Chapter 371: The Seven Demon Kings

The God of Creation utilized his powers to divide Erebus into Seven Fragments. Gaia heard the sound of her son's soul being torn apart, her eyes crying in agony and despair as she saw her son, which she raised for thousands of years, being treated and hurt so terribly.

Somehow, I also felt such pain... Such agony. Her tears, I felt them. His pain, I felt it... It was as if I was sharing their pain and agony as I looked upon this terrible past. The laughter of the Gods that hated Erebus echoed behind Gaia, only to make things more disgusting.

The God of Creation's eyes glanced down into the world, as his powers sealed Erebus' Seven Fragments, hoping that with time he would die off by losing his energy. He placed a Stake of Judgement in each of his Fragments, his powers incapable of killing him.

The reason why he couldn't kill him wasn't mercy, but Erebus was a being created by the divinity of all Gods, including his... It was an attempt the Gods made to create a powerful god that could contain all their elements, but they considered it a failure, as it transformed into Erebus.

Their combined powers didn't created a divine miracle, but melded into chaos itself, covering the being with pure Miasma, and other powerful, never-seen otherworldly and destructive elements...

Yet... Gaia raised him so well so he could one day become a God like everyone else. It is too painful, way too painful that it ended like this...

Why?

I thought that at least... the gods of this world were good.

But I can tell that not everything is black and white.

Gaia's tears filled the world with rain, for hundreds of years, rain fell over the world, until one day, amidst the morning, plant life began growing everywhere, and life flourished.

I don't know what happened there, I couldn't see any more of the Gods after this vision. But I saw what happened to Erebus. Each of his fragments slowly began waking up in different Eras. Each Fragment was like a piece of his personality and his emotions, and they were all called the same.

Demon Kings...

The First Fragment, the Demon King of Plagues.

The Second Fragment, the Demon King of Famine.

The Third Fragment, the Demon King of Miasma.

The Fourth Fragment, the Demon King of Death.

The Fifth Fragment, the Demon King of Flood.

The Sixth Fragment, the Demon King of Swarms.

And the Seventh Fragment, the Demon King of The End.

Each time Erebus woke up, he brought chaos around the world, yet there were those that stood to protect humanity and all lives within this world, Heroes rose and fell constantly. Each Demon King rose in windows of thousands of years, bringing new Eras of chaos and destruction.

Until the Seventh Fragment woke up, and not even the Gods were able to do anything against him...

The world... it came to an end.

Then why? Why is the world still alive now when it ended back then?

This world... just what is going on?

And Erebus...

I looked at the Demon King of Miasma at my side. The two of us were standing now in a completely white space. His body has been reduced to a small black sludge with a red eye.

He seemed sorrowful as he recalled the past. His arrogant nature was completely gone. It seems as if he had completely given up on fighting back.

"You win..."

"Huh?"

He looked back at me while tears flowed from his single eye.

"Kill me... It is what I deserve."

"Kill you?"

"Since my creation that I was a monster. Mother... was the only person that ever loved me, yet when I hurt her, I knew I couldn't go back."

"..."

"I only have faint memories of my other incarnations, but they all shared my pain. This pain that doesn't fade away no matter how hard we try..."

"But why did you brought so much pain to others?"

"It was because... I had gone insane. Vengeful, I hated the world- I still hate it all. The curse of those gods... Must have done a lot to my soul, I feel more at ease now, somehow.. But even then, I cannot blame it all to the curse, I could had stopped things, yet I didn't. It is my fault as well."

"It is good that you can at least understand that... But it is also wrong that you shoulder all the pain by yourself."

"Huh?"

I hugged him, his little body squirmed.

"W-What are you doing?!"

"I am trying to give you back what you lost, even if it's only a small remembrance of a past bygone."

"Stop... Get away from me!"

"I won't... I don't want to let you go."

"But why?! I am evil... I've done so many horrendous things, and probably I don't even regret it!"

"Yeah, that's why death would be too merciful, don't you think?"

"Eh?!"

He looked at me in surprise.

"I want to learn more about the past, and about what happened to this world. Why is it still alive despite having ended? What are the gods now? Are they really the same as before? Why did they disguised this world as a game? I have many questions... And you, you're a lost child. I cannot let go of you once I saw all of that."

"You're foolish... I am a monster... I only know how to hurt others..."

FLASH!

Suddenly, the white room where we were standing turned into a beautiful and endless garden. Colorful flowers decorated the garden, as the blue sky was decorated by white clouds and the brightness of the sun.

He was surprised by the sudden change, as his eye glanced back at me in confusion, without knowing what I had in store for him.

Chapter 372: Second Chance And Evolution

"I will give you a second chance, because despite the bad things you've done, you were also wronged."

"Second chance?!"

"If you die, then that would be the end of it, don't you think? How will you be able to make up for all the wrong you've brought if you simply disappear?"

"You're insane..."

"No... I just want to believe the words of your mother."

"..."

I extended my hand towards him and touched him with the tip of my finger.

"Oh child of chaos, be reborn as a new seedling. Your journey is not done yet... You must use this new opportunity to repent and do good. You promise me?"

"I-I... Why? Why would I...?!"

His face distorted, as he quickly seemed to recall his own mother through me.

"Why are you being so merciful against a monster... I don't understand."

"I told you I want to believe your mother's words. Do you not believe hers?"

"Mo... mother..."

Erebus finally understood, this wasn't something about me, it was about his mother. Even after everything, he still had yet to prove the gods that he could do good.

"Don't you want to prove them that she was not wrong?"

"..."

"Don't you want to make her happy?"

"I..."

"Answer me, Erebus!"

His eye glanced at me, more tears flowed from them.

"I do!"

"You do?"

"Yes! I.... I don't want to disappoint mother anymore..."

"Really?"

"Yeah... I want to make things right now..."

"Are you sure?"

"I am!"

"The Curse the gods of the past inflicted upon your soul is gone, but it remains within your leftover fragments. You will accompany me and help me defeat each one of your fragments, so we can finally free you from the curse."

"..."

"And you will fight, and fight, and fight... Because only like that, once you fight for all the lives of this world, is when you'll finally be able to repent for all the ones you've taken."

"I will..."

"Alright."

Golden and green energies flowed from my hands, reaching Erebus' very soul. His miasmic body was completely consumed by my main body, but his soul remained. It was the purest of his forms, weakened yet still powerful.

"I have yet to forgive you for what you've done, especially to the Tree of Beginnings, but somehow... I can hear his voice within your soul. If I kill you now, I'll be killing the last remnant of his soul. Remember these words."

"I... will remember them."

"Very well..."

I sighed, as his very soul was absorbed into my main body. It slowly went through many roots, many branches, and then was encapsulated with the power of nature and life, until it popped from one of my branches, resembling a purple-colored fruit.

And about me... When I finally opened my eyes, I found myself atop the sky, literally. I could see the horizon and the forest down below seemed small. Just how high did my body grow?

I could even see the mountains far away, and the Luminous Kingdom from here.

Ding!

[You've evolved into a [Yggdryad]!]

Eh? What is an Yggdryad?!

The entire Forest of Beginnings was reborn. Once the Demon King of Miasma was slain, the players celebrated, but many quickly disconnected, concerned about what might be happening in real life. The first contact phenomenon that happened due to the Demon King's powers filled the media of the whole Earth, very few players stayed online after these news. It didn't help that it was incredibly late at night. But the truth behind what had happened was only known by Planta and her friends, as other Players had no idea that he was the one that had interfered with their world, even less the rest of the people in Earth.

However, the inhabitants of the forest, and even the rest of the inhabitants of this world, they all saw it with their very eyes, alongside all of Planta's friends. The forest that went from a wasteland of miasma into the beautiful, greenery from before, nest for all life, was finally back.

Within the center of the Fairy Queendom, Queen Titania realized that Planta's Heart of the Forest had suddenly disappeared. However, she could feel Planta's Heart of the Forest within the very center of the forest.

The many people all around the forest slowly began walking across its beautiful landscape. There were no monsters, no miasma, it was a land of beautiful greenery, of pure nature. They all felt attracted to the presence in the center of the forest.

The weakened Brownies, Gnomes, and Fairies regained their strength, and even the Ents surrounding the forest felt their strength was back after having spent it all to go against the Miasma. Everyone glanced at the distance, realizing what was happening.

"The Heart of the Forest has been reborn..." The Elder Ent said, his golden eyes shining brightly in surprise.

Queen Titania and the Players with her all walked towards the tree. The Brownies and Gnomes as well, even the Squirrel-kin. The new Players that had arrived here were also all glancing at the scene in awe.

"Is that a giant tree?!" Elisa asked.

"It grew out of the blue..." Anna said.

"What's... going on right now?" Elena wondered. "Where's Planta at? I saw her attacking the Demon King but she's gone now...?"

"No... Wait, Elena..." Anna said, feeling completely shocked. "That tree... that's Planta."

"Huh?!" Elena looked at the giant tree, which was over a hundred meters tall. It emanated a beautiful aura of life and nature around, spreading through the forest and helping it grow larger.

"Unbelievable... Can a player even take such a form?" Asked Elisa.

"She evolved into something completely crazy... An Yggdryad." Said Anna.

"Yggdryad..." Elena sighed, she felt as if the tree was calling her as well.

She felt a slight sense of familiarity with it...

Meanwhile, within the floor of the forest, the tribes of the Forest of Beginnings gathered to glance at the beautiful tree. The tree's roots spread all around, forming an ecosystem of its own.

"This is... Is this Lady Planta?" Wondered Acorn.

"Yes... It is her." Titan said in awe.

"Incredible... Planta, to think you would go so far for us..." Sighed Titania.

"What an awe-inspiring sight..." Nieve said.

"T-This is Planta?! What the heck..." Achlys freaked out.

And as everyone was glancing at her beautiful new form, suddenly they heard their voice from atop the tree.

"Heeeeeeey! Can someone hear me? Uwaah! I am so high! T-This is a bit scary..."

Well, she was still the same as always.

[All Accumulated EXP has been converted into EXP Potions stored inside your Inventory.]

[All your Familiars have reached Max Level and can Evolve.]

[The [Yggdryad] Skill Tree has been opened.]

"I-I really did it..."

I looked into all the system windows in front of me, they were so many that I was getting tired of them, so I just shook them over with my hand and looked into the surroundings. I had truly become a giant tree, a Yggdryad!

Is it Yggdryad because it's the mix of Yggdrasil and Dryad, right? I guess it is a pretty simple fusion of words... Ah, it still might yet my body emanates so much light it feels like it's the morning already.

So much has happened... the Demon King battle, the whole disaster, and then the other disaster back on Earth. Ugh, I hope nothing bad happened back in my country. Checking the news through the internet, there's tons of it.

But it seems there wasn't any problem in my city at least, everything's alright... Though the world might change a lot from now on that these monsters showed up. The Gods closed the gates, but there's still monster corpses left, and the tentacles of the Demon King as well.

The governments are taking care of that but how long though? I feel like they might use it for their own benefit. Ah, now knowing all of this is real, it feels more like I'm really having a second life in this world- Come to think of it, those powers I've been experiencing lately...

"Yep those are the powers you've gained in here, through your connection, you can use them back on Earth to a small extent, though you need to be able to control them properly and all. It's not going to be easy."

Suddenly, I heard the voice of the Great Spirit.

"Great Spirit! You're here?! Wait... You can read my mind?!"

"I can now! My soul has merged even more with your own, so I can now listen to your thoughts... Sometimes."

"Sometimes? Please just don't! It is very rude!"

"Okay, okay! More importantly, you've got a ton of power now. And you even evolved. How did this happened exactly?"

"Ah well..."

I explained her that in the middle of the battle, I received a message about a special evolution, it had tons of conditions, but I managed to complete them all except the one I needed... an Yggdrasil Branch. However, once I defeated the Undead Tree of Beginnings, he dropped as an item a branch of his own body, which was still pure.

It was as if this was his last gift to me, another of his branches... And in that moment I quickly realized that the Tree of Beginnings was the son of the World Tree, meaning that he was simply a small World Tree still in development!

Like that, I was able to use Plant Absorption to fuse this branch into my body and the evolution happened automatically after that. I used this opportunity to catch the Demon King's last remnant and completely obliterated his whole body.

I manipulated his soul somehow and made him be reborn as one of my fruits. The big, watermelon-sized purple fruit at one of my branches at the left side of my body. He's still there sleeping but he might wake up soon enough.

"S-So you reincarnated him?!"

"More like just a bit, it is just the fruit! Don't worry~"

"This is still a bit..."

"I just didn't wanted this to be his end, I saw his past and all... It had me crying a bit. And also remembering his soul is now merged with the Tree of Beginning's soul only makes it worse."

"So you thought that if you killed him you would be killing the tree, I guess..."

"Yeah... I couldn't bring myself to do something like this, so I decided to give him a second chance instead. I'll make him repent and work hard to save people instead." I said with a smile.

"You're really something else..." Sighed the Great Spirit. "But well, if you were the type of person that would had chosen to kill him instead, I wouldn't be here with you. Such a kind and pure heart is what brought me to you."

"Aww, that's nice and all but..." I interrupted. "Did the gods decided this as well?"

"I believe they did." The Great Spirit answered. "Your whole evolution is something unprecedented. Perhaps the Goddess of Nature and Life, Gaia, aided you in attaining. I think she even gave you her Divine Protection!"

"D-Divine Protection? Ah, well, more importantly, how do I walk now? I am gigantic. Also did the heart of the forest just fused with my body as well?" I wondered.

"Yep, that's right..." The Great Spirit. "However, amongst your new abilities, you should be able to separate an [Avatar] that can help you move. Check the Yggdrasil's Seedling Abilities."

"Oh... Let's see..."

I quickly looked into the Yggdrasil's Seedling after everything the Great Spirit explained to me. It had become even larger now in explanations, containing many abilities within as well.

"Woah... this is...!"

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 374: {World Tree Seedling}

I quickly looked into the Yggdrasil's Seedling after everything the Great Spirit explained to me. It had become even larger now in explanations, containing many abilities within as well.

[Yggdryad's World Tree Seedling (Divine Grade): Level 3]

A Divine Tree created when a Yggdryad is born, its core and body is connected to them and its safety and health is dependent in the Yggdryad and vice versa. However, the tree can also exist without the Yggdryad as long as it grows big enough. The Divine Tree has the properties to one day evolve into the powerful and enormous World Tree, capable of bringing life to everywhere within the world and save it from the darkness.

Even if the Player dies, the tree will remain, but might face penalties whenever the Yggdryad revives through the Player's powers. This special tree contains special properties, bringing life and spiritual essence to the surroundings and the entire world as a whole. The stronger its Yggdryad grows, the bigger the tree will become, which in exchange, will empower the Yggdryad with more strength and magic power.

This Divine Tree is connected with the world's Spirit Roots and can draw power from within it to create [Miracles] through Divine Power. The surrounding Forest has become part of its [Territory] and as it takes over more Territory, the tree can gain more essence to grow bigger, and in exchange, provide more life and spiritual energy back to the world.

Level Bonus (3): Enhances all Ability Effects by +30%. Increases the Power of Nature and Spirit Element Skills and Magic by +60%.

[Special Abilities: 5/5]

[Divine Spiritual Fountain: Lv3]: The Yggdryad's World Tree Seedling is capable of generating up to 25000 Spiritual Essence every day, which it emanates naturally into its surroundings. The Yggdryad can concentrate such essence into crystalized [Spirit Crystals] or liquid form such as [Spirit Water] at will.

[Divine Life Spring: Lv3]: The Yggdryad's World Tree Seedling emanates a powerful Aura of Life Energy, anybody that is deemed as an ally by the Yggdryad that is within 5 kilometers of the Yggdryad's World Tree Seedling will recover Health Points, Mana Potions, and Exhaustion at x10 times the normal speed.

[Return Home: Lv3]: The Yggdryad and anybody it desires to bring with herself can teleport directly to where the Yggdryad's World Tree Seedling is located, with a cooldown of 30 Minutes. More [Spiritual Checkpoints] can be created by designing a specific available tree which will connect with the Heart of the Forest, with a maximum capacity of up to 6 other Trees.

[Divine Yggdryad Avatar: Lv3]: The Yggdryad's true body is the very World Tree Seedling, and it cannot easily move. However, it is possible to create a special Divine Avatar out of its own wood and power which will contain all of its normal stats, skills, and other magic powers. The Divine Yggdryad Avatar can gain power from her main body, which might enhance her stats by up to +50%. However, the farther the Avatar is from the Yggdryad's World Tree Seedling, the less bonus stats it can get.

[Divine Miracle: Lv3]: The Yggdryad has Divine Power coursing through her wooden body's veins, which it absorbs directly from the Spirit Roots of the entire World. By utilizing Divine Power, it is possible to create [Miracles] that can do certain things (restricted by rules) that might be called completely supernatural. Miracle Cooldown: 4 Days.

Woah this is absolutely insane. The old Abilities were boosted to "Divine" and I gained two new Abilities as well, the Avatar one and the Miracle one! That's not something I could have ever expected from this. So I have Divine Power coursing through my body now... huh. It's going to take me a while to process this information.

"But for now, it would be better to get off this immense height already... [Divine Yggdryad Avatar]!"

FLAAASH!

Suddenly, a body was shaped at my own mental image, it resembled my previous appearance as a Hamadryad, but it had some new clothes that came for free, and there were a few hints of my real-life appearance on it as well...

"Ahhh... It feels nice to have arms and legs!" I stretched my body happily.

However, I quickly realized I was balancing myself atop a thin branch over a hundred meters above the ground level! I was constantly trying to regain balance yet at the same time about to trip down into the ground below.

It was really quite frightening... However, I noticed that all my friends were down there, so I began calling them from above, trying to see if they could hear me. My Familiars were with them so maybe Belle could come pick me up or something.

"Heeeeeeey! Can someone hear me? Uwaah! I am so high! T-This is scary..."

They quickly heard me, thankfully.

"Oh? Planta?!" Asked Titania.

"Lady Planta! You can't go down?" Asked Acorn.

"Should we go up to pick her?" Wondered Nieve.

"Wait a second, can't she come herself here?" Achlys asked.

"Please cut her some slack, she has done a lot already..." Titan sighed. "I'll go pick her up!"

Titan suddenly grew eagle-like wings made of wood from his back, as he flew through the skies while leaving flickering flames behind. He had fully evolved already now that I remember, and had gone back to a smaller size once the buffs he was receiving through Soul Resonance were gone.

"Planta!"

"Titan!"

I jumped over him the moment I saw his big and wooden body, as he held me with his big arms.

"A lot... happened tonight, and a lot is happening outside as well..." He sighed. "But I still I should say that... Thanks for everything."

Titan said such words as we slowly flew down.

"I'm sorry for not telling you... that it was me before. I was afraid about your reaction..." I sighed.

"So that was why... Well, don't worry about it." Titan said. "I hope things don't get awkward know that we know it is the other..."

"Maybe they'll get super awkward..." I laughed. "Even more now that this morning we'll be going to the countryside and all..."

"Oh right, that!" He said. "Damn, we can't even catch a break, can't we?"

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 375: Brand New And Powerful Titles

As we flew down below, I checked my new Titles, alongside some new System Windows that kept pilling up one after the other since I woke up...

[The [Goddess of Life and Souls, Gaia] has Blessed you with her [Divine Protection]!]

[The Power of the [Goddess of Life and Souls, Gaia] has been materialized into a powerful new Title!]

[You acquired the [Gaia's Divinely Protected] Title!]

[Gaia's Divinely Protected]

Acquisition Conditions: Receive the Divine Protection of the Goddess Gaia.

A Title only rewarded to a Legendary Hero that has been given the Divine Protection of Gaia, the Goddess of Nature and Life. All Effects of this Title are active even without equipping it. The power of Gaia flows through your body, the stronger you grow, the stronger this power will grow and the more abilities you might develop. Gaia is also capable of talking to you through Divine Oracles. By giving her [Offerings], Gaia might aid you.

[Young World Tree]

Acquisition Conditions: Become A Young World Tree.

Equip Bonus: World Tree Abilities can develop more rapidly, and growth is multiplied by x10. All World Tree Ability effects are enhanced by +50%.

A Title only rewarded to a unique being that has become the Young World Tree, a pillar of the world that has been missing for ages. This Title effects are active even without equipping it. This Title is a Special Gift from the Gods to boost your growth, due to the importance you have over the entire world as a whole.

[Savior of the World]

Acquisition Conditions: Save the World from imminent destruction.

Equip Bonus: All NPC within the world are more likely to have a better impression of you, doesn't negate enmity from enemies. Allies that are part of your main party can grow rapidly and develop unique abilities, evolutions, and classes. You have access to sending messages to the Gods. You can now see a detailed and complete Map of the entire world even if you haven't visited those areas.

A Title only rewarded to those that have saved the entire world from their imminent destruction. The title effects remain even if the title is not equipped. To see the map, merely say the command "Summon World Map".

All these new Titles were certainly amazing. They didn't gave some flat stat boosts though but enhanced other things mostly. I liked that. They were pretty convenient. Gaia's Title is the best at helping me fuse skills in the future too... And then there's the whole world map at the palm of my hands? Is this true?

"[Summon World Map]"

FLAAASH!

Suddenly, a big sphere emerged before my sight. It was the entire... this entire world! I couldn't believe it, but it was indeed this entire world's spherical shape. I could see all the continents as it slowly rotated, and as I touched the areas of the planet, I was able to expand and see the many details.

Each area was also named and their names emerged there. It even showed me the available monsters and materials I could find there. The shops inside of towns and cities, and more. It even showed the safer routes to move through the world, and many places... not yet to have been revealed to the rest of the player base, such as Hidden Dungeons.

"Eh? A giant spherical map?" Mark seemed confused.

"So you can see it too... It is a gift I got for defeating the demon king... You didn't got anything like this?" I wondered.

"I haven't checked, but I don't think I do." He said. "This map's great, we can see so many things in there... Ah, we're here."

Once we finally landed on the floor, we were greeted by all our friends. I was hugged by literally everyone there. Titania, Achlys, Acorn, Nieve, Florie, everyone! Even my Familiars all began squeezing me. It felt like I was about to snap into tiny pieces!

"Planta, I am so grateful for what you've done!" Titania cried.

"Is it finally over bestie? Can we go to sleep now?" Sighed Rita.

"Lady Planta, we did it! And you got giant too!!!" Said Acorn.

"It was... very unnerving, but everything seems to have ended nicely." Sighed Nieve.

"Yeah! Finally..." Sighed Florie. "Ahh... I even evolved and all."

"Thanks a lot for everything you've done as well, guys! Without you I would had never been able to reach so far..." I sighed in relief, hugging everyone. "How is the kingdom? Ah, and the towns? Your tribe?"

"Everything's well." Said Titania. "Casualties were... not as many. Thanks to some Players that helped us, we were able to revive most of the fallen ones. The Kingdom is in ruins, but as long as we are alive, we can rebuild our place."

"Some of my tribe also perished..." Sighed Acorn. "But mostly everyone survived! Grandpa too!"

"The same's for the Brownie town." Said Lily. "I went to take a look at them back then, some did die, it was inevitable in all the chaos, but the casualties were reduced to a minimum thanks to the Mushroom Brigade helping out."

"Oh, I see..." I sighed. "Maybe I can do something about those that died. Their souls, I can feel them all around us..."

I looked around, I saw many souls of many people, fairies, squirrel-kin, brownies and gnomes. Even the souls of the Miasmic Treants that died, which were normal trees before. I could see them all.

Perhaps I could reincarnate them the same way I did with the Demon King... Though I don't know how exactly I did it.

"Y-You can see souls?!" Titania was surprised.

"Eh? Yeah? It is weird?" I wondered.

"...Not even I can see souls though!" Titania was shocked.

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 376: New Friends And An Idea

"Well, I'll leave this for later, I think I could do something about these souls." I said. "However, the Players... Ah."

Suddenly, I found myself surrounded by many Players. It wasn't my friends, but there was the Four Guild Masters, and then a mysterious Vampire Woman and four other Players as well.

There was a total of nine new Players here... And they all were admiring the giant tree from afar, but were getting closer. Agh, what do I do now?!

No... relax. The guild masters are my friends now, officially. If they saved the lives of the fairies and all, they have already proved themselves.

Though I will be not joining any of their guild!

Anyways, Gandalf, Angelina, Anikitty, and Erdrich all rushed to my side, greeting everyone. Titania had changed her view of other Players than my party after how they helped her Kingdom and even revived her people.

Angelina has a very powerful set of light attribute spells... I wonder if I could learn a few of those, she even used a Reviving Spell to revive people! I cannot do that myself, right? I must learn it...

"Planta! We finally meet once more. And it seems you never stop surprising us. You've evolved into this gigantic tree?" Asked Angelina, her fascinated expression was clear as the water.

"Y-Yeah, something like that... Ahahah..." I giggled a bit nervously.

"And the Demon King was slain by you and the other Players..." Said Erdrich.

"We are so lucky to have seen such a thing!" Said Anikitty.

"It was amazing!" Angelina said.

"It really was. You'll become a popular player from now on." Sighed Gandalf. "Wait, you kind of already are, aren't you?"

"Ahhh... I guess."

Right, now that I remember, they probably don't know this world is real, right? They don't. So it means I cannot talk with them as freely about these things. If I tell them this is all real they'll take me for a nutjob or something.

"Thanks for saving the Fairies anyways! Even if they're considered NPC, I've become very fond of everyone in this forest, they're all my friends." I sighed.

"Yeah, their advanced artificial intelligence is amazing, its normal to get attached to these people." Angelina said. "This world... It is so realistic it often makes me want to believe it's real. These people here are so realistic I just treat them as normal people, so I often feel a lot of sadness when other players or monsters mistreat NPC or hurt them. I would had been heartbroken if this place was destroyed by the demon king."

"She's like that, she's always compassionate to everyone even the NPC!" Anikitty sighed. "Well everyone's here is super nice and the place's beautiful too, I'm glad we could complete this world event quest... or whatever it was."

"We managed to beat it with the least casualties, the rewards are probably quite bountiful this time." Erdrich added.

"Planta, I know we angered you back then and Titania was also pissed at us for being Players and all..." Sighed Gandalf. "But could it be possible for you to add us as your friends this time?"

"O-Oh... Sure thing! I owe you a lot now that you've helped the fairies and even defeated many monsters. I heard your amazing skills helped protect the forest." I said, holding up the urge to just tell them everything was actually real. "Let's be friends and get along~!"

I quickly added them all to my friend list, so they can now message me freely and all. Aside from that, however, they had other things they wanted to talk about.

"You've achieved a never-seen before evolution, Planta." Said Angelina. "And based in the lore and everything we found out about the quest; it seems you've become a pillar of the game world."

"According to the lore it says the world tree that was here long ago was destroyed by the demon king, but it seems you've become the new world tree... I never expected a player to be able to do this." Anikitty said.

"You may be even more harassed by high level players now that you've become this famous. If you didn't notice, there was a message saying that a new world tree seedling was born and that you were the owner of it... or something." Gandalf said.

"E-Eh?! Really?!" I asked in shock.

"Wait, is that true?!" Titan freaked out at the same time.

"Damn it!" Achlys said.

"W-What's wrong?" Acorn seemed confused.

"Is it bad?" Lily had no idea either even as a Player.

"I don't really get it, but let the Players talk about their Player things for now." Said Titania.

"Yeah! You guys are also included in there, the whole party." Said Angelina. "You were said to be the top players that dealt the most damage against the Demon King as well, so you're practically celebrities."

"The dropped rewards for defeating the Demon King are also immense for those that deal the most damage." Said Gandalf. "Congratulations, you've really done quite an achievement."

"I guess it's fair to call you guys "Super Rookies" from now on!" Laughed Anikitty. "Also that big guy, Titan, right? I never saw an Ent that could manipulate flames! You're pretty unique yourself, aren't you?"

"A party full of Super Rookies, all of them holding special evolutions and classes never seen before, truly unique and powerful, and turning upside down the meta game! I can already see this in all the forums headlines!" Said Gandalf.

"Y-You guys are freaking me out a bit..." I sighed.

"Ahahaha, sorry about that. We all get excited when we meet someone famous." Angelina apologized. The blonde angel smiled back at me and gave me a handshake. "Planta, we've got you an idea."

"An idea?" I wondered.

"Yeah, how about you make your own Guild?" Asked Angelina.

"We thought about it, if you don't want to join ours, then join our alliance with your own guild!" Anikitty said.

"You can do as much for us, right? We helped you and all." Erdrich said.

"We would be forever grateful to have you in our alliance!" Gandalf asked.

"A guild..." I looked back at my friends. They seemed just as surprised over the idea.

But the more I thought about it... the more appealing it sounded.

Should I make one?

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 377: Time To Rebuild The Villages!

A Guild... I never thought about it too deeply, but this was perhaps the perfect opportunity to make one. I could add all my friends there, and people might finally stop bothering me about joining their guilds... Angelina and everyone here has been pretty gentle, but I can tell I'll face against even more annoying people in the future. To avoid these interactions, getting into a dungeon would be ideal.

"What benefits does having a guild have?" Asked Achlys.

"Well, it comes with many! Guilds have special Guild Skills which every guild member shares. There's things such as EXP increase, stat buffs, increased chance at super success or success in all forms of crafting, enhancement, and so on, and even increased luck for dropped items." Said Angelina.

"Guilds come with all these perks, you level them up using Guild Renown, which you earn doing various things. For example when a guild member completes a quest or reaches certain levels, Guild Renown is automatically donated to the guild, and so on." Said Anikitty.

"Of course the best thing is that you can participate on Guild Quests, whole guilds arm together to raid special dungeons with powerful boss monsters inside, you get plenty of rewards from that as well." Said Gandalf. "There's also guild wars which compete for territories the guilds occupy, and treasures, alongside renown."

"There's many benefits as well, you can have your own Guild Building and buy other buildings in various cities as well..." Said Erdrich.

"Woah, that's a lot of stuff, isn't it?" Wondered Achlys.

"Seems like it could be quite beneficial, I don't mind joining the guild Planta would make." Lily said.

"Yeah me neither." Titan said. "How about it?"

Everyone seemed to want my answer to the whole thing before doing anything. But I was able to easily tell they really wanted to join a guild with me. And honestly speaking, it sounded like a very tentative offer.

"Alright... Let's make a guild!" I celebrated.

"Yaaay!" Said Acorn. "Wait, what's a guild?"

"Are we invited to it too?" Nieve wondered.

"Sounds fun!" Florie added.

"Kids don't get involved with Players stuff. Guilds is one of the things only Players have access to." Titania said.

"But don't we have the Player Title?" Asked Acorn.

"Maybe we can join!" Florie said.

"Right... It might be true." Said Nieve.

"Wait, Player Titles? What's that?" Angelina asked.

"Err, we can explain it later. For now we should really just gather in somewhere safe and... Wait, how about we build a village here, in the tree's roots?" I asked everyone.

"Eh? In here?"

"The roots seem like a nice place. There's plenty of shade too. And grass and mushrooms are growing everywhere."

"There's fruit trees around here as well!"

"Are those potatoes?"

"Wait, I can see some carrots around here!"

Fairies, Brownies, Gnomes, and Squirrel-kin began wandering everywhere, using their sharp sight and smell senses to find edible things. Their villages ended all being devastated and the Fairy Kingdom was now on complete ruins.

So I thought... Why not make our new home in here where they'll be protected by my body? Their wounds and mana will heal very quickly in here, and there's spiritual essence flowing all the time so they'll be healthy as well.

Apparently, a "side effect" of my tree taking roots is that the power of the Great Spirit of Farming and Harvest has spread further through the land and tons of fruits and veggies started popping up in here.

It doesn't mean I'll abandon my farm outside the forest, but in here there's plenty of plant life growing, and I can always produce more food through Plant Synthesis and the farming system method I found.

"Our homes are all destroyed, we don't have anywhere to go..." Sighed the Squirrel-kin chief. "We've managed to bring our belongings thanks to Acorn's spatial storage magic, but the rest is in ruins... I suppose these big trees around and the roots are good place to climb around. Are you okay with establishing our new village in here, everyone?"

The squirrel-kin chief asked the other squirrel-kin, they all agreed, raising their hands and shaking their tails around.

"If we can stay near the big tree, we'll feel safer!"

"If this is Lady Planta's true body, there's no safer place to be."

"There's plenty of food here for all of us!"

"Yeah, it could work!"

Squirrel-kin are mostly hunter gatherers, the most primitive tribe in the forest, so they easily would adapt to this place without many complications. However, the fairies were the most refined, living in enormous buildings and all... Brownies and gnomes seem to fancy areas with underground passages.

But who says I cannot remodel the terrain so there's an opening to those places? Using my Terrain Manipulation and Green Magic and calling for the help of the Land Spirits... it could be totally possible.

In fact, can't we just begin making buildings out of wood right away? My control over plants have become superb right now, so its totally possible if I put my mind into it.

"What about everyone else?" I wondered. "Sorry if it was too rushed or something... Maybe it would be better if you returned to your territories? I'll help you rebuild your homes as well."

"No, we'll stay here. There's a big opening in the other side of that giant root leading to a rich cave filled with crystal and ores that surged when Lady Planta's roots emerged everywhere." Dverg said. "I think this is enough for us gnomes, the brownies seem to love the flower gardens that grew nearby."

"Ooh, really? I'll do my best to plant more things for you all!" I said happily.

"Sadly my people has grown fond of our kingdom, so I don't think we can stay in the center." Said Titania. "I would love to but it is not possible."

"Aw, well, it's fine as well, don't worry. For now, how about we make some buildings?" I asked everyone. "Titan, Lily, can you help me out for a bit?"

"Huh? Sure!" Titan said.

"How could I help?" Lily wondered.

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 378: Building A Village With Ease In Mere Seconds!

"Plant Absorption, Nature Assimilation, Plant Manipulation!"

FLAAAASH!

I combined these two powerful Skills and the spell together, as I merged with the nature nearby and assimilated it, at the same time as I shaped it however I wanted. With the help of Titan and Lily, we manipulated the terrain.

CREAAAAK!

The sound of wood moving around and shaping into different forms echoed across the forest. The people glanced with awe as I shaped house after house out of all the wood nearby, including my own roots.

Beautiful wooden houses popped up one after the other, finely decorated as they imprinted their shape right how I had imagined them. I tried to make taller houses attached to big trees or the roots of Yggdrasil for the squirrel kin, while making low and smaller houses for the brownies and gnomes.

Mana was being spent by the thousands, but thanks to the power of many skills and the tree itself, I was able to easily gain back all the MP I was spending. As long as nature flourishes in this forest I can refill my MP gauge very rapidly.

"Land Spirits! Terrain Manipulation!"

After that, and using Lily's aid as well, we summoned Land Spirits and used Terrain Manipulation, alongside other similar skills, and spells to create a paved road around the village. Lastly, we added walls made of living wood with Titan.

Mark ended adding some decorations as well, putting [Guardian Totems] made from his own wood which he carved with special Runes using a skill, and he placed them around the entire village. He said these guardians would protect the village from wild animals or monsters that still roam freely in the forest as part of the whole ecosystem, but that could still threaten the lives of people.

"A-Amazing..." Titania was left speechless.

"Y-You built this in half an hour?!" Asked Angelina.

"This is insanity!" Florie said.

"Well this is just the power of having our MP refilled all the time." I laughed.

"Yeah it wasn't so hard, once we have the picture in our minds, the trees and plants move and do the rest." Titan explained.

"The ground moves around easily whenever I use Magic, the spirits helped refine the various other things." Lily said.

"We are still in the early stages, we could only make around fifty buildings, but they have second floors and many rooms. Could you guys bear with this for now? We've already made some rudimentary bathrooms as well." I said with a smile.

The squirrel-kin, gnomes, and brownies all seemed to be in a bliss as I smiled back at them.

"Lady Planta, your humbleness knows no bounds..." Dverg sighed.

"Such a good person... I am moved..." Cried Acorn's grandpa.

"Lady Planta you're the best! Thank you..."

"This is good enough for now...!"

"For sure! They even made big bathrooms!"

"Huh? Is that a farm they installed there?!"

"And the walls make us feel safer too..."

"Those totems emanate a strong spiritual aura, they're really spirits!"

The three tribes joined together as they entered the village we built rapidly, wandering around. The two chiefs decided to take care of preparations and distribution of all things. For now, however, there was no time to be stingy, I quickly unloaded most of the food I had stored and gave it to everyone so they could eat. Veggies, fruits, meat, and tons of prepared dishes I had done beforehand. This should be enough for everyone to feast.

"It is incredible the extent in which you care for these NPC, Planta..." Anikitty said.

"Well, for me they're all real." I said with a smile. "If you want to be my friends, you better respect all NPC you ever find, okay? This world to be is a living and breathing world."

"You've really gotten into the whole World Tree roleplay..." Laughed Achlys.

"Anyways, the way you built things was very fast, I remember it took you some time to shape things even, Lady Planta!" Said Acorn.

"Oh yeah, that must be because of this new Territory Management Ability I acquired... It is more like a system of its own? Or something." I said while wondering.

"What? Territory... Management? I had never heard of that before..." Titan said. "Could it be... did you discovered a new function?"

"Ahahah... M-Maybeee..." I said while not wanting him to freak out so much. "In fact the moment we made the first houses I've been getting tons of system messages, but I just ignore them, they get too much in the way."

However, now it was a good time to check them out for once.

"I-I completed a quest?" I wondered while feeling rather taken aback once more. "S-So many things..."

I felt completely lost!

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 379: [Territory Manager] And [Village Chief]!

I had yet to even Rank Up my Job Class and Subclass yet I was already being given so many powers and stuffs I didn't really understand... But to sort things up, the Territory Management System helps at creating buildings and well, managing territory! It seems this is why it felt so strangely easy to create buildings, I was using this system from the very beginning.

And well, it was mostly thanks to the Guider Spirit that I was able to find a clue, as he explained things to me right after I said I felt completely lost.

But to fully understand everything, I also must see the new Title effects...

[Territory Manager]

Acquisition Conditions: Unlock the Territory Managing System and Create 5 Blueprints.

Equip Bonus: Blueprints Creation becomes swifter. MP Cost for the Creation of Buildings is reduced by a small amount. Grants the ability to see the whole territory though a detailed Mini Map.

A Title only rewarded to those that have taken over a territory which even the gods deem as theirs, unlocking the power to expand territory and manage it. Title Effects are active at all times even when the title is unequipped.

[Village Chief]

Acquisition Conditions: Be recognized as the leader of a village filled with NPC who have a Trust Level of over 3 with you.

Equip Bonus: Unlocks [Village Chief Authority], grants the ability to see Villager's feelings and detect if they're feeling well or bad. Grants the ability to complete special quests to gain Trust with NPC, valuable materials and items, and Community Points to further upgrade the village and strengthen its inhabitants.

A Title only rewarded to those that have embraced this new world and had made many new friends to the point a whole village could be made with them, being recognized as their leader will give you this Authority. Title Effects are active at all times even when the title is unequipped.

Yep, these complement even more the Territory Management System, making everything even more swifter to take care of. And as of the Territory Management...

"As I said, this power allows you for the management and creation of buildings and your territory. You didn't realized it but each time you created buildings you spent Mana not only just to move the things around. Once the Blueprints are registered, you now have the power to instantly create the buildings once you have the necessary materials." The Guide Spirit explained.

As of now, we were all gathered around a large bonfire while I was grilling meat and making stew for everybody in need. I couldn't quite log off yet, as I wanted to leave everyone with a full belly at the very least. And as for the Guild Creation, we'll probably do it tomorrow.

"I see! And what are the materials necessary?" I wondered.

"You can look at this." The Guide quickly showed me.

[Rustic Wooden House: Lv1]

[Building Type]: [House]

[Building Quality]: [F+]

[Creation Cost]: [100 Wood Pieces], [1000 MP]

[Effect]: [Good Rest]

[Description]

A Rustic and small house made of wood and connected through Mana. It is ideal for small races to live inside and it is quite comfortable despite the rough appearance. As it levels up, its shape and quality increases greatly, and it might even develop special Effect.

"Wow, so even a single building has all this info..." I said in surprise. "I wonder if I'll be able to move more complex things than just a lot of wood amassed together, like with magical effects?"

"Certainly! You just need to keep building stuff and making new Blueprints. The Territory Management Ability has no real level, so it increases as you do. The quests, however, will give you blueprints of special buildings you won't be able to normally make with all your abilities, eventually you'll get powerful stuff. After all there's the Territory Defense Ability within it!"

This whole Territory Management and Defense were like separate Abilities, similar to the Heart of the Forest, which are still like abilities but not included into the status as Skills, yet they're always active and can do a lot of things.

"As you can see in this building's status, you can already make buildings with abilities. This one has the [Good Rest] Ability, so people that sleep inside have a good rest and often have no nightmares! Their HP and MP recover quickly too, and they're prone to not get sick while sleeping either." The Guider said.

"Woow! This would had been so useful back then with all the Miasma-related sicknesses..." I sighed.

"Y-Yeah..." The Guider sighed.

"Anyways... I guess I get the gist of it, but then there's this Village Chief Authority thing, and the Community Points, can you give me an explanation on that?" I asked.

"Its as simple as it sounds, can't you see around you? Look at Titania for example." The Guider said.

I glanced at her and then I saw a bunch of information that wasn't there before.

[Titania, Queen of Fairies]

[Likeness: 100/100]

[Trust Level: 10/10]

[Current Mood: Happy, Relieved]

[Thoughts: "I am so glad everything ended well..."]

[Available Quest: [Help Rebuild the Fairy Kingdom]

"Eh?! This is a bit crazy..."

"It only works on NPC though, it helps you know what they want or how they feel about you or the village."

"Hmmm..."

[Guider, Guide Spirit]

[Likeness: 100/100]

[Trust Level: 10/10]

[Current Mood: Happy]

[Thoughts: "It's so fun to teach Planta stuff she doesn't know, it makes me feel important! Heheh..."]

[Available Quest: [None]

Oh damn, he loves me a lot too! Heheh... He's really like a child.

Though now that I think about it, this feels a bit wrong, the thoughts section might end up sounding like I am peeking at people's thoughts, just what I like at all.

"The Thoughts thing is not the person's whole thoughts, just a summary of the majority of their thoughts at that moment, related to what is happening. It cannot really reveal much info and they're short too." The Guider Said.

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 380: [Territory Management System] And [Personal Quests]!

Though now that I think about it, this feels a bit wrong, the thoughts section might end up sounding like I am peeking at people's thoughts, just what I like at all.

"The Thoughts thing is not the person's whole thoughts, just a summary of the majority of their thoughts at that moment, related to what is happening. It cannot really reveal much info and they're short too." The Guider Said.

"Oh, it felt like you read my mind there! I was just wondering that..." I sighed in relief.

"Anyways, there's a tab here that resumes everything for you so you can easily check it, like the Heart of the Forest panel that has all abilities available included on it." The Guider said.

"Ooh, let's see..."

[Territory Management System (Divine Grade): Level 1]

A Special System that grants several Abilities to the user, such as the creation of Buildings and Blueprints, the Management of the whole territory, the Village Chief Authority, and the management of Resources and Community Points.

It is an ability that grows the more it is used, and there's many Quests that can be completed to complement the System by itself and gain more benefits from it, such as new Blueprints and Community Points.

Community Points can be spent to do a variety of things, such as Leveling Up Buildings, which always needs them from Level 1 onwards, to strengthening Villagers, and also forging new bonds with other Villagers, and can also be used to enhance anything related to the village.

[Special Abilities: 3/3]

[Building Creation: Lv1]: Grants the ability to utilize materials and magic to create building blueprints which then are registered. Registered blueprints can be used later on to instantly create buildings as long as materials are provided. Buildings created are always Level 1 but can level up through using more materials. Upon building leveling, buildings will gain unique abilities and traits. Expand to see all Buildings Blueprints Available. Decreases Materials required for Building Creation by -5%, Increases Building Abilities Effects by +10%.

[Territory Defense: Lv1]: Grants the ability to create specialized buildings for the protection of the territory. All sorts of weapons can be made with the required materials available, which fit the "theme" of the user. Blueprints are unlocked over time at the same time as normal Buildings, or through creation. Leveling Defensive Buildings will increase their damage dealt and effects greatly. Decreases Materials required for Building Creation by -5%, Increases Building Abilities Effects by +10%.

[Village Chief Authority: Lv1]: Grants the ability to see Villager's feelings and detect if they're feeling well or bad. Grants the ability to complete special quests to gain Trust with NPC, valuable materials and items, and Community Points to further upgrade the village and strengthen its inhabitants. Current Community Points: 0

Eh?! It even has a grade! Is this just like the Heart of the Forest? The System treats it as if it were an item. I guess it is an invisible item that was already merged with my Status... or even my Soul, maybe. Well, whatever it is, it seems interesting. I might begin using it all the time in the sidelines to expand my territory. I need to gather Community Points if I ever want to level up buildings to give them magical effects.

I am fairly sure we could build beautiful buildings even without this silly power, but this sure makes it very fast, and the abilities that buildings can have are something impressive. I cannot simply dismiss it now.

"Seems self-explanatory enough... Alright let's see some of our friends Thought Bubbles as well..."

[Acorn, Squirrel-kin Alchemist]

[Likeness: 100/100]

[Trust Level: 10/10]

[Current Mood: Happy, Hungry]

[Thoughts: "I'm glad grandpa and everyone else could find a home thanks to Lady Planta... Though, I'm hungry..."]

[Available Quest: [Help a Fellow Alchemist!]]

Oh! Acorn has a quest? It seems to be about helping him make something related to Alchemy... If I check it and expand on its info, I get the explanation.

[Available Quest: [Help a Fellow Alchemist!]]

Acorn wants you to help him create a new type of Potion so he can regulate the power of his Divine Bloodline and transform around. He can do it himself but having someone like you helping him out could lead to finishing the job way quicker, and there might be unique potions that Acorn might had never thought about.

I see! I'll make sure to help him out then.

[Nieve, Frost Blade Knight]

[Likeness: 100/100]

[Trust Level: 10/10]

[Current Mood: Happy, Sleepy]

[Thoughts: "Things turned out well... Ah, I'm about to drop asleep at any moment now. Florie's so tall too... Maybe she can carry me to bed now?"]

[Available Quest: [The Frost-Bound Knightess Crest]

[Available Quest: [The Frost-Bound Knightess Crest]

Nieve has been feeling rather insecure about who she should really serve. She is still bound to Queen Titania, yet she already has an incredible loyalty towards you. If you really want her to stay at your side and become your knight, and clear her doubts that she has, gift her a Knight Crest to sign her loyalty.

Nieve... Was she really feeling like this? I guess she's really a knight with all those thoughts about loyalty and stuff... I don't know if I should really just tell her to be my knight now, we are more like friends, right?

But well, maybe this is what she wants, if it's a quest... Perhaps giving her a crest might be on the way then!

[Florie, Fairy Princess]

[Likeness: 100/100]

[Trust Level: 10/10]

[Current Mood: Happy, Insecure.]

[Thoughts: "Everything's good now, but the future's uncertain... What am I going to do now that I've become the Princess?"

[Available Quest: [Help the Princess In Training]

[Available Quest: [Help the Princess In Training]

Little Florie feels insecure about her current position. It is your duty as her friend to help her out, maybe ask Titania's help and Nieve as well! Who knows? Maybe something special could happen if you teach her a few things and give her some words of encouragement. Help her connect to her people too, while you're at it.

Interesting... everyone has their own quests, even Florie. Maybe I am getting them because I am already very close to them. Many of the other NPC don't have any Quest for me, so this must be the case to an extent...

Alright! I'll do them on its due time, but for now I should really get to change my Job Class and Subclass, I've been delaying this a bit too much... Also there's a group of Players stalking us from outside the village, I'll need to go see what they want before anything else.
