I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 621-Jing Yi wanted to say something else, but the head of the Luo family stepped forward. “Princess Daisy, don’t be angry. After all, we are not from China. Although our ancestors might be the same as Chinese people, times have changed.”

After saying this, the head of the Luo family laughed. “In our Country A, music is indeed considered a minor art. That’s why everyone is practicing calligraphy and painting. After all, we can’t rely on learning music to become actors, right?”

In Country A, even celebrities were looked down upon, especially by those who thought highly of themselves.

As soon as the head of the Luo family finished speaking, the head of the Ji family also stood up. “Yes, in our Country A, calligraphy and painting are indeed more important than music and chess. It’s our tradition, after all, we are not from China...”

At this point, Princess Daisy couldn’t say anything more. She just took a deep breath, feeling puzzled.

Why didn’t the people from Country A stand up for their Princess, even when Karl from Country Y belittled her?

As Daisy thought this, everyone looked at Shen Ruojing:

“Crown Princess, do you know how to write with a brush?”

‘You grew up in China since you were young, so you should be more familiar with Chinese culture than us, right? Can’t you write with a brush? It’s actually normal if you can’t. It’s not a big deal.’

‘Yeah, it’s not a big deal if you can’t. Just learn the rules from the palace’s tutors in the future and don’t embarrass the people of Country A anymore!’

“You’ve made Princess Daisy laugh. Our Crown Princess grew up in a small town in China and didn’t learn much. However, our Prince Jing Yi received a proper royal upbringing...”

Jing Yi also laughed and said, “How about I write a piece of calligraphy too? Princess Daisy, could you help me evaluate it?”

Daisy, who had grown up in the palace of Country Y, was no stranger to intrigues and schemes. How could she not understand their intentions? She immediately looked at Shen Ruoqing with concern for her situation.

At this moment, Shen Ruoqing suddenly spoke, “Princess Daisy is a legitimate princess of Country Y. On what basis does Jing Yi want to compete with her?”

As soon as these words were spoken, everyone’s face became tense.

Shen Ruoqing’s words were very clever. Jing Yi wanted to compete with Princess Daisy? He simply wasn’t qualified!

The heads of the Luo and Ji families were immediately annoyed and looked at Shen Ruoqing. “Crown Princess, what do you mean? Are we from Country A just going to admit defeat?”

Others chimed in:

“Yeah, you don’t go to compete yourself and you also don’t let Prince Jing Yi compete? Are we just going to admit defeat?”

“That’s too much! This is diplomacy, and the Crown Princess is still trying to suppress Prince Jing Yi.”

“Is the Crown Princess’s face more important now, or is the country’s face more important?”

“We have people in our country who are good at calligraphy too...”

Jing Yi couldn’t help but laugh as he listened to their words. He said with a smile, “Everyone, don’t be angry. I think the Crown Princess doesn’t want me to participate because she is confident in herself, right? Then let the Crown Princess compete. ‘

The head of the Luo family accused Shen Ruoqing, “Nonsense! Crown Princess,

I advise you to focus on the overall situation! Can you write calligraphy?” Shen Ruoqing looked at him and sneered, “Who said I can’t?”

The head of the Luo family and others who were about to criticize her were suddenly silenced.

Shen Ruojing stood up.

She knew that she had to write something today; otherwise, it would be difficult to convince everyone in the future!

Originally, she didn't want to suppress Princess Daisy, but as things had developed to this point, she couldn't delay any longer.

She walked directly to where Princess Daisy was, took out a piece of paper, and said to Princess Daisy, "May I borrow this?" Daisy made room for her.

Daisy was open-minded and generous.

Seeing Shen Ruojing being "forced" to the stage by these people, she felt guilty and couldn't help but say, "I wrote in cursive script, and different types of calligraphy cannot be compared."

Her words hinted to Shen Ruojing that she could write in regular script or something like that, so there wouldn't be a winner or loser.

Karl disagreed, "How could that be? Whether the writing is good or not, everyone will know once it's written. I'm sure the Crown Princess understands, right?"

After saying this, Karl laughed again. "Moreover, the calligrapher whom Princess Daisy admires most is the Madman of China! His cursive script is all the rage in China recently. It is said that there are only nine authentic pieces, and even a single character is hard to come by. Princess Daisy has only seen photos and hasn't been lucky enough to see the real thing."

Jing Yi also laughed. "The Madman's calligraphy is priceless and said to be collected by a few prestigious families. Although Princess Daisy has not seen his work, her cursive script resembles the Madman's style, which is already impressive."

Seeing the two praising her again, Daisy wanted to explain something and help Shen Ruojing save face, but she saw that Shen Ruojing had already picked up the brush and started writing.

Daisy immediately closed her mouth, not daring to disturb her, fearing it would affect Shen Ruojing's performance.

Even Luo Yan, who was sitting with the guests, became nervous. She stared intently at the center of the banquet, knowing that the Crown Princess wouldn't win but still hoping for a miracle.

A few moments later, Luo Yan saw Daisy's eyes widen in surprise when she looked at the characters Shen Ruojing had written!

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 622-Luo Yan was extremely nervous, not knowing what the Princess had written that could surprise Princess Daisy so much.

Moreover, why did Princess Daisy seem to be somewhat excited?

Luo Yan stretched her neck, trying to see, but unfortunately, she was too far away to see anything in front of her. All she could do was silently pray for Shen Ruojing in her heart. "Please, let nothing go wrong. Please, let there be no embarrassment! "

She liked the Princess, even though her family told her to stay away from her. She also admired this woman who had injected new vitality into Country A!

As Luo Yan was nervously waiting, Ji WUYOU had just brought a zither from outside. Seeing his Princess running over to write, he was also dumbfounded, looking at them in astonishment.

Then he heard Karl laughing. "Oh, has the Crown Princess finished writing? Let's all take a look then..."

Jing Yi also spoke up, "Since the Crown Princess grew up in China and dared to compete with Princess Daisy, her writing must be very beautiful..."

This remark was definitely a backhanded compliment.

Shen Ruojing was not foolish.

She was about to speak when Ji Wuyou stepped forward from the entrance. "Your Highness, your zither is here.

Ji Wuyou had good intentions, trying to interrupt the conversation and change the subject.

Unfortunately, Karl didn't give him a chance. "I don't think it's necessary now. Let's take a look at the writing first..."

Ji Wuyou's heart was in his throat, and he wanted to say something when he heard Shen Ruoqing say, "Alright, let's look at the writing first."

After she finished speaking, she raised her hand with the writing.

The vigorous and powerful characters, ink penetrating the paper, appeared before everyone like a dragon and a phoenix dancing. Just looking at it made people feel an overwhelming aura.

Everyone present who was close enough saw it clearly.

Luo Yan also stretched her neck and finally saw Shen Ruoqing's writing.

She was immediately as astonished as Daisy. Luo Yan had studied Chinese calligraphy and understood how amazing this writing was.

She was about to speak when Karl, who was standing in front of them, suddenly said, "This writing... why does it look somewhat similar to our Princess's?"

After finishing speaking, he sighed silently and sneered, "Crown Princess, I know you want to compete with our Princess, but there's really no need to imitate her writing style, even if it's just the font..."

He clearly saw that Shen Ruoqing's writing was also in the cursive script.

To those who didn't understand the script, the cursive writing looked like a mysterious code. Therefore, Karl couldn't tell who wrote better, but Shen Ruoqing's writing was too domineering, giving him a bad feeling, so he tried to strike first.

He wanted to accuse Shen Ruoqing of imitating Daisy. After all, the cursive script looked similar, so no one could refute his words.

Karl was pleased with himself, but he didn't notice that even Jing Yi, who knew calligraphy, had changed his expression.

Qin Qi Shu Hua were the four arts that every family in Country A learned, so the Luo's family head were also proficient in them. Looking at the writing in Shen Ruojing's hand and then at Shen Ruojing, he couldn't help but change his expression. His gaze suddenly fixed on Shen Ruojing's face in disbelief.

How could such a young woman write such an excellent cursive script?!

His mouth was slightly open. Even if he wanted to insincerely say that Princess Daisy's writing was better than hers, he couldn't bring himself to say it!

However, among the people present, there were some who couldn't understand the script, such as the legitimate eldest son of the Luo family. He looked at the writing and said, "This is as foolish as a pig. Since you're competing with Princess Daisy, you should have written in a different style. At least, then people wouldn't be able to compare who wrote better. Writing in the same style is just embarrassing!"

Hearing his eldest son's words, the head of the Luo family frowned and couldn't help but glare at him. After that, he saw his daughter Luo Yan also glance at her elder brother, with eyes that were filled with contempt.

For a moment, the head of the Luo family suddenly felt that his daughter was indeed better than his son...

(No, this must be an illusion! How could a woman possibly be better than a man?!)

The head of the Luo family retracted this thought and looked back at the competition.

There were a few people like the legitimate eldest son of the Luo family who didn't understand calligraphy, but everyone was smart. Seeing that the situation seemed a bit off and looking at Princess Daisy's expression, they all shut their mouths and stopped showing their ignorance.

Therefore, when Karl spoke, no one echoed him.

Karl subconsciously looked at Jing Yi, with a smile on his face, and said, "Prince Jing Yi, I heard that your calligraphy is pretty good. So, tell us, is this writing good? Is it imitating our Princess Daisy?"

Jing Yi really wanted to sew his mouth shut at this moment!

He swallowed and explained, "Both are good, both are good..."

Jing Yi didn't understand cursive script, but anyone with some knowledge of calligraphy and functioning eyes couldn't bring themselves to say that Shen Ruojing's writing was worse than Princess Daisy's!

However, he didn't want Shen Ruojing to steal the spotlight so easily, so he coughed and then looked at Shen Ruojing. "Your Highness, after all, we are the hosts. You really didn't have to write in cursive script, making it difficult for everyone to tell who is better. These two pieces of writing, when placed together, both look quite good..."

He was trying to turn black into white...

Shen Ruojing curled her lips and sneered.

She didn't speak, but at this moment, Daisy stepped forward.. "Madman! You are Madman! "

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 623-Jing Yi was determined not to admit that Shen Ruojing's writing was better.

After all, the brushwork wouldn't be seen in a photo, and the events happening here wouldn't be leaked out. In the end, it could be said that both of them wrote well, but he was determined not to give Shen Ruojing any momentum.

But what he never expected was for Princess Daisy's words to stun everyone on the scene.

Even Karl looked at Princess Daisy in disbelief. "What did you say?"

Princess Daisy , with her passionate gaze fixed on the writing in Shen Ruojing's hand, ignored Karl. She stared with her beautiful green eyes and said eagerly to Shen Ruojing, "Your Highness, can you give me this calligraphy work?"

Shen Ruojing, who couldn't stand this kind of gaze, handed the writing directly to Daisy. "Alright."

Daisy was as excited as a child who had just received her cherished toy, almost jumping with joy. If it weren't for the occasion, she might have screamed in delight!

She stared at the writing in her hand, suppressing the excitement in her heart.

Karl shouted, "Princess Daisy, what are you talking about? What Madman?"

Although Karl didn't understand the writing, he knew that Princess Daisy's idol was Madman from China, so he asked this.

To his surprise, as soon as he said this, Princess Daisy immediately said, "She is Madman! Her Highness, the Crown Princess, is Madman! She is my idol!"

Daisy excitedly looked at Shen Ruojing. "Everyone thought that Madman had passed away, causing no new writing to appear in the past five years. I never thought it would be you!"

Shen Ruojing smiled gently at her and praised, "Princess Daisy is also very talented. Just by looking at the pictures of my writing, you were able to imitate it to about 70 or 80 percent..."

In fact, it was nowhere near 70 or 80 percent; she had merely imitated the shape.

But Shen Ruojing didn't want to get ahead by suppressing Daisy, so she spoke with some praise.

Daisy was slightly excited. "Can you become my teacher? I want to learn how to write from you!"

Shen Ruojing raised her eyebrows, glanced at Karl, and saw his face turning dark.

Shen Ruojing thought for a moment, and her reputation as a Madman was indeed not an insult to Princess Daisy. So she nodded. "Alright."

Princess Daisy immediately bowed to Shen Ruojing to show her respect as a student...

Many people in Country A were paying attention to this palace banquet. Before

Karl proposed for Princess Daisy to write something, the people arranged by Karl, as well as those from the large families in Country A who didn't want the Crown Princess to ascend the throne, had started creating hype on the internet in Country A.

Hence, #PrincessDaisyWriting, #CrownPrincessEmbarrassment, #CrownPrincessAlInferioffoPrincessY, and other topics had been trending.

The people of Country A were all watching the follow-up of this palace banquet.

But now, the situation had completely reversed.

Karl's people were still waiting to spread more negative news about Shen Ruojing, and even the people from the major families were waiting for Shen Ruojing's writing to be ridiculed. After that, they could post her embarrassing moments on the internet. But now, why did everything suddenly stop?

The netizens of Country A held their phones, waiting online for news, and urging:

— Please tell us, how is our Princess?

— Oh my, what should we do? I'm so nervous!

— Me too, I'm afraid our Princess will lose face for our Country A!

— I have a feeling that she must have embarrassed herself. The royal family must be suppressing the news and not letting it out. Otherwise, how could it take half an hour just to write a few characters without any follow-up news?

— I also feel embarrassed. We all know Princess Daisy's love for Chinese culture. Her writing was once praised by a calligraphy master from China! It's over, the Crown Princess has lost face even abroad...

Even so, the royal family shouldn't cover it up. The news, even if delayed, will eventually come out. Sneaking around like this is really not good!

— Although we are a small country, our people have good hearts. In diplomacy, we may lose to others, but we must not lose our dignity!

As everyone was discussing, the news from the palace had not been sent out yet, so everyone was guessing if something had happened. Hence, the discussion on the internet became even more heated. Some even went as far as to find the social media accounts of a few royals and noble families to directly ask them.

Luo Yan's Weibo account was specially registered by herself.

Although women from Country A never posted their own photos and news, they occasionally shared their lives, such as taking photos of little snacks. Therefore, everyone knew that she was the legitimate daughter of the Luo family.

At this moment, many people went to Luo Yan's social media account and sent her private messages, asking about the follow-up developments.

Luo Yan opened the internet and saw a bunch of people talking negatively about the Princess...

After seeing the Madman's writing, she knew that their Princess was definitely the most amazing Princess in the world, and so she had become Shen Ruojing's number one fan. How could she bear to see all these negative comments?

So, Luo Yan got angry.

While Princess Daisy was paying her respects to her new teacher, Luo Yan secretly took a photo of the scene. Now, she simply posted a photo of Princess Daisy paying her respects to her new teacher on the internet!

As both Princess Daisy and Shen Ruojing would represent their respective countries, it was normal for their photos to appear on the internet.

When Luo Yan posted the photo, she added a caption. "I was fortunate enough to witness the scene of Princess Daisy becoming a disciple of our Crown Princess.. Oh, I also want to become a disciple so badly, what should I do?!"

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 624-As soon as Luo Yan posted this on Weibo, it immediately caused a sensation across the internet!

Everyone was keeping an eye on the development of this event, so when Luo Yan's post came out with pictures and truth, it was instantly shared like crazy.

This kind of glorious scene for the country was exactly what the public loved to see. Thus, even though Shen Ruoqing was Madman, the photo of Princess Daisy losing control of her emotions and almost screaming while asking to become his disciple was spread all over the internet!

In no time, everyone in Country A knew that their Crown Princess was the best teacher of China's cursive calligraphy. Princess Daisy had recognized her on the spot and asked her for guidance in calligraphy. This news instantly became a beautiful story!

Princess Daisy's humble image was spread, and Shen Ruoqing became the direct beneficiary of the event!

Initially, many people in the country didn't support her ascending to the throne, thinking that women were inferior to men. However, at this moment, Shen Ruoqing instantly became the national princess, receiving the crazy support of everyone in Country A.

Country A had always been a nation with a weak presence. Otherwise, Shen Ruoqing would have visited Country A after completing so many missions in the past.

However, a small country with a population of a few million was now well-known on the internet because of their Crown Princess!

Meanwhile, the people of Country Y always loved their Princess Daisy. After seeing the news, they did not blame Princess Daisy for losing face but thought that she had gone to Country A to learn. They were not aware of Karl's schemes and conspiracies, so they started to like the teacher that Princess Daisy had just acknowledged...

All in all, Shen Ruoqing's fame reached its peak overnight!

When the palace banquet ended, the heads of the families left with their good-for-nothing children. Their expressions were strange as they left, showing mixed feelings of admiration or something else toward Shen Ruoqing.

At this moment, the whole palace was filled with the sound of Jing Zhen's laughter.

"Let them talk nonsense about women being inferior to men, and let them say that my Crown Princess is not outstanding. Isn't she outstanding now? Hahaha, especially Karl, you should have seen his expression. It was simply hilarious! We didn't even have to lift a finger, and Jingjing already gained the love and support of the people. Now, when Jingjing inherits the throne, I'd like to see who dares to object!"

Jing Zhen laughed wildly. He had been worried about this issue for some time. Every day, people anonymously sent him letters and emails, telling him that women should not ascend to the throne. Hence, he had been thinking about how to create momentum for Shen Ruojing. As a result, Karl conveniently offered himself to be slapped in the face.

Princess Daisy's popularity was terrifying. She was so outstanding, and now she was learning calligraphy from her daughter, which directly doubled her daughter's prestige!

Jing Zhen was undoubtedly overjoyed.

However, Shen Ruojing looked at him coldly. "Don't be too happy too soon.. Karl won't let things go so smoothly. If he could back down, that would be better. But the problem now is, he will definitely cause more trouble."

The issue was, they had no idea what Karl would do next!

Upon hearing this, Jing Zhen waved his hand. 'What's there to fear? He can't possibly bring people into our palace and capture me. Moreover, even if I were to be captured, you would still inherit the throne. I have confidence in you!' Shen Ruojing clenched her jaw, not wanting to hear that.

However, seeing the fatigue in Jing Zhen's eyes, she understood that her father's reign as the King was not as smooth as it seemed on the surface.

She stepped back and had just left the room when she saw that Karl had come to the palace again today, apparently preparing to meet Jing Zhen.

Shen Ruojing narrowed her eyes, ignored him, and walked directly to Chu Cichen, who was waiting for her by the roadside. She whispered, "How is the arrangement for the Loong Corporation coming along?"

Chu Cichen replied, "No problem, the visit will definitely happen.'

Shen Ruoqing stretched and sighed, "Now I finally understand why my father didn't want to return and inherit the throne. Look at this, every few days someone comes to visit, and we have to hold a palace banquet. It's really troublesome!"

Seeing her like this, Chu Cichen smiled and said, "How about turning the banquet for the Loong Corporation into a family dinner? This way, it would be smaller in scale.

Shen Ruoqing frowned. "Is that okay? Will your boss be angry? Will he think that we're neglecting him?"

Chu Cichen found it funny when she mentioned the words 'your boss.'

He pretended to be deep in thought and said, "Hmm, I can try to persuade him, and the Loong Corporation should remain low-key..."

Shen Ruoqing understood and pinched Chu Cichen's arm again. "Thank you." Chu Cichen enjoyed her gentle gesture.

Shen Ruoqing was usually indifferent to others, but when she acted like this, she seemed even more adorable than usual.

He offered her his other arm. "This one is sore too."

Shen Ruoqing moved to Chu Cichen's other side and pinched his arm again.

As the two laughed and talked, they passed by Karl. Suddenly, Karl smiled. "Princess, is this your royal husband?"

Shen Ruoqing paused for a moment.

Then she saw Chu Cichen looking at her, as if waiting for her answer.

Shen Ruoqing found it amusing that this man always felt that she hadn't given him a proper title, and now he seemed to be taking advantage of the situation to ask for one.

So, she curled her lips and said, "He may not be right now, but he will be eventually."

This answer satisfied Chu Cichen.

He even raised his chin slightly, making a childish and amusing gesture.

Shen Ruojing suddenly recalled a phrase she had seen online—Men remain boys until they die.

This man, indeed...

Of course, Karl didn't know what the two were thinking. He immediately showed a regretful expression. "Is that so? That's a pity. I heard that Mr. Chu is just the head of a family in China's capital. I originally wanted to introduce the princess to some people with strong backgrounds and identities. For example, people from the Loong Corporation...."

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 625-Karl said these words with a half-smile, looking at Chu Cichen with a hint of disdain in his eyes.

Upon hearing Karl mentioning the Loong Corporation, Shen Ruojing raised her eyebrows and asked, "Do you know them?"

Karl laughed. "Not very well, but our Karl family is also one of the three major economic empires. Isn't it easy to get acquainted with them? The royal family is also one of the three major economic empires, but if you take the initiative to seek marriage, it might seem inappropriate. It's better for me, a middleman, to talk about it. I heard there are many young people in the Loong

Corporation...'

Shen Ruojing interrupted him directly, "There's no need to trouble Mr. Karl. When it comes to our relationship with the Loong Corporation, I suppose you're not as close as our royal family. Oh, by the way, if you want to get to know them, they will be here in a few days. I can introduce you to them."

Upon hearing this, Karl's eyes grew colder.

He had just said that, in fact, to probe their intentions. But now, according to what Shen Ruojing said, was it a confirmation that the Loong Corporation would come?

How could she be so sure?

Six years ago, their three major economic empires had jointly suppressed the Loong Corporation. Hence, the Loong Corporation should have been in a silent development phase these years, not exposing themselves. Was it worth exposing their identity just for the cooperation with Country A?

Karl narrowed his eyes. "Your Highness, are you sure that they will show up?"

Shen Ruojing laughed. "Whether they come or not, won't you know by that day?"

After saying this, she took Chu Cichen's hand. "Let's go."

Chu Cichen looked down at her holding his hand, smiled, and said, "Okay."

After the two left, Karl stared at their retreating figures with a sullen expression.

At this time, Ji Wuyou came over. "Mr. Karl, His Majesty the King requests your presence."

Karl followed Ji Wuyou to the conference room where King Jing Zhen received guests. Karl then spoke first, "Your Majesty, have you considered it?"

King Jing Zhen feigned innocence. "What have I considered?"

Karl frowned. "Regarding the scientific research issue..."

King Jing Zhen spread his hands. "What scientific research? I don't know what you're talking about."

Karl immediately said, "Your Majesty, it's no use playing dumb. We have both witnesses and evidence now!"

King Jing Zhen nodded. "Even if that's the case, if I say no, it's no. Karl, I will not hand over that technology. It will follow me to the grave. One day in the future, when mankind's technological and moral level is high enough to accept such things, someone else will research it."

Seeing his stubbornness, Karl sneered and left. "Since Your Majesty insists on doing this, don't blame me for being impolite!"

King Jing Zhen stared in the direction he left, frowning.

Karl quickly returned to Country Y's embassy in Country A and saw that Princess Daisy was still there. He couldn't help but complain, "Your Highness really knows how to teach others. If you didn't raise her prestige, I wouldn't have such a hard time today! Now the entire Country A is supporting their Princess, making their royal family even more fearless!"

Daisy replied calmly, 'Mr. Karl, I just stated a fact. If I had the same mindset as you and tried to scheme against her, I'm afraid that the banquet wouldn't have ended on a good note. Instead, I would have been crushed, and Country Y would become a laughingstock.'

Upon hearing this, Karl took a deep breath and stepped forward. "Princess Daisy, it seems like you haven't put yourself in the right position. Do you think our Country Y is the same as Country A, a constitutional monarchy? The royal family in Country Y is just a representation! Your mother and sister have no real power!"

Princess Daisy still smiled gently. "Actually, you could abolish our royal family. That way, I might be freer, wouldn't I?"

Seeing her arrogant attitude, Karl felt a lump in his throat and continued, "Don't even think about it. I know you've always wanted us to abolish the royal family. Without that burden, you could go find your lover from China, right? But as far as I know, didn't you go looking for him two years ago? He just didn't want you!"

Upon hearing this, Daisy stumbled.

The matter was both sweet and painful to her, as that man left a deep impression in her heart. But now that Karl had brought it up, Daisy felt a sense of shame rising.

This made her breathing become somewhat rapid.

Karl sneered, "Princess, you better behave and help maintain Country Y's image. Get your priorities straight, or else, what do you have to offer if you're not even a princess? '

Princess Daisy clenched her fists but remained silent. She then turned and entered her room.

Karl stared at her retreating figure and sneered. He couldn't believe that he couldn't control a young girl with a blossoming heart.

After mocking Princess Daisy, Karl frowned, thinking about the news that the Loong Corporation would soon arrive in a few days. He suddenly narrowed his eyes and sneered, "So be it, upload King Jing Zhen's crimes directly to the internet. Since we can't capture him, let the internet judge him! By that time, the anger of Country A's people will force Jing Zhen to submit!"

Their current biggest challenge was figuring out how to take Jing Zhen away.

Country A's army was here. If Jing Zhen decided to hide in the palace, he would have the protection of Country A's army. Of course, Country Y had no reason to attack Country A. Moreover, even if they had a reason, they wouldn't want to actually send troops, as it would be too costly!

The best solution was to make Jing Zhen willingly hand over the technology or , under the pressure of domestic public opinion, be forced to personally come out and submit!

As long as they could take him away, they had ways to extract the information from him!

In the royal palace.

Shen Ruojing and Chu Cichen were still strolling outside.

Shen Ruojing couldn't help but sigh, "I wonder how Xiaomeng is doing now..." Mentioning their daughter, Chu Cichen was also worried.

Although their daughter didn't allow them to pick her up and said that Song Chen treated her well, Song Chen was still a dangerous person, so they couldn't help but worry.

As he was about to say something, Ji Wuyou rushed over. "Princess, something's wrong! "

Shen Ruojing frowned. "What happened?"

Ji Wuyou immediately said, "Karl and his people have uploaded evidence of King Jing Zhen's illegal activities on Country A's internet! They claim that King Jing Zhen disregards human safety, secretly develops anti-human technology, and should be punished by the international community!"

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 626-Upon hearing this, Shen Ruojing and Chu Cichen exchanged glances, both thinking to themselves that this wasn't good, but neither of them dared to show it. If they appeared too flustered, it would cause even more panic among their subordinates.

Shen Ruojing calmly asked, "What are people saying online?"

She furrowed her brows. Normally, in such a situation, wouldn't everyone be cursing at someone? Research that was useless to humanity and threatened human safety was usually abandoned and not allowed to be pursued privately. Just like in China, when people learned that the No.5 neurotoxin was researched and created by Shen Ruojing, they reacted similarly. Now, Jing Zhen must be under fire from the entire internet.

If the entire internet was cursing, even the military of Country A might become disheartened. When that happened, the United Nations or Country Y might put pressure on them, and Country A might experience an uprising. In the end, the King could be replaced.

Shen Ruojing was well aware of the dangers involved and had thought of countless countermeasures in her mind. It was at this moment that she suddenly understood why Jing Zhen wanted to maintain good relationships with the three major families in Country A —without military power, things were simply too dangerous.

Apart from the personal soldiers in the palace, Jing Zhen had very few troops at his disposal.

As Shen Ruojing was thinking about this, Ji Wuyou spoke up, 'There is a group of paid trolls on the internet, likely hired by Karl and his people, leading the charge in cursing His Majesty the King. They say the King is not doing his job, not putting human safety first, and that he is an evil scientist..."

As soon as Ji Wuyou finished speaking, Shen Ruojing scoffed coldly, 'Then go and see if some of these trolls are working for Jing Yi!"

At present, the only person who had some influence in the military and was somewhat close to them was Jing Yi. If Jing Zhen were to be ousted, Shen Ruojing's position as Crown Princess would be in jeopardy, and Jing Yi would become the beneficiary of this situation.

Upon hearing this, Ji Wuyou nodded and said, "Your Highness, we have been keeping an eye on Jing Yi, and indeed, we found that he has been secretly meeting with Karl. It seems that Jing Yi does harbor ill intentions."

Shen Ruojing nodded. Ever since the banquet for Princess Daisy, Shen Ruojing knew that Jing Yi was up to no good. The fact that he showed up at the banquet and worked together with Karl to suppress her was proof that they had been colluding long before.

Ji Wuyou, with concern, asked, "What should we do now? Should we engage them in a battle of public opinion? We can't let them continue to slander His Majesty the King."

Shen Ruojing nodded. "For certain, but we need to discuss how to do it. Is there a public relations department in the royal family?"

"Yes, they are already working on it." There must be a corresponding public relations department within the royal family to maintain its external image. Moreover, Country A practiced absolute monarchy, and Jing Zhen was not just a nominal king. He had real power!

So, his image was even more important.

Seeing that Shen Ruojing was calm and seemed to have figured out what to do, Ji Wuyou's panic subsided somewhat.

Shen Ruojing headed out directly, saying to Chu Cichen, "Let's go and see my mother first."

Chu Cichen followed her, and the two of them walked toward Jing Zhen's palace.

The palace was huge. When Jing Zhen dealt with national affairs, he did so in the frontmost palace, while he lived in the palace behind it. The design was similar to China's Forbidden City, but the architectural style leaned more toward the Western Gothic style.

Shen Ruojing rarely appeared here, so not every maid in the palace recognized her.

Moreover, she and Chu Cichen were not used to having everyone they met bow to them, so they chose to walk along smaller paths to avoid the main roads.

As the two of them were about to see if they could offer any help, they suddenly overheard a conversation among a few young maids up ahead.

“Did His Majesty the King really develop something that harms human safety?”

“Who knows? With this incident exposed, do you think the three major families will still protect the King?”

definitely will, right? After all, he is our King. If the King is convicted and taken away, how will Country A maintain international relations in the future?”

“Well, it’s not certain. Kings can be replaced, you know. ‘

“Sigh, speaking of which, our King really did make a mistake. After all three Princess Consorts passed away, he should have selected new ones to enter the palace. If the daughters of the three major families could enter the palace, at least His Majesty would have the protection of one family’s military power. Sometimes, marriage alliances can also serve as protection for the King!”

“What about the Yan family? The Queen Dowager is a daughter of the Yan family!”

“What good does that do? The legitimate eldest daughter sent by the Yan family was toyed with so badly. I heard that the Yan family is now preparing another daughter to be sent to the palace to become a noble concubine! But His Majesty refused, saying he can’t have any more children and doesn’t want to waste the youth of other girls..

.I heard that the King is not actually ill and that he spends every night with the Queen doing...you know...”

“What? Is that true?”

Shen Ruojing.

She was just listening in on some gossip but didn't expect to hear about her parents' bedroom affairs!

This made her feel a bit embarrassed. She coughed lightly and was about to quicken her pace to leave from the side path when she suddenly heard another sentence..

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 627-"Of course, it's true. Xiaohuan is the maid in their room and cleans it every day. She said there are tissues in the trash can..."

"Well, then it seems to be true. It looks like His Majesty the King only dotes on the Queen. But why? Although the Queen is indeed very beautiful and looks like a classical Chinese woman, she isn't so exceptional as to be the only one the King can see, right? To be honest, I think His Majesty is even more good-looking than the Queen!"

"Yeah, don't you know? It's because the King is so handsome that when he was in China, he was chosen by the Queen and became the son-in-law of her family..."

"So the Queen's family background must be pretty good, right?"

"It's quite impressive in China, but now that we're in Country A, what does it count for? I heard that although the Queen is the only daughter of the Shen family in China, she grew up in a small place with her daughter, and the Shen family didn't entrust anything to her. Instead, they skipped her and entrusted everything to the Princess's son."

"Is that so?"

"Since the Queen came to Country A, she has been living in her palace every day and hasn't done anything or solved any problems for His Majesty. She seems really useless..."

"What can the Queen do? Even the noble ladies of our country can't do much. They're just vases and tools for childbirth. What's important is the family behind them. The Queen is really..."

As everyone was discussing, Shen Ruojing's eyes darkened.

She sneered.

Seeing this, Chu Cichen asked, “Do you want to teach them a lesson?”

“No need.”

Shen Ruojing said slowly, “They might not know what my mother is best at. This time, the public opinion storm can also let my mother make her presence felt in this palace, lest people really think she’s good for nothing!”

Chu Cichen raised an eyebrow.

Of course, he knew what his mother-in-law was best at. When she was in Sea City, she was good at making money. The Shen family in Sea City was supported by her!

She just gave up the opportunity to manage Chu Tianye’s entertainment company later on.

But Shen Qianhui was indeed very skilled in business. She looked soft and weak, but she was a strong negotiator, killing people with a gentle knife. After entering the entertainment industry, she helped Chu Tianye manage his entertainment company efficiently and was adept at handling emergencies.

If anyone had the best understanding of public opinion, it would definitely be the PR companies behind the entertainment industry!

Their artists faced countless situations every year!

And that was in China, where the slightest carelessness could lead to public opinion accidents.

With so much experience, Shen Qianhui probably wouldn’t be afraid of the royal family’s little public opinion storm at all.

Karl wanted to wage a war of public opinion with them?

Wasn’t this exactly what Shen Qianhui excelled at?

After coming to Country A, Shen Qianhui had always kept a low profile, not wanting to cause any trouble for Jing Zhen. Since everyone knew clearly that Jing Zhen was her family’s son-in-law in China, if she didn’t appear, no one would think about it. But once she did, people would definitely remember it.

But she had never expected that, even though she had been so low-key, trouble could still come to find her.

Since these little maids in the palace didn't think highly of her, then she might as well show her power!

Shen Ruojing didn't care about the maids gossiping behind her back at all. She couldn't possibly stop everyone from talking, could she?

So, she simply went with Chu Cichen to Shen Qianhui's bedroom.

Jing Zhen was not there at the moment, likely busy handling affairs in the front palace.

Shen Qianhui was truly living a carefree life, completely retired. At this moment, she was reclining on a luxurious couch watching a TV series. With a huge screen on the far wall, it was like a private cinema.

This lifestyle... Shen Ruojing was envious of it!

When Shen Qianhui saw Shen Ruojing coming, she asked, "Jingjing, why are you here? Come and watch the series with me. This cold-hearted prince is just too bad. He doesn't like his wife and is completely infatuated with a concubine. I can't wait for him to find out that his wife is the love of his life and see how much he regrets it!"

Shen Ruojing."..."

She couldn't help but glance at the TV and exclaim, "Isn't this the most popular show right now? It hasn't even ended yet, so how do you have it?"

Shen Qianhui took a bite of a grape nearby and then said, "As the Queen, is it difficult for me to get the complete version?"

Shen Ruojing."!!"

She didn't expect her mother to use her position as the Queen like this!

She pursed her lips and looked at Shen Qianhui. "Mother, do you know that something happened to father?"

Shen Qianhui."?"

She paused the TV and then asked, "What happened?"

After hearing Shen Ruojing's words, Shen Qianhui chuckled, "Why worry about such a small matter?"

She stood up. "Let's go. I'll go with you to see your father's PR team in the front!"

Shen Ruojing immediately held her arm and led her to the front hall.

The place where Jing Zhen handled government affairs was off-limits to the harem concubines.

Shen Ruojing had been allowed to enter previously because of her special status, as she was not only a princess but also the Crown Princess, who would handle political affairs sooner or later. The guards had let her in, but today, when she brought Shen Qianhui, they were stopped.

The guard said directly, "Your Highness the Princess, His Majesty the King is currently holding an important meeting with the PR department.. No outsiders are allowed to enter!"

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 628-Shen Ruojing."?"

She frowned. "I'm here for the same matter as well."

The guard nodded. "In that case, Your Highness the Princess may enter, but no one else." He glanced at Chu Cichen and Shen Qianhui.

Chu Cichen was not from Country A and was not yet married to Shen Ruojing, so he was definitely not allowed in.

But Shen Qianhui...

Shen Ruojing sneered, "This is my mother... the Queen and the person closest to my father. Are you not allowing her in?"

The guard looked at Shen Ruojing and explained, "Your Highness, the rules of the palace have always been that women cannot interfere in political affairs, so..."

Shen Ruojing mocked, "If the Queen Dowager came, would you dare to stop her?"

The guard said confidently, "Of course not, but the Empress Dowager is not like ordinary harem women. She has handled political affairs before and her abilities are well-known to everyone. If she wants to enter, there must be a reason!"

Shen Ruoqing frowned. "Are you saying my mother is not capable?"

The guard wanted to say more, but Shen Ruoqing scolded angrily, "It's not your place to comment on whether she's capable or not. Let us through right now."

The guard hesitated but eventually stepped back. "If His Majesty the King or anyone else blames us, don't say I didn't warn Your Highness the Princess and the Queen!"

Shen Ruoqing didn't bother with his sarcastic remarks and led Shen Qianhui inside.

The guard looked at them with a hint of disdain in his eyes.

When he turned back, he saw Chu Cichen staring coldly at him.

The guard glared back. "What are you looking at? You're not allowed in, and the PR department will soon kick the Queen out!"

Chu Cichen said, "Shall we make a bet?"

The guard was taken aback. "What?"

Chu Cichen said, "If the PR department doesn't kick the Queen out and treats her with respect, then you lose. You'll kowtow to the Queen five times and admit that you were wrong. How about it?"

The guard scoffed, "Sure, but what if you lose? Will you kowtow to me?"

A fierce glint flashed in Chu Cichen's eyes.

This guard dared to suggest this, which meant he had never taken Chu Cichen seriously.

In their eyes, he was just an ordinary businessman from China. How could they take him seriously?

Chu Cichen sneered, "Fine, as long as you can handle my kowtow."

The guard laughed. "What's there to be afraid of? We, men of Country A, despise men who marry into their wives' families the most!"

In Country A, men were superior to women, and men marrying into their wives' families were indeed considered lower than servants.

Chu Cichen didn't argue with him but waited quietly.

At this moment, in the palace.

Before Shen Ruojing and Shen Qianhui even entered, they heard the arguing inside. People from the PR department were discussing intensely,

"Let His Majesty the King apologize, and this matter will be over, right? As for international law, we will not comply!"

"That's not acceptable. If His Majesty the King apologizes, it's like admitting to the matter. We should deny it from beginning to end. Since His Majesty said that only he understands the technology, he can deny it, and the other party can't do anything about it! As for the evidence from the Karl side, we can completely say that they are fabricating it to frame the King."

"Why would Karl want to frame the King? There's no grudge between the two countries. The people won't believe that!"

"Even if they don't believe, they can't provide more favorable evidence. As long as we admit to breaking the law, we will be in a passive position. If the people think that the King's research poses a threat to them, His Majesty will be taken away! I'm afraid the army won't protect the King by then!"

"But we can't lie, it's deceiving the people!"

"Then tell the truth and have the King swear never to reveal the technology, right?"

"But secretly researching this technology has already violated the law!"

"What do we do now? The internet is full of criticism of the King, and under the guidance of their trolls, His Majesty has become a sinner of humanity!"

"Stop arguing, come up with a plan first, and then discuss right or wrong later!"

As the crowd was talking, Jing Zhen was sitting on his throne, growing impatient.

At this moment, he suddenly noticed Shen Qianhui and Shen Ruojing entering the room. Jing Zhen's eyes lit up, and he immediately stood up and hurried over. "Wifey, Jingjing, what brings you here?"

As soon as he spoke, the discussion in the palace stopped, and everyone looked at them.

Then they frowned and looked disdainfully at Shen Qianhui,

"Your Highness the Queen, how can you enter the council chamber?"

"If Your Highness the Queen has nothing to do, please leave first. We are currently facing a tricky public opinion issue that needs to be resolved immediately. Please do not waste our time here!"

"Your Majesty, women should not enter the council chamber. This is a rule passed down by our ancestors. Are you going to break it?"

The crowd began to attack Shen Qianhui.

Jing Zhen glared at them and then asked Shen Qianhui, "Wifey, you must have something important to be here, right?"

After saying that, Jing Zhen's eyes lit up. He realized something and asked, "I see, did you come up with a good solution for the public opinion issue?"

Shen Qianhui nodded. "Yes."

However, the rest of the PR department looked at her with disdain, and their expressions showed disbelief..

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 629-The people in the public relations department all served the royal family and had known how to publish articles in magazines for many years. They had always been clear about public opinion. Therefore, they thought that they were very capable.

(What can Shen Qianhui, a woman, think of?)

So, everyone said one after another, "Your Majesty the Queen, we know you want to do something for His Majesty the King to prove your status, but we are really busy now and don't have time to entertain you. How about you find another opportunity next time?"

Sarcastic and distrustful voices came, making Shen Qianhui frown slightly.

She already had an extremely charming appearance. With a cheongsam that wrapped up her exquisite figure and a slightly frowned look, she was exuding an aura of classical beauty, like a lady who had walked out of a painting.

Seeing her like this, Jing Zhen immediately shouted, "Wife, what method did you think of for me? I'll use your PR plan!"

As soon as this was said, the group of people in the public relations department was stunned, looking at His Majesty the King incredulously.

They felt that His Majesty the King didn't care about his own safety at all. Didn't he know that if the PR wasn't done well this time, he could face arrest?

However, the words of His Majesty the King were commands, so everyone closed their mouths and looked at Shen Qianhui.

(Alright, so you're capable, huh? Let's hear what brilliant ideas you can come up with!)

Shen Qianhui nodded to Jing Zhen, quickly grasped the direction of the online discussion, and then looked at the people in the public relations department. "In this matter, we cannot deny it, as the other party has both human and material evidence. Denying it will make us look passive. Furthermore, if Song Chen's existence is shown by Karl, we will face an even greater public opinion crisis."

The public relations department had just been discussing this issue, so they understood what was going on, and they all chimed in, "That's right, we don't know Karl's trump card now. He may be waiting for us to deny it, so denying it is definitely not an option."

After that, everyone looked at the person who had just brought up denial. "So, we definitely won't adopt this plan."

That person felt a bit angry in their heart. "When they have any evidence, we can just deny it again. There's no need to be so serious. What truth can the netizens know? The authority of the royal family is the most important! We can't let His Majesty bear this crime!"

The others immediately said, "You're right, His Majesty can't bear this crime. It will be a stain that he can't wash away for the rest of his life!"

"So now, the difficulty lies here. Netizens are asking about it online, waiting for the royal family's response. If we don't respond quickly, it will seem like we're guilty. We can't wait any longer."

Several people looked at Shen Qianhui again. "The Queen just said she had a way, so what is your method?"

Shen Qianhui heard this and opened her mouth. "Since we can't deny it, and Karl must have more evidence, why don't we just admit it?"

As soon as these words fell, the entire room became quiet.

Everyone looked at Shen Qianhui as if she were a fool.

Admit it?

Two people from the public relations department sneered.

"The public relations department people have also mentioned this plan just now, saying that not denying it is actually admitting it. But what comes next? Should the King apologize to the whole country? That would be too damaging to the King's dignity!"

"Yes, yes, we thought about this plan just now and have already rejected it. The biggest problem now is that the King has broken the law! If we don't deny it, the King won't be able to escape this crime..."

"Is the Queen planning to have the King post a message online, begging for the public's forgiveness?"

They despised Shen Qianhui in their hearts, thinking that her ideas were absurd.

(Is there anything in this world that is black and white? Can you be forgiven by admitting your mistake and apologizing?)

Looking at the King just now, they really thought Shen Qianhui had a good solution. In the end, she was just useless.

Just when everyone was secretly criticizing and looking down on Shen Qianhui, several people suddenly exchanged glances.

Yes, now that Shen Qianhui was taking over this difficult problem, they could shirk the responsibility of poor public relations. Wasn't that a good thing for them personally?

With that in mind, they looked at Shen Qianhui again. "Your Majesty, since you say we should admit it, then let's leave this matter to you!"

Shen Qianhui was about to speak without thinking when Shen Ruojing suddenly narrowed her eyes and smiled. "If you want my mother to help you take responsibility and manage this matter, it's not impossible. But under what title will she handle it? If the public relations department doesn't give her a position, how will the future operations be carried out? You don't expect my mother to fight alone on the Internet against the entire public, do you?"

This was a blatant request for power!

The head of the public relations department immediately said, "I can give up my position as the director, but I'm afraid the Queen won't dare to accept it!" Shen Qianhui laughed. "Why wouldn't I?"

The director of the public relations department immediately smiled and said, "Alright, I'll step down and let you take over. This position is yours. From now on, any responsibility related to public relations will be yours to bear, alright?"

Shen Qianhui nodded. "Sure."

Seeing her relaxed demeanor, the director of the public relations department became even more upset.

When Shen Qianhui was directing their public relations department just now, he was already annoyed. He then planned to use a tactic of retreating to advance, but he didn't expect her to actually accept it!

Did she really understand the significance of the public relations department for the King in the future?!

The director looked at Jing Zhen who seemed indifferent. "So it's settled. From now on, my wife will be in charge of the public relations department. She has always been with artists in China and knows how to fight the battle of public opinion."

The director of the public relations department, no, the former director stared at Shen Qianhui and Jing Zhen. "Fine, let's see how the Queen prepares to fight this public opinion battle!"

After he finished speaking, he snorted coldly and then looked at Shen Qianhui, asking, "After admitting this crime, what's next? Are you going to have the King turn himself in, or apologize and ask for forgiveness and protection?"

Shen Qianhui looked at him incredulously. "Why would you suggest such lowly strategies?"

The former director was immediately angry. "Lowly strategies? So you're saying you have a better plan?" "Of course.."

I Am A Boss Mommy That Wants To Slack chapter 630-Upon hearing Shen Qianhui's words, everyone looked at her in confusion. Shen Qianhui looked at the PR team. "Didn't you just say you were in a hurry? So follow my instructions! First, admit that everything Karl said is true!" The PR team members all frowned. "Your Majesty, please tell us a better plan We've already prepared the statement to admit everything. All we need to do is send it out. What's the second step?"

Shen Qianhui smile.the second step? of course it's to praise His Maiesty the King.

Everyone was stunned by this statement.

lhey all thought that Shen Qianhui was crazy.

The King had made so many mistakes, and they were still going to issue a statement praising him?

Praise him for what?

As everyone was puzzled, Shen Qianhui spoke, "Yes, praise. Our royal family has an online army, right? Go and praise him. You know, neuron transmission technology is a world-class problem now. Although it's temporarily banned from human research, even if it were allowed, no one has figured it out other than the King. Do you know what this means?"

Several people shook their heads, not understanding what Shen Qianhui was talking about.

Shen Qianhui revealed a look of frustration. "This means that our King Jing Zhen is the smartest person in the world! Isn't it a great fortune for our country A to have a king with such a brilliant mind?"

The PR team members were all dumbfounded, looking at her incredulously, they thought that Shen Qianhui was insane.

Did she know what she was talking about?

Shen Qianhui understood this better than any of them.

In today's society, with the development of the internet, people were more patriotic as their living standards improve. And people's minds were not all black and white.

If Jing Zhen were a foreign scientist, people might criticize him for developing such technology. But Jing Zhen wasn't. He was from country A!

As long as they issued press releases and vigorously praised Jing Zhen, everyone would follow suit and see him as their pride.

As for the illegality...

Let people be educated that other countries would like to break the law too. They also wanted to invent and create amazing things, but they couldn't. The PR department should then tell everyone that King Zhen was forcing the King to hand over the technology.

As the King refused, Country Y manipulated the United Nations to issue an arrest warrant for the King!

With this set of public opinion arrangements, 80-90% of people in country A would definitely think that Jing Zhen was amazing and that their King was innocent!

Shen Qianhui had figured out how to manipulate public opinion.

The PR team members were astounded by her words and then asked in disbelief, "Just like that?"

Shen Qianhui nodded. -Just like that. Public opinion is not as complicated as you think. The most Important thing in controlling it is actually controlling people's hearts."

The PR team was convinced and they began to prepare.

The former director looked at Shen Qianhui in confusion.

Country A had a small population, and women in the royal family had little social interaction, making them relatively simple-minded. Moreover the people were used to traditional newspapers, and now suddenly facing an online public opinion war, they indeed lacked experience.

But for Shen Qianhui, Country A with a few million people was nothing compared to China. To put it bluntly, even a second-rate Chinese celebrity had more fans than that.

So, there was absolutely no problem with Shen Qianhui taking on the role of the Public Relations Department Director. Even if any problems arose, they could simply learn from several domestic entertainment companies that specialized in public relations. After all, the Yun family was the largest entertainment company in China!

The people to the Public Relations Department quickly and methodically arranged everything according to Shen Qianhui's requirements. The official website only released one piece of Information, admitting that the incident was true and that their King had indeed developed this technology.

As soon as this news was released, Karl, who was working to Country V's office burst out laughing. He looked at Country A's official announcement and said to his subordinates, "I originally thought that they would deny it, and we were prepared to present more evidence that would surely Incriminate Jing Zhen But they actually admitted it! That saves us the trouble of taking the next step Now the people of Country A can see what kind of person their King really is,

His subordinate agreed, -Country A's PR department has always been terrible They have no experience dealing with the internet, and the public relations

Strategy they provided was simply ridiculous. Now that they've admitted it can we issue the arrest warrant?"

Karl nodded, and his subordinate immediately sent out the United Nations arrest warrant for Jing Zhen, specifically stating that their visit was to arrest him. After sending this message, Karl and his team began to lead the online trolls in a furious tirade:

This person is not fit to be our King!

Oh my God, I'm ashamed to have such a king.

Why is our army protecting this kind of person? The United Nations should take the King away!

Karl's online trolls and Jing Yi's trolls joined forces, and the incident involving Jing Zhen quickly spread throughout Country A's Internet, with people discussing it everywhere.

Karl felt confident in his victory and even called Jing Yi, "Little Prince oh 1 mean, in a few days, I should address you as Your Majesty. I hope our cooperation will go smoothly."

Jing Yi was also complacent, feeling that victory was in his grasp. He couldn't help but say, "Don't worry, once I inherit the throne, our royal family will follow the orders of the Karl family for the next few years!"

The economic strength of Country A's royal family was originally on par with that of the Karl family. However, Jing Yi was willingly sacrificing his family's interests to gain the throne. If this news got out, he would definitely be driven out of Country A by the royal family.

Karl believed that with Jing Yi's actions, Country A's economic empire would inevitably collapse. At that time, they would have one less competitor!

Karl, looking down on Jing Yi, laughed and said, "Your Majesty, we can't meet right now, but I happen to have some whiskey here. I'll have a drink on my own to celebrate your ascension to the throne in advance!"

After saying this, he drank the whiskey in his glass. Once the call was over, Karl excitedly took out his phone, eager to see how disappointed the people of Country A were with their King, Jing Zhen..
