

Chapter 175 Pregnant

“You... How dare you hit me? Are you tired of living?”

Amara was just about to hit her back when a group of doctors came up to stop the two of them. “I’m sorry, ladies. This is the hospital and it is forbidden to make noise. Other patients still need to rest.”

“Get out of my way. Do you know who I am? You actually dare to shout at me here.” Amara looked at the doctors fiercely. At first this Elena, then these doctors, all wanted to provoke her today.

“This lady invited us to cooperate with a patient here. If you continue to cause trouble here, we don’t mind calling security to invite you out.” The doctors were a little impatient.

“What are you doing?”

At this time, Jonathan walked over from the corridor. When he saw there was a group of people surrounding, he thought something was wrong with his father.

“Mr. Lewis, please take care of these two women. This is the hospital. If they continue to make a scene, it will affect the rest of the patients.”

“Sorry, I know. I have troubled you.” Jonathan kept apologizing.

“Can you two not embarrass yourselves here? This is the hospital! No matter what, the two of you are cousins. If you fight here, it will be a joke to others.” After the doctors left, Jonathan started to teach the two of them a lesson.

Seeing Elena’s pale face and haggard look, he was first to care. “You stayed overnight here yesterday. Hurry up and go back to rest. If your grandfather wakes up, I will inform you. Come back after you have rested well.”

Elena shook her head. She wanted to stay here and wait for Mason to wake up.

“Uncle, I am fine. I am a little worried... Worried about him...”

Before she could finish her words, Elena fell to the ground. Ryan and the rest were all shocked.

“Elena! Elena!” Ryan pulled her up and shook her shoulders as he called.

But the woman did not answer.

Seeing this, he held her in his arms and walked to the emergency room in the wheelchair.

Amara saw the woman suddenly fall to the ground and smiled gloatingly. She sat by the side and did not speak anymore.

After pushed Elena in the emergency room, Ryan was anxiously waiting outside. He did not expect that Elena would fall before Mason woke up.

However, Jonathan was even more worried.

Putting aside his relationship with Elena, Elena fainted because she was too emotional from quarreling with Amara. Ryan loved Elena very much and what he was most afraid about right now was angering Ryan. When the time came to ask for the money back, their company could only declare bankruptcy.

After all, if he killed someone, he would have to pay with his life. There was nothing he could do about paying back the debt. So he had to calm Ryan down first.

Before Jonathan could finish his words, Ryan stared at him coldly, “If something happens to Elena, your Lewis family will declare bankruptcy today!”

Ryan’s attitude was very clear. What he cared about the most was Elena. It would strange if Ryan did not get angry when something was to happen to Elena.

Jonathan was speechless. It was his fault that he did not have enough people.

Half an hour later, a female doctor came out of the emergency room, “Who is the patient’s family?”

Ryan and Jonathan rushed over when they heard her. Ryan came in front of the doctor and quickly said, “It’s me. I am Elena’s husband. What’s wrong with my wife? Why did she faint suddenly?”

Even in the face of life and death, Ryan had never been so flustered. He was afraid that something would happen to Elena. It was not easy for a ray of sunlight to appear in his life and he did not want to turn gray again.

Hearing this, the doctor smiled. “Don’t worry, it’s nothing. It’s just that the patient is pregnant. It has been more than seven weeks. Why didn’t you notice?”

Ryan was stunned when he heard that. What did the doctor just say?

Elena was pregnant? Did that mean he was going to be a father?

A rare smile appeared on Ryan’s lips as he looked at the doctor excitedly, “Doctor, is what you said true?”

The doctor smiled again. “Yes, congratulations Mr. Monor. You are going to be a father soon. Your wife is about seven and half weeks pregnant now.”

Hearing this, Ryan couldn’t describe his feelings right now. Elena was pregnant! She was going to be the mother of his child!

Counting the time, it was even before he went to Western Europe on the business trip. She had been pregnant all this time? How could he not notice it?

“Doctor, how is my wife right now?” Ryan asked again.

“Mr. Monor, Mrs. Monor is fine and the baby is also fine. It’s just that the adult seemed to have tired herself out. If she rests properly then there won’t be any problems.”

When Jonathan heard the news, the stone in his heart finally dropped. Elena fainted because she was pregnant. This was a good thing. Now Ryan could not continue to blame him.

Hearing the commotion, Amara got up and walked to the door of the emergency room in her 10 cm high heels. Seeing the two men had different expression on their faces, she looked at the doctor and asked, “Doctor, how is my sister?”

It would be best if Elena was diagnosed with some incurable disease. In that way that woman would disappear from her sight forever.

“Your sister is pregnant. Congratulations.”

This sentence was like a bolt from the blue. It struck her so hard that she was unable to recover for a long time.
