

Chapter 207 Put On A Good Show Next Time

"There have been too many things happening in the country recently, so Ryan said he wanted to take me to Western Europe to rest and recuperate. After all I am pregnant and can't withstand any tournament." Elena did not hide it.

"Sister, you are really expensive now. You are going to overseas to raise your fetus." Amara did not think that Elena would be spoiled by Ryan to this extent. Suddenly, she had a bad feeling in her heart.

Adeline, however, snatched the phone from Amara's hand and had an amiable look on her face. "Elena, I heard that you are pregnant. Come back today. I want to congratulate you and also want to give a gift to the child in your womb."

When Elena heard this, she instantly frowned. Adeline had never been so polite to her before. This time, she suddenly lowered her attitude.

Elena smirked. It seemed like the mother and daughter duo had other plans. She wanted to see what Adeline wanted to do.

"I understand. I will be there soon."

"What is it? Something happened to Lewis family?" Ryan, who was working at the side, frowned and asked.

Recently, the Lewis family had not been peaceful. First, Jonathan had caused the Lewis family to lose face because of gambling, and then Old Man Lewis had fallen unconscious. Now, Adeline was injured. It could be considered a troubled period.

Elena put her phone on the bed and looked at Ryan. "Amara told me that Adeline sprained her ankle and asked me to go back and take a look."

"No, you can't go alone. I will go back with you." Ryan said seriously. Letting her go alone to that place was equivalent to pushing her into the fire pit.

Elena shook her head. "No need. I can't be a chicken in your arms every day, right?"

Ryan smiled when he heard her words. But in the next moment, he was still worried. "I will let Xavier send you off. I can be at ease with him following you."

"Okay." Elena didn't insist. In fact, she was also not sure what those people planning to do there. In the past, she was not afraid but now she couldn't take the risk with her child.

...

After Xavier sent Elena to Lewis family, he also followed her in. When he opened the door, he saw Adeline and Amara sitting on the sofa.

Elena came to Adeline's side and saw that there was no bandage on her feet. It seemed that Adeline was lying to lie to her.

"Aunt, didn't you say that your ankle was sprained? It seems that it is not a big problem." Elena sat opposite Adeline and carefully observed the latter's feet.

Adeline smiled unnaturally. "During this period of time, I wanted you to come back but you have been hiding. It seems that something has to happen to me before you are willing to come back!"

Elena smiled faintly when she heard this, "What Aunt said was a little wrong to blame me. When did Aunt call me to rush me back and I did not come back? I'm just asking Aunt to put on a good show next time."

"You stupid girl who doesn't know the immensity of heaven and earth dare to speak to my mother like this. My mother is your elder!" Amara changed the gentleness in the phone just now and jumped up to point at Elena and scold.

"Cousin sister, please calm down." Elena looked up at Amara and continued to speak unhurriedly, "You are already getting married, why are you still so irritable? Do you think the Monor family will like a woman who behaves like this to be their eldest daughter-in-law?"

"Elena, you are still so impudent in my house. Watch me teach you a lesson today!"

Amara jumped up from the sofa and rushed towards Elena. But before her hand landed on Elena, it was pulled by Xavier, who was standing by the side.

Xavier pulled Amara's hand hard and pushed to the back with great force.

Amara was not prepared for this and staggered backwards. She couldn't control her balance and fell to the ground.

Elena looked at Amara who was on the ground. "Cousin is getting married soon. But she couldn't even stand firmly. What should we do on the day of marriage?"

"You. . ." Amara fell heavily and her chest hurt from anger.

Adeline saw that her daughter was being pushed to the ground and getting bullied like this. She quickly went forward and helped her daughter up.

She then pointed at Elena and shouted. "Elena! Don't think that you are superior just because you married Ryan. You, a lowly person, was chased out by our family after all."

"Aunt's legs are fine!" Elena smiled and said sarcastically, "But it seems that Cousin's leg is a little problematic. I don't know which one of you should go to the hospital."

Elena had told herself to restrain herself when she came, but when she saw the mother and daughter, she could not help but get angry.

