

Chapter 221 A Pair Of Dragon And Phoenix

At that moment, the leader suddenly ran in. Looking at situation inside, he said impatiently: "I say, the two of you, can you hurry up? Cover this woman's mouth first. How can she shout like this? If she attracts someone here, we will all be finished."

The leader was really impatient and scared. He really regretted kidnapping this woman.

"But she doesn't have any strength left. What should we do?" Finn looked at the unconscious woman lying on the ground and asked anxiously.

"What should we do? How would I know? I only knew that the woman was a pregnant woman. It has only been seven months. Who knew she would give birth prematurely. Seriously, I am so unlucky. I quit. I don't want to care about her anymore. Let her die!"

He wanted money, but for money. . . It would be stupid to sacrifice their lives for nothing. So it was better to let his stupid woman die here.

The leader did not intend to care about Elena anymore. When he realized that he had received half of the money, he immediately left with his brothers.

Before he left, he glanced at Finn. "Don't bother about her. Let me tell you, if you don't leave now and Ryan Monor comes later, you won't have a chance to escape. Don't blame me, the big brother, for not reminding you."

"Big brother, you guys go first. I just promised her that I would definitely help her give birth to her child safely." Finn refused straightforwardly.

After he finished speaking, he immediately looked at unconscious woman lying on the ground.

She had already fainted. If she did not move quickly, then the children would only die from suffocation in her stomach.

The leader finally sighed and took off his coat and threw it in front of Finn. "Consider it me doing this for these two children."

After saying that, he left the abandoned warehouse with his brothers without turning back.

Finn still did not give up. He continued to call Elena,

"Wake up. Don't sleep anymore. Think about the children in your womb and your family. Think about your husband. Hurry up and wake up. If you don't wake up soon, the children will die in the womb. They haven't even looked at the outside world yet. Can you bear it?"

Finn shouted as he pinched Elena.

Elena was breathing very slowly and she didn't even have the energy to open her eyes. She didn't know if she had the fortune to look at the faces of her two children.

At this time, a voice suddenly sounded beside her ear.

"Elena, I love you."

"We will definitely have a happy family in the future. You, me and our twins."

"When the babies are born, let take a family picture."

"Elena, I will definitely be the best father in the world. I won't let any of you suffer even a little bit of grievance."

It was Ryan's voice. He had told her these things before and promised her to be the best father.

Ryan's voice pulled her back from the dark abyss which she was falling from.

In the next second, Elena suddenly opened her eyes and started to use force when the pain came. She could not give up. She had to protect her children!

She remembered what Ryan had said to her. She thought of her mother and grandfather who were unconscious. She could not leave them like this.

In the desolate warehouse, in the early morning after the rain, the loud cries of two babies finally broke the silence.

Finn put the two children beside Elena as if a heavy burden had been lifted off his shoulders. He smiled with relief and said, "You are so lucky to have given birth to a pair of dragon and phoenix."

Elena narrowed her eyes and looked at the two children lying beside her. At this moment, she was glad that she had survived the disaster.

"Thank you. . . Thank you. . ."

Elena said these two words with great difficulty. Giving birth to the children exhausted most of her energy and even saying a sentence felt strenuous.

"Sorry, I can't stay here any longer. It won't take long for your family to find this place." Finn said with a trace of guilt. Even though he knew that he should now leave a lonely woman, who just gave birth, with two children, but he had his own things to do.

Finn stood up and wanted to leave, but his clothes were grabbed by someone. He looked down and saw that it was actually that woman's hand. She used a lot of strength to grab it, and the tip of her finger was slightly white.

Elena looked up at him and asked with difficulty, "Who... Sent..." Even though she wanted to utter the full sentence, no sound was coming out of her throat.

Finn saw Elena's action and was stunned on the spot. "What do you mean? Do you want to ask who kidnapped you?"

Elena nodded weakly. Her mouth moved but she could not say a word.

"Sorry, this is our employer's privacy. I cannot tell you, but I can give you a reminder: it is a man." After Finn finished speaking, he left.

Elena looked at his back sadly. She endured the pain in her lower body and did not let herself fall asleep. She wanted to protect her children at any costs.
