

Chapter 219 I Will Eat Your Child

When the other man saw Elena's appearance, he frowned slightly. He could not help but say, "Big Brother, it looks like she is going to give birth. Furthermore, her belly is so big. If someone really died, we would be in trouble."

"Nonsense, what is she going to give birth to? Her due date has not yet arrived. It is just that her body is a little too delicate and cannot bear the pain. In our line of work, what we are afraid of. What are we still doing? You know this better than I do."

The man who seemed to be the leader was indifferent looking at Elena’s painful appearance.

"What exactly do you want? If you only want money, you can just call my husband. No matter how much money it is, he will give it to you. But please don't hurt me, okay? I still have two children in my womb. Please."

Elena looked at them in horror. She did not know who they were targeting and who sent them.

If it was just for money, then she still had a chance to live.

As soon as these words were spoken, the men present started to laugh loudly. It was as if they were mocking her stupidity.

The man who spoke up for Elena just now seemed to have become silent.

The leader lifted his foot and stepped on a rock beside Elena, and took out a sharp dagger. He casually played with it.

"As long as you are obedient, I will let you go three days later. I will not do anything to you. It would be better if you are willing to cooperate. But if you do not cooperate, we can't guarantee that you will walk out of here safe and sound.”

After that the leader paused for a moment and then suddenly put the dagger on Elena’s stomach. “As for the two children in your womb. . . I'll dig them out directly. I might as well eat them right away. It should taste good.”

Elena was shocked when she heard that. She instinctively covered her stomach and moved back step by step.

They were not humans at all. They were clearly demons. They could even say such vicious and cruel words.

When they saw her being frightened like a frightened little rabbit, they instantly burst into laughter. The smiles on their faces were incomparably abnormal and ferocious.

Seeing this, the man who spoke up for Elena did not say a word. He only furrowed his brows and observed the surrounding environment.

The leader said indifferently, "I say, Finn, don't overthink things. This is the suburbs. Besides, so what if someone can find us? We're just following orders. When the time comes, as long as we reveal the person who instructed us, we'll have nothing to do with it.”

As long as they can get the money, that's good. If they can't get the money, they won't continue to protect their sponsors. This is the principle, and they won't give in for anyone.

Finn frowned when he heard this. He still tried to persuade the leader. "Brother, no matter if anyone comes or not, we should be careful. If we are careful, we can still sail for ten thousand years. If someone really comes to save this woman, we can't beat her, so we can only run. Although we won't be able to get the money, the most important thing is to stay alive. Life is the most important. Don’t you think so?”

He tried to best to persuade the leader hoping that he could understand. In such situation there was no way they could hurt this woman or else they would die in a dog’s death. So the best thing was to run and save their lives.

"Shut up! Am I the big brother, or are you the big brother? Since when did you have the right to point fingers at me? If you don't have any ability, then shut up!"

The leader's face was filled with anger, and he almost rushed forward to beat him up. The thing he hated the most was when someone pointed at his decision and now Finn was doing the exact thing.

"Big brother, you misunderstood my meaning. I'm doing this for the sake of everyone's good. As long as there's life, there's no need to fear the lack of firewood. Will this woman be alive or dead, it's up to Big Brother to decide. But I still have to say, the child in her womb is innocent. Look at her situation. It's better for us to accumulate some virtues."

Although Finn said so, he still turned his head and looked at Elena. Her pitiful appearance stirred something in his heart. The emotions in his eyes were complicated, and he wanted to say something but stopped himself.

The leader sneered when he heard Finn’s words. He said sarcastically,

"Accumulate some virtues? In our line of work, we still need to accumulate some virtues. What kind of big joke are you telling me? Look, you're such a kind person, why are you eating this bowl of rice with me? I didn't beg you to follow me back then, right?”

