

Break Up 59

Chapter 59 A Quiet Little Happiness

“Wow! That’s amazing!”

Lin Xi jumped up happily, but her feet slipped and her body fell back uncontrollably.

“Be careful!”

Chen Che quickly threw away the wooden stick in his hand and quickly hugged Lin Xi’s waist and pulled her into his arms.

The two of them suddenly hugged each other. The surroundings were silent, except for the rustling of leaves.

Lin Xi leaned into Chen Che’s arms and listened to his violent heartbeat. She looked up shyly, her face dyed red.

“You can even fall down like this and you still don’t admit that you’re a little fool?”

Chen Che teased, but his eyes were filled with love.

“Hmph! Then you’re a big fool!”

As Lin Xi spoke, she bent down, scooped up water, and splashed it at Chen Che.

Chen Che’s clothes were half-wet. He bent down and splashed some water on Lin Xi.

However, he was afraid that Lin Xi would catch a cold, so he only splashed a little.

“Ah! Chen Che, how dare you splash it on me!”

Lin Xi counterattacked. The two of them played in the river and laughed.

At this moment, VJ was sitting on a rock and watching the two of them laugh and play. He was on the brink of tears.

Not only did he work himself to death with Chen Che with the camera every day, but he also had to witness such scenes from time to time. He had really lived enough to last many lifetimes.

The fish he had caught just now floated away along the river, so Chen Che had no choice but to catch another one.

After going ashore, Chen Che immediately took out a towel from the car and helped Lin Xi dry herself before dealing with the fish.

At dinner, they roasted the fish. It was indeed delicious.

Lin Xi looked at Chen Che’s face in the fire and smiled happily.

This was the life she had dreamed of!

[F*ck! I ate too much dog food today!]

[I'm impressed. Chen Che is really a good man. Although he's very poor, I'm really happy to be with him!]

[I wish for them to always be loving. Their names are so compatible. If they break up, I won't believe in love anymore.]

As the sky darkened, Lin Xi cleaned up the trash at the side. Chen Che began to assemble the tent.

Chen Che's movements were agile. In no time, he set up the tent and even laid a blanket inside.

At night, the three of them sat by the fire.

Darkness surrounded them. The night was terrifyingly quiet. Suddenly, a strange cry sounded.

"What was that noise?"

Lin Xi was so frightened that her entire body trembled. She immediately held Chen Che's hand tightly and leaned into his arms.

"Don't be afraid. I'll go take a look."

Chen Che comforted her softly. He stood up and was about to go over when Lin Xi grabbed him.

"Don't go! What if there are wild beasts? It's safer to stay by the fire."

Chen Che was a little amused and patted her hand.

"It's fine. I checked before I came. Although this is the suburbs, it's not too far from the city. There won't be any wild beasts."

The comments in the live-stream started farming again, and a group of "conscientious and good men" floated over.

Chen Che picked up a stick from the ground and walked towards the darkness. Before he could approach, a black shadow jumped away.

"Ah!"

Lin Xi screamed in fear.

Chen Che hurriedly walked over and comforted her softly. "Don't be afraid. It's just a small animal that came out to hunt at night. It's even timider than you. It got scared away before I could walk over."

"I'm not that scared!" Lin Xi pouted.

"Yes, I just don't know who was so frightened that they crawled into my arms just now!" Chen Che teased with a smile.

"Annoying!"

Lin Xi was so embarrassed that her face turned red. She stood up and entered the tent.

Seeing that the two of them were going to rest, VJ turned off the camera and returned to the car to sleep.

Chen Che added some firewood to the fire and entered the tent.

The two of them lay flat on their backs. They were clearly very sleepy just now, but their hearts were pounding at this moment. There was an indescribable excitement.

“Chen Che, I’ve really been very happy recently. Thank you for your company.”

Lin Xi’s tone was gentle, and there was a hint of regret in her happiness.

If she had found Chen Che earlier, they might have long lived such a happy life and not missed so many years for nothing.

“I should be the one thanking you. You don’t despise me for being poor. No matter what I do, you understand me. It’s my blessing in my previous life to have an understanding girlfriend like you!”

“You don’t know how many people envy me!”

Chen Che turned around and said seriously.

Lin Xi also turned around. Their eyes met. The atmosphere quickly heated up.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

In the darkness, he could not see anything clearly, and his hearing was even sharper. Chen Che could clearly hear his heart beating violently.

Lin Xi leaned over and kissed the corner of his lips.

The two of them had kissed before, but they had kissed on the face. This was the first time their lips had touched.

That soft touch and charming fragrance made Chen Che’s heart flutter.

The two of them did not know how they fell asleep. They only remembered that neither of them spoke after the kiss and unknowingly fell asleep.

The next day.

At dawn, Chen Che opened the tent because they had agreed to go to the top of the mountain to watch the sunrise.

As a qualified participant in the show, such romantic moments had to be recorded.

Chen Che knocked on the car window.

The VJ got up with a nest of hair and opened the car door. Before he was fully awake, he was forced to follow Chen Che and Lin Xi to climb the mountain.

It was another day when he wanted to resign!

At the top of the mountain in the morning, the air was fresh and filled with a thin fog.

Chen Che took out a soft cushion from his backpack and placed it on the stone. He sat on it with Lin Xi and waited quietly for the sun to rise.

The temperature in the morning was a little low. Afraid that Lin Xi would be cold, Chen Che protected her in his arms.

VJ placed the camera behind the two of them. When the sun rose, the orange light slowly spread, and their backs became clearer.

The surroundings were very quiet, so quiet that it was as if the two of them were the only ones left in the world.

[How blissful! I hope they will have a blissful marriage and have children soon!]

[The sunrise is so beautiful. I finally understand how precious ordinary happiness is.]

[Someone, kill me for the two of them to liven things up!]

The comments were filled with laughter. Even through the screen, one could feel happiness.

Lin Xi leaned into Chen Che's arms and raised her eyes slightly. She looked at Chen Che, who was illuminated by the sunrise, and her gaze gradually became infatuated.

"Chen Che, I heard that people who watch the sunrise together will be warm to each other for the rest of their lives. We have to be together forever and never be separated, okay?"

"Good!"

Chen Che responded in a low voice and lowered his eyes to look at Lin Xi.

At this moment, the morning sun shone on Lin Xi's face. She was stunningly beautiful, and the surrounding light grass seemed to have lost its color.

Chen Che lowered his head and kissed Lin Xi on the forehead.

VJ did not want to miss this scene. He carried the camera and approached to record this beautiful moment.

Originally, there were not many viewers in the live-stream in the morning, but at this moment, the bullet screen was spamming crazily. It was enough to show the excitement of the netizens.

Perhaps quiet happiness was what everyone looked forward to the most. Therefore, Chen Che and Lin Xi's love resonated with them.
