

Chapter 210 The Acting Was Not Bad

Elena only smiled when she heard what Xavier said and gently stroked her stomach, "You have to be careful when living under someone else's roof. If you are not careful, you will suffer. "

"But no matter what, you are Mason's granddaughter." Xavier couldn't understand. Before Elena's parents got into accident everything was Elena's own property. But now things had changed totally.

"The key is here. My uncle and aunt misunderstood that I stole something. Grandpa hates this kind of shady business the most. From that moment on, grandpa's attitude towards me fell drastically, so he naturally won't care about me."

Elena was in a trance when she recalled what happened in the past.

"You have suffered too much." Xavier did not know how to comfort her.

"It's all in the past. Now I am not that terrible." Elena smiled at Xavier. Now she was not alone. She had a loving husband and a baby. So she didn't think herself as miserable as in the past.

When they returned home, Xavier reported everything that happened in the Lewis family villa.

When Ryan found out about the things that happened earlier, he was really very angry. "The people of Lewis family dare to do this to you. It seems like they are itching to skin you again."

"Why should I be angry with them? Besides, it's not like I have anything to do with them. "

Elena sat down and continued, "I am thinking if I leave like this, will grandfather be worried if he does not find me when he wakes up?"

"I asked the doctor before. Your grandfather's condition has been very good recently, but if he wakes up, I'm afraid it will take some time. Furthermore, all the power in the Lewis family is in your grandfather's hands. Your uncle and aunt won't dare to do anything to him."

Ryan knew very well that the reason why Jonathan was so respectful to Mason. It was not because the latter was his father but it was because he didn't have any real power in his hands.

Now that Mason fell down from the stairs and was seriously ill, he had become like this. If he didn't get better, perhaps it would not be Jonathan's turn to manage the company.

Furthermore, after Jonathan's gambling incident, the board members were very dissatisfied with him. So selecting the next chairman was only in Mason's hand right now. And Jonathan would not dare to neglect this at all.

"That's good. That way, I can rest assured that I will go out with you to take care of the baby."

Only after hearing Ryan's explanation did Elena feel relieved.

After the two of them rested for a while, they packed their things to go overseas.

After two days, Ryan took Elena to the Western Europe by a private plane.

And the things related to China, let them go and cause trouble first.

When the two of them arrived in Western Europe, the people there had already come to receive them.

Elena glanced at the group of people standing in professional bodyguard suits who came to receive them. There was a man leading the group who had the most serious expression on his face. And Elena actually knew him.

She held Ryan's hand as they went towards the group.

When Elena saw Michelle's surprised expression, she said with a smile, "Long time no see, Mr. Michelle. The acting was not bad at all."

"Sister-in-law, you flatter me. You didn't know that it was actually our boss. . ."

"Ahem... Ahem. . . Have you prepared everything that I asked you to?" Ryan coughed and interrupted Michelle's words.

Looking at Ryan's threatening gaze, Michelle smiled awkwardly. "I'm sorry, sister-in-law. I'll arrange a place for you two to stay."

Elena looked at Michelle who was quickly running away and turned to look at Ryan. She could not help smiling. "What did Michelle mean by that?"

Ryan held her hand and smiled mysteriously. "I won't tell you."

Elena snored. "Like I don't know anything."

The two of them held hands. They did not need to care about the complicated things in Monor and Lewis family. They could rest in peace and take care of their own family.

Western Europe was peaceful.

In the blink of an eye, five months had passed.

Elena's stomach was getting bigger and bigger. In the love and care of Ryan, she had been living very happily without any concerns.

Today, Ryan received the news. The plan they had been preparing for so long had succeed and those people had fallen into their trap.

At this time, inside a luxurious manor, Elena was leaning in Ryan's arms and eating fruits silently. Seeing the man's happy expression, she could not help and asked, "What's wrong? You look so happy."

"The people from the Hai City have fallen into the net." Ryan did not hide anything and told her everything.

After listening to his explanation, Elena vaguely understood the matter. She looked at him and asked. "What will you do now?"

"Then it's time for us to go back." Ryan did not interfere in the matters of Hai City in Western Europe. All the matters were handed over to Amber.

"Alright."

Although Elena didn't interfere much in business these few months, she understood the importance of some matter and knew that some things needed to do right away to prevent from further problems.

And by the way, she had already passed the critical times of pregnancy, so they didn't need to care about any accidents now.

After Ryan finished arranging some matters here, the two of them began their journey back to the country.

After they returned home, the major news media were still reporting on the wedding of Roman and Amara in the country. It was considered as one of the grandest wedding of the city.

No one knew who had leaked the news, but as soon as Elena and Ryan sat down in their house, they received a call from Amanda. She urged them to go to the old residence of Monor family as soon as possible.
