

Chapter 224 They Took Money From Monor Family

The doctor shook his head helplessly. "Mr. Monor, the children and the adult are fine for the time being. But your children... because they were born prematurely, their bodies are a little weak and their need to be observed. And..."

“And what doctor?” Ryan asked nervously.

“It is like this. When your daughter’s umbilical cord was cut off, there was some dirt on it. It is infected and we have to operate on her now.”

"Then, is my daughter in danger of dying?" Ryan looked anxious.

"Don't worry. Both children and adult are not in danger. It's just that your wife has been stimulated. She stayed in a dark environment and gave birth in such a situation which gave her a major trauma. I'm afraid she will need to rest for a period of time. During this period of time, don't let her suffer any more stimulation." The doctor explained with a sigh.

"Then when can I go in and take a look at her?" Previously, because Elena's mood had been unstable, he was not at ease.

"You can only go in yourself, but I can't guarantee that the patient can recover right now."

Ryan nodded, lifted his, and walked into the ward.

Unexpectedly, Elena was not sleeping, but sitting on the bed alone. Her eyes were empty and unfocused as she looked at the ground.

Seeing her like this, Ryan walked over with a pained expression and held Elena's hand. He said gently, "Elena, it's me. I'm Ryan. Don't you recognize me?"

Elena did not know if it was because she heard Ryan's name, but she slowly raised her head. Her eyes were still empty, as if they were empty.

“Ryan?" she asked, as if she was looking at a stranger. “I don't know him."

For some reason, she seemed to have thought of something again. She started to search like crazy. She found the floor on the bed and then found the side. She then grabbed Ryan's shoulder and started to search.

Ryan frowned. "What's going on? What happened? What are you looking for?"

"Baby! Where are my babies? Where are my children? Please, can you return my children to me? I'm begging you, please don't hurt my children, okay?"

Elena knelt on the ground as she spoke. She cried and begged bitterly.

When Ryan saw her like this, his heart was about to break. He immediately held Elena tightly in his arms.

"I'm sorry! I'm really sorry. It’s my fault. It’s all my fault. I didn't expect it to be like this. I won't let you stay at home alone anymore. I didn't think that you would encounter this kind of thing after I went out for a while. I'm sorry. I'm really sorry. I'm sorry."

Ryan hugged her tightly and kept apologizing but Elena kept struggling. It was unknown what she thought of, but she bit Ryan's shoulder.

Ryan held back the pain and did not make a sound, allowing Elena to bite him.

"Where are my children? Where did my children go? Please, I can give you anything you want. But please return my children to me, okay?"

Elena begged bitterly with tears flowing down her face.

"Our children are fine. They are absolutely fine. They are just resting in another room. Rest well. I will bring you to see the children after you have rested well, alright?"

After saying that, Ryan carried her to the bed. She was originally very tired and after struggling a bit more, Elena fell into a deep sleep.

Ryan looked at the woman sleeping silently on the bed and gently kissed her forehead.

At this time, Jasper knocked on the door and came inside. He handed a document to Ryan and said while panting, "We found those people. After a round of torture, they finally opened their mouth. That group of people took money from the Monor family. They said they took money to kidnap Madam. But they didn't hurt her. Moreover, before they left, they left their clothes to Madam and asked her to protect the children. Only then did they leave."

"How did you know that the money was given to them by the Monor family?" Although Ryan was very angry, his voice was very soft. He was afraid of disturbing the person on the bed.

"The man behind the scenes sent them a check. The name on the check is Roman Monor." Jasper said as his face became even angrier.

"Guards, watch Madam's room. No accidents must happen! Report to me immediately if there is any sign of disturbance."
