Chapter 491: Going Back Home

The next day in the morning, we were almost ready to go back home. The week was about to end as well, and it was time to go back to the daily routine... Well, not daily anymore, with all the things that are changing and more, it is certainly not going to be the same.

"Take care dear, have a good day back in the big city, okay?" My mother hugged me tightly.

"Sure mom, I'll keep on contact with you." I said with a nod, giving her a kiss in her cheek.

"Papa's going to miss you! Uwaaah!" My father was in tears for some reason. He really wanted me to stay some more, but I just had to go back home.

"It's fine dad, calm down. I'll be back soon." I said, hugging him back.

"Have a safe trip Elayne." Mary said.

"Thank you Mary! I hope your husband can come next time!" I said.

"I'll bring him here no matter what. This time he couldn't come due to his job." She sighed.

"Bye auntie!"

"Have... shafe trip!"

Her two little twin daughters hugged me, they were very sweet.

"Yeah, take care sis!" Harry smiled back.

"Sure! Little brother, make sure to take care of the horsies." I said.

"Will you send me the recipes for the vegan food you made?" Henrietta asked.

"Of course dear, I'll send them soon." I nodded, giving her a hug.

Mark and Rita were also saying their goodbyes, and so my daughter and her friends. Everyone had grown very attached to my family, mostly because they're very friendly and nice.

"I-I'll definitely come back to visit everyone!" Elisa said with a smile.

"I may come again." Elena said, slightly sleepily.

"And if you don't want to I'll force you to." Anna said to my daughter.

"Thank you for all your hospitality." Mark said. "I'll make sure to repay all of this back in the future."

"Yeah, yeah~ Was nice meeting ya'll again!" Rita waved her hand.

Like that, on Elise's limousine and in Mark's car, we left the countryside and slowly made our way back to the city. Thankfully the road seemed safe, and there were no random monsters popping out in the middle of it.

However, just to make sure things were safe, we left many charms all over the roads, enchanting the roads and making them naturally repel monsters and hollows. Like that, it should be safer.

"Well, a lot happened this week." Mark sighed, as I was resting my head on his shoulder. "I even got myself a girlfriend, who would had known~"

"Yeah it was surely filled with surprises." I sighed. "Though... I can't believe we confessed each other while being all drunk..."

"It was cute, come on." He giggled a bit. "You were so lovely."

"I-Is that so?" I wondered. "Even drunk and havin a foul breath?"

"It wasn't bad, you smelled like roses." He said.

"I think that's just a side effect of my physique developing... My body is becoming half dryad and half human." I said, as my finger suddenly blossomed a small, pink-colored flower.

"Woah..." Mark was surprised. "So you're developing a Physique already, huh? Great Spirit, is this on you?"

"Yep! Want some? You're going to have to BEEEG For it!" Laughed the Great Spirit.

I reprimanded her, bonking her head.

"Hey! Don't be so rude with my cinnamon roll..." I roared.

"A-Ahahaha, I was joking! Joking! Geez..." She sighed, crossing her tiny arms.

"C-Cinnamon roll?" Mark asked, feeling embarrassed. "T-That's quite the name..."

"But you're so sweet, like a cinnamon roll." I giggled.

"Well, fine, I guess as long as it is only you who uses it." He said with a smile. "T-Though, don't o around saying it in the mini market..."

"I'll try~!" I laughed. "Anyways, about the physique..."

I started developing the Physique just this morning. It seems the Great Spirit did something here and there, leaving Runes and extracting Mana and Essence from Materials we had collected before and others I borrowed from my Inventory from Arcadia.

The Physique doesn't have a name yet, but it seems to be slowly transforming my body into a Spirit of Nature, or well, half spirit of nature and half human. It should enhance my physical strength by a lot, and also my speed, defenses, and other abilities.

I have to prepare for whatever other foes appear in the near future, having more strength, defense, and speed is a must. And giving one to Mark, Rita, and probably also Lily as she'll be joining us soon is a must as well.

"Hmmm~ Anyways, for you I'll need much more materials." Said the Great Spirit. "You're just BARELY able to get one. You're pretty strong already though, well Elayne can easily beat your ass with a punch..."

"H-Hey stop treating him like this!" I reprimanded her. "What has gotten into you?"

"I-I am a bit grumpy! I wanted you two to have segs!" She said angrily. "What's wrong with it?!"

"S-She's a bit nonsensical." Mark laughed nervously.

"Y-Yeah... So anyways, which materials does he needs?" I asked.

"Hmm, I think you have most of them in your inventory. And as for the rest, you should probably hunt some Fire Attribute Monsters in Arcadia, their materials should be enough." She said. "As for Rita, it's going to be a bit harder? Well you do have a decent amount of Dark and Shadow Attribute Materials, but you need at least a C Rank quality Magic Crystal, we should also seek that in Arcadia."

"I see, alright, noted." I nodded. "I guess we'll be hunting in Arcadia to grow stronger here now, seems fun."

"Yeah, also... Aren't you a World Boss in Arcadia?" He wondered.

"O-Oh, right..." I said while remembering it. "Well, being a World Boss hasn't done much, it's not like I'm going to get attacked by players or something, they haven't really done anything-"

Ding! Ding! Ding!

However, I got a game notification in my phone's app, as I opened it, and found something...

[Your Territory is about to be invaded by the [Guild Alliance: Knights Order]!]

[Prepare for battle!]

"Eh?"

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 492: Invasion: Guild Wars

The Knights Order, a Guild Alliance made up of three different Guilds whose Guild Masters were only around Level 140 to Level 160. They were composed of the Red Knights, Knights of Vengeance, and the Dark Knights Guilds. Although they were rather under leveled, their constant participation in many Guild-related activities and the strong bonds shared between all the guild members made them a really strong Guild.

However, as they were always stuck around the Top 100, they have been seeking to find a way to earn fame and level up quickly, doing all the weekly bosses religiously didn't cut, they needed to find new quests, explore new areas, and make a name for themselves.

And today, they were about to accomplish it, one of their members had managed to reach the outskirts of the Forest of Beginnings thanks to his flying tamed monster, a Thunder Bird King. He was just a normal Level 90 Tamer but his tamed monster proved to be incredibly useful.

Flying several kilometers in just a night and arriving at the area they wanted to raid, the young man quickly used the Guild Skill [Summon Guild Alliance: Lv10 (MAX)] and summoned all three guilds together at once.

It was a plan they had been scheming for over a week now, but once they were finally done with preparations, everything was finally coming together.

Over a hundred Players were summoned outside of the Forest of Beginnings, as they glanced at the beautiful and ever-growing forest, and the many roots of the gigantic Yggdrasil tree spreading through the land.

At mere sight, it didn't look at all like a World Boss, just one huge tree... But it was in fact, the body of a Level 81 Player, Planta, who had become the first World Boss Player, and that had also defeated the Demon King of Miasma.

"We're finally here..." A tall man with long red hair wearing a red armor said, smiling viciously at the gigantic tree in the background. His eyes were filled with greed. "You might have somehow become a World Boss, but that also comes with a weakness, Planta, you can no longer turn off your PVP! Now anybody can just barge into your territory and kill you if they want!"

"She's only Level 81 after all, she might have gotten a bit too cocky with all the amazing items she had been acquiring." Sighed a blue haired young man with a fox-like face, wearing white armor and holding a sharp blue spear. "World Boss or not, she's still too weak to even compare with the strength of all three of our guilds."

"I'm sure that if we get her down we'll get some insane rewards, isn't it? Also can't we just spawn camp her? Imagine all the infinite loot we could get by spawn camping a world boss! We'll get to Level 200 in a flash and might earn enough Fame to compare with some of the top ten guilds!" Said an ambitious silver-haired woman wearing jet-black armor and holding two magic swords.

They were the respective guild masters of each guild composing the guild alliance of the Knights Order. Level 160 Gaston of the Red Knights, Level 156 Elios of the Knights of Vengeance, and Level 158 Silvera of the Dark Knights.

And behind them, tightly making a formation, there were over a hundred Players, the weakest being Level 90, but the majority were past Level 100, already having undergone their fourth Rank Up. Although the majority were heavy armor-wearing knights or warriors with big weapons.

Magicians were very rare, as these guilds usually accepted only knights to go with their theme... They were surprisingly serious about it, and the Level 90 Tamer was a very rare addition, mostly due to his scouting abilities and flight.

"What about the NPC in the forest though?" Wondered Elios, looking at the place while squinting his eyes. "If they're servants of a World Boss then can we kill them?"

"Hmmm, the system might have answered that for you." Silvera laughed.

Ding!

[You have entered the territory of the [World Boss]: [Yggdryad Planta]!]

[Your hostility has been seen as a declaration of War.]

[Due to the opposing side's forces, all of the NPC serving directly to Planta have been catalogued as Foes and can be defeated without penalties.]

[The Yggdryad is watching you silently...]

[As long as you step into the Territory, the War will begin.]

[This War will also count as a [Guild War] between the [Knights Order Guild Alliance] and the [Knowledge Library Guild Alliance]!]

[The [Knowledge Library Guild Alliance] Masters are currently logged-off.]

[The [Player: Planta] is currently logged-off.]

"Heh! It is all we can take feast, boys!" Gaston laughed, raising his gigantic red blade. His ambitious smile reached his ears. "It's time! We'll rampage this entire forest and plunder everything! We'll get so much loot!"

"Good, seems like the game's on our side today." Elios said. "Finally, its our time to get into the big leagues..."

"Fufufu, excellent." Giggled Silvera.

The army was riding over giant Wolves as they started slowly making their way into the Forest of Beginnings. Their threatening presence and powerful hostility quickly alerted the many living beings inside the forest, who were using it as their refugee and sanctuary.

The Ent King and the many other Ents protecting the Forest's surroundings quickly woke up, opening their eyes.

"Father! Players with hostility are coming here!" An Ent panicked.

"It does seems to be that way, my child." The Ent King sighed, glancing at the distance while squinting his eyes. "Just after we managed to free our world from the Demon King of Miasma, more threats are already coming..."

"We have to fight, father! For this forest and the many people inside!"

"Lady Planta's still asleep, until then, we must hold off!"

"Yeah- huh?!"

FLUOOOOSH!

However, although Planta was logged off... It would be a misunderstanding to say she wasn't there. The tree glowed brightly, emanating rich quantities of spiritual essence it has been accumulating in large quantities every day, and imbued it into the Ents.

In front of them and the King, several System Windows appeared one after the other, it was the first time they ever saw these types of powers Players possessed.

Ding!

[The [World Boss Automatic A.I.] has been activated due to [Player: Planta] being logged-off.]

[The power of the [World Boss Authority] Title has been activated.]

[All Allies of the [World Boss: Yggdryad Planta] are receiving a boost of +250% to all their Stats temporarily.]

[Due to the effects of many other Skills and Titles, Allies Stats further grow by +150%.]

[Several Skills have been enhanced their Power by +250% temporarily.]

[Spiritual Power, Health and Mana regeneration speed have been enhanced by +500%.]

"T-This power...!"

"It is the blessing of Lady Planta?!"

"I feel so young and strong!"

CLAAAASH!

The Ent King suddenly surged off the ground, his old and withered body completely regenerated, as he resembled a muscular titan made of wood, his body was overflowing with spiritual power, as countless tiny spirits floated around him.

"Our Queen call us for battle, my children!" He roared, raising his hand as he suddenly materialized a gigantic axe out of his own wood. "We shall fight for our new home!"

"OOOOOOHHHHHH!!!"

The Ents all uprooted themselves from the ground and began walking, with newly enhanced and rejuvenated bodies and powers.

Meanwhile, within the Forest of Beginning's depths, Planta's Familiars quickly began rushing to the frontlines...

Brand New Life Online: Rise Of The Goddess Of Harvest

Chapter 493: The Protectors Of The Forest Of Beginnings VS The Knight Alliance

The Red Knights led by Gaston, a Level 160 Great Berserker King, the Knights of Vengeance led by Elios, a Level 156 Magic Spear Knight, and the Dark Knights led by Silvera, a Level 158 Dual Magic Blade Knightess made their way to the Forest of Beginnings while riding gigantic Black Tyrant Wolves, Level 80 Monsters that their Guild's Tamers have tamed and prepared for everyone to mobilize quickly.

They had stocked in many health potions and even buffing potions just to make sure their victory was assured. At Gaston's order, everybody quickly started drinking red-colored potions, which began enhancing their physical bodies with tremendous strength, though their eyes began glowing redder as a result.

Ding!

[You've consumed the [Berserker Potion (B Grade)]!]

[All of your Stats have increased by +25% for 30 Minutes.]

[Your eyes glow redder, madness is flowing across your body.]

The Red Knights in specific were all Berserker Players and loved to ravage and destroy anything with immense physical prowess. With Gaston leading them, they were the first ones to arrive at the Forest of Beginnings.

"Alright boys! RAVAGE!" Laughed Gaston, as he raised his gigantic sword.

"RAAAAHH!!!"

His entire army of nutjobs rushed inside the forest, only to be greeted by countless monsters that lived inside the forest. Not exactly Planta's allies, but that responded to the forest being in danger and decided to fight the invaders, as this was their home.

Armies of Wild Boars, thousands of Jumping Mushrooms, Drakons emerging from the underground, and even ferocious Rotten Wood Golems, Giant Shadow Crows, and thousands of small Poisonous Snakes from the Swamps started attacking.

SLAAAASH! CRAAAASH!

However, with a single focused swing of his blade, Gaston sliced apart hundreds of monsters into pieces, making their bodies explode into pieces before dissipating into particles of light.

"AHAHAHAHA! Is this what you've got to offer, a bunch of low level small fries, Planta?!" Laughed Gaston. "I'm going to slice you up into firewood! [Blazing Blood Blade]!"

Gaston's blood started pouring into his own sword and then setting it ablaze, a sacrificial skill that Berserkers had to sacrifice some HP to enhance damage dealt or even grant their weapons elemental affinities.

SLAAASH! SLAAASH! SLAAASH! BOOOM! BOOOM! BOOOM!

By swinging his sword wildly, Gaston started unleashing blazing slashes, piercing through the bodies of the monsters and making them all explode into pieces one after the other. It was utterly ridiculous. His guild members saw in amusement the incredible prowess of their guild master!

Gaston wasn't known as "The Rising Conqueror" for nothing. He might be low level up he had been growing at an insane pace after beginning to play the game just half a year ago. He and his guild alone had won dozens of Guild Wars against other guilds as well, and his prowess alone was what convinced Elios and Silvera to follow him and create a Guild Alliance.

"That's how it's done, BOSS!"

"Show them!"

"RAAAAHH! KILL!"

His followers were his admirers, and much like their idol, they started slicing and bombarding the monsters into smithereens with ease. The army quickly made their way into the first layer of the forest.

"We're getting through!" Celebrated one of the guild members. "Maybe we should set the trees on fire to- Eh?"

A gigantic fist fell over him and his surrounding allies.

BAAAMMM!!!

The result? They were crushed into pieces and then dissipated into particles of light.

"W-What the?!"

CRAAAASH!

Another gigantic fist reached a part of the army, blowing away many players into the air and then...

CRASH! CRASH! CRASH!

Several piercing spears made of wood emerged from the ground, impaling all the Players until they died, dissipating into particles of light...

"Huh?!"

Gaston took a bit to realize that the surrounding trees... weren't normal trees at all. They were very much alive and fought. The Ents revealed themselves, as their King took down a dozen Players with a few blows. The titan glanced at the other advancing Players, kicking them away!

"BEGONE FROM OUR SANCTUARY!"

CLAAAAAASH!!!

His kick blew off dozens of Players, as it generated a powerful tempestuous wind from the Wind Spirits aiding the Ent King.

"Guuuaaggggh...!"

"W-What the hell?!"

"Aagh! I'm about to die! Potion! I need a Potion!"

"Gaston! What is that thing?!"

"A-An Ent?!" Gaston gritted his teeth as he stood back up from the ground, most of the wolves they were riding were killed already.

"I am no mere Ent, but the Ent King! You who dare bring your hostility to our Queen shall suffer a pitiful death!" The Ent King was completely merciless, ordering his children to attack.

CLAAASH! BAAAAM! CRAAAASH!

More and more Ents continued emerging from the surrounding trees, they had been camouflaging this entire time, waiting for them to arrive to ambush them!

Their fists, kicks, sharp spear-like roots, and branches crushed and killed many Players. Gaston saw with his mouth wide open as half his guild members were annihilated in the span of less than a minute.

"W-We are mostly all Level 90 to 150! How come you can deal so much damage?!"

Gaston realized it too, that mere kick took down 40% of his HP. He who was Level 160... It was utterly ridiculous. Especially because when he checked these Ent's Levels, even the Ent King was only Level 110... It was utterly impossible for a Level 110 Monster to deal so much damage to a Level 160 Player!

He was, however, incapable of seeing that their stats were buffed through the roof, being as high as +400% their original values. Their power far surpassed a Level 160 Player...

"Were we... set-up from the start?!" Gaston muttered, as he saw his companions die one after the other, like flies. "No... I cannot die like this! I have yet to even reach her!!!"

Gaston roared with fury, his entire body overflowing with the power of a Berserk, the more damage he took, the more his damage dealt and stats increased!

Ding!

[The [Berserker's Wrathful Eruption: Lv40 (MAX)] Skill has been activated!]

[Lost Health Points have been converted into Stat Buffs.]

[All Stats have increased by an additional +50%!]

[All Skill Damage has increased by an additional +250%!]

"RAAAAAAHHHH!!!"

"Come, human!"

CLAAAASH!

Gaston and the Ent King clashed in an intense battle.

Chapter 494: Massacre

Elios and Silvera's armies arrived just in time to see a terrifying sight. The dropped items of many players that were killed on sight, and their "ghosts" which were small projections of their bodies where they had died. Usually, Players would respawn where they died, but if they were inside a type of battlefield, dungeon, or enemy territory, they would get teleported back to their home base, the territory of their guilds.

So hoping for these people to rejoin them in battle was futile, especially with the terrifying penalties that dying on guild wars or against high level bosses gave, such as decrease of all stats for 24 hours, losing some of their items by participating in a PVP battle at the same time, and also sometimes their levels going down.

Beginner players had it easy with lesser penalties, but as Players went up in their Level, penalties became almost cruel. Perhaps it was to incentivize party play and to not just suicide themselves constantly. Based on this, for Elios and Silvera, these people were as good as dead for the next 48 hours, or even a week if they received too big of a penalty.

"T-This is...!" Elios muttered. "What in the world?!"

"Impossible! The Red Knights are our strongest members and they were all ravaged by the Ents?!" Silvera cried.

"HUMANS!" Roared the Ents, rushing towards them.

"Begone from our lands!"

"Disappear!"

"You shall not pass!"

And the worst part, the Ents themselves. Known as pacifist, sluggish, and sleepy entities, nobody could had ever thought these NPC would become such war-driven warriors once they were given the chance.

Their enormously tall sizes, most of them being over 25 meters of height, quickly overwhelmed the smaller Players, their insanely high stats also helped of course, and a boost to all their skills ended being the cherry on top.

CLAAAAASH!

BAAAAAM!

TRUUUUUM!

Kicks, punches, and piercing wooden spears crushed dozens of Players in front of Elios and Silvera. The two gritted their teeth as they saw the massacre unfold.

"S-Shit! We can't just retreat now! That'll hurt my pride too much!" Elios roared. "FUCK!"

"Dammit! Was Planta aware we were coming?! And how come a Level 81 Player has this many powerful NPC subordinates?!" Silvera cried.

Both of them kept themselves close as they fought together against the incoming monsters' swarms that kept appearing. They started slicing apart some of the Ents legs and arms, managing to incapacitate them while making their way deeper into the forest. Even as they crushed their heads the Ents wouldn't die, and their cores were too hidden underground for them to try to find them.

"If we can at least reach Planta and burn her with the Phoenix Flames we prepared, it could work!" Said Silvera.

"Yeah, it's our only chance- Eh?!"

CRAAAAASSSHHHH!!!

However, in front of the two, Gaston fell like a meteor into the floor. His entire body was covered on many wounds, and he was bleeding all over. If it wasn't for his [Berserk's Last Stand] Skill which allowed him to live even when his HP went down to zero by sacrificing MP and Satiation, he would had already died.

"G-Gaston?!" Silvera cried, rushing towards him, and picking out a Potion to heal him.

"Unggh... R-Run..." Gaston groaned.

"SILVERA!" Elios tried to stop her, but it was too late.

A gigantic axe fell down over her and Gaston, slicing them both apart into two halves.

BAAAAAAMMMMM...!

Their bodies quickly dissipated into particles of light, leaving plenty of valuable items behind.

Ding!

[Guild Master: Gaston384] has Died.]

[Guild Master: Silvera1234] has Died.]

[84 other Guild Members have died.]

"N-No..." Muttered Elios, stepping back as he saw a Giant Ent King in front of him. "Shit, SHIT!"

He quickly started running away, only to find his entire army being ravaged by gigantic and terrifying beasts, a goat, an enormous crow, a purple serpent, a silver scaled dragon, a mimic, and even a mass of sharp vines.

"Fuck! If I die here I'm going to drop so many items!" He cried, looking at the red jewel, the crystalized phoenix flame. "At least... Maybe if I throw this here..."

He smiled as he held the crystal, only to find his two legs being wrapped around by sharp vines.

"UAAAGH!"

Elios saw as a monstrous mass of vines with a gigantic flower with sharp jaws giggled as he glanced at him, maliciously.

"Gyehehehe..."

"G-Get away!!!" Elios unleashed countless spear attacks and magic, activating defensive magic as well as many other skills.

CLASH! CLASH! SLAAASH!

He freed himself from the monster plant, but quickly realized it had yet to die. In fact it was completely fine, beginning to chase him around. As he ran and ran, many other shadows appeared around him. They were the Guardians of Yggdrasil, the Familiars of Planta.

"Meeehheee!"

A giant goat landed on the ground right in front of Elios, her golden horns beginning to glow brightly as they unleashed zaps of lightning against him!

CLASH! CLASH! CLASH! SPAARK!

"UAAAGGGH...!"

Elios took several hits and evaded a few with his high-speed build. However, that only prolonged his suffering as giant sharp black feathers fell over his body, slicing it apart!

SLASH! SLASH! SLASH!

"Unnggh?!"

And then, a giant walking mushroom showed up at his left, opening its jaws and swallowing him whole.

"Gulp... Gyogyoh..."

As he was melting inside the mushroom's stomach, Elios started doubting his life choices, and learned a valuable lesson, to never judge a Player by their Level...

When Gaston, Elios, and Silvera were revived once more, they arrived inside their guild quarters. All the alliance members were appearing one after the other in the building, lamenting their lost.

Gaston in specific was furious.

"FUCK!!! What kind of fucking cheat was that?! She's a cheater! She hacked the fucking game!!!" Gaston cried, hitting the floor, and shattering it apart. "And.. I lost my damn sword! It was a fucking Mythic Item! A-And I lost 10 Levels?! AAAAGGGGHHHHH!!!"

"E-Elios! You're back..." Silvera said. "I only lost my armor but is the Crystalized Phoenix Flame fine?! You didn't lose it, right? Right?!"

"A-Ah..." Elios checked his Inventory.

The crystal was not there.

"...Fuck."

"YOU FUCKER! Don't you know how much it fucking cost?!" Silvera cried, beginning to hit the ground like Gaston.

"I-I'm sorry..." Elios sighed.

The three guild masters sighed.

"We've been completely outplayed..."

Chapter 495: Logging-In Back To A Massacre

The message I got really made me panic! It meant my territory was being attacked by Players! Now that I am not there right now, it wasn't as if I could even do much. Mark hurried with his car as much as we could, but ultimately, it still took around half an hour to reach home.

When we finally got back home, I told my daughter I was going to sleep for the rest of the morning, and Mark and Rita fled to their homes as well. I was the first one to log-in back into Brand New Life Online.

Ding!

[Welcome Back, Planta!]

[Your [Yggdryad's World Tree Seedling (Divine Grade): Level 3] has grown twenty meters larger, and its roots have expanded over seventy meters through the underground. The Forest of Beginnings, your [Territory] has expanded.]

[All of your Territory inhabitants seem to be rather happy that you've successfully protected your territory.]

[You have collected +25600 Community Points. You can use Community Points to improve your [Territory]]

[Your influence as a World Boss is expanding, you have defeated a large quantity of Players, and your might as a World Boss has been shown to the world.]

[You have collected +2650 World Boss Points. You can spend World Boss Points to exchange for amazing rewards in the [World Boss Store]]

"Agh! I'm back! How's everything going?!" I quickly ran towards the outskirts of the city, spreading through the ground and then emerging outside... Only to find all of my people collecting large quantities of equipment and items.

Amongst them, there were the fairies, brownies, gnomes, and the Ents... And even my Familiars were walking around, watching out for other threats.

But... where are the Players?

I am pretty sure a Guild Alliance came to kill me but...

"Oh, Lady Planta, you've finally arrived!" Said the Ent King. "Welcome back. It seems you've slept quite a lot. Don't worry, we were able to protect your home with the power of your magic boosting us."

"The what?!" I asked in surprise. "Wait... Ent King, don't tell me you guys... Belle too? E-Everyone?"

"Meehee!" Belle began licking my face, she had been missing me.

"Oh yeah, the fairies, brownies and gnomes arrived just recently to give us a hand." Said the Ent King. "Me and my children managed to fend off the threat."

"E-Ehh? But they were Level 160, you know?" I asked.

"Oh yes! We knew." The Ents nodded.

"But thanks to the power you irradiated, we were able to win no matter the strength of our opponents." Said another Ent.

"The power...?" I asked.

It has been only a week since I haven't been here but I seem to have forgotten I had such power... Then I checked the Titles and... there it was. It wasn't within my Skills; it was in the [World Boss Authority] Title.

[World Boss Authority]

Acquisition Conditions: Be Selected as a World Boss by the Administrators and the System.

Equip Bonus: Every single thing you do will affect the [World's History] and Intervene with the [Fate's Matrix]. You can no longer turn off PVP. If an opposing force attacks your [Territory], All Stats +1000% and Ally Stats +250% for as long as the battle continues. While Leveling, Stat Growth and Skill Points and Stat Points earned +100%. You can now access special [World Boss Quests], the [World Boss Skill Tree], and the [World Boss Exclusive Shop]. You can now accumulate World Boss Points (WBP) to purchase from the [World Boss Exclusive Shop]. This Title Effects are always active.

A Title that has never been given before to a Player. It contains the basic powers of a World Boss, while also adding new Effects and Abilities specifically designed by the System and the Administrators. With them, they hope that you can become strong enough to protect this world from the incoming World Bosses. Beware, some Players may try to hunt you.

And there it was... I receive a 1000% enhancement to my stats and my allies get a +250%! I guess this was the reason they won even against Level 160 foes. These enhancements are ridiculous though.

I can't believe we defeated a Guild Alliance of such a size as the Knight's Order while I was logged off. It feels like it was done automatically, like those idle games that are popular on phones nowadays...

And then, I checked the Systems Windows, which kept pestering me since I logged in.

Ding!

[Your Territory is about to be invaded by the [Guild Alliance: Knights Order]!]

[Prepare for battle! Their Great Hostility has been qualified as a Declaration of War.]

[Due to your Authority as a World Boss, all NPC serving you directly have been catalogued as Foes to your Enemies and can be defeated without penalties.]

[As long as the enemy step into your Territory, the War will begin.]

[This War will also count as a [Guild War] between the [Knights Order Guild Alliance] and the [Knowledge Library Guild Alliance]!]

[The [Knowledge Library Guild Alliance] Masters are currently logged-off.]

[The [Player: Planta] is currently logged-off.]

Right in front of me, I saw as all the members died really quickly. And the worst part is that they received terrifying penalties. Is this because they incited a Guild War and not just conventional PVP? Well, in these cases the losing side always loses something.

Mark also told me that as we level up higher, penalties for dying against players became much more terrible. They're especially horrible when the losing side is the one that incited the violence first. I guess the game makes sure to punish those that tried to find out and started messing around instead.

[An outstanding achievement!]

[Your STR and VIT have increased by +50!]

"T-This is insane..." I was surprised. "I didn't do a single thing though..."

Honestly, I felt a bit guilty of getting so much power off doing absolutely nothing. Nonetheless, it wasn't as if our opposing side was any better. They simply received a fair retribution, I suppose.

The other Guild Master of my alliance are logged off though, so I'll have to wait until they log in to tell them about this... Dark Reaper and her friends are probably going to log-in very soon though.

I bet my daughter is going to get frustrated she didn't get to kill a few of them. Her Level was pretty high so she could have probably devastated them even without buffs.

"Lady Planta! Phew... I came rushing here as soon as I heard what happened!" Suddenly, Acorn appeared behind me, alongside Florie, Nieve, and the Fairy Queen Titania.

"Oh, Acorn! Everyone! I just came back and I saw all of this..." I sighed.

"I can understand how you feel. When I heard a war against players happened here I also panicked, but just as we've arrived... It appears everything is now done, and it feels like nothing really happened." Titania was flabbergasted.

"Lady Planta I missed you!" Florie said, flying towards me and hugging me.

"Hehehe, I also missed you, Florie. How have you been so far?" I asked.

"Fine!" Florie said happily. "I've been learning more about how to control my magic with Queen Titania, and I also have begun swordsmanship classes with big sis!"

"Ohh, I see! What about Acorn and Nieve? And Titania?" I wondered.

"The same, we've been slowly rebuilding the Queendom and I've also been training myself. You know? I used to be the strongest Magic Swordswoman back then... But I've grown very rusty." Sighed Titania. "I just want to be stronger, to be more useful and to fight better for my home."

"Well that's nice to hear!" I giggled. "I'm looking forward to seeing you fight with a sword then."

"I-I am still practicing..." Titania blushed a bit, getting slightly embarrassed. "It might take a while for me to actually get better at it."

"Hahaha, I'll be rooting for you then!" I raised my arms. "And what about fluffy Acorn?"

"D-Don't call me fluffy! I am going to soon be ascended as the Village Chief!" Said Acorn.

"E-Eh?! Really?" I asked in surprise.

"Grandpa said he is too tired to work as one anymore, so he decided to give me the responsibility to me..." Acorn sighed. "I've been learning a lot from him this week, but I think I need some more practice... I-I am honestly not that confident."

"I think you would make an amazing village chief, Acorn, you should trust in yourself some more." I said. "Maybe we can later talk it out and see if I can help."

"R-Really?! It would be a huge help!" Acorn wagged his tail happily.

"And Nieve?" I asked.

"Oh, nothing much." Nieve said.

"Actually, big sis' been trying to get better at cooking but she's terrible." Florie whispered to me.

"Oh my... Maybe she can take some cooking classes with me!" I said.

"F-Florie! I told you to not tell Lady Planta about that! She's plenty busy already!" Nieve sighed.

"Hehe, don't be so considerate, it's fine~" I gave her a head pat.

Chapter 497: Insane Reaction Of The Community

Ding!

[Player: Achlys] has logged-in]

[Player: Titan] has logged-in]

[Player: Lily] has logged-in]

[Player: DarkReaper] has logged-in...]

Everybody logged-in rather quickly after I did. It seemed they probably also received the notifications. I wanted to go see Lily before even logging-in myself, but I guess that'll have to wait for a bit.

We decided to gather in the village around the Yggdrasil's Roots. Once we gathered together, I explained what happened to everyone while also putting all the items we got from the Players that died.

There were many amazing armor pieces, weapons, and items of all sorts. Mostly a lot of potions. There were these weird Berserk Potions that increased Stats by a lot but made you go mad, and there was this one huge red sword of Mythic Rank for Berserk Classes.

Oh, and a little crystal named "Crystalized Phoenix Flame" which was A Grade in quality! According to the Ent King, the Guild Masters of the Alliance that attacked us tried to use this to set my roots ablaze, but they got killed by my Familiars before that could ever happen.

I guess they had planned a rather good strategy... but at the end it was futile. Maybe they should had brought something that cancelled stat buffs? Wait, something like that exists?

"I-I can't believe I missed this opportunity! AAAGH! If I had logged-in just a little earlier!" DarkReaper said, hitting the table.

"A-Ahahaha... Come on, you're overexaggerating a bit..." RedPhoenix said, whose real identity was Anna.

"Heh! I couldn't had expected anything from our newest addition to our team! Planta your servants have done a fine job at protecting our Kingdom." GoldenLady said with a giggle. "Hohohoho!" It was really obvious it was the lovable Elisa...

"S-So the Authority of the World Boss carried the Ents and the Familiars to victory, insane." Titan said. "I guess we won't have to worry if we are logged-off anyways, that's a relief."

"Though I do wonder if they'll come back for revenge... Maybe other Guilds will try to conquer us, maybe just buffs won't do it next time if they're high level enough." DarkReaper said.

"Indeed, if this is a Territory, it should be possible to strengthen it through the Territory System, right Planta?" Asked Titan. "We should start with something that stops people from just barging in easily. Building a giant Wall would be great... Also perhaps create a group of people that could maintain the walls security and use long-ranged magic weapons to defend our territory from incoming attacks."

"I agree." Nodded Achlys while looking at the loot. "Ehehehe, hey Planta, do you think we can make some good cash if we sell this out?"

"I think so, yeah." I nodded. "I've seen that the game allows for transactions and trades of items using real life money too, we could put these on the sale on the auction... Ah, but I still feel a bit bad..."

"Don't feel bad about it! Those idiots brought it upon themselves." Achlys laughed. "They got what they deserved! Hehehe... And now we're gonna ramp up some cents."

"Achlys this is all belonging to Planta, she was the one that used her powers and familiars to defeat the Players..." Titan said.

"A-Ah... But I can't get even a penny?" Achlys got a bit cocky.

"W-Well I guess I could share the spoils of war... It was our guild's victory." I said with a smile.

"Oh and I am sure you're going to love this too!" Suddenly, my Guide appeared in front of all of us, showing us a video he just uploaded to the internet...

In the video, it showed how the entire guild alliance was massacred by the Ents one after the other, and how the Familiars killed the last one, named Elios, rather mercilessly. Watching this felt like a horror movie to be honest.

"Guide! You took a video?!" I asked.

"I was still editing it a bit, hehe." He giggled. "Sorry, sorry~ I just want to make you popular, that's all!"

"B-But at least ask me before doing this!" I facepalmed.

"It's already on the internet... Wow, it's getting views quickly." Said DarkReaper.

"What's the Title? I can't find it..." GoldenLady said.

"It's named ["Don't Mess With the Forest of Beginnings Guild! How the Knight's Order Guild got Swept by NPC~"]..." RedPhoenix said.

I checked it myself with Titan and Achlys, it was uploaded like 30 minutes ago and it already had 50k views... It was insane. And they were increasing constantly!

"T-The comments are wild!" Achlys said.

"You're so famous now, Planta..." Lily said in surprise.

"Some are saying quite offensive stuff." Said Titan.

I started reading some comments and... yeah.

Chapter 498: Upgrading The Guild

Now, we primarily need to do a lot of tasks here, but the first one is to find materials suitable for Mark and Rita's Physiques.

I think this Crystallized Phoenix Flame could work, but the Grade is too high, I cannot retrieve it back to Earth yet.

Though perhaps I could crush it into tiny pieces, and those pieces may descend in quality? I'll have to try that out later.

The second task is to go to the Luminous Kingdom, where the Demon King had influenced, it is the place where he gathered a cult that praised him as a god. We need to investigate that.

Aside from that... earning the Player's trust would come second. We need more Players as allies, so once we fight the Demon King of Death, we'll be much better prepared.

I doubt it would be possible to form an alliance with the Knight's Order at this point, seeing how much they lost. Even if we gave them all back, they could attempt to backstab us... maybe.

Maybe if I can use Maryrose's connections as the Rank 1 Player, we could find more Players willing to help us out. Though I don't really want to abuse her help.

For now, exploring new territories is a must. Especially now that I can sense the Demon Kings through the Hourglass of Calamity, I can tell their presences or servants might be closer even in Arcadia.

To the faraway Mountains where a country made by Dwarves is located, I heard there was an Evil Dragon that had recently woken up. It has a strong presence similar to Phantasmos, so we could go check that place as well.

And in the Luminous Kingdom... I can't sense anything threatening in there, but talking with the people there and develop some sort of alliance with the Forest is a must so they don't misunderstand us as just a bunch of monsters.

I explained to my friends what we needed to do now through the private chat with my friend group. They seemed to approve, and Mark said that by using his Map Function, he detected that there was Fire and Dark Attribute Monsters around our levels in the Dwarven Mountains.

Perhaps going there first before the Luminous Kingdom would be wiser. The Dwarves might be struggling against the Evil Dragon's threat, and if that dragon's a servant of a Demon King, then we need to slay it asap!

Ahhh, through there's a lot of work to do in home too, I feel like I'm trying to escape my responsibilities a bit, haha...

"I see, so you're planning to go to the Ashen Mountains." DarkReaper said, after we explained her our next destination. "We passed through that area but because it was so under level we didn't really cared much, to be honest.

"Hahaha, but we did heard there was some sort of Boss in there! But because it was below Level 100, it seems DarkReaper wasn't interested and we went past it." Said RedPhoenix.

"Well, our level difference is a bit too big, no? It would be boring if we went together. For now we could dedicate ourselves to checking on the other Guilds. Especially the Knight's Order." Said GoldenLady.

"Hm, maybe we should pay them a visit, a nice vendetta would do good." Said my daughter, giggling maliciously.

"V-Vendetta?! You want to go kill them again?" I sighed. "Just give them a break..."

"Not killing, we just want to talk." My daughter said. "It is a bit of an intimidating tactic, so they don't dare annoy us again."

"DarkReaper is experienced in this field..." Anna sighed.

"Anyways after that we'll do our daily boss battles." Said GoldenLady. "We've got a lot of Guild Contribution done too! Here."

"We didn't earned it for nothing, Level Up the Guild to at least Level 3. After that, increase the level of the Skills, we need more drops." Said DarkReaper.

She was ordering me around again...

But she worked hard for it, so it's fine!

And she's so cute!

"Okay, fine." I nodded.

Chapter 499: Building A Castle

Once the girls disappeared from the scene, we were able to finally relax a bit more and be able to talk about what we went through, we needed to update Lily on everything because she wasn't there with us. As someone that also know the truth and all, she needed to know the bare minimum.

"I-I see, so a lot really happened! You even meet agents from a secret paranormal agency? Oh my, it is like those 80's movies I used to enjoy with my mother in the cinema." Lily giggled, recalling her past.

"Ah, it also kind of reminds me of men in black a bit! Don't you think?"

"U-Uh, yeah, maybe." I said while giggling a bit. "Though it was much more different. They gave me their numbers... And there's the whole hunter thing. Well, you've seen the news already, right?"

"Yeah, I've learned a few things... Well, I am relieved everything went alright, even if in that last minute you guys were almost... dragged by the Demon King of Death." She sighed in relief; her adorable Brownie avatar was cute when she sighed.

"More importantly, it would be nice if we could meet up together to give you some equipment and magic... Wait, Lily are you willing to help?" Wondered Rita.

"Yeah, I wouldn't want to force you if you don't really want to." I said.

"Same." Mark nodded. "Though... another partner would be really useful."

"I had the entire week to think about it... My life has been rather uninteresting. I have... always regretted not doing so many things I ever wanted." She sighed. "I feel like if I let go of this opportunity to help protect my world, I might regret it in the future like I've regretted the many other things I never tried, nor I sought in my younger years."

Lily had a rather lonely life. She had told me a few times about how she had regretted never having tried to find a man in her younger years, and how lonely she feels now while most of her friends are all married women. I helped her back then in her plant shop, so I am willing to help her once more.

"So?" Asked Rita.

"It is a yes~" Lily said with a gentle smile. "I would... love to be at you guys side! I-I want to do something... more special, more important, maybe? I... feel like I must."

"I guess it's decided then." I nodded. "Great Spirit, can you feel from here what affinities she might have?"

"Hmmm..." The Great Spirit analyzed Lily for a little while. "She might have the knack for it! But isn't she already awakening some sort of power in her own?"

"Eh?!" We all reacted in shock.

"A-Ah... W-Well, something like that..." Lily sighed. "Some days ago I suddenly started hearing the plants in my shop... talk. And other times, I hear the laughter of, perhaps spirits. O-Oh, and one of my plants was beginning to grow... very big, and dancing."

"D-Dancing plants?" Asked Rita.

"Well, I guess you're awakening a power by yourself, but a magic circle will help you learn spells much more easily too, so it will be a plus." I nodded.

"Yaay!" Lily celebrated. "I'll be looking forward to that! When are we doing it?"

"Maybe tomorrow morning?" Asked Mark.

"Yeah, sounds good." I agreed.

"Ugh, okay, I'll have to wake up early in the morning though, what a pain." Rita sighed.

"Anyways! Now that we are done with this, we should quickly move to our next task." I said. "Before departing I would like to first address the situation of the territory! I'll be building a wall as well, and we'll level up many other buildings and the village so it can grow much bigger!"

I had a lot of Community Points available right now, so I wanted to spend them into reinforcing my territory defenses and increasing the village's size and other things. I was also thinking about helping Titania rebuild her city faster through this method, but I don't know if she'll accept more of my help, she is quite prideful at the end.

"Let's see..." As I stood above the house's rooftop, I checked the town's infrastructures and the blueprints I had.

<Registered Buildings>

[Rustic Wooden House: Lv1] x25

[Rustic Tree House: Lv1] x25

[Living Wood Wall: Lv1] x4

[Rough Paved Road: Lv1] x5

[Public Bathroom: Lv1] x5

[Guardian Spirit Totems: Lv1] x4

Hmm, I had the same as before anyways, nobody here can create the special buildings I can, and those they people have made themselves seem to not be registered. However, if I search deeper, it seems I can still "upgrade" them using resources until they become registered.

Leveling up buildings will increase their habitable area tremendously and will also increase their stats. They often have Effects, sometimes they'll help at resting well, other times they might even have effects that can increase stats, magic, or something else.

And then there are my current blueprints...

<Blueprints>

[Blueprint: Small Farm] x1,

[Blueprint: Stone Walls] x1,

[Blueprint: Wooden Watch Tower] x1

[Blueprint: Mushroom Farm] x1,

[Blueprint: Mushroom Castle] x1

There are two ways to get Blueprints, one is as rewards from Territory Management-related Quests, and the other by creating them. All the previous buildings that already exist are registered as blueprints, and the ones in this list are the ones I've received from quests, which are unique and I haven't tried to construct myself.

The benefit of Blueprints is that I can use them like magic scrolls, by simply offering the necessary materials, the blueprints will activate and create the whole building in a single second, facilitating the expansion and growth process tremendously.

I suppose I could start by building something classy, how about my own castle? A cute mushroom castle will do!

"Use Blueprint: [Mushroom Castle]!" I said, using the commands as several materials inside of my Inventory quickly disappeared, alongside a good chunk of my MP.

Chapter 500: Special Castle Skills

A big castle beautifully decorated with colorful mushroom caps emerged in just a few seconds since I gave the command, this power was really ridiculous... it was only limited to my own territory though, but yeah, it was rather insane.

[The [Mushroom Castle: Lv1] Building has been built!]

[Mushroom Castle: Lv1]

[Level Up Cost]: [x250 Mushroom-type Items] [x1000 Large Stones] [x1000 Wood Pieces] [6000 MP]
[10000 Community Points]

[Effect]: [Reign] [Territory Center] [Population Growth]

[Description]

A beautiful and giant castle beautifully decorated with many colorful mushrooms and resembling a building straight out of a fairy tale. As a Castle, it has the authority to enhance the strength of the population and also of the King or Queen that sits on the throne, alongside other abilities that can be unlocked over time, through leveling up the building.

It seems to already have three Effects incorporated, and it is very spacious as well. Mark, Lily, and Rita were left flabbergasted as the building was constructed in just some seconds. The rest of the population was also shocked.

"Wow, lady Planta, you made this?!" Acorn that was studying with his grandpa came out of his house to see the commotion.

"Incredible..." The Gnome chief said.

"S-Such a beautiful castle! Filled with mushrooms! Is this an homage to our kin, milady?" Asked the Myconid Chief.

The Mushroom Brigade, who had been busy doing many things to maintain and help the community were also gathered here, fascinated.

"Our Mushroom Lady has created her Mushroom Castle! Hurray!" Sporegon said, raising his sword.

"Huzaaaah!" The other Mushroom Brigade members celebrated.

"Hahaha, I was surprised..." Mark said. "I guess I registered it as easy to make a home made of wood but something out of nowhere like this? It feels like those old town-building games, to be honest."

"Right?" I laughed. "It remind me of those I used to play when I was younger... Well, let's go explore the interior, everyone!"

Like that, we explored the interior of the castle. There were over twenty separate rooms, alongside a bigger, fancier room inside which was the room of the Mushroom King or Queen.

The castle came with some basic wooden furniture, beautifully decorated with mushroom shapes, simple beds were also included, which had a spongy mushroom-like cushions. There were open windows without glass, and no toilet.

Well, Players don't need to go to the toilet, weirdly enough, but NPC do go to the toilet, so I guess it might end up being rather annoying... Thankfully there are toilets outside. There was a kitchen though, with the most basic things.

"It is a fairly good castle for a Level 1 Building." I nodded, sitting in the throne of Mushroom King/Queen. "Phew, this throne seat is really comfy- Uwaah?!"

FLAAAASH!

The moment I sat down, I felt as if my own powers activated, flowing into the rest of the castle, which then were irradiated into the rest of the town.

Ding!

[The Effects of the [Mushroom Castle: Lv1] have been activated as the Queen has been registered by sitting on the throne.]

[The [Reign] [Territory Center] [Population Growth] Effects have been activated.]

What do these Abilities even do?

[Territory Center]: [As the center of your Territory, this castle will be the only one you can have within a long radius of 50 kilometers. Decreases Necessary Materials for Building Construction and Upgrades by - 50%.]

[Population Growth]: [As the King or Queen are registered, their power is shared with all subjects, increasing their stats based on 10% of all of your Stats. Your Magical Affinities and Skills can be partially shared, helping your population learn a part of your strength to better defend your territory.]

These abilities are pretty good! I can share my power with my subjects now?! It seems it even affected Players, as Mark, Lily, and everyone else felt slightly stronger. Though there aren't many bonuses for me... actually none!

Well, not like I care that much. This Community is mostly to protect these people I care and love. Now, I should probably upgrade the castle? I do have over 22k Community Points anyways... Let's see, let's upgrade it up to Level 3, which seems to be the level cap for me at the moment.

FLAAAASH!

Around us, the entire building started to grow more fancier. The windows had actual glass windows now. More fine decorations appeared, large pillars sustained the entire castle much better, and even many other rooms emerged here and there.

Especially, in the back of the castle, a large backyard with what seemed to be a series of tiny buildings appeared, and what looked like a Training Camp.

[Description]

A beautiful and giant castle beautifully decorated with many colorful mushrooms and resembling a building straight out of a fairy tale. As a Castle, it has the authority to enhance the strength of the population and also of the King or Queen that sits on the throne, alongside other abilities that can be unlocked over time, through leveling up the building.

[Ruler's Strength]: [The Ruler of the Territory gains 2.5% of the stats of all its subjects as a buff as long as they remain within their Territory. It is also possible to learn their magic and skills, if they're compatible enough.]

[Training Camp]: [A Training Camp has emerged at the back of the castle, where subjects can undergo training by hitting dummies, sparring, or undergoing hard physical exercise. Through this, they can grow stronger and gain EXP while also permanently increasing their stats and learn a variety of Skills. To ensure their growth, an [Order] is necessary, such as [Training Order].]
