

Chapter 248 Friends Gathering

When the food was ready, the sound of knocking could be heard from outside.

Elena put the dishes she had prepared on the dining table and ran over to open the door. When she saw Freya, she immediately went forward to hug her, "Freya, you are finally here."

Ryan also followed his wife closely. When he saw Henry and Freya, he revealed a rare smile. "You guys are here. If you were a little bit late, my wife would have gone outside to find you guys."

"There was a traffic jam on the road, so we came a little late." Henry went forward and patted Ryan's shoulder as greeting.

"It's nothing. Quickly come in and take a seat." Elena invited them warmly. Freya and Henry walked in together with a smile.

After the four of them sat together on the sofa, Elena cut the fruit and handed it to Freya's son. "Auntie has good food here. Do you want to try it?"

"Yes." The sweet childish voice melted Elena's heart.

"Your son is so cute." Elena found that after becoming a mother she had no resistance against children. Whenever she found a child, she just couldn't resist herself.

"Where are your children? Quickly carry them down and let me take a look." Freya said excitedly.

Henry, who had been silent, also took over the topic. "I heard that you have a pair of son and daughter. Congratulations."

After saying that, he turned to Ryan and said with a sigh. "Among all of us, Ryan has always been the best in material arts ever since he was a child. It's just that I didn't expect his material arts skills would be helpful in his marital life. It makes people envious."

After finishing the words, the people present in the hall burst into laughter and Elena's face turned extremely red.

Ryan, who was also laughing, hugged his wife and said to Henry. "No need to be envious. If you want results then work hard."

After saying that, he turned to Elena, "Let's go and bring them down." After that, Elena and Ryan went upstairs together.

Looking at the couple walking upstairs together, Freya felt a little envious. How good it would be if she also had twins.

Henry felt his wife's envious eyes and pulled her into his arms. "As Ryan said, we can also work hard."

"Fuck you!" Freya pouted and lowered her head, embarrassed to look at Henry.

Not long after, Ryan and Elena carried the two little children down. The two little fellows had just woken up and were moving happily in their parents' arms.

Looking the husband and wife coming down, Freya went forward and saw the two little pink and chubby children. She did not know where to start. Although she had already given birth to a child, she still had to be careful when meeting other people's children.

Freya carefully carried the little girl in her arms and looked at her happily. She looked at Elena with a smile. "They are really beautiful. Your and Ryan's genes are very fantastic."

"Of course. They must be extraordinary. After all, they are Ryan Monor's children." Henry said with a teasing expression.

Ryan placed his son in Henry's arms. "Are you very envious? Why don't you work hard next time?"

Henry carefully protected the child in his arms and looked at Ryan. "I'm not envious of you guys. When my child grows up, I'll send him to kindergarten. Then I and Freya can live together. When the time comes, you'll be envious of us because you have to take care two children after all."

As soon as Henry finished speaking, Freya's face immediately turned red.

Ryan looked at Henry and Freya's loving expressions and could not help but feel envious. It had been a long time since he had spent time alone with Elena. He really missed her a lot. And now he had to see other people's love in front of his eyes.

Finally he couldn't help it anymore. He stood up and took his son away from Henry's arms. "Fine, stop showing your PDA here and let's go to eat. My wife had spent the whole evening preparing food for you guys. I don't want my wife's affords to go waste."

After that, he went forward and carefully took his daughter from Freya's hand. He held both the children in his both hands and then handed them to the servants present instructing them to put the children back in their room.

Henry smiled and didn't take Ryan's words to his heart as he was used to Ryan's behavior. He held Freya's shoulder and led her to the dining room.

Elena glanced at Ryan's expression and knew that he was jealous. She sighed inwardly and went to the dining room as well.

The whole dining table was filled with various dishes. It could be considered as a celebration.

Henry walked to the dining table and sat down. When he inhaled the aroma of the food, he couldn't help but swallow his saliva. He turned to Elena. "Sister-in-law made all of this?"

Without waiting for Elena to reply, Ryan lifted his chin proudly and said, "Of course. My wife is a wonderful cook. Her cooking is no less than Michelin star hotel's cooking."

Ryan's eyes filled with pride and tenderness when he was praising his wife. His wife's cooking was really amazing. As a man, he was very fortunate to marry such a wife.

Elena heard Ryan's words and lowered her head with a smile.

After everyone sat on the dining table, the two men started casual talk about business. Elena found an opportunity and pulled Freya to the kitchen. She made sure that no one was around them then looked at Freya, "Recently Linda has not made things difficult for you, has she?"

Ryan had told her before about the Wright Family's situation. The Wright family was considered as a wealthy and harmonious family. Henry's parents, Mr. Wright and Mrs. Wright were very kind and generous.

The Wright family only had one son and daughter which were Henry and Linda. Henry was Ryan's childhood friend and both of them had gone to the same school. So Elena knew that Henry was a gentle man. However, Linda was born much later then Henry. So she was spoiled to heavens by the Wright Family. Although the Wright Family was a good family, they just turned a blind eye to their daughter's actions.

Linda was just like Amara, always respected the strong and bullied the weak.

Freya came from an ordinary family background and working as a secretary in the Wright Group. But Henry fell for her and ultimately decided to marry her.

Both Mr. Wright and Mrs. Wright didn't show any dissatisfaction towards this marriage because Freya was a very beautiful, generous and intelligent woman. She won the hearts of Henry's parents from their first meeting.

But the only person who was dissatisfied with this marriage was Linda. Linda always thought Freya as a lowly woman because she thought Freya seduced Henry to come to the upper class. That's why Linda could go to any means to kick Freya out of the family.

Another propose of calling Freya today was because Elena wanted to know about the situation. Freya was the only friend she had so Elena didn't want Freya to suffer.

Hearing Elena's question, the smile on Freya's face faded a little, "Because I was pregnant, that woman before was very polite to me. Ever since I gave birth, Linda treated me the same as before. I originally planned to not bicker with her on Henry's account, but it made her become even more unscrupulous."
