

Break Up 22

Chapter 22

He's Too Good at Suffering

Consider what?

Could it be that he really did not want to work hard anymore?

Chen Che's conversation with the woman coincided with the anti-fans' guesses. The live-stream instantly exploded.

Although Lin Xi did not believe that Chen Che would do something outrageous, she could not help but feel nervous.

Just as the rhythm of the live-stream was in a mess, the woman spoke again. "Little Chen, you deliver packages every day and have to film a show. Can your body really take it?"

"You have to consider it seriously. After all, your body and health is your capital."

Chen Che shrugged. "It doesn't matter. I'm young anyway. Shouldn't I be hustling at this time?"

"Big Sister Wang, please train me on how to serve."

"What a hard-working young man." The woman smiled. "Then let's go in and talk."

"It's quiet here. Let's make things clear here." Chen Che smiled. Actually, he did it on purpose.

The woman had said in advance that in order to protect the customers' privacy, they were not allowed to go in to film.

Therefore, if Chen Che followed her in for no reason, what would others think? At that time, he would probably not be able to clear his name.

Looking at Chen Che's expression, the woman did not say anything else and quickly said, "The part-time job is from 11pm to 3am every night. $15 an hour. The salary is paid daily."

"Not only that, but there's also a commission for alcoholic drinks and snacks to satisfy the monthly attendance. There's also a $200 reward bonus."

After saying this, the rhythm of the live broadcast stopped abruptly. Only then did they understand that Chen Che was here to look for a job!

[Take a look. I knew Chen Che wasn't that kind of person!]

[Some people are really too evil!]

[That's right. It's shameful to judge a gentleman's character without knowing anything about him!]

After understanding the reason, the loyal fans hurriedly stood up and reprimanded the anti-fans, scaring the anti-fans into shutting up.

Lin Xi also heaved a sigh of relief at this moment, but the next second, she became worried.

Just as the woman had said, it was tiring enough to deliver packages during the day, and he now has to work part-time until the wee hours of the morning. Could his health be compromised?

More importantly, after his hard work, Chen Che did not even have a comfortable place to sleep.

As for Chen Che, after hearing the treatment, he first looked at the time and then replied happily, "Alright, let's start tonight!"

$15 an hour, $60 in four hours, and an additional $200 from working the full month. That was a total of $2,000.

In addition to the other commissions, there should be $3,000, right?

According to the interest rate, it was equivalent to earning an additional $30 million a month. What about a year?

Chen Che felt happy just thinking about it, so he did not dare to waste a second.

"Are you sure you want to be in such a hurry? Why don't you go back and have a good night's rest before starting tomorrow?" the woman suggested.

Chen Che shook his head. "It's fine. I can't sleep anyway. Besides, I have to hurry up and earn money so that I can give my girlfriend an explanation as soon as possible."

As soon as these words were spoken, the netizens were instantly touched.

"What a powerful young man. I'm so envious of your girlfriend." The woman smiled and continued, "Then come in with me. I'll find you a set of uniforms. The camera crew can't enter."

"I know," Chen Che replied. Then, he looked at the camera. "You've worked hard. Let's end it here today."

With that, Chen Che hurriedly followed the woman through the door.

At this moment, VJ turned off the camera and couldn't help but mutter, "I really admire this brother more and more. He's simply a role model in the money-making world. Moreover, Lin Xi will be happy."

If VJ thought so, the netizens would naturally think so too.

[Oh my god, Chen Che is really hardworking. He's a little stingy, but he earns and saves money to marry Lin Xi. I want a boyfriend like him too!]

[That's right. What he said just now was so touching that I cried. Wuwuwu]

[I originally mocked Lin Xi for having poor taste, but now it seems that we have poor taste. A person like him can't live a poor life!]

When the anti-fans saw that the tide was turning, they hurriedly jumped out to talk about the actors and said that this was all arranged by Lin Xi.

Initially, the netizens did not think much of it, but after being provoked by the anti-fans, they were immediately furious.

[What acting? Which actor is so hardworking?]

[That's right. If I let you act, can you continue acting?]

[Brothers and sisters, let's make a video and help Chen Che prove his innocence. We can't let these haters slander him anymore!]

[I agree. Why should such a hardworking person be slandered?]

...

At the same time, Lin Xi, who was in front of the screen, was already in tears. Even the netizens were touched, let alone her.

After a while, Lin Xi hurriedly dialed Chen Che's number. Her heart ached too much. She didn't want Chen Che to suffer like this.

"What's wrong, Lin Xi?"

"Why didn't you tell me about your part-time job?" Lin Xi questioned.

"Aiya, I was afraid you wouldn't agree."

"I really don't agree. Go back to sleep now. Even if you don't have a single cent, I'm still willing to be with you. If you tire yourself out, it'll be all over!"

"You don't have to worry so much. I'm in good health. Besides, do you think I'm just trying to make money?"

Lin Xi frowned. "What do you mean?"

"There should be some changes to the sentiments online. Alright, Lin Xi, I have to take an order. See you tomorrow."

With that, Chen Che hung up.

Lin Xi hurriedly opened the live-stream platform again and watched the discussions in the live-stream. Then, she saw that many people online had come out to help counterattack.

She understood. She understood everything!

Her image had collapsed and the company was in danger. Chen Che was using his limited ability to save it.

This method was also more appropriate and efficient than any other method. After all, the audience can see it for themselves.

Only Chen Che had it harder!

Lin Xi did not know what the Cash Return System was. In her opinion, Chen Che was not doing it to earn money at all. He was doing it for her sake.

Thinking of this, Lin Xi could no longer hold back her tears.

She thought to herself that in this life, she would be willing to follow Chen Che to beg for food, let alone eat plain porridge and vegetables!

In fact, Lin Xi was right. This was Chen Che's plan.

Yesterday, when he was flipping through his work, Chen Che suddenly realized that this place was recruiting people. Through express delivery, he also got to know the female boss and immediately had an idea.

In his opinion, his hard work would definitely make the netizens empathize. In that case, would the bad public opinion wave stop?

From the results, everything was as he had expected.

Not only did he solve the problem, but he also found a part-time job. It was killing two birds with one stone!

With the support from a large number of netizens, the original scandal was quickly drowned out.

There were even capable people who dug out Chen Che's family assets.

He lived in the countryside and his parents worked in agriculture. After working for so many years, no matter how much he earned, he would transfer money to his family.

At the end of every month, he was always short of money. No wonder he is so poor and stingy.

Moreover, according to the bank's deposit, he had no more than $3,000 in his account. He was extremely poor!

As this information was released, the fact that Chen Che was an actor became even more unrealistic. Some netizens who had followed the trend also deleted bad comments.

At the same time, Chen Che's hard work and filial piety once again attracted a wave of fans.
