Chapter 84: A Title That Shook Everyone!

There were several Guilds dedicated to searching for quests that could make the world move forward, but the Chapter 6 of Volume 3 has been a mystery since Chapter 5 was completed three months ago... And now, a complete newbie comes, discovers it, and completes it flawlessly, all while gaining two incredible Titles! One of such that can only be gained when dealing at least 0.1% damage against the World Boss, a Title that could only be acquired by Level 200 and above players, and the other being... a completely unique Title never seen before, just for her.

"Isn't that Player Planta just a newbie Dryad?!"

"W-What is the meaning of this?!"

"I can't believe what my eyes are seeing..."

"Chapter 6 at long last has been found and completed so flawlessly by a newbie?!"

"No shit! She must be a hacker! Report her already! This is the second time she breaks the rules!"

"Is she really a hacker though? Maybe she's actually that good?"

"Could she be a returning player? Maybe that could explain it!"

Within the great city of Nexus, where all Players were free to teleport into, which led to an enormous city with a large market where all players sold products and bought products, and where most Guild Buildings were located, the players all over there were making an uproar! Some were calling Planta a hacker, others were thinking she was a veteran player who had come back, and a few others even began to imagine she was simply way too lucky and were jealous of her to death! But amidst everything, one of her new Titles was the thing that shocked many, it was a Title only implied in NPC Story Quests that dedicated guilds that searched for world building lore had found.

The [Revered Figure] Title! It was not merely just a few pixels assembled together into a few words. It was a Title that granted a special authority and incredible growth boost, all while making of Planta... a threat to all competitive Players now! All those bloodthirsty weirdos boiling for PvP never thought there would be the day someone could be given such a Title, that could one day make her an incredibly strong being... if she wanted, of course.

Elena, Anna, and Elisa who had gathered recently in the Nexus City to form a Guild by Elisa's idea, suddenly were shocked to see the news while enjoying some ice cream sold by an NPC near the area where players can create guilds. All three girls almost dropped their ice creams if it wasn't because Elena kept herself a bit sane and held their hands before they fell.

"W-What is going on here? Player Planta again?!" Asked Anna in shock, her red hair fluttering in surprise, as her gigantic and monstrous Phoenix Summon, now a small bird resting in her shoulder, looked in shock as well!

"Master! This woman's Title is... Revered Figure! Incredible! I can see she will change the world!" The Phoenix said, having a complex mind with a past of his own before being summoned and raised by Anna.

"What?! Even you, Phoenix?!" Anna felt shocked.

"Wait... Player Planta is...? Isn't she the one that one-shotted that small boss at a low level too? She got the Legendary Warrior title without even being Level 100 and above! There are less than ten people with such a Title... not even Elena has it!" Elisa angrily said, as she crossed her arms jealous of Planta.

"This is... interesting." Said Elena, looking into the image. Her demon avatar looked both intimidating and also strong and beautiful, the horns only increased her "mysterious beauty" figure and made many players of both genders look at her and instantly be charmed. Even now some were looking at her from afar as they noticed her beauty. In this game were avatars were very similar to people in real life, beautiful people was actually not that common, so Elena and Elisa brought a lot of attention to themselves.

"Elena, what are you thinking about?" Wondered Anna.

"She's way too strong and has great potential... She's living in the Forest of Beginnings, right? Maybe we could pay a visit. We could baby sit her into Level 200 and make her a member of our guild too. Wouldn't that be nice?" Asked Elisa right away, as she saw some potential in the player.

"Hm... I don't think that's good. It is wrong to do that. Players enjoy this world for a reason, Elisa. Also, baby sitting doesn't work when the difference in level surpasses 20 levels, so if we kill any monsters for her in a party, she won't get any EXP." Said Elena. "Also, weakening monsters for her also won't do. And players can't gain EXP from monsters 20 levels above them either."

"R-Right...." Sighed Elisa. "Then she's just by herself, huh?"

"We can always pay her a visit, but the travel towards the Forest of Beginnings is big from where we are currently. And we were about to go to the Dark Continent through the harbor..." Sighed Elena. "But yeah, I really want to meet her. There is also a rumored dungeon within the mountains occupied by Dwarf NPC, said that a dragon had awakened there by the miasma... It is rather close to the Forest of Beginnings... What if that's connected to another quest?"

"A-Ah... That's... Your deduction powers are amazing!" Said Elisa, admiring Elena.

"She had always been the brain in the group... and the brawns too." Sighed Anna.

"Then let's go. I want to meet her and see what's she's all about... Maybe she's like everybody says and might even be a returning veteran player... Through the Fair-Fight System, PvP even between low- and high-level players is possible in a fair way, I want to see how strong she is!" Said Elena with a mild smile. Anna and Elisa had never seen her this spirited about meeting another player before, as she had always been a solo player that was only accompanied by Anna and now Elisa.

"Alright! Let's use Phoenix for that! Now he can lift us all while flying, right?" Asked Anna as she smiled at her Phoenix, who started sweating a lot.

"M-Maybe... but please don't push me too much, Master!"

"You'll be fine! Hahahaha!"

Chapter 85: The Guild's Interest

The Fair-Fight System was a newly implemented System to the game that was added just two months ago. It was given so Players could do PvP fairly even when there was a difference in level. For these fights, both players had to agree and then it would begin. The Fair Fight System will lower the Stats, Skill Levels, and more of the highest-level player so it can be compared to the lowest-level player, making the fight incredibly fair! It was a system that caused an uproar around the entire player base, and now even tournaments that allowed any level player were opened, which became a great event that often shook players and also many viewers, as such tournaments were all live on TV and other Streaming services.

Elena was a rather avid PvP player, she was known as the Dark Reaper not for just her player name, she was indeed like a Dark Reaper. The combination of her Blue Oni Demon Race and her Samurai Job Class made her into an incredibly strong offensive player that dealt insane amounts of damage and was so fast she could evade most physical and magical attacks! She was feared by the entire Player Base, but also admired by her graceful beauty. Amongst the PvP Tournament Ranks held once every month, she was Ranked 27th! In the top 30 amongst millions of players! It was indeed an incredible feat.

Elena secretly had a great obsession with challenging strong players to PvP through the Fair Fight System, levels or skills didn't matter through it, so it was all up to their own ability to learn how to fight using what they got. Her mother, of course, was completely unaware of her battle junkie nature in the game, and was also completely unaware that her player avatar was moving towards her direction right about now, seeking to challenge her into a duel!

...And while the Player Base went insane, the Guilds were just as insane as well, going completely nuts while seeing what had happened, in specific, the four Guilds dedicated to searching for World Building Lore, Story-related Quests, and the like, who always added information into the Game's unofficial fan-made Wiki Page. Now, all four Guild Masters of such guilds were gathering in a single hall, these four figures were accompanied by their retainers and best friends in the game, making eight powerful players discussing what had just happened!

The four guilds dedicated to these tasks were highly respected despite not being dedicated to PvP, Level Grinding for Total Power, or Resource Grinding and Item Production, these four Guilds were the Grimoire Collectors, the Knowledge Library, the Akashic Owls, and lastly, the Record Keepers! All four Guilds had made an alliance several years ago, led by the Record Keepers as their Leading Guild, they were one of the first guilds to establish a peaceful Alliance, shaking the game world back then, as most guilds were always fighting against one another in the Guild Wars Game System, which rewarded guilds that participated with bountiful loot, skills, and special unique subclasses and more.

"I am glad to see you all here, it seems that the recent things had not slipped your grasp. This Player Planta... We have to recruit her." The first to talk was a beautiful girl with long pink hair and cat-like ears and a tail, which were also pink. She was wearing a blue and black robes, and her eyes shone bright yellow. She had the Nekomata Race, a race of cat-like folk that was great at magic and record-keeping, and her Class was Sacred Librarian... She was Anikitty, the Guild Master of the Knowledge Library Guild!

"I was thinking the same as well, Anikitty, dear." Said a rather creepy-looking pale-white man. He wore black robes and his eyes shone bright red beneath his hood, which darkened most of his face. He was holding into a staff with a skull stuck to it, and his entire body was almost skeletal and he emanated the aura of an Undead... He was the Ghoul Necromancer Player Erdrich, who was the Guild Master of the Grimoire Collectors, a guild originally made to collect Grimoire Items that contained a lot of world lore and power. "Hehehe... But who's gonna get her? We are four here... I am already smelling some conflict... Heh..."

"I know we stand no chance compared to you guys, but we want to try and get her as well." Said a tall old man with a long white beard, resembling a typical old wizard and even holding a staff with an enormous blue jewel incusted on it emanating a strong aura of mana... He was the Human Wizard Gandalf! A player that named himself after a figure of fantasy books which he admired. He was one of the oldest known players in the game, at the age of 57, although he had modified his face to look even older through accessories such as a false beard. He was the guild master of the Akashic Owls, and a strong wizard!

"Hahaha... I knew we would end up fighting for her... But this is how it is. She's way too valuable and we don't even know if she'll accept our request. But if she's a newbie, there's the possibility we can trick her into joining us easily with some items to lure her... The thing is, how can we decide who picks her? Hehe... I wouldn't mind some PvP with my fellow librarians, but we are gatherers of information and knowledge, not innate fighters, aren't we?" Asked a beautiful woman with long blonde hair and glowing blue eyes, she had a big pair of feathered, white-colored wings behind her and she wore a beautiful and sexy white dress barely covering her body, she was an Angel Holy Priestess, Angelina, the Guild Master of the Record Keepers!

Four Guild Masters were going to secretly fight for Planta! An even that had never happened before between all these peaceful Guilds... Planta had truly changed the game world more than she could have ever imagined.
