

Chapter 238 You Deserve To Be Kicked Out By Ryan

Roman shook his head sadly when he saw how greedy his mother was.

"Mom, how can you have such thoughts? Ryan and I are not on good terms now. Why are you making a fuss in the company? Do you have something on aunt's hands? So, even if our family is against it, you still have to help her fill that bottomless hole."

"Good, good, good, good! I'm not going anymore. But have you found out about the things I asked you to find out? We should start with Elena. We should find a weakness in her. At most we can take her away to threaten Ryan. Maybe this way, we will be able to defeat Ryan."

Now that her family had lost all hope, how could she let Ryan go just like that? She would definitely not allow them to have a good time!

Roman's brows were tightly knitted when he heard the name "Elena". He did not know what to say in the face of his mother's unreasonable request.

Now, Ryan did not announce the news of Elena giving birth to the public. And Elena was not in a good state. If his mother knew about this matter, she would definitely never let go of it.

"Mom, enough! When did you become like this? How can you even think about hurting a pregnant woman? I knew that you did not have a good personality in the past, but you didn't do such a thing. Why did you have to be bewitched by aunt?"

For the first time, Roman shouted at Amanda. Although he didn't have a good relationship with Ryan, he didn't have any enmity with Elena. It was already a big news for him when he knew that Elena was kidnapped before, and now when he heard that his mother also wanted to do the same thing. He became furious.

May be Roman was too excited, his voice could be heard all over the living room.

"Roman! What was he talking about? No matter what, I am your aunt. How can you talk about me behind my back?! "

Unexpectedly, Aurora actually walked down from the stairs. When she heard the conversation between the mother and son, her face revealed displeasure.

Roman heard the displeased voice and turned around to look. Seeing this woman actually walk down from his house, Roman was stunned for a moment before turning to Amanda. His eyes stared fixedly at his mother.

"Mom, shouldn't you give me an explanation? Didn't Dad tell you to stop interacting with this woman? Why did she appear in our house? Don't tell me that, she asked for money again?"

"Roman, you are going against your conscience by saying this. I am your mother's biological sister. Why can't I come to my sister's house? When you were young, I hugged you and bought you so many delicious and fun things."

Aurora said as she came down from the corner of the second floor. She looked around and saw that the fruits on the coffee table were not bad. She picked them up and wiped them with her sleeve and ate without any hesitation.

"Sister, this fruit is not bad. Give me some when you leave. Our family is poor now and can't even afford to buy fruits."

"Wave after wave of debt collectors came. I was so annoyed that I came to you to hide. Oh right. . . Have you thought about what I told you earlier?" Aurora raised her head and looked at Amanda with an innocent expression.

Aurora did not have the slightest restraint and guilt. If it was someone else, she would felt that this kind of bad thing should not be mentioned publicly. Now, Aurora actually felt that it was something worth being proud of.

Looking at Amanda's attitude, Roman knew that he could not persuade his mother anymore, so he just let the two sisters do whatever they want.

He helplessly shook his head. "You two can talk here. I have something to do, so I'll be leaving first. If Aunt has nothing to do, it's best to leave before my father comes back. If my father finds out about this, I'm afraid you won't have a good ending."

"What are you talking about, child? I am your elder. With your attitude, you deserve to be kicked out by Ryan. . ." Aurora wasn't afraid of anything. She didn't even think to restrain herself while talking.

Aurora's words reached Roman's ears, who was about to leave. He suddenly turned his head and shot a cold look at Aurora then strode out of the door.

Amanda looked at the situation and knew that it wasn't going to good, so she stood between the two of them, "Don't be angry with him. He is still young and insensible! As for what you said, we'll discuss it later. After all, Roman just came out of the company."

"No matter what, I'm his elder. Talking back like this is disrespectful to the elders! Sis, I have to say that you haven't improved at all in educating children! Look at my two children. When will they dare to talk back to me?"

"When you went to my house, when did those two children not greet you with a smile and call you 'aunt'?"

Aurora was very angry. She had never suffered such grievance before. She was actually being taught a lesson by a junior here.

Amanda helplessly pulled her younger sister's hand. "Enough, enough. Don't be angry anymore. I know that your child is obedient and sensible. Our child can't be compared to him, alright? Stay for dinner later."

"Stay for dinner at your house? If your husband comes back and sees me, won't he eat me alive? I don't want to look at other people's faces for nothing."

Aurora did not like Charles at all. She felt that he was used to being arrogant. His eyes had already grown to the top of his head.

Aurora's words made Amanda laugh. "Why are you afraid of Charles? No matter what, I am his wife. When he comes back, we will call our brother-in-law over and let the two of them drink some wine. Once you are happy, you may be able to form a partnership and you will not have to run away."

"Look at you. You've looked a lot more haggard recently. Our mom is almost 90. You don't want Mom to worry, right?"

Amanda smiled and tried to flatter her sister.

Aurora finally calmed down. "That's all we can do. But you have to remind your husband not to mock me. Otherwise, I won't be happy. When the time comes, you won't be able to defend yourself from gambling and losing money."

"Although you're my sister, I can't guarantee that I'll be able to keep this secret forever. . ."

"Good sister, you'll have to see how your sister acts! I will tell your brother-in-law that although the company is already Ryan's, we still have some assets. When the time comes, we will use it to fill the hole for you. You should also advise brother-in-law not to continue gambling and fill the hole like a bottomless hole."

"Are you afraid of him? Who is Ryan? And who are you? Even if Ryan isn't your biological son, he was raised by you. Could it be that you can throw away the favor of raising him? What kind of son is born in this life?"

Aurora didn't have the slightest interest in Ryan. This man was so arrogant and conceited. If it wasn't for the fact that he still had some use in the Monor family, he would have been chased out long ago.

But she didn't expect that this man would actually chase Roman out today. She didn't know what kind of despicable means he had used.

The two sisters kept chatting. Most of the time, it was Aurora who was talking. Amanda heard it.

To put it bluntly, she had a weakness in Aurora's hands which was why Amanda had no choice but to listen to Aurora's arrangements.

After an unknown amount of time, Charles returned.

When he walked in and saw that the room was so lively, he originally thought that there were relatives, but he did not expect to see the person he was most unwilling to see.

When Aurora saw Charles return, she immediately stood up and greeted him with a smile, "Aiyo, brother-in-law is back."

When he heard the word "brother-in-law," Charles suddenly felt goosebumps all over his body. When he just got married, he did not feel anything about this sister-in-law. Recently, she had become more and more powerful.

"Why are you here?"
