

Chapter 244 Ian And Rayna

On the other side, Layla walked out and sat in a car at the corner of the street.

She was also unable to calm down for a long time. After getting into the car, she did not let the driver drive. She just lowered her head and allowed tears to flow out of her eyes to wet the silk handkerchief in her hand.

When the driver saw Layla like this, he asked with concern, "Madam, what's wrong?"

"Nothing." Layla waved her hand. She thought that she could control her emotions, but in the end, she overestimated herself.

The driver started the car and tried to persuade her in a low voice. "Madam, you don't have to be too sad. Isn't Young Master living well? He has grown up now. He will definitely understand your difficulties back then."

All these years, Layla had raised the wall of her heart high up, blocking everyone who wanted to come in. At the same time, she had also trapped herself in the same place all by herself.

If not for the news of Ryan being injured five years ago, she would not have rushed over from Western Europe. However, when she really wanted to meet him, Layla began to hesitate again. She did not know how to face the son and family that she had been thinking about day and night.

"Madam, where should we head to?"

"Drive to the airport first. When the matters in Western Europe are settled, I will come back and see them!"

Through the mirror in the car, Layla looked at the wrinkles at the corner of the eye and a few strands of hair that were half black and half white. She felt that many years had passed in a flash. She was no longer that young and ignorant girl.

After Elena and Ryan settled their emotions, the nanny carried the children over. The two children were chubby and round. They were bulging. Anyone who saw them liked them.

"Give them to me." Elena carried both of them in her arms and her mood immediately became better.

During this period of time, she had been sick and did not have time to properly accompany her children. Unknowingly, the two little fellows had already grown up a circle and were putting a heavy weight in her arms.

"Our son and daughter are like you. When they grow up, they will definitely be as beautiful as you." Ryan hugged the three of them with a satisfied smile on his face.

"Of course." Elena was very happy and passed her son to Ryan, "You can hug him too."

Ryan carried his little son from Elena and held him in his arms. It was unknown if the little fellow recognized him, he smiled faintly and kept moving his little legs and arms. Ryan smiled when he saw his son's reaction.

"How is Mrs. Baker?" Elena held her daughter carefully and asked.

When she was kidnapped previously, Mrs. Baker's head was also broken by someone and now she did not know how she recovered.

"The situation is not good." Ryan frowned slightly, "Her head is injured and there is a large blood stasis at the back of her head. There is still need for follow-up treatment. I do not know when she will recover. "

"It's all my fault." Elena felt a little guilty. "If it wasn't for me, she wouldn't have been injured like this. I want to go to the hospital to take a look at Mrs. Baker."

At that time, in order to save her, Mrs. Baker fought with those bad guys by herself. Her entire body was covered in blood and it frightened people.

"Don't worry. I have already arranged for someone to take care of Mrs. Baker. She will be fine. Your body has not recovered yet. When you are better, I will accompany you to the hospital."

Ryan paused for a moment. "By the way, I have good news to tell you."

"What?" Elena perked up and looked at him.

"Yesterday, the doctor said that your mother woke up once at night." He originally wanted to tell her immediately, but considering that she was also recovering, he delayed until now to tell her.

When Elena heard this news, her eyes immediately widened. Because she was carrying her daughter in her arms, she could only try her best to keep her voice calm, "Really? Is what you said true? Is my mother really awake?"

She was so excited that she started to speak incoherently. Her mother had been lying on the hospital bed for so long, and now she finally woke up. This was the best news she had heard during this period of time.

"Don't get too excited. The doctor is currently observing. If there is any news, he will tell me immediately. Take care of your body first, then I will take you to the hospital to take a look. I believe that your mother will definitely get better as soon as possible."

“Hmm...” Elena lowered her eyes and looked at her little daughter in her arms. After the incident, it was her first time holding the two children like this.

Strangely, the two children were very obedient. They might have known that their mother and father had reunited after a long time, they kept quite from beginning to end.

Ryan held his son in one hand and wrapped his other hand around Elena's slim waist, making her lean on him. He kissed lightly on her forehead and said with a smile. “Our children are so big but unfortunately they don't have a name yet. What should we call them?”

Before the twins were born, he had a longing to name his children. After that a series of incidents happened one after another making him both mentally and physically exhausted. So he basically didn't think of any names.

Hearing his words, Elena lowered her head to look at these two little fellows. He was right. The children were growing day by day and they needed a name.

Elena was silent for a moment before rising her head to look at Ryan. She said with a smile. “Actually I have thought of their names long ago.”

When she was pretending to be “silly”, she actually had a lot of time to think about many things. So naturally she had thought about the names of the twins quite a time ago.

Listening this, Ryan frowned. “Long ago?”

Elena lowered her head to conceal her emotions and nodded her head.

Ryan didn't think too much about it as he thought she might have decided the name before their birth. He asked somewhat curiously, “Then what are their names?”

Elena's eyes shined like stars when she looked at their children. She smiled happily. “Our son's name is Ian and our daughter's name is Rayna.”

“Ian and Rayna...” Ryan muttered the two names softly and then suddenly turned to look at her, “Isn't it the combination of our names?”

Yes, Elena and Ryan became Ian and Ryan and Elena became Rayna!

Elena nodded with a smile, “Yes, I want to give them a name which resembled the two of us. Do you like the names?”

“Of course! It's the name my wife gave. How can I have the courage to deny it?” Ryan said happily, “I really liked the names.”
