

Chapter 153 There Was A Financial Loophole

Ryan and the other two went back to the office. Ryan sat down on a chair.

“That’s enough. We have settled most of the matters here. Don’t think too much about it now. When enemies come, soldiers will block. When water comes, earth will block. Everything will be resolved. We can’t stay here any longer. If Clarence has his eyes on us... We must not let him break our defensive barrier. Book the plane tickets for tonight. I feel like something is going to happen in China.”

One had to say, Ryan’s predication was very accurate. Today, Roman called all the higher ups for a meeting. Elena took Ryan’s place and attended the meeting.

The atmosphere of the meeting room was unusually solemn. When it was about to end, Roman took out a document and threw it on the table.

“This is the financial report you made. Whether it was last month or the last quarter, there was a big problem. How do you do things after making such a low level mistake? Each and every one of them said that it was for the sake of the company. If such a thing is found out, the entire company will be finished.”

One of the shareholders frowned and looked at Roman. He asked in disbelief. “What happened, Director Monor? Why is there such a big loophole in the company?”

“What are you all doing? Why are you here with such a huge salary to ask me what’s going on? None of you can escape the company’s loophole. If you can’t deal with it properly, then get the hell out of here.”

Elena raised her head and looked at Roman’s flushed face. He should be really angry. Although she didn’t know what had happened, it was the first time he had such a big temper here.

Then Roman took out a financial report and threw it in front of Elena.

“Look, this is the financial report made by Ryan’s offices. Not only are there many loopholes, but they also lied about the truth. There is a balance of more than 3 million in this account. Did Ryan swallow the money, or was it taken away by your team?”

Elena looked at the report. There was indeed a problem with it. There were loopholes in the technical problems written on it, and the final account could not match it.

Elena frowned. “Impossible. This is not our account book. I checked it before and gave it to you. There were no problems before.”

“So you mean I tampered with the contents? Your signature is on it. You can decide how you want to pursue this matter.”

Elena frowned. She had checked this report with Ryan and she herself verified several time. There would definitely not be any problems. Why was there a problem when it came to Roman?

There must be someone behind it!

“There is definitely a problem with this part of the financial report. When I handed it to you, there was indeed my signature on it. Someone must have used this to make an article. I request to redo this financial report. If I can’t find the 3 million, I will take the responsibly for this part.”

Elena looked at Roman, hoping that he would give her a chance.

However, Roman only smiled faintly. “Elena, how long have you been in the company? How can you take the responsibility for this? Whoever made the report will take the responsibility. You don’t need to be here to take the lead. Ryan hasn’t returned yet. I can suppress this financial report first. If he can’t solve the problem when he returns, I can only report this matter to the tax bureau.”

Roman knew that Elena would definitely take the responsibility for Ryan. But his ultimate goal was Ryan. So he would never give her a chance.

“Ryan hasn’t returned yet. We are husband and wife, and his responsibility is my responsibly. I will apply to make this financial report again, and I will bear all the consequences.”

Elena knew that even if Ryan was present, Roman would use this matter to suppress him.

Although Ryan had brought these shareholders before, five years was enough to change the hearts of some people. They could do anything.
