

Chapter 368 I Don't Lack Money

"We agree!"

Nellie and Jaylen said in unison without even thinking.

When Grace heard that, she was overjoyed.

However, Brian pulled a long face. "Dad! Mom!"

Grace was his fiancée.

All the wealthy and powerful families in the city knew that he was engaged to Grace, and because of his previous relationship with Eris, people were quite familiar with him. It could be said that not only people in the city, but the whole country knew that he was engaged to Grace.

Their families were about to unite by marriage. If they made Bruce the groom, then it would be very humiliating to Brian. It would no longer be like just a slap in his face. Grace was now trampling on his dignity.

Brian was completely against it. "I don't agree!"

Nellie looked at him with a frown. "Brian..."

"No way!"

"There is no point in you objecting to this!" Grace crossed her arms and looked at Brian sarcastically. "I advise you to face reality. To put it bluntly, your family is currently is in need of a lot of money. And as long as you don't have money, your company cannot survive. I do admit that it will be your loss that you won't be able to marry me..."

Hearing that, Brian had the urge to throw up. He didn't want to marry Grace, who was fat and unattractive.

But somehow, Grace was confident. She continued, "You don't have to be too depressed. Don't worry. After I get married to Jeffrey, I will introduce some rich girls to you!"

Upon hearing that, Brian trembled with rage.

But Grace raised her chin and continued, "If you behave yourself, then nothing bad will happen. But if you keep trying to break Jeffery and me apart, then your family will not get my dowry. And they will go bankrupt. You will become a nobody."

Brian was so furious that his veins were about to pop. Instead of looking at Grace, he turned to Nellie and Jaylen. "Dad, Mom..."

They both avoided looking at him. Nellie walked up to him, held his hand, and said earnestly, "Brian, I know that you are wronged. But we have to think of the future."

Hearing that, Brian felt like someone had dumped a bucket of ice-cold water on his head. His heart sank.

"Mom, you think the same as Grace, right? As long as you can get the dowry, you don't care which one she marries."

And Nellie didn't deny it. In her eyes, nothing was more important than saving the company.

"I finally see through you!"

"Brian, can you be more sensible?"

Hearing that, Brian sneered. 'Sensible? Am I not sensible enough? Ever since I was a kid, I have always been the obedient one. From what I ate to which college I went to, you decided everything for me. The only time I ever rebelled against you was when I fell in love! But still, you are saying that I am not being sensible enough.'

Hatred brewed in Brian's heart. He clenched his fists angrily.

"That's it!"

"Wait!" Jeffery, who had been silent until now, finally looked up at them. He glanced coldly at his parents as he asked slowly, "Did you ever ask for my opinion?"

Hearing that, Nellie felt a little guilty. She looked at Jeffrey and pleaded, "Bruce..."

"I don't agree!"

"Bruce!" Jaylen glanced at Grace. Seeing that she changed her countenance, he was afraid that she might go back on her word, so he scolded Jeffrey, "Do you even know what you are talking about?"

"Of course, I do!" Jeffrey was indeed upset. He deliberately kept quiet when Grace made such a preposterous demand. And he did so because he wanted to see how his parents were going to react. Their reaction made him feel cold all over.

"Dad! Mom! I am your son, not a commodity that can be sold at will!!"

Nellie trotted to him and whispered, "Bruce, I am begging you. Please just accept it first, I'll explain it to you later."

"No thanks!" Jeffrey pushed her away and walked up to Grace. Narrowing his eyes at her, he said, "What I just said was meant for you too. I'm not a commodity. You can't buy me with money! Just because you have money, it doesn't mean that you're great! Besides, I don't lack money either!"

But none of his words actually made their way into Grace's mind as she looked at him dreamily. They were very close. And her heart skipped a beat. 'Ah! My prince charming is so handsome. His lips are so beautiful!' "Jeffrey..."

"Fuck!" Unable to hold back his anger, Jeffrey cursed. He could not bring himself to be in the same room with her for another moment, so he decided to leave. "I have a lot of work to do tomorrow, so I am leaving now."

"Bruce!" Nellie quickly caught up to him and held his hand tightly, afraid that he would run away if she let go. "Bruce, listen to me!"

"There's no need for you to explain!" Without even looking back, Jeffrey shook off her hand and left.

Nellie looked at Grace and said, "Grace, please stay here for a while. We have to talk to Bruce."

Grace gave her a nod. She knew that Nellie and Jaylen were going to persuade Jeffery. She was not stupid. And she knew that he didn't like her. But to her, that did not matter as long as she liked him.

Grace was eager to marry Jeffrey, so she did not want to stop Nellie. Instead, she swayed her hand and stomped anxiously. "Hurry up! Hurry! Don't let him go!"

Nellie and Jaylen trotted out of the room. Before they left, they closed the door.

Brian and Grace were left alone in the room.

Grace ignored him completely, wrapped herself in the bed sheet, and glanced at the messy bed. Her eyes suddenly lit up. She was so excited that she almost wanted to howl. It was the bed that her prince charming had slept in.

With open arms, she threw herself onto the bed.

Crack!

A crisp sound was heard. And the bed was crushed under her weight.

Meanwhile, right before Jeffrey reached the stairs, Jaylen and Nellie caught up with him.

Nellie held his wrist tightly. "Bruce, wait. Listen to me," she pleaded.

It was past midnight. The early winter breeze was so cold that it could easily freeze anyone. However, Jeffrey's heart was even colder than the breeze.

He pursed his lips and said coldly, "Don't waste your time. I won't marry Grace!"

"Bruce!"

"This can't be negotiated!" Jeffrey said firmly.

Nellie gritted her teeth. She and Jaylen exchanged glances. Suddenly, she walked up to Jeffrey and stood in front of him. Jeffrey looked at her with a frown. While he was still confused, Nellie suddenly closed her eyes and knelt down.
