

Chapter 402 Settle Matters With Her

Odette gave Rosie a meaningful look but said nothing.

Rosie right away understood her meaning. "Are you talking about Wendy?"

Odette nodded.

"It's not possible!" Rosie exclaimed.

Odette let out a long sigh. "I shouldn't have said anything. I admit that Wendy and I don't get along and just to make it clear, I have no intention of dragging you into our fight. But I have to bring up something that I simply cannot stand! I despise women who go about destroying other people's relationships the most. When I see that you are ignorant about what is really going on, I feel so bad about this."

"You speak nonsense!"

"Mrs. Evans, I know it would take a lot more for you to believe me. After all, she's your cousin. A lot of people would have trouble believing it too. But there is so much evidence out there to prove this."

"What evidence are you talking about?"

Odette was on the verge of saying something but stopped herself after thinking things through.

Rosie's eyes lit up in anger. "Could you be any clearer?!"

Odette clenched her teeth tightly as if she was about to make a difficult choice. "Okay! Then I'll let you know everything."

"Out with it!"

"Since Wendy is an employee under the company, she has been using her connection as your cousin to get closer to Mr. Evans. He is cold and distant towards everyone. It might be because Wendy is your cousin and he can't act ruthless towards her, so his treatment of her is better than others.'

Rosie gripped the sofa tightly as she listened on. "Is there anything else?"

"Wendy may have gotten some ideas from Mr. Evan's attitude towards her, so she is being even more shameless in how she approaches him."

"Stop beating around the bush!"

Odette licked her dry lips and continued, "A few days ago, something of note happened. The deputy director of the PR department has been let go. Did you find out about this?"

"Is his dismissal and Wendy connected?"

"Of course they are related." Odette inhaled deeply and took a look around. At the time, the hall was empty except for the receptionist. Seeing this, she inched closer to Rosie and said in a barely audible voice, "This summer, Wendy paid off the deputy director to have him secretly put a hotel room card into Mr. Evans' suite pocket while Mr. Evans was attending a meeting in the meeting room."

The expression on Rosie's face shifted visibly. The sofa wrinkled under her grasp. She asked in a shaky voice, "Are you telling the truth?"

Odette gave her a bitter smile. "This was the reason why Mr. Evans sacked the deputy director. Ask anyone in the company about it. Why would I deceive you with something like this? But Mr. Evans kept this under wraps. He only mentioned that the deputy director was not keeping up with his duties, so he fired him. Not many people in the company know about this. I have been at the company for many years and I am close to one of Mr. Evans' secretaries so I was able to get the inside scoop. If you still don't believe me, just ask Mr. Evans' secretaries. I heard from a source that when Mr. Evans was having a meeting that day, his secretaries were working outside his office. The very same deputy director was the only person who went in and out of Mr. Evans' office that day. You will know the truth once you ask those secretaries.'

The expression on Rosie's face changed. She suppressed her anger and asked, 'Kane had that deputy director fired.'

'Yes! He did indeed!'

Rosie thought, 'Wouldn't this mean that Kane was very unhappy about his work ethic and didn't sleep with Wendy?'

Just by gauging Rosie's facial expression, Odette knew what was on her mind. She decided to add fuel to the flames. 'No one knows the exact details of that day. However, from that point on, Wendy has been getting special treatment. Something you may be well aware of is that our company has strict rules for artists, especially newcomers. We especially set aside a place to train all the newcomers. There, the newcomers get training for their acting skills and other skills such as singing, dancing, and so on. Everyone has to be trained. However, Wendy has never attended even one of those training sessions.'

Rosie had an anxious and doubtful expression on her face.

'In addition to that, because the Story of Concubine Ivanka became a hit show, her popularity only continued to soar. The New Year was right around the corner at the time and many TV stations asked her to attend their galas, as well as many business shows and variety shows. However, she turned all of them down! Mrs. Evans, you know full well that a company is only an organization with the sole purpose of making profit. Such a star who finds instant success overnight basically has to work nonstop, so as to rake in the money for the company. Why is Wendy the exception to this rule? Most importantly, the senior executives of the company don't find anything wrong with her special treatment. After the New Year break, she is awarded the DM endorsement. Do you really believe that there is nothing fishy going on?'

'Of course not!' Rosie thought.

Odette certainly had a silver tongue. In a relatively short time, she had convinced Rosie that Wendy was in the wrong.

'What Odette said makes sense. If Wendy didn't pull some strings, how could she have such freedom in the company? Besides, Odette said that Wendy had been on vacation these days. Kane he hadn't come back home these days, either.'

Suddenly, an idea came to Rosie that really shocked her. 'Could it be possible that Kane and Wendy had been together these days? But aren't Wendy and Luke in a relationship? What in the world is going on? Did she hook up with Kane after Luke dumped her?'

The more Rosie thought this over, the more she felt that this was plausible. She was growing angrier and angrier. "Bitch! She is doomed!"

'She knows full well that Kane is my husband, but she still attempts to seduce him! This is definitely revenge! This must be her vengeful act against me! She does this to spite me because I was close to Eris before! Bitch! A leopard cannot change its spots! Her true colors will always show and she can do nothing to change her nature to seduce men! First, Brian. And then Luke. Now she comes after Kane! I don't get myself involved in other people's businesses. Now that Wendy dares to go after my husband, I will never let her get away with this!'

Rosie got up from the sofa suddenly. She pushed back her anger and asked, "Didn't you just mention that Wendy is in my husband's office right now?"

"Yes."

Rosie quickly grabbed her bag and hurried to the elevator.

There was a dramatic change on Odette's face. She took hold of Rosie's wrist and asked her, "Mrs. Evans, what do you think you're doing?"

"I'm going to settle things with that bitch!"

Odette's face visibly paled out of fright. 'Damn it! Does she even have a brain? If she rushes upstairs to cause trouble for Wendy now, everyone will know without a doubt that I incited her to confront Wendy. How could Kane let me off then? Besides, Wendy is not in Kane's office at all. If Rosie goes there, I will be exposed.'

Odette hurried to persuade her to stay. 'Mrs. Evans, please try to calm yourself down.'

'Let go of me!'

Odette clutched Rosie's wrist tightly, unwilling to let her go. 'Mrs. Evans, you must listen to me. The problem won't be solved if you rush upstairs in a rage like this. Mr. Evans and Wendy are lovey-dovey. If you go upstairs and make a big deal out of things, this affair will be brought to light instantly. What if Mr. Evans wants to divorce you right on impulse?'
