

Chapter 331 You Stink

Ryan rushed to the hotel where Wendy stayed. Before he even entered the hall, he heard someone call out his name from behind him. 2

"Mr. Oliver?"

Still catching his breath, Ryan turned around and saw Odette stepping out of her van. Mary, her assistant followed closely, and both of them were looking at him in surprise.

Ryan frowned. The woman looked familiar. It took him a while to remember her. Last time, Wendy got jealous because of her.

"Yes?"

Wendy didn't tell Ryan about Odette's bullying during their shooting. She thought she could handle it herself, so she didn't find the need to bother Ryan with such trivial things. 2

Ryan had no idea what happened between Wendy and Odette. He nodded his head slightly.

Odette's heart was beating fast. This was her chance! Seeing that Ryan was about to leave, she quickly followed him. "What a coincidence! Mr.

Oliver, are you staying here? So am I!"

Ryan found her noisy and annoying. He continued walking and ignored her.

Odette was oblivious to his indifference. Instead, she chattered as though they were close friends.

"Mr. Oliver, I couldn't say hi to you the other day —"

"Can you stop talking?"

"What?" Odette was stunned. She froze in her tracks. This was different than what she imagined it would be. 5

She honestly didn't expect to bump into Ryan again. Although she already knew that he had been living in this hotel for the past two weeks, the last time she saw him was when he came downstairs for breakfast.

Now that they saw each other again, Odette only wanted to get closer to him. But she didn't expect Ryan to be this cold and rude to her. She felt sad and angry.

'Are all men the same? Fickle in their affection? He loved me! But now, he is treating me like trash because of Wendy!' 21

Tears welled up in Odette's eyes. She had a youthful face, and she looked a few years younger than her actual age. She was currently wearing a black windbreaker, revealing her slender waist. She donned a pair of black boots which made her legs long and slim.

Odette was beautiful indeed, and she knew it.

At this moment, her eyes were red and filled with tears. She bit her trembling lower lip, making her look innocent and vulnerable. The picture she portrayed would easily arouse any man's desire to protect her.

However, it didn't work on Ryan.

Ryan's face remained impassive and cold.

He was worried about Wendy. The only thing he wanted to do was find her. But now, Odette was talking endlessly. He was getting more and more irritated.

Without bothering to look at Odette, Ryan strode into the hall and took a turn towards the elevator.

"Odette, let's go back to our room," said Mary.

"No!"

Odette gritted her teeth.

It wasn't easy for her to bump into Ryan; she wouldn't give up so easily.

Odette believed he still had feelings for her. She refused to believe that Ryan forgot her just like that. ②

Odette followed Ryan who kept on checking his phone.

The two stood together and waited for the elevator doors to open.

There weren't a lot of people around. Odette and Ryan were standing side by side, a few steps away from each other.

Standing beside him like this, Odette could hear her heart beating wildly. Her cheeks blushed fiercely. She was acting like a nervous teenage schoolgirl.

There was just a meter separating her from Ryan, so she slowly inched towards him, step by step.

Suddenly, Odette instinctively felt someone staring daggers at her. She froze and swallowed hard.

She raised her head to look at Ryan, and she saw him looking coldly at her. She looked at him and asked innocently, "What's wrong?"

"Stay away from me!" Ryan ordered. "I don't like women getting close to me." ③

"I..."

"You stink!" he added. ④

Odette opened her mouth to say something but found herself lost for words. She clenched her jaw, disbelief written all over her face.

Ding!

When the elevator doors opened, Ryan walked inside, still expressionless.

Meanwhile, Odette was rooted to her spot.

It was not until the elevator doors closed when it dawned on her what he just said. Her face burned with rage, and her whole body trembled.

"Mary..."

"Odette."

Odette turned to the other woman. She opened her arms and asked, "Smell me. Do I stink?" 5

Mary walked closer. Even from a distance, she could smell the faint scent of her favorite perfume.

Odette stared at her, waiting for her answer.

Mary shook her head. "No, you smell good." 3

Odette ran her fingers through her hair and stared at the elevator as though it offended her.

From the moment she knew Ryan was staying in this hotel, she always made sure to look her best, just in case she accidentally bumped into him. She wore makeup, dressed up in her finest clothes, and sprayed perfume.

It was so cold outside, and she didn't even sweat while filming. How in the world could she possibly stink?

"Mary, do you think that maybe he really doesn't like me anymore?" Odette asked. ¹²

Ryan's attitude towards Odette made his feelings clear, but Mary didn't dare to tell the truth. "Odette, maybe you're thinking too much. Everyone knows he doesn't show that much interest in women. Perhaps he doesn't know how to get along and interact with women. Think about it. He's been single and hasn't had a girlfriend in years. Why is that?" ⁴

Mary couldn't even convince herself with her reasoning. She peeked cautiously at Odette.

Odette didn't believe it as well. She stood in front of the elevator, clenching her fists. 'Not interested in women? Then what was Wendy doing on his bed? Now I know it. He treats me like trash because he has his eyes set on another woman!' ³

What Odette didn't know was that the picture sent to her by Nellie was fake.

Now that Nellie confirmed that Jeffrey liked Wendy, it made her boil with anger.

Nellie had to admit that Wendy had a beautiful face. But aside from her looks, there was nothing else interesting or remotely good about that woman. She was convinced that Wendy seduced Bruce after being dumped by Brian and that she came back to exact revenge. 5

Bruce would play an important role in their plan, and Nellie wouldn't let Wendy use him to her advantage.

To defeat your enemy, you must know him well. Nellie had asked a thorough investigation on Ryan. She knew there was an actress named Odette in Glory Media and there were rumors about her marrying Ryan in the future. 2

It also sounded like Odette fancied Ryan.

Nellie thought long and hard. She decided to use Odette and make her part of the plan.

She didn't have time to deal with Wendy now, so Nellie asked someone to edit a photo and send it to Odette.

Nellie was certain it would only augment Odette's hatred for Wendy.

Odette was a woman after all, and she would surely get jealous.

Nellie wouldn't need to deal with Wendy herself. Odette would do it in her behalf.

As for Odette, she would never know that the image she received was edited. Besides, she would be too blind with her jealousy to notice.

After her disastrous interaction with Ryan, Odette decided to take out her anger on Wendy. ⑥

Odette shook with fury, and she was grinding her teeth. "Wendy, you bitch. I'll see what else you can do after what happens tonight!" ⑦
