

Chapter 190 Just Wanted To Show Off

Amber really couldn't understand why Ryan would choose to give up. Just for the sake of Elena?

This was something he had fought for a long time. If he gave up just like that, wouldn't all his efforts be in vain?

"Because in my heart, there is nothing more important than my wife and child. All these years, Roman has wanted to chase me out of the Monor family. Therefore, in this cooperation between the two of you, he will definitely put you in an important position. Help me pay more attention to this. "

After Amber heard this, the corner of her mouth slightly raised, as if her heart was filled with something. No one knew what she was thinking at this moment.

Elena sat at the table and drank the soup in her bowl quietly, unable to say anything.

The two of them were childhood sweethearts and grew up together. Naturally, they could trust each other. Otherwise, Amber would not have followed Ryan into such a big trap.

Amber did not know that Ryan had a company overseas and a famous reputation. She also did not know that Ryan's legs had long recovered.

Elena did not know why Ryan did not tell Amber, but he should have his own concerns.

But seeing their interaction over there, Elena felt very uncomfortable in her heart. She felt like she was an outsider sitting between them.

Elena's mood was somewhat dull. She was originally hungry and wanted to eat a table full of food, but right now everything tasted exceptionally bitter.

Finally Elena couldn't able to hold on and stood up "I will go and take a shower first. I am a little tired."

Ryan immediately put down the documents in his hands and went forward to support his wife. "I will bring you up."

"It's okay. It's not like I'm a child anymore. Talk about the business first. Amber, you guys talk first. I'm pregnant and I'm not feeling well. I'll go up and rest first. "

After saying that, Elena went upstairs without looking back.

Mrs. Baker saw the woman's back that was going further and further away and naturally saw the clues. She served another bowl of chicken soup and looked at Ryan, "I will send another bowl of chicken soup to Madam. It is not good if there is nothing in her stomach."

Amber also felt that something was not right and took the bowl of chicken soup from Mrs. Baker's hands, "Why don't I send it over."

"There's no need." Mrs. Baker directly rejected Amber's good intentions and snatched the bowl of chicken soup over, "You and Master still have things to do. So do not delay work because of this. I will go up first. "

Ryan nodded at Mrs. Baker and then continued to study the information in his hands.

In an instant, there was only Amber and Ryan left in the big dining table. Looking at the situation Amber was a little proud in her heart, even though she knew that this was very unfair to Elena.

Mrs. Baker went upstairs and gently opened the door. Seeing Elena sitting on the bed in a daze, she brought the chicken soup over. "You only ate a little just now, so you should eat more. You cannot lose yourself and the child in your womb."

Elena only smiled faintly. "I will not eat anymore. Actually, I have already eaten a lot in the Monor family and now it is night time. If I eat too much, I will not be able to digest and it will hurt the child. "

Mrs. Baker sighed and sat beside Elena. "I know what you are thinking in your heart. That woman downstairs looks harmless, but she probably has ulterior motives. She came so late just to show off. "

Mrs. Baker had lived for so long. There was nothing she couldn't see through. That woman only dared to be so unscrupulous because she and Ryan were childhood friends.

If it was anyone else, they would have been chased out long ago. But it was Amber and they could indeed support each other at work.

If it was not for Amber's father stopping her from doing business, they might have already gotten together.

Amber had been dependent on Ryan since she was young. Even if something happened to his leg, her feelings for Ryan would not waver.

Elena pinched the corner of her clothes and seemed to have a lot on her mind. "I also do not know why it would be like this. Previously I felt that she was very pretty and did things very cleanly."
