

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 601 Been Pregnant for Two Months

After all, she had been stabbed and lost so much blood, which was definitely quite serious.

Lottie said, "When Jessica wakes up, I'll cook delicious food for her every day."

Ralph rubbed her head dotingly and said, "You're so good at cooking. Be careful she would eat too much."

"No, I won't."

Unlike all the other people present, Violet was not that optimistic.

"But what about the concert?"

During this time, Violet had got to be very close to Jessica, so she knew better than anyone that she had put in a lot of effort for the concert.

Every time they rehearsed, Jessica adjusted her position and movements over and over again to make a perfect show for the concert.

After they were signed into SFLE Media, Lottie and Natalia focused on film and television. Now they all had taken leading roles in the big-budget production directed by the famous Javion Heron.

Meanwhile, she and Jessica were focusing on music. And because of Bridge and her sister, she had attracted a lot of attention. Many people came to encourage her and became her fans.

And her talent had been discovered. As long as she continued to work hard, she would definitely shine one day.

However, Jessica did not have these advantages. Things would be better for her if she could join a group because she preferred dancing to singing.

But now, her dream of joining a group had come to an end. "Treasure 101" stopped broadcasting, and her skills seemed to be quite useless.

It wasn't easy for her to have a concert, so Jessica was very happy.

However, such a thing happened. Jessica was injured. She was destined not to go on stage for the upcoming concert.

For Jessica, this was really cruel.

Violet's eyes turned moist.

After hearing Violet's words, the people who had been relieved all fell into silence.

Lottie turned her face away and said in a muffled voice, "It's all my fault."

Violet hurriedly said, "I'm not blaming you. No one can expect this, and this is an accident. No one wanted it to happen."

If she were Jessica, she would also make the same choice. But as long as she thought of the hard work Jessica had put in before, she would still be a little sad.

Lottie shook her head, her self-blame and regret once again drowning her.

"Perhaps we could delay the concert?" Lottie asked hesitantly.

Ralph frowned. "No."

Lottie bit her lip. When she thought of the plan of Ralph and herself, she knew they couldn't delay the concert at will.

What should she do? If possible, she even wanted to take the place of Jessica and lie on the hospital bed, but it was impossible.

While everyone was silent, the sound of heavy and quick steps came from the corridor.

Then they heard Connie speak in a breathless voice, "How is Jessica? Where is Steve?"

Everyone looked in the direction of the sound and saw her loose hair and messy makeup.

Even her heels under her feet were broken, and the hem of her skirt was also in tatters. She was in a terrible mess.

Lottie was startled. Ralph silently took off his jacket and handed it to her.

Lottie took it without a word. She walked forward and tied the coat around Connie's waist, tying a knot with the sleeves.

Connie thanked her and then hurriedly asked, "Lottie, how is Jessica? Tell me quickly. Where is Stella? Is she all right?"

Stella poked her head out from behind her brothers and said in a clear voice, "Auntie Connie, I'm fine. Auntie Jessica is still inside. York said that she would be ok."

Connie breathed a sigh of relief after hearing Stella's words.

Lottie asked with worry, "How did you end up in such a sorry state? Where's Alfred? Didn't he get into a car accident?"

"Alfred was taken away by his housekeeper. I dragged him out of the car. That's why I looked so messy.

"How did you run into a car accident? Is his injury serious?"

"Don't worry, he's fine. It won't take long for him to be alive and kicking again."

It seemed that Connie didn't want to say too much. Her gaze swept across the persons present, and asked, "Where is Natalia? Where has she gone? Did something happen to her again?"

"No, she went to find Kayden."

Connie let out a sigh of relief, calmed down, and asked, "Where is Steve? This bastard, not only did he blackmail me, but he also wants to harm Stella! What an animal!"

Lottie got the point. "He's blackmailing you again?"

"Uh..."

Lottie looked at Connie seriously. "Connie, I believe that you can handle your own matters well, but aren't you being too soft-hearted?"

It was Connie's repeated tolerance that encouraged Steve's greed.

His appetite was like a bottomless pit that could never be filled even if Connie put herself in.

Connie gritted her teeth and said, "Yes, I was too soft-hearted and I make him so rude!"

"Lottie, tell me where he is. I'm going to get even with him now!"

Lottie looked at Ralph hesitantly.

Sure enough, Ralph walked up to her and put his arm around her shoulder. He explained to Connie, "The doctor took him in for a physical examination. You may wait for some time to see him."

Connie's heart skipped a beat. "A physical examination?"

"It's complicated. I'll tell you in detail later." Ralph said, "The only thing I can guarantee is that he won't die."

Another sentence in Ralph's heart was "But he would be more miserable than dying.

Sure enough, Ralph would never let go of Steve easily because he was so bold to kidnap his daughter.

Hearing Ralph's words, Connie nodded in understanding.

"It's okay. As long as you keep him alive, you can take revenge on him whenever you want."

Ralph glanced at Connie and said, "Don't worry. I am a law-abiding citizen. I won't do anything illegal."

However, he wanted Steve to take the consequences of his crime.

Ralph had many ways to make Steve uncomfortable.

Connie could not help but shiver when she saw Ralph's gloomy look.

She knew well why Ralph was so famous, and would not be so naive to think that he would let Steve go.

However, she had been too kind to Steve. If Steve had not saved her father's life, she would have even wanted him to die.

Therefore, she didn't care much about what Steve would encounter in the future.

"I'll leave Steve to you. You don't have to tell me what he would end up with," Connie said coldly.

Lottie touched Connie's face with her hand and asked in a low voice, "Connie, are you alright?"

Connie shook her head and was about to say something when the door of the emergency room was opened.

A nurse ran out in a panic.

Violet quickly went up to ask, "Excuse me, how is my friend?"

The nurse didn't stop and couldn't help complaining, "The patient has been pregnant for two months. Why didn't you tell us before?"

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 602 We Are A Couple

"What?"

Everyone looked thunderstruck when heard the news.

Jessica was pregnant. Did she know that? And who was the father of the child?

She had been pregnant for such a long time, but she had always been careless and practiced hard in the dancing room every day.

How could Jessica be so reckless?

At that moment, they were all concerned about Jessica's health and felt that Jessica was too careless.

Especially Lottie felt even more guilty now.

"She's pregnant. Don't you know?"

The nurse glanced at them and was surprised to find a group of big stars in front of her.

However, it was a matter of life and death, so she had no time to think about anything else. She just said honestly, "Get out of my way. The condition of the fetus is not well, and now she has lost too much blood. If she doesn't get blood in time, the child will die!"

With that, the nurse went to the blood bank for spare blood.

Seeing this, Lottie quickly said, "Please, can you use our blood her?"

"Which one of you is type-O?"

The nurse immediately asked.

Lottie was stunned. She wasn't of this blood type.

Ralph put his arm around Lottie's shoulder and said, "I'm type-O. Can I give her a blood transfusion?"

The nurse looked Ralph up and down and asked him about his recent health condition. After getting the answer, she said, "Okay, come with me."

There was not much type-O blood in the blood bank, so she took him there just in case.

"Okay."

Ralph answered and told York, "I'll be away for a while. Please keep an eye on them."

York nodded. "Don't worry."

"Don't be afraid. I'll be back soon."

After saying this to Lottie, Ralph left with the nurse.

After he left, Connie pulled Lottie to sit down on a chair by the side.

"Are you okay? You look so pale," Connie asked with concern.

Lottie shook her head and asked Connie, "Connie, if we can't save this child..."

"Don't worry too much. It's not your fault. Besides, Jessica may not even know that she's pregnant. Maybe she doesn't want to keep it herself."

"But..

."

After all, it was a life!

"Don't worry too much." Richeal comforted her lightly, "The doctor is still trying. Maybe everyone will be safe and sound."

Her words made sense. Lottie came to her senses and said, "Yes, they will definitely be safe!"

Then everyone kept silent.

Connie and Richeal had to consider other important issues, such as the concert, as well as informing the fans about the injury of Jessica.

As for who the father of the child was, they just would not want to think about it.

This was Jessica's privacy, and no one wanted to ask too much.

More than half an hour later, the doctor pushed out Jessica who was pale-faced and weak.

"The bleeding stopped, and the child is saved. She just took anesthetic, and may take some time for her to wake up."

The doctor explained the situation of Jessica to everyone.

After hearing this, Lottie let out a sigh of relief. Ralph returned from the blood infusion department and stayed by her side. He comforted her in a low voice, "I told you everything would be fine. Don't stress yourself out."

Lottie blinked her moist eyes and said nothing.

"The baby is safe for the time being, but the patient is still too weak. Be careful, otherwise, she will very likely have a miscarriage."

The doctor frowned. "The patient was too careless before. Her body was a mess, so the baby couldn't get enough food from her. It is not good for the mother and the baby!"

Lottie immediately pulled herself together and stepped forward to ask, "I'm sorry, doctor. We did not know about it.

What should we do next? We'll definitely take good care of her!"

After he heard Lottie's sincere words, and recognized Ralph, he sighed and said, "Alright, there are some points for attention. Come with me."

Lottie didn't suspect the doctor and wanted to follow him to the office.

Ralph stopped her and said, "I'm sorry, doctor. We want to see our friend first. If there is anything to pay attention to, just tell him. He will remember it clearly."

Ralph grabbed York and asked him to go with the doctor.

York knew that Ralph was worried about Lottie's safety, so he didn't stop him but nodded and said, "OK, Doctor, it's the same for you to tell me."

The doctor looked York up and down and pushed the glasses on his nose.

"Are you the child's father?"

York, "... Ah?"

Why was he suddenly being the father?

"You're too irresponsible. You can't leave her alone after making her pregnant! How can you be so irresponsible? You just enjoy it and don't care about her. What a scumbag you are!"

Seeing that York was speechless and hopeless, Richeal, who was next to him, laughed gloatingly.

York glanced at her and suddenly grabbed her, saying, "Doctor, you misunderstood. She was our friend, and this one and I are a couple."

The doctor frowned and stubbornly believed that York was a scumbag.

"Didn't you send her to the hospital? If it weren't for your special relationship, why would you run so fast?"

"Young man, you are too bad. Not only did you make a woman pregnant, but you also keep a foot in both camps. You're actually a scumbag!"

"If you live in the past, you would have been stoned to death by people!"

"...

Don't lie to me just because I'm young. Such punishment was for the women who cheat."

"Sometimes for men!" The doctor insisted.

Seeing that Richeal was about to burst out laughing, York felt helpless.

"Okay, forgot it. In order to make my sweetheart smile, it's not a problem for me to admit that I'm a scumbag." He thought.

However, he spread out his hands and said, "Doctor, you're mistaken. I love this lady from beginning to end. I've been pursuing her for many years. Don't make it harder for me."

Hearing York's sincere words, the doctor felt a little embarrassed.

"Is that so? I'm so sorry, young man."

After that, he looked at Richeal and said, "Little girl, this young man is not bad. He is good to his friends and devoted to you, and he is handsome. Do you want to give him a chance?"

Richeal was speechless.

With a poker face, she pushed away York's hand which was on her shoulder, and said, "Doctor, don't listen to his nonsense."

"This man is a person of two minds. He has been flirting with women everywhere. In essence, he is a jerk!"

He could even make up such a lie that he only loved her, and he also liked Lottie before!

This scumbag was a liar.

Hearing her words, the doctor looked at York with a different expression!

His disappointed look made everyone laugh.

Everyone felt much more relaxed because of York's joking.

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 603

Unable to Calm down

York had no choice but to give in.

Along the way, the doctor gave him a long lesson about philosophies in life, such as why one should cherish the one he loved.

York couldn't refute and listen to his advice obediently and helplessly.

Richeal was asked by Ralph to come over and listen to the doctor's instructions. When she saw York's expression, she was secretly pleased.

When they were aware of all the things to do and returned to the ward, they found that Jessica had woken up.

Lottie solemnly apologized to her with her three children.

Jessica sat on the bed with a pale face. The injury on her back made it difficult for her to even lean against the bed. Even when she wanted to sleep, she could only lie with her face down.

She didn't care at all when she heard Lottie's apology.

"I made my own choice. Fortunately, nothing happened to Stella. Otherwise, I would have regretted it!"

Jessica said that it was her suggestion to come out for dinner. She was also afraid that something bad would happen to Stella.

She had never felt that this was Lottie's fault. She could only blame herself for being unlucky.

"Aunt Jessica, thank you so much!"

Stella handed over a bunch of flowers. Just now, when Jessica was still sleeping, as a gift to say sorry, she had made these flowers with her brother. Daddy and Mommy had also helped.

"We did it ourselves. I hope you don't mind. I hope you can recover as soon as possible and give birth to a baby safely."

As a child, Stella remembered the doctor's words in mind and showed her concern. She wanted to give Jessica the best blessing as she thought.

Unexpectedly, after hearing this, Jessica was frozen.

She stared straight at Stella with sharp eyes.

"What did you just say?"

Stella was shocked by the sharp look in her eyes and subconsciously hid behind Lottie.

Lottie quickly protected her daughter, and then looked at Jessica with an embarrassed expression.

After thinking for a while, she finally chose to tell the truth. "Jessica, you have been pregnant for more than two months. The doctor just checked it out. Do you know it yourself?"

At that moment, Jessica's face turned pale.

She tightened her grip on the sheet, and the infusion noodle almost dropped.

Seeing this, Lottie hurried forward and pushed away Jessica's hand. "The blood is about to flow back. Relax.

Jessica looked at Lottie and obediently loosen her tightly clenched fist.

However, she still looked pale.

"About this child... do you want to talk to me?"

Jessica looked at Lottie and then at the others in the ward, still silent.

Lottie said, "Ralph, could you please take the children and Connie out first? I'll talk to her alone, okay?"

Ralph frowned slightly. He was a little worried.

At this moment, he couldn't rest assured as long as Lottie was out of his sight.

Lottie pushed Ralph away and said softly, "Stay at the door. I'll be fine."

Ralph reluctantly agreed.

The group of people was about to leave. Violet hesitated for a moment, then looked back at Jessica and asked softly, "Can I stay?"

Lottie looked at Jessica and asked for her opinion.

Jessica gave a wry smile and said, "OK."

Violet nodded and the others left. Only the three of them were left in the ward.

Lottie came over and closed the ward door. She did not forget to remind Elijah and Ralph, "Don't eavesdrop."

Elijah and Fabian exchanged glances. The latter nodded unwillingly.

In fact, they were quite curious about what was going on with Aunt Jessica's baby.

Ralph also agreed, indicating that he would not eavesdrop.

Only then did Lottie feel satisfied. She closed the door and walked toward Jessica.

"What the hell is going on? Jessica, aren't you single?"

Jessica didn't speak for a long time.

Lottie turned around and poured a glass of hot water for Jessica, gently placing it on the table next to her.

Jessica thanked her. When her fingers touched the warm glass, she felt much warmer than before.

Finally, she plucked up her courage and said, "I don't know who the father of the child is."

Violet and Lottie looked at her in surprise.

Jessica looked at their surprised eyes and smiled wryly.

"You must think it's incredible," said Jessica. "But I had no choice at that time."

"What do you mean by that? Have you been bullied?" Lottie said seriously.

Jessica tightened her grip on the cup, and blue veins stood up on the back of her hand.

"Violet, sometimes I really envy you."

Because of her past experiences, Violet was very sensitive and immediately looked up to Jessica.

She couldn't help but hold her arm. "Did something bad happen to you? Like my sister."

Jessica smiled wanly. "No, I'm much more despicable than your sister."

Her words made the ward suddenly be so quiet that even a pin drop could be heard.

"I did it voluntarily."

Helen had been deceived by Bridge, but Helen herself was unwilling.

But she was willing to do something like this and wanted to take revenge on her family with her own destruction.

However, in the end, the only person she could take revenge on was herself.

Except for herself, no one cared what happened to her in the end.

Lottie looked at Jessica's expression and felt that there was something else behind it.

"What happened to you at that time?" Lottie looked at her sternly. "Jessica, if you still think we are friends, then tell us everything that happened to you, so that we can help you."

"That's really embarrassing." Jessica looked at Lottie. "You know, not everyone is as pure and selfless as you are."

There were complicated emotions in Jessica's eyes.

"Sometimes, I really envy you."

They were clearly the same kind of person, so how could Lottie live so happily?

She had her husband who doted on her, well-behaved and lovely children, and so many sincere friends around her.

She had money, power, and status. Most importantly, she had so many families who really loved her.

This Lottie was practically the winner of her life.

But Jessica had nothing.

No future, no family, no love, and no friends.

What she had was only a piece of miserable past which was like trash that no one cared about, releasing an astonishing stench.

Lottie wasn't unfamiliar with this kind of gaze at all.

Everyone was envious of her current life, but they didn't know how she had suffered.

If the one who looked at her with such a look was a stranger who didn't know her well, she would absolutely ignore her.

But now, the person who looked at her like this was her good friend who had just saved her daughter.

Lottie took a deep breath and asked Jessica, "Do you find it difficult to calm down?"

Jessica was stunned for a moment. She lowered her head to deliberate her words and suddenly nodded.

"It's indeed hard for me to calm down," said Jessica. "Because I should have had a life like yours."

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 604 You Want to Break Up with Me

"What do you mean?"

Lottie narrowed her eyes and went straight to the point. "I've always had a feeling these past few days that you seem to be quite dissatisfied with me. You seem to be secretly poking at my emotions."

Violet was at a loss when she heard Lottie's words.

She thought she was here to comfort Jessica now that she knew the truth, but unexpectedly, the atmosphere between the two friends of hers suddenly became tense.

She was very nervous and stammered, "Wait... Wait, aren't we talking about the child now? Why did you suddenly mention something like that?"

Lottie looked quite serious however and said, "Violet, leave us alone."

If she didn't get to the bottom of her doubts, she felt like she was never going to get rid of them.

And she couldn't really be sincere in front of Jessica.

Jessica lowered her head and said after a long time, "So you know. You're quite sharp."

Lottie was speechless.

She was also stunned. She didn't expect that Jessica would admit it so directly.

Therefore, it was really what Jessica had wanted, and she was secretly trying to sow discord between her and the children.

Those were not her illusions.

Lottie's eyelashes fluttered, and she was a little sad.

Finally, she asked, "Why?"

Although Jessica was ready to throw caution to the wind, she still didn't dare to meet her eyes.

She turned her head and said, "Why? Because I'm jealous of you."

"Lottie, you're like the pure white moon in the sky. The more beautiful you are, the more despicable I looked."

Not like before, Jessica spoke quite confidently now.

Violet's eyes widened when she heard the perfect pronunciation and understood the meaning of her words.

"Who will always be willing to become a foil?" Jessica continued with a mocking tone. "You are definitely happy with such a good life, I really want to pull you down from so high above, so that you can never look down on us from above."

Lottie was speechless.

She said with difficulty, "When did I look down on you from above?"

"You can't feel it yourself, but your sense of superiority is about to drown me."

Jessica snorted. "Everyone around is so worried about you. Everyone is so nice to you. You should be very proud, right?"

Lottie clenched her fists tightly by her side and looked expressionlessly at Jessica, not saying a word.

Violet looked at Lottie and then at Jessica.

"Enough! Jessica, are you crazy? Did you hurt your brain just now? That's not what you think!" Violet tried to stop Jessica from talking.

Probably because she had been sitting for a long time, the effect of the anesthetic began to fade. Jessica felt the pain coming from the wound on her back.

Fine beads of sweat appeared on Jessica's forehead, but she stubbornly refused to stop.

"Violet, aren't you too naive?"

"You believe whatever I say. I said those words before because I wanted to deliberately approach you and get you to trust me."

"I lied to you before that I didn't speak the language well. In fact, it was also my manager's idea. He said that it could help me to improve my identification and get me more fans."

"My grandfather is a diplomat. How can I not know how to speak English?"

Jessica looked at Violet and said, "I was lying to you from the beginning. What I said was mostly just lies. I deliberately befriended you just to get benefits from you guys."

Violet's face turned pale and she looked at Jessica in disbelief.

"You... you're lying."

They had been together and practiced together for so long. During the time when Bridge was caught, Jessica had been busy with her and comforted her, just to help her out of the abyss as soon as possible.

But now, Jessica said that everything was just a lie and she was lying to her.

How was this possible?

Jessica sneered again. "The Lena families are so simple. No wonder your sister was so easily fooled.

Violet suddenly stood up and slapped Jessica hard in the face.

"You're not allowed to say that about my sister!"

Jessica felt hot on her cheek with those five clear marks, and she smiled cruelly.

"You can't stand it now? I can even say something more exciting. Do you want to hear it?"

Violet glared at her, her eyes red.

"You and your sister won't make it in this industry at all. You don't have a powerful background like Lottie's. You can only be bullied to death by others in the industry. Your fate may be worse than your sister's. Do you believe it?"

Violet's lips trembled and she raised her hand, but when she saw her pale face, she couldn't bear it.

"I can pretend not to hear what you said today," Violet said, "I'll come back again when you really wake up."

After that, regardless of the other two, she opened the door of the ward and rushed out.

Lottie took two steps forward. When she saw that she couldn't catch up, she stopped.

"Are you feeling better now?" Lottie turned to look at Jessica with surprising calm.

Jessica curled her lips and said, "Violet is a fool. A few words can make her so angry. She couldn't bring any sense of achievement for me at all."

"You, on the other hand, are calmer than I thought." She looked at Lottie playfully and asked, "Aren't you angry?"

"Of course I'm angry," Lottie replied.

Jessica didn't believe it.

Lottie said, "But if I'm too angry, it will satisfy you. When I learn about this, I am not angry all of a sudden.

Jessica, "..."

"Let me guess why you suddenly said those unpleasant words and wanted to push Violet and me away from you."

Jessica's body stiffened slightly.

"You may have hesitated before, or maybe you have really thought about making my life unhappy."

"No, I really want to hurt you."

"Then why am I still fine?"

Jessica was speechless.

"If you really want to hurt me, you don't have to be so honest. You just saved my daughter, so I have more trust and guilt for you than ever."

Lottie said, "As for your child, you could have made up a story to make me pity you, and then make use of my gratitude and sympathy for you to achieve your goal."

"But you didn't. Instead, you said these harrowing words. Do you want to break up with me?"

"Why? Are you afraid that someone will use you to hurt me?"

It had to be said that Lottie was really too smart. She had almost figured out what was on Jessica's mind.

Even if Jessica himself didn't want to admit it, in fact, Lottie had really guessed everything right.

"Lincoln..." Jessica suddenly said a name, his voice trembling. "He once came to me."

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 605 You Don't Even Know You've Been Sold

Lottie's breathing became a little heavier as she carefully sized up Jessica.

"Lincoln? When did he come to you?"

"About two or three months ago..."

Lottie's expression turned grave in an instant, and a thought came to her.

"You don't say..."

"I know what you're thinking, but the baby in my belly has nothing to do with him."

"Thank God."

Lottie couldn't help but let out a sigh of relief.

If it was really Lincoln's child, then this matter would be a little difficult to resolve.

After all, Lincoln was more or less an enemy to them.

If Ralph had known that Lincoln had such a secret, he might have wanted to make use of it.

But on the other hand, the child was innocent. And Jessica was their friend.

That would be terrible.

Fortunately, the child was not Lincoln's.

"However, the child's father does have something to do with Lincoln."

Lottie felt worried again all of a sudden.

Such sense made her feel uncomfortable all over.

"Well..."

Jessica lowered her head and didn't dare to look at Lottie.

With her eyes wandering, she touched her belly for a moment and finally made a decision.

"I want to abort it."

Lottie was confused.

She looked at Jessica with a complicated expression. "As a friend, I actually hope that you can make this decision. As a single mother, it's not easy to make it in the industry."

Jessica looked relaxed. Obviously, she also had such concerns.

"And you don't know who the father of the child is. It's not fair for the child nor you."

The lack of a father would have a great impact on the child.

A child should also be the result of love. Raising them shouldn't be Jessica's responsibility alone.

However, after saying so much, she finally asked, "Are you willing? At that time, I mean.

Jessica fell silent.

This was a very tough question.

She knew that if Jessica had wanted to abort this child from the very beginning, she wouldn't have lied in front of her and forced Violet to leave.

She must have thought about how to keep this child and had tried her best to do so.

"Since this child has something to do with Lincoln, and after I think about what you just did, I guess he will use this child to threaten you?"

Jessica gave a wry smile.

"You're really smart."

She had guessed everything.

"More than two months ago, I didn't know you at that time."

Jessica began to narrate her past.

At that time, to escape from the marriage, she came to Rexwell alone.

To pursue the so-called dream of being an idol she signed herself into a media company.

She only had a general understanding of Rexwell from her grandfather's words and knew that it was a city full of opportunities.

Her grandfather said that as long as a person kept working hard for their goal, he would finally succeed there.

And so she believed.

She had thought that she would sacrifice her dream and happiness for the sake of her family and get married.

But in the end, she ran away.

She wanted to decide her destiny. Even if she would fight against the whole world, she would not give in.

At that time, Jessica was so naive and full of hope for everything.

But the reality soon taught her a painful lesson.

"My wallet and passport were stolen at the airport."

Jessica was still indignant when she thought of it.

If she had any other ways to go, she would not have made such a hasty decision.

She would not sink into the trouble step by step and now regret it so much.

Lottie frowned. "You can ask the airport staff for help or call the police when you lost your stuff.

There were cameras in the airport. She could usually take things back.

Especially because Jessica was a foreigner, the police should pay more attention and tried their best to help her.

Jessica said, "But I escaped from the wedding. I was afraid that I would attract too much attention, and then my family would find me. They would take me back."

Lottie was speechless.

In fact, she was too cautious. The world was big enough that no one would guess exactly that you had run to Rexwell at the very moment.

"I was too panicked at that time. In the end, I sat at the exit and cried desperately. Someone handed me a business card."

Lottie was surprised. "Lincoln?"

"No, no, I haven't met him yet."

"As I said, he is not the kind of person who gives his business card to every good-looking girl."

Although Jessica was still unusually upset, she almost laughed out loud when he heard those words.

However, she just smiled a little.

"One of the persons who gave me the business cards is the owner of the hotel. He asked me if I want to live there. And the other one is my former agent."

The agent said that he was from IN Media and was now looking for a potential artist for some variety show. He thought Jessica was very pretty, and he couldn't help but come over to ask her.

Jessica was so nervous that she accidentally mistook IN Media for EE Media.

Before SFLE Media was acquired, it was called EE media, one of the largest and most experienced entertainment companies in the country.

Jessica was shocked.

She only felt that there must always be a way out.

She happened to pursue her dream here. If she had a chance to get on the variety show, it would be a good thing for her!

After she heard what Jessica said, Lottie felt that it was absurd.

"Have you ever seen a formal agency would pick up some random girl at the airport for a show?" She hated herself for not being able to live up to her expectations. She was so disappointed with Jessica for her muddle that she pointed at her forehead and said, "How naive you are! You had no idea what could possibly be on his mind."

Jessica was not convinced and retorted, "I put forward my terms and even checked his ID card at that time!"

After confirming that he was an agent indeed and had a way to help her get on a variety show, she agreed to go with him.

Of course, the agent had indeed lied to her.

When Jessica arrived at the company, she found that she had been deceived. She was stopped by his agent when about to leave.

The agent had already figured out her situation very clearly on the way. He knew that she was penniless and did not dare to call the police. There was no place for her to go now.

The agent took out several thousand dollars and handed it to Jessica.

He also told her that although they were just a small company, they had all the necessary procedures. He said that he was really optimistic about Jessica and thought that she would definitely stand out in the variety show.

Then, the agent took her to the office to meet the boss of the company.

The boss showed her all kinds of certificates, and she could even find out the company's information online. They did have one or two famous stars.

After Jessica read all those documents, heard what her agent and boss said, and thought about her situation, she finally had no choice but to stay. But she still signed a special contract with her agency with great caution.

Jessica was not stupid. Of course, she should try her best to protect her own interests.

After she heard it all, Lottie was still confused. "So, how did you end up meeting Lincoln?"

Jessica's expression became gloomy. .

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 606 My Apology

Although IN Media was a real company, it was nothing good and its management was chaotic.

Neither did the trainees enjoy the benefits they had promised, nor did they have much freedom for their own careers.

It was not until later that Jessica was told that her decent-looking agent was more a broker.

At first, Jessica was not even quite sure what it meant by "broker".

Later, the agent took her to all kinds of banquets to introduce her to some of their investors. He told her she could find more opportunities to stand out this way.

But in fact, whenever Jessica went to those banquets and drank with those so-called investors and producers, she felt very uncomfortable.

However, Jessica did not overthink it and thought that they were just too enthusiastic when they were pawing her.

Later she realized how gross these people were.

Luckily, she had never been drunk before and they never made it to do anything to her.

Until one day, she felt her whole body ignited after only a small sip.

She knew something must be wrong, and she pushed her agent away and left the private room.

The agent had been soothing her before, but when he saw that she was going to run away again, he finally got angry.

Being chased down by the agent and his men, Jessica hid in the men's bathroom in a panic.

It was also then that she met Lincoln, who had just returned from abroad.

"Lincoln helped me."

Jessica lowered her head and said word by word.

Lincoln was a velvet paw. Anyone who did not know his true colors would think that he was a real gentleman.

He was gentle and sincere. When he looked at you sincerely, it was as if he would care about nothing else but you in this world.

At that time, Jessica's heart was pounding like crazy, and when she saw Lincoln, she mistakenly took it as a signal of love.

Her heart couldn't help beating faster. She even thought that she finally met her Mr. Right.

Instead of taking advantage of the situation, Lincoln sent Jessica to the hospital.

After learning about Jessica's situation, he came forward to negotiate with IN Media about the contract with Jessica. Finally, he helped her get a real contract that could really ensure her interests.

The contract stipulated that Jessica did not have to participate in any banquet. In addition, the company also had to arrange a daily training lesson for Jessica.

When Jessica saw this contract, she was extremely surprised.

Lincoln had easily accomplished what she had always wanted to do, and didn't ask her for anything in return.

Lincoln had even won her a spot for the variety show.

That was Treasure 101.

Lincoln was such an elegant gentleman with the charm of a mature demeanor who had helped her so much.

Jessica's heart fell.

She had been looking forward to meeting Lincoln every day. Even a few simple words with him would make her happy for a long time.

Jessica even thought about confessing to Lincoln one day.

Unlike most people, in her opinion, it was only natural to express her feelings directly.

Just as Jessica was planning to confess to Lincoln, Lincoln took the lead in making an appointment with her.

Jessica was overjoyed and happily went to the appointment. She didn't expect to see his real colors that day.

"Lincoln is a lunatic."

Jessica was frightened and lost in the memory of that miserable nightmare.

Lottie had been quietly listening by the side, but when she saw her sorrowful face, she couldn't help but step forward and hug her.

Smelling the clean and fresh scent and feeling the warmth of Lottie, Jessica came to her sense.

"I'm fine," said Jessica. "Thank you."

Lottie shook her head and asked, "What did Lincoln do to you?"

"That day..." Jessica remembered. "He seems to be in a very good mood."

Lincoln even pointed to the woman on TV and told her that this woman was his lifelong pursuit. He would never let her go.

Jessica suddenly lost her love before she could confess. She was stunned at that moment.

She cast a tear-full glance at the woman on the screen and found it was the most popular actress, Natalia.

"Natalia... Isn't she already married?"

Jessica heard herself asking.

Lincoln, who had been drinking and celebrating, seemed to have changed into another person after hearing her words.

All of a sudden, he put down the glass and then grabbed Jessica by the neck.

His expression, which had always been gentle, became fierce in an instant.

"Who told you she's married? She was deceived by Kayden! He doesn't love her at all. They're going to divorce soon!"

She was strangled that she could hardly breathe.

Seeing Lincoln deluding himself, Jessica's heart couldn't help sinking.

He was too stubborn. Jessica even felt that he was as pitiful as herself.

"She is mine, and she will only belong to me forever."

Jessica was unable to speak but could only try to get rid of Lincoln's hands.

And at the same time, the TV continued, "It's said that the popular actress Natalia succeeded in marrying into a rich and powerful family all because of her scheme. She stole the marriage that originally belonged to her best friend and used all means to force Mr. Chapman to marry her. Now the truth is exposed, and she even wants to kill her best friend who grew up with her..."

"Nonsense!" Lincoln seemed to be enraged by this report.

He suddenly shook off Jessica and shouted at the TV.

Jessica was thrown on the tea table out of the blue, and smashed the wine glasses. The red wine flowed out, and the broken pieces of the glass pricked into the back of Jessica's head.

The blood flowing from her wound mixed in the red wine, and she could not even tell whether that was blood or just wine.

Lincoln crazily turned around and looked at Jessica. "Don't you think Natalia is the most innocent and pitiful one?"

"Why does everyone bully her? Why? Just because she is so kind?"

"Go to hell! I'm going to kill all those who bullied her!"

Lincoln said word by word. His words of hate made Jessica frightened.

She realized that something must be wrong with Lincoln that day.

She wanted to run away, but Lincoln grabbed her back.

"What are you running for?" Lincoln looked at Jessica expressionlessly as if he was looking at a corpse. "You like me, don't you? The way you look at me makes me sick."

"Every time, I have to try my best to control my desire to dig your eyes out."

He leaned against Jessica's ear, whispering like a demon.

Jessica couldn't help trembling all over. Only then did she realize how Lincoln thought about her love for him.

"Let me go!" Jessica was frightened and kept struggling.

However, Lincoln was much stronger than her.

Moreover, Lincoln was well prepared.

He threw Jessica aside as if she was some garbage, and then called his men over.

"Does Bridge hold a party?" Lincoln said to his men in a soft voice. "Send her over as a gift and apologize for my absence." .

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 607 Send Jessica away

Lottie did not know what to say.

She knew that she did not need to continue.

Jessica's face had been full of tears.

Lottie immediately grabbed her tightly into her arms, allowing her to cry silently on her shoulder.

Everyone could imagine what a nightmare the party would be.

Jessica had never expected that she would be ruined by the man she trusted and loved so much.

This incident broke all of Jessica's love for Lincoln and taught her well what kind of men Lincoln and Bridge were.

The next day, she left the villa and stayed in her room for three whole days and nights.

After those three days, Jessica moved out of the dormitory.

During this time, she went out for shooting advertisements only occasionally, and after making some money, she found a random apartment to live in.

Although the apartment was small, she felt more at ease living in it than in the dormitory arranged by the company.

Most importantly, she did not want Lincoln to find her again.

In fact, Lincoln had never looked for her anymore.

It was as if they had spent some time after they met each other by chance. And after they saw the true colors of each other, they hated each other.

Jessica continued her life as a trainee while confronting her agent with her wits. Then, she came to "Treasure 101" and met Lottie and the others.

She would not give up her dream so easily, but when she saw Natalia participate in the same program as her, her heart could not help but thump.

At first, she was even very unwilling.

She had even thought about why she could not be compared to Natalia.

When she saw that Lottie and Natalia were targeted by Rose Chapman and Eve Smith, she secretly prayed that it would be best if they could be driven out of the show. She didn't want to see Natalia again, nor did she want to think about what that man had done.

She just wanted to take part in the show, make a debut, and realize her dream smoothly.

After that, she would go home and told her parents that she was right. She could get happiness by herself.

However, she had never expected that God's will would make things difficult for her. She had chosen the same song as Natalia in the same group.

To be honest, Jessica had her own purpose when she decided to form a group with Natalia and the others.

She still found it difficult to calm down and wanted to take a closer look at Natalia to find out why a person like Lincoln could go crazy for her.

However, in the later interactions, she discovered that Lottie and Natalia were all open-minded.

They were not afraid of power, regardless of their own safety, and were resolutely fighting against the hidden rules.

Lottie even defeated Bridge completely even if he had such a powerful backer.

Not everyone had such courage, and not everyone had such confidence as her.

It had to be said that Jessica was stuck in admiration and jealousy.

If she had been supported by someone and if she could find a husband as powerful as Ralph, would she not have been treated like that by Lincoln back then?

What happened that night which was like a nightmare would never happen either.

She could still pursue her dream merrily.

"I'm really jealous of you. Lottie, why do you have so many people protecting you? And I... have nothing."

Jessica cried while telling the truth.

Seeing her crying, Lottie hurriedly comforted her.

It was not appropriate for a pregnant woman to be too excited, let alone that Jessica had just suffered such a serious injury.

Lottie was afraid that the wound on her back would crack because of her intense emotions.

Although Jessica said she was jealous, when Stella was in danger, she still made the decision.

She was willing to protect Stella even if she would be slashed and hurt.

It meant that Jessica actually regarded her as a friend.

Jessica was not in a good state. She was tired from crying and fell asleep.

Lottie carefully adjusted her posture, so that she could lie on the bed on her stomach.

After sighing beside the bed, Lottie turned around and left helplessly.

She had never expected that fate had been so tough with Jessica and she was deceived by Lincoln before.

Lincoln was indeed a vicious person.

According to Jessica's description, the day Lincoln went crazy was probably during the time Yara was back here, while Natalia and Kayden were about to divorce.

Lincoln had already started planning all of this. He had probably done a lot of work before.

"He's really a tough guy.

Lottie muttered to herself as she opened the ward door.

As soon as she reached the door, Ralph and the others immediately surrounded her.

"What happened? Why did Violet run away just now?"

Lottie looked at York and Richeal, and shook her head slightly.

"It's a little complicated. I'll tell you when I've sorted it out."

After that, she pulled Ralph to the side.

"Jessica just told me that she had contact with Lincoln before. Lincoln lied to her."

Ralph looked at Lottie in surprise. "Then the child she was carrying..."

"It's not Lincoln's." Lottie frowned and hesitated whether to tell him.

Seeing her expression, Ralph could probably guess something. He nodded and asked, "What does she think of this child?"

"She wanted to abort it," Lottie said. "But I don't think she really meant it in fact."

Later on, Jessica didn't answer her question of whether she was willing to give up. She avoided it and changed the topic to something else. However, she knew that probably Jessica didn't get the answer either.

Lottie looked at Ralph and said word by word.

"She's not in a good mood, but she has fallen asleep now.

"

"I have an idea but I don't know whether it could really work."

Ralph smiled as he looked at Lottie.

"Tell me, what can I do for you?"

"Seriously." Lottie patted him with a serious face. "Although Jessica said that she had not met Lincoln for two months, I still feel that she didn't tell me the truth."

Or in other words, Jessica only said what she wanted to say, and hid a bigger secret from them.

Ralph frowned. "What do you mean? Lincoln went to see Jessica later? When you were in the variety show?"

"Perhaps. It's also possible that Lincoln asked Rose to tell Jessica something."

Ralph immediately understood what she meant. He raised an eyebrow and asked, "Do you want me to send Jessica away?"

Lottie nodded heavily. "Send her to her parents, or send her to Odense. Ask the Bells or the Bartons to take care of her."

Jessica could decide whether she would give birth to the child or not at her will.

But this child could not become a tool for someone to threaten Jessica.

On the other hand, it could block the connection between Jessica and Lincoln, preventing Jessica from betraying them.

Lincoln was too crazy. Sending Jessica away might be a way to protect her.

Ralph was silent for a moment and said, "Good idea. But we still have to ask Jessica for her consent."

If Jessica refused to cooperate, it would hurt the friendship between them if they sent her away rashly, and probably caused new problems.

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 608 Lancy Berry Had Been Found

"Let's talk about it after Jessica wakes up."

"Okay."

Ralph held Lottie's hand and shook it gently. "You have a rough day."

Lottie looked at Ralph in surprise. "Why?"

She did not do anything. Why did Ralph say that?

"I guess Jessica just said something unpleasant to you, right?" Ralph was right.
"Something that could even drive Violet away, but not you."

He grabbed her hand and kissed it.

And he looked at Lottie affectionately.

Lottie was stunned for a moment, then smiled.

Her smile was as beautiful as a flower.

Ralph held her in his arms. He felt that he wanted to dote on her for the rest of his life.

"You will meet a lot of people in your life, and you will also encounter a lot of helplessness. I can bear some pain for you, but sometime, the pain will come from the emotional feedback caused by your friends and families. I am not able to protect you from being hurt all the time."

"But I hope that if you feel sad or uncomfortable, you must come to me."

"If we share some emotions together, we won't feel oppressed or aggrieved."

Ralph said love words to her in a low voice.

Lottie's eyes went moist. She hadn't thought much of it at first, but now that she heard Ralph's gentle words, she suddenly felt aggrieved.

"I didn't look down on anyone," Lottie said.

Ralph took a deep breath and said, "I know."

In her eyes, everyone was equal.

Perhaps it was because she had suffered before, or maybe it was because of her nature, she respected everyone's efforts and never value others with their status.

She would not use her power to bully others, nor would she look down on others because their life was not as good as hers.

But there were too many people in the world who was jealous of her life.

"You deserve everything you have now." Ralph said, "Don't let your emotions be affected by others' jealousy."

"That's true, but it's really hard not to be affected by others' evaluation."

"I know it's very difficult." Ralph looked down at Lottie. "But you've never been alone. I'll always be by your side."

Lottie sniffed and whispered, "You'll spoil me."

"That's what I wish for." Ralph smiled.

While they were whispering, Connie couldn't help shouting behind them, "Lottie, have you finished your lovey-dovey words? Stella and the others are a little sleepy. Should we send them back to rest?"

Lottie responded and turned around, only to see her three darlings staring at her with bright eyes.

"Well."

"Go back and rest." Ralph made a decision for Lottie and asked her, "Did you tell Jessica about the concert?"

Lottie was speechless. "I forgot."

She wanted to ask who the child was. Later, Jessica and she both focused on other topics, so she forgot to tell her about it.

"The concert is coming, and you may have to choreograph again."

Jessica's dance parts should be given to someone else.

Now, they had to find Violet and Natalia and discuss it again.

Ralph was a man of action. After asking York to take the children home to rest, and Richeal to deal with some public relations issues on the Internet, he called Natalia and Violet over to take a final rehearsal with Lottie.

Half an hour later, everyone gathered in the practice room of SFLE Media.

Natalia and Kayden had also arrived. Kayden greeted Ralph as soon as he saw him.

"Uncle, my mother has been found. Thank you."

Kayden was already on the way to take the plane abroad, but before he got on the plane, Sean brought Natalia to him.

After talking about that, Natalia finally convinced Kayden to take her with him.

At this moment, Eddy called Kayden to confirm if the person he rescued was Lancy Berry.

Kayden checked the video and confirmed that the woman who had been rescued was his mother, so he gave up the idea of going abroad.

Then, they received a notice from Ralph, asking Natalia to come to SFLE Media.

Natalia and Kayden opened their minds. Now Natalia was in a good mood, not as discouraged as before.

The main reason was that she was very sure that Kayden loved her.

"Lottie, how is Jessica now?"

"She was slashed in the back. The doctor said that she can't do strenuous exercise for the time being. She has to lie on the bed until she gets better."

"Then the concert..."

"She can't go."

"God..." Natalia frowned and felt very sad.

At the same time, she blamed herself very much. If she could help her when the incident happened, would the result be different?

She had tried to persuade Lottie not to think too much, but now, she did the same thing as Lottie.

Lottie took a deep breath and said, "There's no time to be sad. We still have a concert. We don't have much time."

"Yes, I'm fine!" Natalia said.

Lottie nodded and turned to look at Violet.

Violet avoided her gaze and looked a little unnatural.

"Violet, what about you?"

"I..." Violet wanted to say something, but after hesitating for a while, she finally replied awkwardly, "I have nothing to say, and I have no problem with training."

On the surface, Violet said that there was no problem, but in fact, she still had something on her mind.

Lottie could tell, but she didn't ask her.

After greeting Ralph, she rehearsed with Natalia and Violet.

Kayden and Ralph stood by the side, helping to hold their wives' clothes while discussing the progress of the matter.

"Uncle, it's all thanks to you."

If Ralph had not helped in time, his mother would not have been found so quickly.

After asking, she learned that Lancy was kidnapped by the head of another group of traveling teams.

Lancy was locked in a warehouse, all people she met were foreigners who could not understand what she was saying and could not help her.

Lancy had been hungry for two days, which almost made her dehydrate. Fortunately, she had not been tortured.

This was because Lincoln had no time to torture Lancy, otherwise, she would be far more miserable.

"Eddy found her. You should thank him."

"Eddy is also your man."

Ralph smiled and looked at Kayden. "Lincoln is a very strong enemy. If you don't grow up as soon as possible, no one can protect you for the rest of your life."

Kayden's expression became serious. He understood what Ralph meant.

"I'm sorry, uncle. I was too reckless this time. I will learn more from you in the future!"

If Ralph had not stopped him, he might have canceled the concert first, which would drive a wedge between Natalia and himself.

If it weren't for Natalia, he wouldn't even know that he had ignored her feeling during this time.

He was determined that he would never make the same mistake again! .

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 609

You're Not the Only Substitute

"You have solved the problem of your mother, is it time to solve your father's?"

Being stared at by Ralph, Kayden suddenly felt like he was being stared at by a teacher.

He couldn't help standing up straight and answered seriously, "I've sent someone to investigate. There seems to be something wrong with the people my dad just knew."

"What's wrong?"

"Recently, it seems that he made friends with many foreigners."

Ralph frowned. "Are you sure?"

Kayden nodded and said with certainty, "And those people didn't look like ordinary people. They look a little like..."

"Mercenary." Ralph interrupted him.

Kayden's eyes lit up. "Yes! He looks like my uncle and his comrade-in-arms!"

Ralph pursed his lips tightly and sneered.

"What's wrong?" Kayden was confused.

"Don't you find it strange? How did your father hook up with my brother's men?"

Kayden's eyes widened. "You mean..."

"My brother's men have been bribed by him. I'm afraid he will continue to deal with you in the future and want to take back the Chapman Group from you."

"Ah..." Kayden looked a little arrogant. "I'm not really want to look down on him. But my dad is really not good at doing business at all. Even if he wants to take back the company from me, he has to see if the old fogeys of the board agree."

Ralph's gaze swept across him indifferently.

"I told you not to underestimate the enemy before. Had you forgotten about it?"

Kayden, "...

I'm sorry, uncle."

"Did your father dare to smash the office before? Did he dare to hook up with my brother's men and take his mistress away from me openly?"

Hearing Ralph's question, Kayden's face turned paler and paler.

"Uncle, do you mean that my father and Lincoln have joined forces?"

"Most likely."

Kayden clenched his fists, gritted his teeth, and said, "He clearly knew that Lincoln and I were fighting for Natalia, but he still... Does he care about me?"

"Didn't you already know who he really values?"

To Ank, his son Kayden was just a tool for him to sustain his standard of living, and Rose Chapman was the daughter he truly approved of.

Otherwise, he wouldn't have treated her so differently back then.

Ralph's words made Kayden speechless.

"Just because he doesn't like my mother, so he doesn't like me either?"

Ralph sneered and said, "Don't be narcissistic. In all fairness, not everyone is as blind as Natalia."

Kayden didn't know what to say.

For some reason, Ralph seemed to be very mean today.

Ralph thought of what had happened to the people around him as if they had always been tricked by Lincoln.

How could he be in a good mood after failing to get rid of Lincoln till now?

"Cut the crap. Ask your men to keep an eye on your father, although I still call him brother for the sake of our father. If he dares to do anything irrational again, don't blame me if I must drive him out of our family."

Kayden's expression got serious and he immediately said, "I'll call him right now to make an appointment!"

Without waiting for Ralph to speak, he took his phone and went to the side to make a phone call.

Ralph's gaze was deep as he stared at Lottie, who was not far away. Her top had been lifted a little and revealed her slender waist.

Her slender waist was so white that it dazzled Ralph's eyes. He thought to himself, "Such a costume is not allowed for the concert!"

The costume must cover all the places that should be covered!

He called Sean over and whispered in his ear for a while.

Sean nodded seriously and soon left.

F.Y. Entertainment.

"Crash!" The goblet on the table was swept to the ground by Lincoln and smashed into pieces.

The woman sitting opposite him smiled and said, "Don't be so irritable."

"What do you know?"

Lincoln glared at the woman viciously. "Do you know that Ralph has reported many of my strongholds?"

Not to mention the French restaurant, Ralph found out about several other money-making places and reported them in all kinds of incredible ways, saying that they violated the rules and needed to be checked.

In just a few hours, he had indirectly lost 30 million!

In the past, 30 million was just a number, but for Lincoln, it was now the money he needed!

Without money, how could he afford those mercenaries!

How could he pay for other subordinates? How could he destroy Kayden's proposal?

The woman shrugged her shoulders and gave him a smile, and then calmly said, "Are you still thinking about going to the concert?"

Since Lincoln did not refute, the woman smiled again and said, "I advise you to give up this idea as soon as possible. Natalia and Kayden have been together for so long that you don't know how many times she has slept with him in a place where you can't see. Why are you obsessed with such a woman?"

Lincoln's expression turned extremely choleric in an instant, and he suddenly grabbed the woman's neck.

"How dare you say that!"

Although being choked, the woman was not flustered at all but stared straight at Lincoln.

"Do you want to kill me?" She squeezed out a few words from her throat.

Lincoln looked fierce and murderous.

However, meeting the gaze of the woman, he gave in and finally let go of her.

The woman was thrown on the sofa. Although she was exhausted, she still lay on the sofa and laughed in a low voice.

"Lincoln, you do not have the guts to kill me."

The woman said in a hoarse voice with an indescribably lazy look.

"I just said a few words about her, and you treat me like this. You do care about Natalia the most.

Lincoln pursed her lips and said nothing.

He did not respond, and the woman slowly approached Lincoln. Finally, she placed her hand on his shoulder and whispered into his ear, "If Natalia said the same thing about me, would you treat her like this?"

Lincoln seemed to have been poked by her words. He jumped up abruptly and pointed at the woman's nose as he scolded, "Molly Smith, just face it. You have a little privilege here just because you looked a little similar to her."

"If you dare to say these rude words next time, I will kill you."

"You're not the only substitute."

After saying these words, Lincoln angrily turned around and left.

When Lincoln slammed the door and left, Molly held her neck, which had been pinched red, and her look gradually became gloomy.

A few minutes later, Eve Smith pushed open the lounge door.

"Aunt, did you make Mr. Yung angry just now?"

Molly sat upright and looked at her fake niece. "You'd better not inquire about my affairs."

Eve laughed. "Aunt, don't forget how you knew Mr. Yung."

"Mr. Yung is not someone you can control. If you are smart enough, you'd better get some benefits from him and leave while you can." .

Spoiled By My Bossy CEO Husband - Chapter 610 A Huge Scandal

Molly had been defeated by Lottie and Ralph before, so she wanted to take revenge.

It just so happened that Eve Smith had given Molly some ideas. She told her that with their social status and power, they could not compete with Ralph at all.

If they wanted to get revenge on Lottie, they had to find a stronger backer.

Since Molly looked quite like Natalia, she had an idea.

Before bringing Molly to Lincoln, she had specially dressed her up so that she looked just like Natalia.

After all, since Natalia was once the queen of topics and the best actress, her popularity had once been top. On the Internet, there were lots of Internet celebrities who imitated her appearance and makeup.

Molly, who had carefully dressed up, was indeed a little like Natalia when she did not speak or smile.

The moment Lincoln saw Molly, the veins on his forehead stood out. For a moment, he even wanted to strangle Molly, so as to prevent such a counterfeit from appearing in front of him.

He felt that it was an insult to Natalia.

Molly even thought that this hook-up was going to fail.

Unexpectedly, after Lincoln calmed down, he called her directly that night.

After being there, Lincoln ordered her to wash off her makeup.

Molly was thirty-one years old this year, even older than Lincoln. However, she had taken good care of herself, so she looked no older than herself at twenty-five or twenty-six.

Lincoln just loved her unique, mature and charming temperament.

In Lincoln's heart, Natalia was braver and more mature than him who would always be his guide and save him from the abyss.

"Put on the mask."

Lincoln coldly threw over a mask and commanded Molly.

Why did he want her to wear a mask when they were going to have sex? Why did he ask her to remove her makeup if he couldn't see her face? Molly wondered whether Lincoln was sick.

As Molly complained in her heart, she obediently did as she was told.

To be honest, Lincoln was younger and more handsome than the investors she had seen before. Although his temper did not seem to be very good, he had a fatal attraction to Molly.

Molly was willing to sleep with such a high-quality man, even if she didn't get money.

Therefore, she would naturally not reject Lincoln's request after getting what she deserved.

Molly, who was wearing a mask, looked like Natalia with her charming eyes.

Lincoln stared at her for a long time and Molly's heart was pounding faster than ever. Only then did Lincoln press down on her.

They were crazy and exciting that night.

Following Lincoln's movements and looking at the deep affection in his eyes, Molly flipped.

No one could refuse a handsome and affectionate man.

At least Molly could not.

After only spending a short period of time together, Molly fell in love with Lincoln.

She even thought of replacing Natalia's position in Lincoln's heart and won his heart and his body.

She was not smart, and Lincoln soon found out what was on her mind.

Lincoln repeatedly warned her not to cross the line, and now even Eve dared to warn her.

What a joke.

"Whether I can control him or not, at least I am Lincoln's only woman now."

Molly looked at Eve coldly. "Since you can't replace me, you'd better behave yourself."

"Don't forget, without my protection, you won't even have the chance to be an assistant in the entertainment."

After hearing Molly's words, Eve's face turned livid.

Eve wanted to use Molly to achieve her goal, but she didn't expect that she would shoot herself in the foot.

Seeing that Molly was infatuated with Lincoln, she knew it was probably not easy to control her.

She rolled her eyes and recalled Rose's situation. She had no choice but to swallow the contempt she felt for Molly.

"Aunt, don't be angry with me."

"My suggestion is for your own good too. We're a family. No matter what, I'm on your side."

"Mr. Yung is indeed excellent, but he is heartless. I was afraid that you would get hurt and fall into his trap, so I advised you not to love him too much.

Molly sneered sarcastically.

"Don't worry about it," Molly said, "I know my limits."

"But..."

Alright, you don't need to remind me about this. You didn't come to tell me this, did you?

Being stared at by Molly's sharp eyes, Eve felt that Molly knew what was on her mind.

She was secretly shocked. Since when had Molly become so threatening? In the past, she was so easy to fool.

"Yes, I did want to talk with you. Didn't you want to take revenge on Lottie and Ralph before? There's a good chance now."

Molly stretched out her hand and stroked her cheeks. These days, she did not pay much attention to herself, and she felt that there were some fine lines on the corners of her eyes.

She wanted to put on a face mask, but asked indifferently, "What good chance?"

Eve whispered into Molly's ear.

Molly stopped touching her face and looked at Eve. "Are you serious?"

Eve nodded frantically. "I know an intern nurse in that hospital. I heard that the news has gone viral in the hospital. Jessica is indeed pregnant, and the child is probably Ralph's."

After hearing these words, Molly suddenly let out a "ha".

"Isn't Ralph deeply in love with Lottie? How could he get together with Jessica?"

Since Molly had been in the entertainment for so long, she was not stupid.

She immediately raised her doubts.

Eve said, "That's hard to say. I heard a piece of news before that Ralph had a relationship with a woman when he was abroad. Lottie even wanted to divorce him for it."

Molly frowned. "Is this news reliable?"

"Why isn't it reliable? It's said that the woman was even forced to jump off a building by Lottie. That's why Lottie's willing to let this matter over."

"As expected, the matters of the rich are truly a mess." Molly smiled with glee.

Only then did she find it reasonable.

No matter what, Ralph was still a man, even more, he was a powerful man. How could he be so devoted to Lottie?

Every man had such a bad personality that they could not control their desire when they saw a beautiful woman.

Just like Lincoln, he said that he loved Natalia deeply, but in fact, he had slept with her finally.

However, Lottie could secretly manage to force that woman to suicide, and after that, she could even show off her love for Ralph in public. It seemed that she was also a scheming and vain woman.

"She can kill that woman, but Jessica is not that easily controlled by her."

Not to mention that she might be carrying Ralph's child.

"If this is true, then that would be a huge scandal for Lottie." Molly smiled. "How do you think we should detonate this bomb?" .
