

Chapter 357 Support Him

After a while, Jeffrey asked Wendy, "Has Carter come to see you recently?"

Wendy was stunned by the question. "No. What's up?"

"I heard that Carter is preparing to shoot another TV series and is looking for a female lead. I talked to him today and he is considering choosing you."

Wendy's eyes lit up immediately. "Really?"

"Yeah."

Wendy was overjoyed. She liked working with Carter very much. He was a kind and easy going man, but very serious when it came to business. He was so serious in filming that sometimes, he seemed a little inhuman. However, that was just because he was a responsible director.

Carter was a legend in the industry. If he was interested in inviting her to play in a new series, that meant he truly acknowledged her acting skills. He wouldn't work with just anyone as he was always keen in selecting the very best actors for his plays. Being acknowledged by a legend like him meant a lot to actors.

Wendy could barely hide her joy and excitement. "How did you know about his upcoming TV series?"

Wendy rolled her eyes.

"Hey! What's that look on your face?" Jeffrey was upset by her reaction. "Although I haven't learned acting, my acting skills are rather obvious to everyone. Carter said that he liked my performance in the Story of Concubine Ivanka and he thought my acting skills are really good."

'His acting skills?' Wendy rubbed her forehead, wondering whether this was some sort of joke.

'Jeffrey has acting skills? That's definitely the biggest joke I have ever heard. If I compare his acting skills to school records, he is the type of student who tends to go overboard on one subject. If he acts a role with the same character as his, he will perform well. Otherwise, his performance will entirely depend on luck. In the Story of Concubine Ivanka, he was just lucky and did a good job.'

After a while, Jeffrey said again, "Carter will talk to you about the new drama very soon. If you are interested, you can read the script first before signing a contract."

"Okay."

At that point, the emcee came over to Jeffrey. That marked an end to the conversation between Jeffrey and Wendy.

Wendy felt completely ignored. She was almost invisible in the room. There was nothing she could do about it. The leading actors and the director were there. She was nobody in comparison to them. Annoyed, she sat on the couch and chatted with Ryan on WhatsApp.

She typed, "It's so boring here."

Ryan sent her a voice message soon.

There were many people in the lounge, so Wendy didn't listen to this message. She texted, "There are many people here. It won't be convenient for me to listen to a voice message."

Ryan replied in a text message this time. "What's wrong?"

"It's so boring here! I'm bored to death!"

"Aren't you checking the process with the emcee?" Ryan asked.

Wendy sent an emoji before continuing to type. "All the people present are big shots. The emcee is too busy with them to pay attention to me! If I become an A-lister...No, no, I will become a super A-lister! At that time, I will be famous all over the world. I will get a lot of awards and earn a lot of money!"

"You can count on me," Ryan said.

Wendy blushed after reading his message. It sounded as if the two of them were in a relationship. She shyly covered her face with one hand and typed quickly. "Once I make a lot of money, you won't have to work so hard."

Ryan's reply wasn't long in coming. "Do you mean you will support me?"

Wendy was stunned. 'Support him?! How could I ever afford it?!

Every aspect of Ryan's life was exquisite. Any of his casual consumption would probably cost her almost one year's incomes.

'If I can actually support him, what an accomplishment it will be!' At that thought, Wendy's eyes suddenly lit up. She felt that she had found a new motivation to work!

"Okay! I will work harder!" Her text was followed by several hardworking emojis.

"Great! I will wait for you to make enough money to support me," Ryan replied.

Wendy smiled happily.

Suddenly, she noticed someone walking steadily towards her. The moment she raised her head, she saw Odette standing in front of her. The show was about to begin shooting, so all of them had already dressed up. The shooting would be indoor. Every female star wore a dress.

Odette wore a light yellow asymmetric dress that hugged her at the waist. She had a baby face that made her look beautiful without being ostentatious.

"May I have a seat?" Odette asked softly.

Wendy looked around the room. There were several sofas in the lounge. Although there were many people gathered here, there were still many empty seats. Wendy wondered why Odette wanted to sit next to her.

Wendy nodded. "As you like."

Odette sat down beside Wendy. She turned her head and looked at Wendy intently. There was a trace of jealousy in her eyes.

Like all the other female stars, Wendy also wore a dress today. She was wearing a simple black dress. It was pure black without any pattern. Two wide shoulder straps hung on her shoulders. The dress was closely fitted at the top and with a wide skirt. The pure black color enhanced her enchanting charm, making her more dignified. Simply put, she was gorgeous all round.

Odette was sitting very close to Wendy. She could see that Wendy's face was as smooth as a shelled egg.

Wendy was indeed very young. Her face didn't have the slightest blemish and her skin was so delicate that it made other women jealous.

The pure black color showcased her snow-white skin. She sat quietly on the sofa, playing on her cellphone. Her slender legs were covered with a blanket, making people want to remove the blanket to take a look.

'This woman was born to be a star. No matter where she is, she has that unique ability to attract everyone's attention.' Odette clenched her fists in jealousy.

"You are smiling so happily. Wendy, are you talking to someone on your phone? Who is it?"

Wendy put away her phone and looked at Odette in surprise. "Ma'am, are you talking to me?"

Odette's face twisted upon hearing what Wendy just called her. She asked coldly, "Who else would I be talking to?"

Wendy pretended to be flattered. "Well, I didn't expect a senior like you to talk to me! But I am a little bit annoyed by your question. You know, it's my freedom to chat with anyone. Don't you think it's rather rude to ask me who I am chatting with?"

"What a bitch!" Odette gnashed her teeth in hatred. However, she made the effort to control herself. Squinting at Wendy, she asked, "How have you been recently?"

Wendy was confused. 'Why does she care about me all of a sudden?' Raising her eyebrows, she asked, "What do you want?"

"Nothing." Odette looked away. She was confused. 'Damn it! Did Kane fuck her or not?'

Odette believed that her plan was perfect. There should be no problem.

Rumors were that the relationship between Kane and his wife had been very strained recently. Odette guessed that he must have a crush on Wendy since he valued her a lot. Therefore, she arrange for some people to kidnap Wendy and put her in Kane's room. If Kane hadn't seized the golden opportunity she gave him, could he still be considered as a man?

Even if Odette had misunderstood the relationship between Wendy and Kane, it couldn't have affected her plan. Wendy was such an enchanting woman. She was like a delicate flower waiting to be plucked. Odette did not believe that Kane could have resisted such a seductive temptation.

However, she was confused now. Wendy didn't seem to have been through any unpleasant situation recently.

Odette was full of doubts now. She was eager to know if her plan had worked. 'Has Kane banged Wendy or not?'
