keep his secret identity for a few more days, even letting those guys appear when the time came just to enjoy Shen Ruojing's affection. It would be worth it!

Just as he thought of this, he heard Shen Ruojing speak again. "But the founder of your organization is indeed too much of a capitalist.. It seems like he is working you to the bone, you never had a weekend off!"

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 615-Upon mentioning these things, Shen Ruojing became quite angry.

She had lived with the Chu family for a while and could see how busy Chu Cichen was.

Every day, he went to the Chu Corporation in the morning and returned home at twelve noon. Sometimes, he didn't even have time to eat lunch before he went to deal with overseas affairs. Also, Shen Ruojing often saw that his study light was still on late into the night.

Chu Cichen would work until the early hours of the morning and then get up at six o'clock sharp to go for a run and exercise... and he never had weekends off. Because of it, Chu Cichen always had to make up for the time spent with the children in private.

Shen Ruojing felt tired just watching him.

Although she was also very busy when she was in the Dark Web Organization, she had even been kidnapped to an underground cave when she was young and had to work hard to learn skills...

Now that she was older, retirement life was naturally the sweetest.

Chu Cichen was one or two years older than her, but he worked so hard!

The Loong Corporation wasn't his alone, so why should he be treated like this?

Chu Cichen looked at Shen Ruojing's resentful face and felt guilty for a moment. Could he say that working for himself was actually the most tiring thing?

Chu Cichen coughed and then changed the subject. 'What should we do about Karl?'

Shen Ruojing lowered her eyes. "Country Y is powerful, and it's better not to take action against them. I think that when the news of our cooperation with the Loong Corporation comes out, they may back off. When the time comes, we'll deal with it as necessary. They can't possibly come to the palace to arrest people, and even if they do, I won't allow it!"

.....

By the end, Shen Ruojing's eyes flashed with fierce determination.

This was a sharpness that Chu Cichen had never seen before.

As long as it involved her family, Shen Ruojing would throw retirement out of her mind.

Chu Cichen smiled affectionately. "Alright, no matter when, I will always be by your side!"

After saying this, Chu Cichen suddenly thought of Chu Xiaomeng, who had been kidnapped, and couldn't help but ask, "How is Xiaomeng?"

Mentioning Xiaomeng, Shen Ruojing sighed helplessly, "I contacted Xiaomeng yesterday."

Chu Xiaomeng's phone must have been confiscated, but Shen Ruojing still had other ways to contact her and ensure the child's safety.

Chu Cichen immediately asked, "How is she?"

Shen Ruoqing said, "Don't worry, she said Song Chen found her many books and we absolutely shouldn't rescue her. There are so many books that it would be too conspicuous to take them all away. Let her enjoy them alone."

Chu Cichen didn't understand. "??"

Shen Ruoqing shrugged. "So, let's deal with the matter in Country A first. As for Xiaomeng, there's no immediate danger to her life."

Chu Cichen also gave a bitter smile.

Would the little girl be bought over by Song Chen and not want to come home?

He was very worried!

Meanwhile, at the Embassy of Country Y.

Karl was sitting there, talking on the phone with his country.

The other party said something, and Karl laughed. "They want to cooperate with the Loong Corporation? That's impossible. Since the Loong Corporation was suppressed by the three major economic empires six years ago, they've been quietly developing. How could they expose themselves for Jing Zhen's sake?"

The Loong Corporation had been well hidden, and many people had tried and failed to find them over the years.

"Four days later, the founder of the Loong Corporation is coming to Country A? This must be false news they released, trying to make us back off. But how could we possibly listen to them? If all else fails, get our Princess to come over."

"Why should the Princess go there for a visit?" the other party asked.

Karl laughed. "Because the Crown Princess of Country A is not popular in her own country, we should let the people of Country A see what a real royal noblewoman looks like. By then, she will definitely be looked down upon even more."

The Princess of Country Y was their pride.

Country Y was also a constitutional monarchy, but the royal family had less authority, and women held a much higher status than in Country A, making it a very internationalized nation.

However, the royals of Country Y had numerous scandals, and many members of the royal family had chaotic private lives. They were increasingly losing the support of their people. Moreover, Karl's family was not part of the royal family but secretly controlled everything in Country Y. Their royal family was more like a decoration, a mere symbol.

For a time, people even called for the abolition of the monarchy. This lasted until the birth of their Princess!

The Princess had practically saved the existence of the royal family.

From a young age, she had studied music, chess, calligraphy, and painting. She had also mastered thirteen languages by the age of eight and was skilled at many musical instruments. She even played the violin better than professional violinists. There was no shortage of praise for her.

Now, at the age of eighteen, she had become the face of the royal family and the goddess in the hearts of the people of Country Y.

With her strength alone, she had revived the royal family of Country Y.

Hence, Karl wanted their Princess Daisy to come, so there would be a contrast between her and Shen Ruoqing's ordinariness. With this comparison, the support for Shen Ruoqing among the people of Country A would surely decrease!

Karl narrowed his eyes. "When the cooperation with the Loong Corporation fails, and their Crown Princess becomes a joke under the comparison with our Princess, the royal authority will decline. At that time, when we arrest Jing Zhen, there should be no obstacles from the people of Country A!"

Although Country A was a small country.

But if the entire nation came together to protect Jing Zhen, it would be quite troublesome..

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 616-"Princess Daisy is coming to visit our country A?"

When Jing Zhen received this news on the second day, Karl laughed because he heard a hint of surprise. “Yes, Princess Daisy of our country has always been fond of country A’s culture. She is already on her way and should arrive tonight.”

Jing Zhen frowned, feeling a bit speechless.

Country Y didn’t respect them at all. Even if it was just a visit, they should have coordinated this a few days in advance. Why was it mentioned only when things were imminent?

He frowned and heard Karl laugh. “Your Majesty, our Princess has always been such a free-spirited character, often leaving and coming casually anytime she wants to. There is no way to constrain her. She is an outstanding Princess, so everyone dotes on her. I assume you won’t mind, right?”

What a casual explanation! It was just an excuse for Karl to bring up Princess Daisy’s sudden arrival.

Jing Zhen had quite an impression of Princess Daisy. Her mother was the Queen, but unfortunately, she led a chaotic private life, and it was rumored that the Queen had several male favorites. Her sister, who was appointed as the next heir, followed suit, causing public grievances in the country, almost abolishing the royal family. Fortunately, Princess Daisy’s emergence saved the royal family’s reputation.

Princess Daisy was proficient in various arts, especially in the culture of China. Although country A was not China, the race living in country A and China was the same, both being of the yellow race.

Moreover, their ancestors had frequent exchanges with China, and they were considered a vassal state of China, so the customs and habits of the people of country A were quite similar to those of the Chinese people.

Jing Zhen wanted to refuse to entertain Princess Daisy, but he felt it would be graceless. His large peach blossom eyes suddenly flickered and he laughed. “I naturally won’t mind. We have all heard of Princess Daisy’s grace. We will definitely hold a banquet tonight to entertain her properly.”

Jing Zhen roughly understood Karl’s intentions.

He just wanted to make Jingjing look weak in front of such a perfect princess like Daisy. He wanted to make the people of country A lose hope in the royal family, so they would no longer support the royal family.

.....

But Jing Zhen was confident that he could use Princess Daisy to pave the way for Shen Ruoqing to impress everyone. He would let those families in country A who did not support her see that his daughter was worth it!

Not to mention the title of Crown Princess, she deserved the title of the future Queen!

Jingjing was the best woman in the world!

Karl never thought that Jing Zhen would disagree.

Country Y had never taken a small country such as Country A seriously. The only reason Country A had any presence in their eyes was because of the existence of the royal economic empire.

But it was too small, with a population of only a few million...

Karl got Jing Zhen's response and left with a smile.

As soon as he left, Jing Zhen immediately convened a meeting with the heads of the major families of country A to inform them of the banquet.

Although the status of women in country A was currently low and women rarely attended banquets, Jing Zhen specifically asked the young ladies from each family to attend the banquet tonight since the guest was Princess Daisy.

The daughters of the major families were overjoyed, as they never had such statuses at a public state banquet before.

And after hearing that it was due to Princess Daisy's visit that they had such treatment...

Anyone with a bit of sense would understand that Daisy was coming to be compared with Shen Ruoqing. Hence, the women of various households understood that they were able to go out and move around thanks to Princess Daisy's arrival.

For a moment, regardless of the opinions of the various nobles, these women actually recognized Princess Daisy first! In this rapidly developing era, there were various videos on gender equality everywhere, and they had long since been dissatisfied with the low status of women in Country A.

If Princess Daisy could become the Queen, wouldn't women be able to hold official positions in the future?

So, with the anticipation of the noble ladies, the evening banquet finally arrived. Although there was only a day of preparation, the entire country had helped to prepare for this state banquet. Everyone in the palace was busy ensuring that the banquet would be held in a colorful manner.

Princess Daisy's visit did not warrant a personal welcome from the king, as she was considered a junior. So the task of entertaining Princess Daisy fell on Princess Shen Ruoqing. With no other choice, Shen Ruoqing had to show up.

This was Shen Ruoqing's first time attending a large event as a princess. A golden evening gown, which would appear extravagant on others, seemed to give her an air of nobility and dignity. It was as if a heavenly goddess had descended from above.

Shen Ruoqing's jet-black, smooth hair was also tied up today, and she didn't wear any extra jewelry. After all, this gold-threaded gown was eye-catching enough, and wearing anything else would be superfluous.

Shen Ruoqing stayed in the palace's resting room, only leaving when someone reported that Princess Daisy had arrived. She then went to the entrance to greet her.

Ji Wuyou, accompanied by a group of guards, followed closely behind Shen Ruoqing. They all came to the palace gate grandly.

The daughters of the various families had arrived at the entrance, watching as Princess Daisy stepped out of a Rolls-Royce.

Princess Daisy was beautiful, with blonde hair and blue eyes. She looked like an exquisite doll, especially her delicate smile, which made people feel delighted at first sight.

The noble ladies below immediately began to talk to each other.

“Princess Daisy is so beautiful!”

“And her manners are so elegant!”

“My God, this is the real demeanor a princess should have. I heard that Country Y is now considering abolishing her sister and making her the next queen...”

“Finished, Princess Daisy is so noble, and our Princess Shen Ruoqing is usually too approachable. Will she seem too unsophisticated in front of her? It’s such a loss of face!”

Karl listened to these discussions and laughed. This was the effect he wanted!

With these thoughts, Shen Ruoqing finally arrived fashionably late at the palace gate of Country A!

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 617-By convention, when hosting foreign guests in Country A, Shen Ruoqing should be waiting at the entrance.

However, she was in fact a Crown Princess, which made her status equivalent to Daisy’s older sister.

Therefore, if she was waiting at the entrance, it would make it seem as if the people of Country A were deliberately trying to please Country Y.

That was why Shen Ruoqing stayed in the resting room until Daisy arrived before she came out.

She walked over with confident strides. Shen Ruoqing’s posture when walking was different from ordinary women. She had never received formal palace education, and her parents, Jing Zhen and Shen Qianhui, wouldn’t restrain her.

Her grandmother, the Empress Dowager, was even more lenient toward her only granddaughter.

As a result, she was unlike the girls in Country A who were bound by etiquette. She exuded a heroic aura when walking. Today, her dress embroidered with gold threads made her seem even more unattainable!

The gentle beauty of Chinese women was different from that of Western women.

Eastern beauty was enduring, and when standing with Western beauties, it might seem less striking at first glance.

However, Shen Ruoqing today was a sight to behold!

She wore makeup and bright lipstick, which added a touch of charm. At least, at first glance, she appeared on par with Princess Daisy, maintaining the dignity of Country A's royal family.

Seeing her, the noble ladies of the major families were dazzled. They were seeing their own princess for the first time, and she was simply too beautiful!

Moreover, Eastern women were known for their enduring beauty. Upon closer inspection, Shen Ruoqing's deep, peach blossom eyes seemed to captivate everyone. Most people felt a thrill when she looked at them, and they shyly lowered their heads.

Shen Ruoqing glanced at everyone present, finally looking at Daisy and greeting her with a smile. Just as she was about to speak, Princess Daisy suddenly said, "Hello, my friend" in perfect Mandarin.

Shen Ruoqing smiled, took a step forward, and extended her hand. "Hello, Princess Daisy."

She felt that Daisy was different from Karl.

Karl had cunning eyes, while Daisy's smile seemed sweet and innocent. After shaking hands, Daisy exclaimed, "Your Highness, you are so beautiful! Apart from my friend Su Muxi, you are the most beautiful Eastern woman I have ever seen..."

Daisy added playfully, "Of course, I don't make friends casually!"

Shen Ruoqing laughed. "It's my honor, Princess Daisy. Your Mandarin is excellent. If I didn't know better, I'd think you were Chinese."

Daisy then replied with a smile, "That's because my best friends are Chinese."

Just as Daisy finished speaking, Karl laughed and added, “That’s because our princess is proficient in 13 languages. To accommodate the Crown Princess, she chose to speak Mandarin to avoid any language barriers between you two!”

The atmosphere suddenly became tense and Daisy’s face stiffened. Karl’s words clearly belittled Shen Ruoqing for not knowing the language of Country Y, which was not the way a guest should behave.

The people around also felt the subtle change in the atmosphere.

Indeed, Daisy’s fluent Mandarin seemed to highlight their princess’s lack of language skills.

Karl continued, “Haha, after all, when using a translator, some meanings might be lost, leading to misunderstandings. But if we don’t use a translator, can the Crown Princess understand what our princess is saying? By the way, if I may ask, Your Highness, how many languages do you speak?”

In order to diminish Shen Ruoqing’s status in the hearts of the people of Country A, Karl was doing everything he could to slander her! His methods were too blatant!

Shen Ruoqing’s lips curled slightly, and there was a mocking smile on her face.

In her usual missions in various countries, the first thing she needed to learn was the local language!

Karl really hit the nail on the head with his question.

A hint of playfulness flashed in her eyes.

Just as she was about to speak, Princess Daisy looked at Karl somewhat angrily before she hurriedly looked at Shen Ruoqing and explained, “Your Highness, please don’t mind. I personally love China very much, and my best friend is in China, so you could say that I have been yearning to learn about China since I was a child.’

Shen Ruoqing looked at Daisy.

She saw the girl's sincere expression, not pretense, which was enough to show that what she had just said was true.

Shen Ruoqing understood that Princess Daisy might not be on Karl's side.

She had also learned a bit about the situation in Country Y over the past few days. The royal family in Country Y had been weak in recent years, while Karl's family had gradually taken control of power. Therefore, even Princess Daisy was not really in control of her own destiny in Country Y.

Seeing the apologetic look in Princess Daisy's eyes, Shen Ruoqing didn't pursue the matter further.

Instead, she pointed to the entrance. "Princess Daisy, please."

Princess Daisy walked with Shen Ruoqing toward the palace.

The guards were at a distance.

On the way, Karl suddenly looked at Daisy and whispered in the language of Country Y, 'Your Highness, do you really think you were invited here to play?'

Daisy looked at him angrily, "What is it for then?"

Karl lowered his eyes. "It's to teach this princess of Country A a lesson! To show them how powerful Country Y is, and to let her know that she is no match for Your Highness! By the way, you may not know your mission here, so let me tell you..."

Daisy didn't want to hear what the mission was, as she was now just an ambassador for her country. If she listened, she would have to follow Karl's orders.

Sensing Karl's malice toward Shen Ruoqing, she interrupted him directly, protecting the Shen Ruoqing in her own way. "Karl, we are guests in someone else's house, and your behavior is very impolite! Please stop talking!"

Karl sneered, "Princess Daisy, it doesn't matter. She can't understand what we're saying anyway. I've already inquired, King Jing Zhen was living like bumpkins in China, and they both grew up in a small city!"

The language of Country Y was special and difficult to learn.

It was not quite the same as the internationally common English language, so Karl believed that Shen Ruoqing couldn't understand the language of Country Y.

That was why he dared to speak so recklessly.

After finishing, Karl looked at Shen Ruoqing, raised his chin provocatively as he smiled at her, and said in Chinese, "Princess, Your Highness, we were just praising your beauty. "

Shen Ruoqing.

After saying that, Karl looked at Daisy again. "See? She didn't understand what we just said. So, you don't have to worry about anything. Your mission today

Anxiousness appeared on Princess Daisy's face.

She really wanted to interrupt Karl again, but the current royal family had little power. If she didn't follow Karl's orders, she was afraid her life would be difficult when she returned to her country.

But to have her suppress Shen Ruoqing in the midst of diplomatic relations between the two countries, she really couldn't do it...

Just as Daisy made up her mind not to follow Karl's orders and make things difficult for Shen Ruoqing, a cold, clear voice suddenly came from the side...

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 618-The cold voice carried a hint of anger and dissatisfaction, and it spoke in the most authentic Y language, with a pronunciation similar to English yet different in that special sense.

"Mr. Karl, perhaps you're not aware of how far the small places in China have developed. As for me, this bumpkin, I just happen to be proficient in the Y language..."

Upon hearing this, Karl froze. He couldn't believe it and turned to look at Shen Ruoqing, who was staring at him coldly. The icy gaze seemed as if it wanted to devour him, scaring Karl so much that his following words got stuck in his throat.

Choking for a moment, he wanted to say something else, but Daisy hurriedly spoke up, “Your Highness, it turns out you speak Y language so well. How many languages are you proficient in?”

This changed the subject and prevented Karl from giving her any more tasks.

After all, Daisy had been called over at the last minute, taking a long flight to Country A without Karl picking her up at the airport. Instead, they had just met at the entrance of the palace, so she wasn’t clear about the purpose of her visit to Country A.

Now that the topic had been diverted, Karl never got a chance to speak privately about the matter, and Princess Daisy could pretend to be clueless. As far as she was concerned, she was just here to enhance the friendship between the two countries, and she understood that!

Shen Ruoqing looked at Daisy and thought of how the girl had just changed the subject to avoid embarrassing her. Hence, she went along with it. “Hmm, I can’t really count...”

Daisy didn’t mind and continued asking, “You must be proficient in English, what about French?”

“I know a little.”

‘Your Highness is too modest! You must not know just a little, but a lot. My friend’s mother is just like you. I know what Chinese people mean when they say they ‘know a little!’”

Daisy was very talkative, and her words piqued Shen Ruoqing’s interest. “Oh? Why does Your Highness say that?”

Daisy smiled, her eyes showing more affection and her face a touch of nostalgia. “I once had a very good friend who went to school with me. When I asked if he could play table tennis, he said he knew a little. I was so excited, thinking I could definitely beat him, but in the end...” Daisy shrugged, playfully saying, “I lost miserably.”

As a 19-year-old woman, Princess Daisy was very adorable when she spoke and gestured, so Shen Ruoqing couldn’t help but laugh.

Shen Ruojing replied, "Table tennis is our national sport in China. You shouldn't have competed with him in that."

Daisy made a sad face. "The problem is, I can't beat him at anything else either..."

As she said this, Shen Ruojing suddenly laughed. "Princess Daisy, do you care about him a lot?"

Daisy was slightly startled, glanced at Karl subconsciously, and then suppressed the melancholy in her eyes. "No, we are just friends."

After saying this, she didn't want to bring up the matter anymore, and her eyes showed a touch of bitterness.

Two years ago, she had followed that person to China but failed to receive a response. She then went back immediately, as her mother, the Queen, and her sister were utterly unreliable at home.

The royal family relied solely on her...

As she thought of this, she entered Country A's palace with Shen Ruojing.

Princess Daisy was indeed as kind and innocent as rumored. Once they were in the palace, she didn't give Karl any more opportunities to speak to her privately. Instead, she accompanied Shen Ruojing everywhere. The two appeared equal in status, maintaining the dignity of Country A's royal family, while Princess Daisy quickly captured the hearts of the noble ladies.

Karl watched this with a hint of anxiety.

Soon, it was time for the banquet, and King Jing Zhen finally appeared, inviting everyone to take their seats.

While eating, Karl looked around the room and suddenly spoke with a smile, "Your Majesty, our Princess Daisy has always been fond of Chinese culture and has learned to write beautiful characters. Today, she would like to write a few for everyone and have the Chinese guests evaluate her work."

After saying this, he waved his hand.

The people from Country Y had prepared everything, so upon hearing this, they immediately brought paper and brushes to the table in the center of the banquet hall.

Daisy. ”

She really didn't like Karl's approach.

Hence, she couldn't help but look at Karl, using silence as a form of protest.

Karl, however, calmly looked at her with a smile on his face. “Princess Daisy, please go ahead. You don't need to hide your skills. His Majesty and Her

Highness have both grown up in China and are well-versed in Chinese arts.

They can surely give you some guidance, and you'll definitely make progress.”

Karl had researched Jing Zhen and Shen Ruoqing's news in China and knew that Shen Ruoqing was quite skilled in music. Therefore, Karl didn't target her with music but chose calligraphy instead.

Princess Daisy learned a lot about Chinese culture because of her fondness for a certain Chinese person. Also, she had been taught calligraphy by a renowned master and could write beautifully. The master had even said that her writing was comparable to the best among young people in China today.

At this moment, Daisy bit her lips.

Karl then narrowed his eyes, showing a subtle threat in his gaze.

Seeing his gaze, Daisy took a deep breath and finally stood up.

She looked at Shen Ruoqing again, her eyes revealing a hint of apology.

Shen Ruoqing.

It wasn't that serious as the situation was very manageable..

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 619-Ji Wuyou, who was standing behind Shen Ruoqing, suddenly became nervous.

Taking advantage of the fact that no one was around, he quietly walked behind

Shen Ruojing under the guise of patrolling and then whispered, “Your Highness, Princess Daisy’s calligraphy skill is really good. Now that Karl is having her write, it must be to suppress you. When they ask for your opinion later, you should praise her lavishly and then showcase your own strengths.”

After saying this, Ji Wuyou paused for a moment, thinking of preserving Shen Ruojing’s self-esteem. After that, he asked tactfully, “Your Highness, what are you good at?”

What was she good at?

This put Shen Ruojing in a difficult position.

She seemed to be a little good at everything, but as for what she was best at, she couldn’t say.

As Shen Ruojing hesitated, Ji Wuyou couldn’t help but ask, “How about music?”

Shen Ruojing reflexively asked, “Piano? Or violin? Or perhaps the guqin? ‘

Ji Wuyou. “?”

He had seen the sisters in his family learn these things, and it was already impressive if they could master one of them. (Could the Princess know all of them? No...)

(Looking at the Princess’s expression, could it be that she only has beginner-level skills in all of them?)

Ji Wuyou was not very familiar with Shen Ruojing’s situation in China, so he tentatively asked, “Which of these three instruments are you best at?” Shen Ruojing. “...All of them are fine, I guess. ‘

” ” Ji WUY0U immediately wanted to change the topic, so he coughed and asked, “Do you know flower arrangement?”

Shen Ruojing. (I really don’t know this one.)

She had never specifically learned flower arrangement, so she didn’t understand the principles behind it.

Ji Wuyou continued to ask, “How about performing a tea ceremony? ‘

Shen Ruojing shook her head blankly again.

Ji Wuyou clenched his teeth. “What about chess in the realms of music, chess, calligraphy, and painting?”

Shen Ruojing had never learned chess, so she coughed and said, “I am better at fishing.”

Ji Wuyou.

He was almost speechless. (Your Highness, can you learn at least one skill?!)

What should they do now? Would they be overshadowed by Princess Daisy today?

While Ji Wuyou was discussing with Shen Ruojing, people nearby were also eavesdropping on their conversation.

A few noblewomen became a bit anxious.

They often competed with each other, but today they were able to go out because of the Crown Princess, so they liked the Crown Princess very much and wanted her to win the scene.

A few women walked over to Shen Ruojing, and one of them said, “Your Highness, I am from the Luo family. My sister is Princess Consort Luo, and I can write some characters. Shall I take your place later?”

Shen Ruojing turned her head and saw a woman who indeed resembled Princess Consort Luo, sitting beside her with an eager expression.

Shen Ruojing hesitated for a moment, coughed, and suddenly asked, “What should I call you?”

Princess Consort Luo and Shen Qianhui were of the same generation, so Princess Consort Luo’s younger sister, though she looked only about twenty years old, indeed held a higher position than Shen Ruojing in terms of seniority.

The sister of Princess Consort Luo was named Luo Yan. She was also proud and arrogant. However, her ambitions were different from the Princess Consorts, who wanted to become Queen, bear a Prince, and be the favorite in the harem.

Luo Yan had been watching foreign videos since she was young and knew that other countries treated men and women equally.

Hence, she wanted to prove herself, knowing that she was a better student than her brothers. But no one in her family acknowledged her.

She felt invisible.

After that, the establishment of the Crown Princess gave her hope. She hoped to work with the Crown Princess in the future, rather than being married off to an unknown man and spending her life giving birth to children.

As Luo Yan thought about this, the head of the Luo family called her, "Luo Yan, what are you doing? Come sit down!"

Luo Yan hesitated and looked back at the head of the Luo family.

Although Luo was grateful to Shen Ruoqing because she found out the cause of Princess Consort Luo's death, he still had reservations about her taking the position of the Crown Princess. In his opinion, women should stay at home and raise children. How could they become officials?

If women became officials and went on to build careers, who would give birth to children then?

The head of the Luo family looked at Shen Ruoqing, thinking that if she were to make a fool of herself today, they might be able to convince the King to abolish the Crown Princess. If that failed, they could always adopt a child from a side branch of the royal family!

Although most of the royal family had been killed by the Queen Dowager, there were still survivors from the side branches.

They had recently established contact with a young prince from a side branch. If they could support him in taking the throne, the Luo family's status would surpass that of the Yan family!

Luo Yan looked at her father and then back at Shen Ruoqing. For some reason, she suddenly felt that if she gave up today, she might really give up the chance to escape the confines of her family.

She didn't want to miss this opportunity, so she bit her lips and said, "Father, this matter concerns the dignity of our country. I cannot obey!"

Luo immediately scolded her in a low voice, "What are you trying to do? Do you want to compete with Princess Daisy? Can you compare to her? Do you know why Princess Daisy is able to represent her country on this visit? This is because her calligraphy skill is incredible!" Luo Yan clenched her fists tightly. "But I still want to try."

As the two argued, Daisy had begun writing in the center of the room.

A blonde, blue-eyed woman holding a brush looked somewhat out of place, but her hand was steady as she wrote, each stroke strong and pleasing to the eye.

Soon after, Daisy finished a piece of calligraphy.

She then held it up for everyone to see.

The characters were powerful and seemed to penetrate the paper.

Luo Yan stared at the writing, completely stunned.

She had been working hard to improve her calligraphy, but she hadn't expected Princess Daisy to be so skilled. This realization filled her with a deep sense of defeat.

Luo sneered, "Do you see? Princess Daisy can visit our country because her abilities are on par with men! And you? Your calligraphy is nothing compared to hers. What can you bring to the competition? Come back here! Girls should behave like girls! Your duty is to marry and raise children!" At this moment, Luo Yan felt extremely down.

Her strongest skill was calligraphy, but now she found herself inferior to Princess Daisy.

Luo Yan was deeply hurt.

Her father had always mocked the Crown Princess for her position, and now she understood the gap between her and Princess Daisy.

Feeling somewhat desperate, she looked at Shen Ruoqing, bowed slightly, and then whispered, "Your Highness, I'm sorry."

Perhaps she was only suited for marrying and raising children after all..

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 620-As Luo Yan thought this, she took a few steps back.

Shen Ruoqing saw the guilt and disappointment in her eyes, along with a sense of helplessness. She hadn't quite understood Luo Yan's thoughts at first, but she soon grasped her meaning.

For a woman in Country A, it was indeed very difficult to take that step forward.

She didn't want Luo Yan to be disappointed.

So, Shen Ruoqing narrowed her eyes.

After Luo Yan returned to her seat, she remained sullen and somewhat at a loss.

Many people had seen her earlier attempt.

At this moment, everyone began to praise Princess Daisy's calligraphy.

"Princess Daisy's writing is truly on par with men!"

"Princess Daisy's writing has such style, and it looks somewhat familiar... What calligraphy model is this?"

"My goodness, Princess Daisy, your love for Chinese culture is so genuine, being able to write such beautiful calligraphy is simply incredible! "

As everyone praised Princess Daisy, Luo Yan bit her lips, wanting to point out a flaw but unable to do so.

Her brother beside her mocked her, "Little Yan, I think you better not embarrass yourself! The reason Country Y is ruled by a queen is because their princesses are just as talented as men, even more so in some aspects. The women in our country, however, spend all their time in the inner palace and have limited exposure to the world."

"Right, I never quite understood why His Majesty wanted to establish a Crown Princess. Isn't it better for her to simply get married?"

“You don’t understand? His Majesty just wants an heir with his bloodline. The Crown Princess has given birth to two boys and a girl, so she’s just a medium for transition. When His Majesty gets old and her sons grow up, they can directly succeed the throne. It’s just a temporary strategy!”

“Even if it’s temporary, the Crown Princess should learn something to avoid embarrassing herself in such situations! Princess Daisy represents her country’s prestige, but what about our Princess, no, our Crown Princess? If she’s incapable, it will be really embarrassing!”

“I think it would be better to find a royal from the side branch to inherit the throne. At least, they have always been in the royal family and received a traditional education. In such moments, they can showcase one or two talents. Even if their writing is not as good as Princess Daisy’s, they should be able to do something else, right?”

“Are you talking about Prince Jing Yi? He is indeed excellent in every aspect...”

The officials from Country A began discussing in low voices, expressing their dissatisfaction with Shen Ruoqing.

Shen Ruoqing, listening to the murmurs around her, remained silent. Her gaze then fell on Jing Yi, the side branch’s royal mentioned by the others.

He and Shen Ruoqing had the same grandfather, making them part of the same generation. However, their relationship was distant, so he was spared when the Queen Dowager carried out her massacre.

Everyone in the royal family was good-looking, and upon hearing these words, Jing Yi’s eyes revealed a hint of ambition.

As everyone discussed, Luo Yan’s father suddenly asked, “Prince Jing Yi, what do you think of Princess Daisy’s calligraphy?”

Being singled out, Jing Yi glanced at Shen Ruoqing and smiled. “With the Crown

Princess here, it’s not my place to comment. I think it’s better to let the Crown Princess evaluate it first!”

Everyone’s eyes then turned to Shen Ruoqing.

However, Shen Ruoqing didn't speak; she just looked at Daisy with a smile.

Princess Daisy didn't want to become a tool in their dispute. After completing her calligraphy, she smiled and said, "I've heard that the Crown Princess is very proficient in music. I also happen to have some questions about the zither (a Chinese stringed instrument). I wonder if I could ask the Crown Princess for some guidance?"

Daisy must have learned something about Shen Ruoqing before coming here. Her words provided a way out for Shen Ruoqing.

Shen Ruoqing raised her eyebrows.

Her gaze fell on the calligraphy in Princess Daisy's hand. Looking at the familiar style, she smiled. "Alright, let me play the zither for everyone."

After saying this, she waved to Ji Wuyou, who was standing behind her. "Bring a zither here."

Ji Wuyou looked at her worriedly. "Princess, your zither..."

But his words stopped abruptly, as he couldn't disobey the Crown Princess's order. Ji Wuyou accepted the command and went to fetch the zither.

Unfortunately, as soon as Ji Wuyou left, Jing Yi laughed. "Among the four arts of music, chess, calligraphy, and painting, I actually think music is the least important. After all, it is merely to please people's emotions and can only be considered a minor art. Crown Princess, do you agree with what I said?"

Shen Ruoqing. "?"

She didn't want to deliberately overshadow Princess Daisy's calligraphy, as Daisy had shown her respect. If she defeated Daisy, wouldn't Daisy's life in Country Y become more difficult?

So when Daisy mentioned the zither, Shen Ruoqing agreed. Her zither skills were superior to Daisy's, and Daisy's calligraphy would be perceived as better than hers. Wouldn't it be nice if everyone got along harmoniously?

However, at this moment, Jing Yi was really annoying. His words put both her and Princess Daisy on the spot.

Princess Daisy also understood Jing Yi's intentions. Her face tensed up, looking a bit angry. 'Music, chess, calligraphy, and painting are all part of China's talents. How can one distinguish their importance or value? I love all aspects of Chinese culture.. As people of China, don't you also love them?'
