Chapter 131: The Might Of The Wind Spirits!

As the Great Spirit of Harvest and Farming, which I still had no idea how she even materialized here and is apparently possessing my Player Avatar's seemed to be thinking, I quickly greeted Rita and everyone else.

"W-What the heck was that just now?!" Rita roared back at me as she pointed out at the devastated area that was now overflowing with grass growing everywhere, and even flowers.

"A-A special Skill I got! Nothing too big, really!" I said. I didn't wanted to explain the Great Spirit to them, who seemed to be unable to see it anyways. After all not even I could even know what the Great Spirit was, so how can I even explain them something I don't even understand myself?

"For a moment there, I could feel the power of the Great Spirits!" Said Sporegon.

"Me too, was Lady Planta able to channel their millenary strength?" Asked Magius.

"What the heck are Great Spirits?" I wondered.

"They're special spirits, Great Spirits could be said to be like the parents of the smaller Spirits. As you are a spirit, and even those you summon are also spirits, it could be said they're like your parents, Lady Planta! They're powerful enough to be considered even gods." Magius said while feeling fascinated about the prospects.

"I-I see! Well, for the moment I don't think we should be talking about this right now! Look at those Elite Snakes, they're getting closer. And the Fairies, are they hanging alright?" I asked, looking at the group of a few dozen fairies, they were unleashing their magic against the snakes but barely hanging on.

At this time I wondered where Nieve and Florie could be! And what about the Queen Titania? Well, she's sickly so she probably can't wake up, but what about the others? I remember seeing a big group of royal knights protecting the castle, but the castle is still far from danger, why don't they come here to help us instead? They're a bit too overprotective of their queen, she was still plenty strong even if Cursed.

"They're doing alright but the Elite Snakes reached the Golems, they're... wait, they're destroying them before they get to them!" Sporegon said.

"What? How come these snakes are so intelligent?!" I asked in disbelief.

"And it is weird that the golems aren't working automatically either, wasn't that their entire purpose as guardians? If they don't do a thing they're just fancy statues!" Said Rita.

"I read from the Quest information that there was a traitor among the fairies! Perhaps that traitor sabotaged the golems to not work automatically anymore, so the fairies need to get inside of them to use them manually!" I said while remembering what I had read from the quest.

"You're right, that could be the case, Lady Planta!" Said Sporegon while feeling slightly concerned about the future. "For now, we should hurry and support them!"

"Yes, let's go!" I said. "Loki, grab them!"

"Gishi!"

Suddenly, I ordered Loki to grab with her vines all of my party, tightly sticking them to me.

"M-My lady, what's your plan?!" Asked Sporegon.

"Wind Spirits, please come aid me!" I cried, as several Wind Spirits emerged the moment they heard me, small, middle-sized, and giant clouds appeared. The biggest wind spirits looked like black clouds thundering with lightning, they had the power to unleash lightning attacks aside from wind power. Of course, at most, spirits can only unleash one or two attacks before disappearing, so I cannot keep them forever at my side, sadly.

"Spiritual Leap!"

FLUOOOOSSSH!

Three small cloud-shaped wind spirits flew towards us and lifted us off the ground, making us fly across the skies with a single leap! I decided to use this Spell again so we could move quickly and directly to the walls where most of the golems were, to protect them and kill the Elite-type Monsters trying to destroy them.

"UUUUWAAAH...! A-Again with this?!"

Rita cried while we lifted off the ground! This time it wasn't so surprising to me, and quite honestly, I enjoyed the nice night breeze! And while falling down, I suddenly noticed that outside of the boundaries of the Fairy City, there were still hundreds of snakes, but they were all being stopped by a group of fairy knights and three other golems, alongside... a giant Ent and Mushrooms! Wait, that's Acorn too?! Oh, so Mark logged in and the Mushroom Brigade alongside Acorn found him, they all joined up, and are trying to stop the snakes from flooding into the city!

I would love to go help them but we got our hands full in here. And there's also the giant snake atop the barrier just still trying to pointless get inside. But he's way too fatty. Is he going to realize this sooner or later so he can break the barrier more? Well, while he's struggling to get in, we should quickly get done with this!

"Whirlwind!"

FLUOOOOSSSH!

I conjured Whirlwind with the help of two other smaller Wind Spirits, as the winds helped us lift from off the ground so we wouldn't fall to our deaths through Fall Damage, which is a thing in this game. The winds easily helped us get into the ground easily, and at the same time threw away the pesky giant snakes with amazing efficacy!

"Now, Big Wind Spirit! Spirit Enhancement! Storm!"

"FOOOO!"

The giant black cloud-shaped Spirit flew towards the Snakes, as it had its powers enhanced through Spirit Enhancement, and quickly exploded into a storm of lightning and winds that began to devastate the surrounding snakes. Thanks to the walls at our side, the snakes couldn't easily surround us, and had to concentrate in a half-moon shape formation to reach us. Without so many openings, it was easier to blast them away!

CLASH! CLASH! CLASH!

The lightning hit the hard, and with the assistance of Magius and Rita, who also unleashed their magic attacks to take down the bigger ones who were being engulfed in the winds, things were looking brighter!

"Now, you guys can go!" I said.

"Thank you so much!" The fairies thanked us, as they flew towards the golems. The enormous magic titans quickly began to move one after the other, finally joining the fray!

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 132: The Power Of [Harvest Blessing]!

Finally, we had a second to rest! The golems were over twelve, and they immediately began devastating and pushing back the snakes. The biggest group were taken down by us but there were hundreds of smaller ones. They quickly started to get crushed to death with the might of the giant golems, the smallest of them being ten meters tall.

Some of them had powerful weapons in their chests which gathered mana from their core and then unleashed a beam of pure magical power, devastating a big part of the snake army, the others quickly grabbed giant weapons and began sweeping through the snakes.

If I joined, I could get more EXP, but I was honestly tired and very hungry, my Satiation had gone down to almost 10 and without the Sunlight, I cannot Photosynthesize to get enough Satiation! Sunlight Spirits don't work, sadly.

BOOM!

CLASH!

TRUUM!!!

"Let's do it! Continue!"

"Go! Go! Go!"

"Take this!"

The fairies roared as they continued to fight. I noticed that the fairies had completely evacuated the city by now, so they were allowed to let loose a bit more easily. Additionally, I saw Nieve and her patrol of knights fighting outside the city with three other giant golems, so they were probably having a hard time right now.

I guess they're doing alright for now. I quickly decided to gather with everybody to help them out a bit. My two tamed pets were resting over the floor completely exhausted. Silver had leveled up a lot though, and Mimy was already max level for a while, maybe I should let her evolve right away so she can get more power, right? Oh right, and Belle and Loki were already over Level 20! I really hope they can get to Level 30 which is their level cap. I wonder what sort of power they could get if they evolve and grow even bigger and more majestic looking.

Meanwhile, Rita was already max Level, and the Mushroom Brigade max Level was the same as my summons, Level 30, they were also slowly getting closer to that level, and earned insane amounts of EXP after taking down hundreds of Snake Monsters.

"Are you guys alright? I am quite hungry, let's quickly eat something to recover Satiation and MP, we should go assist the people outside now, there are still probably over two hundred snake monsters outside!" I said.

"Although it is quite embarrassing in this dire situation, we should really use this opportunity to recover our fatigue a bit!" Sporegon agreed quickly.

"Yes, please, food!" Cried Magius, she was more honest.

"Is there some fruits lying around?" Wondered Hunter.

"MEEEE!" Belle quickly began eating the grass that grew out of the [Healthy Soil] formed by my attack charged by the Great Spirit of Harvest and Farming's Spiritual Powers.

"Ah, food! I am starving... Give me food...!" Rita was in floor, half-dead! Resist, Rita!

I quickly opened my Inventory, taking out premade sandwiches I made with bread I created through the wheat seeds I've created through [Seed Creation] which I turned into flour and then added water and made into bread. The bread wasn't hard at all as the Inventory keep cooked food in perfect condition. I had made these sandwiches right after the bread was done in the oven, so they were still warm.

They had tomato, lettuce, and lots of meat, goat cheese, and mayonnaise made out of Crow eggs and natural herb oil, it had a quite unique and delicious taste. I also distributed apples, oranges, and tomatoes that everyone could eat raw, while I quickly took out some soup and herbal tea which were still warm from my Inventory.

"Oooh! Such a big feast to eat in the middle of this slaughter and with a giant snake looking at me from the sky... This is really a unique day indeed!" Said Sporegon, quickly wolfing down everything he was given.

"Hmmm... How come even the sandwiches you make in-game are as tasty as those outside the game? You're a goddess of cooking, friend..." Cried Rita while stuffing herself with sandwiches.

As we quickly took a few tiny minutes to eat as much as we could, the Great Spirit finally spoke after having been in silence for a while. Was she thinking something? Will she finally reveal to me what she was?

"Those are some amazing-looking fruits and veggies you got there! Did you made a farm?! You're more talented than I had originally thought! But feast your eyes in this, I have finally figured out a way to absorb Mana from the environment. Sorry for staying in silence for a while! How about you all eat some of my fruits and vegetables?"

POOF! POOF! POOF!

The Great Spirit suddenly waved her carrot-sized body, as everyone suddenly saw all sorts of vegetables and fruits emerge out of thin air, it was a feast of nature itself! I didn't know she came with such perks!

"Woah?! Did you use magic to create these?!" Asked Rita, grabbing a banana and eating it. "Wow, so sweet!"

"This Apple is incredibly juicy...!" Sporegon pointed out.

"Wait, is this an eggplant? Can I eat it as it is?" Wondered Magius.

"I like carrots." Hunter added.

"MEEE!"

Belle was the one enjoying the feast the most, without minding the vegetables not being properly prepared, she ate them all and stuffed her cheeks with them.

"So you can make these just like that?!" I asked.

"This is the power named [Harvest Blessing]!" Said the Great Spirit smugly. "Once a week, I can create a small amount of fruits and vegetables for everyone to eat! Of course, it is not so much compared to your amazing abilities. I might be able to make once a day Blessings if I manage to regain part of my former power, however." Said the Great Spirit rather smugly.

"I-I see... Can you explain me more about what you can do?" I wondered. "And... who exactly are you? And why did you come out of nowhere as well!"

"Hahaha... I guess it is time for a tiny bit of explanations, my dearest."

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 133: Spirit Bond

"So tell me what the heck are you!" I roared back at the Great Spirit of Harvest and Farming, as she looked at me with shock. Maybe I was being a bit too rough?

"R-Right, I have not properly introduced myself." She said. As we talked, I also noticed something, my friends were not able to see us talking, even more, it seemed as if they didn't notice when I spoke to her either. It was weird, is it some effect like an illusion?

"Wait, before anything, how come nobody can see you except me? Are you really what you say you are or actually some kind of weird hallucination?" I wondered.

"What?! I feel ashamed and offended by such a stupid conclusion you've reached!" Said the Great Spirit, reprimanding me for nothing. "Of course I am real, foolish vessel! Sheesh, I really thought you were smarter."

"I am! Don't offend me like that... I was just asking." I sighed.

"O-Okay, sorry. But to tell you the truth about my origins would be a bit too complicated. Especially because you're exactly not what I thought you would be!" She said.

"Huh? What do you mean?" I wondered.

"There are... restrictions to what I can do or say as of now. Perhaps one of the big reasons being that you're not exactly an original inhabitant of this world, you're... something odd." Said the Great Spirit.

"Nonetheless, you're kind-hearted and rather good, so I guess it doesn't matter what you are."

"Well, they call us Players, the other people, I mean..." I said. It felt slightly weird to introduce an NPC about the Players.

"Player? I see, so that's why you're so different from other natural inhabitants... Well, due to this "Player" Title you possess. I am not capable to fully explain to you what I truly am, nor where I truly come from, even less the truth behind my current state. It seems that some power is sealing away me from saying that."

"A power...?" I wondered.

Now this is odd, why would an NPC be restricted by something? Or maybe that's how Events works? After all Events are made that way, you slowly see through them and discover their secrets. The Moment she showed up, that event might had triggered, but nothing else had shown up since then-

Ding!

[The Special Event Quest [The Vessel of the Great Spirit of Harvest and Farming] has started!]

[As you've been seen as worthy of becoming a Vessel of the Great Spirit, you've now been chosen by her. However, after years of being in a slumber, the Great Spirit remains weak because Nature is dying. To help her regain her true powers, you must help nature spread out across the world, helping flourish the Forest of Beginnings and slowly expand across the empty grass plains is a priority, but any action you do that helps nature flourish can be taken into consideration to slowly help her regain her powers while discovering the knowledge she possess]

[New Special Mini Quests will be given in order as you complete them, slowly making the Great Spirit stronger as well. Currently, you've barely made it as her vessel, but you also must strengthen yourself to be able to bear the burden of her powers. Complete the Mini Quests in order to earn Spiritual Essence, which can be directly given to the Great Spirit. The Great Spirit Bond Level will rise as you give her more Spiritual Essence, strengthening your bond with her and granting you special Skills, Titles, Items, and Bonus Gold and EXP]

[Current Great Spirit Bond Level: 0] [Total Spiritual Essence: 0]

[Available Mini Quests (0/3)]

[Bond with the Great Spirit] [Reward: 10 SE]

[Defeat 20 Monsters with the Great Spirit's Aid] [Reward: 20 SE]

[Harvest 10 Healthy Crops with the Great Spirit's Aid] [Reward: 30 SE]

[By completing all three Mini Quests, you will acquire a Bonus of Spiritual Essence and other rewards]

W-What the heck is this? Is this a dating sim now? So there are mini quests regarding her! Well, that makes it simpler. But I wonder if other people got to have such handy stuff such as these mini quests though? Well, whatever's the case, the Great Spirit didn't seem to notice any of this, so I guess I'll have to ask for her help by myself so she can be cooperative... With this, she might be able to regain her strength and also be able to tell me more about her past and origins.

"Yes, it is some sort of power that is not... letting me remember things right." Sighed the Great Spirit.

Could this power be the System itself? Is it restricting her for some reason? Maybe she is way too strong for the game balance... Well, as if [Revered Figure] wasn't an insane Title that granted me all the other Titles passives, boosting my Stats through the roof. Balance is quite wacky in this game. Maybe the combination of Farmer and Dryad was always amazing all this time! ...Well, not like they're that common as they're a new race and class.

"Well, it is alright for now, don't push yourself so hard. But can you introduce yourself to me better?" I wondered.

"Yes, I can remember that. I am the Great Spirit of Harvest and Farming. I once used to rule the land and nature. We Great Spirits are figures of reverence. It could be said that we were pillars of the world's elements. I was in a slumber after something I cannot quite remember well... But after sensing your powers and your kind heart, which are essential to become my vessel, I quickly ran to your side! I simply couldn't miss the opportunity to get ahead of my siblings!" She said with a prideful voice.

"I-I see, I am glad for your help, it came in handy, but could you do more things that are not that Mana draining to me?" I wondered.

"Yes, I've figured out a few things myself in my time of meditation!"

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 134: The Great Spirit Has No Idea About Common Sense!

"You have? That's great! The System doesn't seem to tell me your total powers, or any Skill that might be related with you. I might be able to acquire them after completing certain Quests though, so it would be nice to know what you're capable of, aside from that one [Harvest Blessing] you used." I said with a nod.

"Quests and System? What's that all about?" Wondered the Great Spirit.

"It is the power that we Players use to grow stronger. It is unique to us but other inhabitants inherently have a similar power of leveling, gaining skills, and so on. Didn't you know about this?" I wondered.

"Ah! There are certainly levels and skills, I do remember that. Mortals also had Classes from birth, depending in their Class, their entire lives might change completely... So Players can manipulate these elements through the "System"? Interesting." Said the Great Spirit. "I suppose that part of your power comes from this, yes?"

"Yeah, most if not all of it because this is a game..." I said while looking elsewhere. Telling an NPC that this world was a video game made them think you were joking every time.

"A game...? I suppose your way of connection to this world is through this "game"?" Wondered the Great Spirit, suddenly, she made a pained expression, as if something had hit her in the head. "Ouch... My head. I-I think we shouldn't speak about this for now..."

"Yeah, sorry..." I sighed.

"Nonetheless, as I showcased before. I am now pretty much using your body as my Vessel, dear! One of the abilities you've gained is the power to manipulate Spiritual Essence and use it to conjure the [Spiritual Boost] Ability, which was what you used to enlarge your Shovel into a titanic size. Aside from that, there is the [Harvest Blessing] that allows you to summon a delicious assortment of vegetables, fruits, and anything that nature brings once a week!" The Great Spirit said.

"Oh, so what I used was that! I see... But it also seemed to be able to merge with my Farming Tool Usage Skill somehow..." I said. "When I attacked using [Spiritual Boost], the entire terrain transformed, is that something to do with the power of the spiritual essence?"

"Yes, kind of. It appears that when using [Spiritual Boost] you can boost literally anything that is within your body or soul, or your weapons as well. It is an all-encompassing enhancement that can be customized for greater efficacy. However, you've managed to manipulate it exceedingly well, I believe you've already manipulated Spiritual Essence and even absorbed it before without knowing." She said.

Suddenly, I recalled my fight against the Mushroom Hero, when I used my powers to merge with the Land Spirits through Spirit Enhancement and Plant Manipulation to spread out my entire body into many roots... I really went so much all out back then that I can tell it might had been related to that. The Spirits seem to like me a lot, so they probably grant me their spiritual essence without me even realizing, perhaps. At the end, I explained this to her, she seemed quite amused.

"I see, so that was it? You've merged with the Land Spirits to become a Titan!" Said the Great Spirit.

"Truly, you're the one that best deserves to become my Vessel!"

"A-Ahaha... I overdid it there though, I never thought I could actually merge with them, but it seems that Plant Manipulation is quite handy." I said while nodding. "The Land Spirits also seemed to not mind. I was only able to do it because I was able to find out a way to fuse Spirits powers through the Spirit Enhancement Spell."

"That Spell seems to actually grant you the ability to not only boost the spirit's power through Mana, but also to manipulate their Spiritual Essence. You've been able to manipulate such essence thanks to your kind heart, the spirits even let you mold the very fabric of their existences to unify and fight for you. How noble." The Great Spirit seemed strangely charmed.

"I-Is that so... Anyways, what other ability you have for now?" I wondered.

"Oh! After my meditation, I learned the power of [Mana Absorption]. I seem to be able to drain Mana from the environment slowly, so I can now do things myself. I can also feed the Mana to you a bit, so your Mana regeneration should be doubled if not tripled." She said.

"Eh?! Is that so?" I wondered.

"Yes, but it doesn't mean it is infinite, so be careful to not use too much of it at the same time." She said.

"Nonetheless, as your Vessel I have access to some of your Magic, specially your Green Magic and Spirit

Magic, I can use both of them at the current Level they are, so I could support you and conjure magic for you so you could more easily fight. I guess this would be called [Magical Connection]."

"Ooooh! That's super handy!" I said happily.

"Hm, and lastly, the other power is my unique Magic which you have to yet to master, perhaps if you could enhance the level of your Agriculture Abilities related to your Farmer Class... This magic is called Harvest and Farm Magic." She said.

"Harvest and Farm Magic? Sounds pretty handy for a Farmer, but not threatening at all..." I said.

"Fufu, you're clearly underestimating its incredible potential... You will see, dear child, as I shall guide you into using it in the near future and battles that are coming next. The Snakes are yet to be defeated after all!" The Great Spirit said.

"R-Right! We should hurry for now!" I said, as I quickly told everyone to get ready to move outside to aid those fighting the snakes. We only took a break of around five minutes to eat, so we should be more than ready. The Golems inside the city seem to be clearing everything by themselves, and the amount of snakes has severely reduced to less than 50, so I think they can handle the rest for us.

"Alright!" Said Sporegon.

"Wait, Planta! Look, the tiny Mimy evolved!" Rita stopped me from rushing, as I was suddenly greeted by an utterly adorable little black knight the size of a five-year-old child!

"Eh?!"

"Guuu!"

Mimy suddenly evolved without my permission! I guess Tamed Monsters have more independent will than Summons.

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 135: Flying Into The Skies With The Aid Of Wind Spirits!

Although Tamed Monsters seem to prioritize obeying their Masters, unlike Summons, they often take decisions themselves sometimes. Especially in such things as wanting to evolve or going to eat when feeling hungry and so on. One of the things that Mimy did right now was evolve without my permission... It was something not even Silver did. But I guess every tamed monsters got their own personality. And well, Mimy had grown big! She was now the same size as an eight- to nine-year-old child, completely clad in rusty black armor which was her shell and was standing upright like a human! And to boot, he had a small slightly rusted sword and a cracked shield. She evolved more than I thought!

(Author Note: Because Mimy is a hermaphrodite, Elayne doesn't bother staying consistent with the monster's pronouns, not like the creature minds, as it has no such concepts)

"Guguuuu!"

Mimy raised her arms, which I noticed were being controlled by thick tentacles that resembled muscles. She was rather good at moving straight away. I guess based in the shell they get, Mimics can slowly evolve it and become more specialized. Because I gave Mimy pieces of armor for her shell, she made a helmet, and after evolving, she gained an armor and even a sword and a shield. And her stats were quite interesting as well!

[Monster Name]: [Mimy]

[Monster Race]: [Black Armor Mimic Swordsman]: [Lv6/30]

[Monster Affection]: [Lv5/10]

[Satiation]: [100/100]

[HP]: [220/220]

[MP]: [60/60]

[STR]: [100]

[VIT]: [150]

[DEX]: [50]

[AGI]: [40]

[INT]: [50]

[WIS]: [50]

[LUC]: [20]

[Race Skills: 6/10]

[Mimic's Physiology: Lv2], [Harden: Lv5], [Roll: Lv4], [Armored Body: Lv1], [Sword Technique: Lv1], [Shield Technique: Lv1]

[Equipment]

[Black Armor Shell], [Rusty Black Sword], [Cracked Black Shield]

Mimy not only had grown stronger in stats, but he also got... three new skills?! Eh?! Isn't that a bit too much for a little child? Well, he's no longer a larva in his race. So I guess by evolving he already grew up from that phase. Nonetheless, her VIT and STR are very high compared to the other stats, so it can be said that Mimy is a strong tank.

"Mimy you're amazing! Here, have some fruit!" I said, creating a Dryad's Gift and giving it to her. She quickly dragged the fruit inside of her armor, as her chest plate suddenly opened wide, revealing an enormous maw filled with sharp fangs, and wolfing the fruit down, closing the armor after that.

Wow, so her mouth is there, huh. I guess she could really surprise foes with that! ...It was a bit scary though, Mimics are really interesting monsters, huh.

"He or she really got big!" Rita said. "Maybe you can work as our tank? I am tired of making Elayne tank all the hits with her magic, and she must be getting exhausted with that too."

"Guuuu!" Mimy said while raising her little shield, she seemed willing to protect me. She had the [Shield Technique] Skill, which seems to grant special techniques with each level. She could use them to fight and take care of our blind spots. But she has low DEX, so I don't know if she'll be all that precise or accurate, and she's also very slow. Though with [Roll], her speed multiplies by x2 with each Skill level, but she's limited to rolling in that skill form. Still, it could be a good way to get somewhere quickly if she ever wants to.

"Anyways, now that we are done, let's get going! Wind Spirits, help us, please!" I said, quickly conjuring the Wind Spirits within the Heaven Veins atop the sky, the wind spirits quickly emerged from them, materializing from the rivers of spiritual essence that I was able to detect thanks to [Dragon Vein Detection]!

FLASH! FLASH! FLASH!

"Let's go guys!" I said, as Loki did her thing and used her vines to wrap around everybody tightly into a ball. "Spiritual Leap!"

"W-Wait! You're doing it again?!" Rita cried in surprise, she seemed unwilling.

"We have to go outside, so of course!" I said with a bright smile, as I've gotten used to it already.

"FOOO!"

The beautiful Wind Spirits heard my call, as they all flew below us and...!

FLUOOOOOSH!

In a mere second, we were sent through the skies! Crossing through dozens of meters in mere seconds, we found ourselves flying across the sky. But that wasn't all, if we wanted to move quickly, we had to do more than just freefalling. The barrier had a lot of cracks, so instead of trying to get through the city gates that might only bring more snakes, we'll go through the barrier cracks to the outside, and ambush the snakes outside with an explosive attack. Of course, by evading the giant snake atop the barrier!

"WHIRLWIND!"

FLUOOOSH!

I quickly conjured the [Whirlwind] Spell and flew through the skies, using [Spiritual Leap] a second time to jump even higher. I used the help of the Wind spirits to maneuver in the skies, calming down my panic by just thinking this was as game and nothing more! As long as I know this is a game, there's no point in feeling afraid!

...Right?!

"UWAAAAAH!"

Rita screamed as usual, as we finally reached the barrier and suddenly saw a waterfall made out of snakes falling over us. The sneaky monsters were probably trying to stop us from just getting out of the city! Were they being controlled by the big snake over there?

"W-Wait! Snakes!!!" Rita cried.

"Everyone, attack!" I commanded, as my three Mushroom Brigade members and my Tamed Monsters and Summons readied their long ranged attacks, unleashing a storm of long-ranged slashing blade attacks, bombarding fireballs, exploding arrows, spiky vine whips, and spiraling water arrows against the snakes!

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

Many of them exploded into particles of light right away, but almost half of the rest were still falling towards us, and there were many of them that could fly using wings!

"Let me help you!"

"Eh? Great Spirit?!"

"My powers are ever present even in the skies!"

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 136: The Power Of [Harvest Festival]! & Stunning Through Foes!

The Great Spirit decided to help me in this precarious situation. She suddenly unleashed a strong green and gold-colored aura, which seemed to emanate a bright spiritual essence. I noticed she was absorbing energy from the barrier itself. Was she draining its mana? Wait! Isn't that kind of bad? Well, not like we got time to think about this too deeply!

"Now! Harvest Festival!"

FLAAASH!

Suddenly, my entire Aura spread out as if it were creating a domain, and then, the bright green light took the shape of countless vegetables sprouting out of thin air, there were carrots, potatoes, and even cabbage and lettuce?! Wait, is this her power?

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

The enormous vegetables began to be fired like cannons, exploding in contact with the snakes into bright green light that showered everything with the essence of nature. Countless of snakes started to explode into particles of bright light. In mere seconds, thanks to her aid, we crossed through a large crack in the barrier and reached the sky, freefalling into the front of the city gates, where the waterfall was located!

"T-That was amazing!" I said.

"S-See? This is the power of a Great Spirit! Ugh... I am tired. I'll go sleep now." She sighed, suddenly disappearing.

"Eh?! You're leaving to sleep already?!" I cried in surprise, but quickly decided to not let that affect me. I looked down into the ground, as we fell down with the aid of the wind spirits. I quickly conjured Whirlwind several times, feeling like I suddenly had more Mana than usual, and unleashed a storm of winds against the snakes pestering the gates, throwing them all into the skies!

FLUOOOOSH!

BOOM!

"Gryyyssha!"

"Graaahh!"

"Gryyyeehh...!"

The screams of the creatures was rather frightening, but its not like I had any other option! The snakes exploded into particles of light one after the another. After we got through their army, we finally arrived in the ground, Rita falling over the floor while the rest of us began fighting against the snakes.

"Uuugghh... my head." Sighed Rita.

"Rita! Get up! You're going to get killed!" I said.

"It doesn't matter, it's a game anyways... Let me rest a bit." She sighed.

"Ugh, but it might not be a game to the NPC! If one of them die, they can't revive probably... I don't want to see people die, even if they're virtual...!" I said desperately.

"You're way too much of a softie, but fine!" Rita sighed, quickly standing up. "In fact, look what I got right now! Dark Familiar Summon!"

Rita suddenly pointed her hands into the floor, as a black and purple magic circle emerged, and from within, a mass of shadows started to emerge. It was tall and intimidating, and had the slight shape of a... horse?

"Oho?! A horse!" Rita said with happiness.

And it was indeed a large and beautiful black horse, with red eyes and a phantasmal mane and tail, it looked truly eerie and ghostly in appearance! When I checked its status, it was named [Nightmare Horse], and was good at mobility! I didn't even knew that Rita had access to a Summoning Skill, she should had grabbed some time ago already.

"OOOOHHH"

The horse, however, gave a very terrifying groan, it wasn't at all like one! It suddenly jumped over one of the nearest snakes and crushed the creature with its sharp hooves, emanating a dark aura, which only grew bigger after killing one creature. Wait, wasn't this summon way too strong for being level 1?!

"Alright, let's do it then! I finally got myself a mount! With this I don't even have to walk anymore, hehehe!" Rita laughed slightly maliciously, sitting over the black horse as it galloped around. She began pointing her staff at the monsters while firing darkness spheres everywhere.

As for the rest of us, we were all in a single coordinated formation. I had hopped over Belle and was running around the formation with her, swinging my Shovel-shaped weapon and unleashing shockwaves that spread [Stun] to most targets.

Countless System notifications appeared each time I stunned a target above the monsters, as Belle crushed them promptly after with her Horn Attack or her Charge Skill, meanwhile, those that were left far away from our range were picked up by Silver's deadly Spiraling Water Arrows which could reach long distances and lock themselves to a target. This meant that his spell was like a tracking missile that would most of the time hit their target. Sporegon, Hunter, and Magius were also helping, unleashing their characteristic skills and spells.

They were a good trio and could fight very much on their own. Lastly, Mimy and Loki were helping Silver too, making their own trio of two tamed monsters and one summon. Loki was improving as well, using her vines and skills correctly by making them sprout out of the ground and attack various foes at once, trapping them within her vines for Mimy to take them down with her newly acquired Sword Technique.

Meanwhile, I was just smacking the ground!

The moment I hit the ground, shockwaves emerged, stunning various foes at once. I didn't even needed to be proficient or have good accuracy thanks to the shockwave effect. I never imagined that Farmers would have such a useful weapon still such as [Farming Tool Usage]! At level 10 it is really mighty, and the best thing is that it doesn't require any MP to use. This means that I can use MP to summon Spirits and then wait for my MP to recover by smacking the ground and keeping our foes far away from us!

And as we delved deeper into the enormous swarm of snakes, we suddenly noticed several figures fighting together, a team of mushrooms, a squirrel, and a large Ent.

Chapter 137: Reencounter Amidst An Intense Battle

"Oi, Planta! Isn't that Titan? He's here with Acorn and the other Mushrooms, it seems!"

Rita quickly called to me, as she was galloping across the snake infested forest. We were slowly making our way deeper into the forest as I spread out the shockwaves produced by my shovel hitting the ground and stunning dozens of targets at the same time. There were hundreds of snakes surrounding us, and they kept pouring from the surroundings, but as long as we kept moving forward and attacked, we were able to somehow manage to get through this insanity.

However, the news about seeing our friends really put my heart at peace. It seems that they were all still alive and hanging on! In fact, Acorn and the Mushrooms cannot revive like Titan, who is a player, so we better get to them as fast as possible to protect them.

"Let's go pick them up! After we all join together, we'll blast through the entire army of snakes!" I said to Rita, as we all began moving forward.

I used Farming Tool Usage to open the way through shockwaves and stuns, while the rest picked up all the half-dead snakes with their own attacks. I also saw some other monsters trying to sneak in, such as Shadow Crows and Walking and Jumping Mushrooms, but their numbers were way lower and they were obviously weaker, so they were defeated with the shockwaves alone.

I saw several notifications, alongside the stunning targets stuff, there were other notifications, I was getting tons of dropped items and materials! Thankfully the Item Inventory had the function of hoarding up to 99999 items in a single slot as long as they're of the same type, so this way I wasn't wasting my 100 slots. It seems that there are ways to expand the Inventory by paying a sum of gold, but I have yet to do that because I am still in early game. But I feel like whenever my inventory gets full, I'll have to use all this Gold I am hoarding.

Although I was getting a ton of stuff and the foes were dying quickly, their density was getting bigger. Just by seeing the MAP, there were near one thousand snakes in the entire vicinity! They finally stopped coming from their territory, but they were still a monstrous amount of them. With my weapon alone I will never be able to properly open a path!

"GRYSHA!"

A Spiky Snake suddenly curled into a ball and launched itself towards me. Its heavy weight made it a rather deadly monster, launching itself at their foes and trying to pierce their bodies with their venomous spikes, they were truly frightening to fight against!

"HYAAA!"

I roared with all my might, as I enhanced my shovel with my Mana, and then, I felt more of the Spiritual Essence I had felt before coming out of my body, infusing itself into my shovel!

BAAAAM!!!

I hit the spiky snake with an enormous hit, putting my all! I saw my Mana dropping by 70% in a single blow, but not only the snake was completely vaporized, but I ended unleashing a gigantic wave of green light into the surroundings, which spread out like a shockwave, taking down almost a hundred snakes together in one shot! An enormous path suddenly was opened, as the ground affected by the attack turned into [Healthy Soil] funnily enough!

"W-W-What was that just now?!" Titan asked in shock, looking at us from afar. "Ah! Planta!!!"

"TITAAAAN! We are here!" I said with a happy smile.

"PLANTA! It's you and company! Finally!" He said happily, as he suddenly generated a Wooden Shield to protect himself from five snakes jumping over him. Then, five Beast Spirits he could summon emerged out of thin air, a furious blazing lion, a freezing owl, a windy hawk, furious earthen bear, and a bright horse.

The elemental beast spirits attacked the monsters surrounding us rapidly, unleashing their elemental barrages constantly. Many snakes were being deleted out of existence, while Titan's enormous wooden fists crushed snakes with his raw strength.

"Lady Planta!" Acorn adorably said, as he suddenly launched a makeshift bomb towards the snakes, which exploded and unleashed countless spiky seeds from the inside.

BOOM!

Wow, he can make bombs now?!

"Fireball!"

And not only that, as a fireball came out of his tiny hand and was launched towards a nearby snake, quickly making it explode into tiny particles of light. Meanwhile, the Mushroom Brigade were all fighting together, unleashing their respective attacks. Even Chef was here using his Cooking Knife! I didn't know he was so good at fighting, wow!

"Lady Planta is back!"

"Our Lady is here! Victory is assured, boys!"

"RAAAAH!"

The Mushrooms celebrated my arrival, as I quickly jumped into the [Healthy Soil], and suddenly, I heard the voice of the Great Spirit again as I saw dozens of snakes rushing towards me, as they had spotted me as a major danger.

"Hm, I guess I accumulated enough Mana now." Said the Great Spirit.

"Huh? Enough for what?!" I asked out of surprise. "I thought you were sleeping!"

"I just woke up, too much noise!" Said the Great Spirit.

"W-Well, who send you to sleep in the middle of a battlefield?!" I cried, swinging my shovel around.

"Anyways! Grand Harvest!"

FLAAASH!

Suddenly, the Great Spirit decided to aid me in the battle. I really thought she was just sleeping, but nope. She suddenly said "Grand Harvest", and well, what happened afterwards was truly not something I expected, but should have expected!

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 138: Don't Overthink It, It's Game Logic

Suddenly, the Great Spirit decided to aid me in the battle. I really thought she was just sleeping, but nope. She suddenly said "Grand Harvest", and well, what happened afterwards was truly not something I expected, but should have expected!

All the tiles I ended converting into [Healthy Soil] began to sprout with life. Countless plants began to emerge one after the other in mere splits of a second. They were not trees or vines, but veggies and fruits! Tomato plants, potatoes, carrots, giant radishes, eggplants, watermelons... Wow! So much!

"This is the true power of a Farmer, my dearest! The path you've chosen is one filled with the embrace of nature! Now, learn what's it all about!!!" She proclaimed. Countless vegetables and fruits of enormous sizes began walking out of the soil, attacking the snakes and making more room for all of us to get closer to Titan's team.

"What is this?! Walking veggies?!" Asked Titan.

"Amazing! This is the power of Lady Planta!" Acorn proclaimed.

"Our lady is insuperable!"

"Amazing! Great!"

"Phew, we are saved..."

"I'll cook those vegetables later!"

Apparently, the ability that the Great Spirit used was named [Grand Harvest], and it could only be used in Healthy Soil Tiles. It infused Mana and Spiritual Essence into the ground and create giant vegetables and fruits based in all the seeds I've created, because I didn't saw any unnatural thing there, they were all stuff I made myself! The vegetables were around one to three meters big, and could walk through root-like legs and arms they used to fight. When they reached a target, they also sometimes exploded, dealing large quantity of area-of-effect damage.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

"T-The tomatoes are exploding?!"

"Look, that potato too!"

"An apple just bombarded the snakes..."

"So this is the true power of this magic?!"

"Wait, no! I wanted to cook them..."

The Mushroom Brigade was as talkative and lively as ever. At long last, thanks to this unexpected little army of veggies and fruits, we made our way towards their group and quickly joined together into defeating all the snakes.

"I never thought I would see such an insane amount of mobs here! This is crazy! Did you provoked this event to happen somehow, Planta?" Titan asked while fighting.

"Eh? Me?! No, I didn't!" I said desperately. "I was more like... caught into it! And then an event quest showed up, I swear!"

"So that's what happened...!" Titan said, using his fists to crush a snake coming for him.

SMACK!

"Then the main quest is to exterminate all these critters? How long are we going to take though? They're way too many!" Titan cried.

"Yeah, too many, this is getting tiring and boring!" Rita said. "Although a bit desperate too."

"The numbers are reducing severely as we fight, there must be less than five hundred by now." I said.

"There's still too many of them!" Rita cried. "How come that Queen can make so goddamn many? Does she lays a thousand eggs each day?!"

"Game logic." Sighed Titan. "Don't try to come out with an excuse for it, they probably just spawn infinite mobs and that's about it."

"Yeah, don't overthink it and keep killing. The more we kill, the more EXP we'll accumulate! Whenever we evolve and change classes after this, we'll get tons of levels!" I said celebrating things. "We have to get the perfect ending of the quest to get the most EXP though, but it is definitely worth it!"

"Huh, then let's put all the effort we can!" Titan roared, as he summoned more of his Elemental Beast Spirits, special beast spirits that Druids such as him could summon. They represented the animals of nature and the elements that represented them. They were not as powerful as summons that could level up and grow, but they grew stronger the more he grew stronger, so they were a useful little army.

"Great Spirit! Can we summon more veggies? I want to send an army to protect the gates and keep the snakes at bay!" I said.

"I was able to use Grand Harvest because I had accumulated enough Mana. I can absorb Mana from the environment over time, so I'll tell you whenever you can, but it usually has a cooldown of a few minutes, and it varies a lot! Thanks to all these monsters, I can absorb a lot of Mana, but when there aren't many, it would take me hours to refill. Nonetheless, wait a bit more! Keep swinging that Shovel and make more Healthy Soil in the meantime!" The Great Spirit said, as I nodded and quickly began unleashing shockwaves that stunned several targets.

Titan, Acorn, and the rest of the Mushroom Brigade were left stunned as well out of the shock of seeing my physical attack being so incredible. Although the damage the shockwave dealt wasn't enough to one shot the monsters, it left the stunned and ready to be picked up by other attacks, the 90% Stun chance by itself was already broken enough.

"W-What is that attack?! I never thought Farmers could do that with a Shovel!" He said.

"It is the Farming Tool Usage Skill! It's not really a Technique Skill, it merely grants enhanced proficiency using farming tools, more strength when using them, and 90% chance of stunning targets, the shockwave is only a 70% chance, but it activates most of the time anyways! Also, the soil turns into Healthy Soil where more veggies and fruits can sprout through Grand Harvest, it all goes together. I think I've figured out a good way to play as an offensive Farmer!"

The words I said shocked Titan and the rest. Although they didn't know the norm or "meta game" of the online game and only saw people with classes as something they were born with, Titan was obviously someone that has explored the game's forums to an extent.

"That's so amazing! Maybe even my Druid can get better then? I'll have to try out everything I got! Beast Spirit Combination!"

FLASH!

Suddenly, the five Summoned Elemental Beast Spirits of Titan merged together into a gigantic multi-elemental chimera beast spirit!

"ROOARR!"

Wow! This was the one he used against the Mushroom Hero, didn't he?! It's so cool!

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 139: The Boss Finally Begins To Move

Titan unleashed his Chimera Elemental Beast Spirit right away. The enormous creature began running across the surroundings, unleashing flames, winds, sharp boulders, ice, and bright arrows made of light, easily defeating many of the foes surrounding us in an explosive and colorful spectacle. The rest of us didn't slack either, as we continued our onslaught without stopping for several minutes.

I continued looking at my Map to see how things were advancing, the army of monsters was approaching at a rapid pace but things were improving, apparently, the monsters were all being driven to us. Perhaps the more we killed, the more attractive we became for them, kind of like provoke abilities in video games. It seems that there's a natural buildup of enemy negativity directed towards a player when you defeat a large quantity of such foes.

The more foes we took down, the more the snakes approached us, fully knowing they would easily get killed by our might. The Snake Queen really thought that numbers were everything, didn't she? I really don't like to act cocky but we were rocking it! Especially when the Great Spirit finally was recharged, approximately seven minutes after the first barrage of Grand Harvest.

"GRAND HARVEST!" She proclaimed, emerging like a large carrot, and raising her small root-like arms. The Healthy Soil Tiles I had built up all this time quickly sprouted with life, as almost a hundred Walking Vegetables and Walking Fruits emerged, obeying our will, they clashed against the remaining two hundred snakes, quickly overwhelming them.

We supported the summoned vegetables with everything we had. Despite everything just being minutes since it all happened, it all felt like an eternity. At long last, after a long fight, the numbers of snakes reached less than a hundred, and then less than fifty. When ten more minutes passed, a few dozen snakes were left, which we easily crushed with the remaining Walking Vegetables and Fruits left behind.

"Phew, we are done!" I sighed in relief, looking around, there were nothing but a few little snakes running away. We had truly done it!

"I-It's over, right?" Sighed Titan.

"Not really, what about the giant thing?!" Asked Rita.

"Oh..." I muttered, quickly realizing that in the middle of the battle, I had completely forgotten about the most important thing!

TRUUUUUUMMM...!

As if fate was trying to punish me, an enormous and thundering sound resonated across the skies, as the gigantic snake began to break through the barrier at long last! The gigantic thing was going to get through! We had to stop it!

"That thing's going to destroy the entire city if we don't do anything...! Ugh...! I am so tired though...! But we don't got the time to eat and recover our Satiation!" I cried, as we ran towards the Gates. I suddenly remembered I saved a lot of Food Items for Emergencies inside my Inventory, mostly premade sandwiches and raw veggies and fruits, there was no time to savor their taste though!

"Guys, here! Eat it all up quickly to restore HP, MP, and Satiation!" I said, giving everyone sandwiches and fruits that I got from my own Harvest and also from the Great Spirit Magic.

Everyone quickly began wolfing down everything while running, their Stats quickly began to temporarily increase. The crops I made in my farm all had stat boosting-effects after all, and any food I made also received some nice effects that were given to those that consumed it, increasing stats temporarily like buffing items would usually do.

"Oh?! My stats have raised! My Stamina is completely back too, and my MP is almost full once more thanks to the MP Potions of Acorn that helped get everything down! Thanks a lot, friend!" Titan seemed to have already grown attached to Acorn. He had brought a ton of potions and even his own cauldron. With his potions and my food, we were almost completely recovered to 100%!

"No problem! It is my duty as an Alchemist to bring potions to the party! But more importantly, Lady Planta... You said these fairies were struggling? Is there a disease here?" He asked.

"Something similar to the disease that struck the squirrel-folk, Acorn. It is very similar, but perhaps even worse because it is like a curse that not even the Queen of Fairies has been able to dispel." I said, as Acorn's face seemed slightly shocked, but he quickly changed his expression, seemingly intrigued. He suddenly took out a small little book and began writing notes in it with a small feather with black oil.

"I see... A curse. Is it not caused by the Miasma?" Asked Acorn.

"No, it is like a normal disease, it appeared and spread out..." I said.

"Hm, I see... Any more effects?" Wondered Acorn.

"Erm, I think it slowly drains the life and mana out of those that contracted it. Do you think you can do anything for it?" I wondered, as Acorn nodded and noted everything down.

"It's certainly possible, we need to first make an All Anti-Curse Remedy, which requires a few materials. I have around over half of the available in my Item Box, but we need to go pick up the rest, maybe the fairies could have some. After we are done with the All-Anti-Curse Remedy, we need to make Cure-All Base, and then refine it with the Venom of the Snakes here. They must be all related." Said Acorn.

"Eh?! Venom?! And how did you come out with such a conclusion?" I wondered.

"I acquired a new Skill some days ago named [Doctor]! It seems to give me the ability to discern diseases and their origins by writing them down and pondering their origins. Of course, it is merely just theory, but I am almost a hundred percent sure!" Said Acorn. "After everything is done, we need to refine the medicine into pills through the cauldron, so everyone can easily digest them with some water!"

"Alright, I'll put my trust on you, Acorn!"

"Thank you, Lady Planta. I will not disappoint you...!"

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 140: Going All Out Against The Giant Snake!

Ding!

[You have completed the [Act I] of the [Venomous Snake Invasion]!]

[The [Act II] is about to begin, the [Boss] has grown furious of waiting for the barriers to break and has enragedly broken them down! Defend the city of fairies and destroy the [Mid Boss] before all fairies met their demise! And hurry! The least damage the city takes, the better your clear will be!]

Damn it, this thing is not really messing around at all! Over a thousand snakes were just Act I?! Seriously? What sort of normal Player would ever in their entire life be able to complete this damn questline? It's completely ridiculous in literally everything! If it wasn't because of my abilities and my friends, this would be near impossible for sure.

"The gate's there, hurry!" Rita said, as we quickly reached the gates to the city, which Titan forcefully opened with his enormous wooden arms.

CRAAAASH!

The moment we got in, an enormous and loud clashing sound was heard, making the entire floor tremble. The monstrosity giant snake had already reached the city! Thankfully, people had evacuated in time, and now there was a group of a dozen Golems fighting against the monster. However, their attacks were barely dealing any damage to the beast. Those scales it had were easily reflecting the magic produced by the golems and showing to be almost completely immune to the physical damage they caused.

"Damn it!!!"

One of the giant golems was suddenly hit by the enormous snake's tail, throwing it into the ground and making the enormous golem roll through the ground.

BOOOM!!!

The golem was left looking like junk, and the fairy inside quickly flew away in fear. Without the golems, they had no way to fighting this giant monster. So we had to do something right now, and quick!

We moved forward without saying a word, we all knew what we had to do. The giant snake was throwing the snakes without stopping. I immediately decided to bring out the cavalry. The Grand Harvest had a variable cooldown, the more Mana in the environment, the faster it could be brought out, but right now, without many little critters, it was very hard.

However, it's not as if I didn't had my own ways of fighting before even receiving the aid of the Great Spirit. Already having [Spiritual Connection], [Spirit Enhancement], and [Geomancy] activated and toggled on for a while, my magical power and the connection with spirits was very strong. After all, all three of these spells were wonderfully strong.

[Geomancy]

Cost: 400 MP

Cooldown: None.

Create a stronger connection with Mother's Nature and the Elemental Spirits of all the world, enhancing your INT, WIS, and LUK by +20%. This Spell can be toggled on/off.

[Blessing of the Spirits]

Cost: 500 MP

Cooldown: None.

Receive the Blessing of the Spirits themselves and enhance your connection with them, being able to bring them to summon their power and strength for longer periods of time. Upon activation, increases the duration of summoned spirits by +100%, their health is doubled, and they can attack an extra time. This Spell can be toggled on/off.

[Spiritual Connection]

Cost: 1000 MP

Cooldown: None

Channel the spiritual power within you and nature surrounding you and the various spirits of the elements and establish a powerful connection with them that increases their Elemental Damage by +50%, and the ability to ignore 20% of the target's DEF and RES, alongside increasing damage against Boss-type monsters by +30%. Can be toggled on/off.

Because they can be toggled on and off, it means that once you use the necessary mana to cast the spell after login in the game, the Buff remains permanently until you die. I've been having all three of these amazing buffs activated for a while, and now I knew I could give that giant snake a big surprise, especially because I had easily noticed it was somehow evading the golems light and nature element spells. It feared them! So how about I shower him with something nice?

"Dragon Vein Detection!" I roared, pointing my weapon high in the sky, and shaping it as a Staff that increased my INT and WIS stat. One of the powers of my multi-purpose weapon which I could shapeshift through [Plant Manipulation] was that based in the form it took, the stats it gave would shuffle around to accommodate to the necessity of the weapon shape. So in the shape of a staff, it enhanced MP Regeneration and increased MP, INT and WIS!

FLAAAASH!

The moment I conjured that Spell, the Dragon Veins emerged before my eyes once more. It felt as if the spirits themselves had gathered to greet me, flashing with bright lights all around, the beauty of the essence of the spirits simply had no equal in such things. Or perhaps, the only equal would be the brilliance of the Great Spirit inhabiting my body currently. I decided to conjure a powerful Spell that I've been avoiding due to its chaotic nature, but as of now, what we needed to do is attack this gigantic creature with everything we had, it wasn't going to be hard to tank most of the damage of this attack if it had such a big and robust body to begin with!

"Dragon Vein Burst!"

FLAAAASH!

The moment I recited the spell's name, not only I felt a large chunk of my MP being quickly used, but also the Spiritual Essence given to me by the Great Spirit inhabiting my body as her vessel. She quickly feed me more of this energy as she realized I was going for a big one!

The Dragon Veins all around the Snake suddenly became so bright that every person was able to see them. The golems promptly ran away from the light instinctively, while the snake, paralyzed by fear, was consumed by a burst of elemental explosions!

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOOOOMMM!!!

The enormous explosions engulfed the gigantic snake, as I felt my Mana quickly dropping to zero. The usage of this spell was exhausting as it used 100 MP for each Dragon Vein that exploded, and there were dozens that exploded almost at the same time!

"GRAAAAA...!"

The gigantic snake screamed agonizingly, as the might of the elemental spirits made itself known!
