

Chapter 187 Who Is The Biggest Beneficiary?

"But you never thought that after something happened to Ryan. . . Why did Roman become the CEO? Don't you think this matter is very strange? If something happened to Ryan, then the biggest beneficiary of Monor family would be Roman. I know I don't have any evidence. But sometimes a woman's intuition is very useful. This matter has something to do with Roman. "

Elena directly voiced out her thoughts. Through the conversation with Charles, she discovered one thing. This man was not as cold and ruthless as she had imagined.

"If you can see it, it is not impossible for others to see it. It is just that all the routes were cut off during the investigation, and there was no way to investigate it. So, I didn't continue. Instead of doing this, I might as well split the company into two halves and let the two brothers each get half of the company. But now, I feel that it's inappropriate."

During this period of time, he had already understood some things. Roman wanted Ryan to leave the company. But unfortunately, when Ryan was the previous CEO, he had already won over everyone's hearts. So even though Roman wanted to kick Ryan out, he couldn't do it.

“Dad, are you thinking that if the company is really split into half, the two brothers will definitely kill each other?”

Even though, this was a question, Elena said as if she was stating a fact.

As the saying goes, one mountain cannot tolerate two tigers, not to mention what kind of person Roman was. How could he let his own things be split in half for no reason?

Charles was both very surprised and pleased when he heard that.

"I never thought that Ryan would be able to marry a capable woman like you. It is indeed his fortune. When you were married, you were wronged. The situation at that time was indeed a little special. Now that you are pregnant, you will have to have a good relationship with Ryan in the future. This is also what I hope for. "

"The past has already passed. Besides, I have never blamed you. I only live in the present. No one knows what accident will happen in future."

Ever since Elena was chased out of the house, she had never thought about those unrealistic things.

Nothing was the same. The future could not be predicted. She could only walk forward step by step.

Charles sighed. He didn't expect his daughter-in-law would be so eloquent. It was also a good thing. She could help Ryan to get over his sorrows.

"Alright, I won't keep you anymore. Quickly go back and have a good rest with Ryan. "

Charles placed the bracelet box in Elena's hand again. "Keep it well. If you need help, come to me. Don't tell Ryan about our conversation earlier today. There is some estrangement between us father and son. No matter how you explain it, it won't help. "

When they walked downstairs, Ryan was still sitting in his wheelchair, as if he had been waiting for a long time.

Amanda did not know why Charles and this woman were together. But when she saw the box in the woman's hand, she frowned. "Stop! What is in your hand?"

Elena stood where she was and opened the box. "A gift from father to his future grandchild. Does mother also want to give him one?"

When Amanda saw the pair of jade bracelets, her face turned pale. Previously, no matter how much she begged, she was rejected by Charles. She did not expect that he would actually give it to Elena.

"Mom, your complexion is not too good. Why don't you go back and rest for a while. Recently, the weather is very dry. Please take care of your body."

Elena said, put away the box, and went to Ryan's side.

"What took you so long?" Ryan asked with a frown. His tone carried a trace of dissatisfaction. Of course, this dissatisfaction was not directed at Elena, but towards the person who stopped her just now.

“Dad has something to tell me. It was delayed. Let's go back.” If they continued to stay here, they would probably lack oxygen.

When they were about to reach to the door, a strange sound came out of Elena’s stomach.

Ryan chuckled and put his hand on her abdomen, “Looks like my baby is hungry.”

Elena nodded. With these people around, she indeed did not eat well at night.

“Looks like, we have to trouble Mrs. Baker to make something for you. Let’s go.” Ryan said and held her hand as they went out of the house together.

After the two of them left, Amanda came to Charles’s side. There was resentment in her eyes. "Why didn't you give me that pair of jade bracelets but her?"

"The jade bracelets were given to me by my mother. Why should I give them to you? Right now, she is carrying the grandson of our Monor family. I have to prepare a gift for her. "
