Chapter 260 Fence-Sitter

"Hehe." Ryan smiled coldly, and then he called Xavier in. "I am tired. Take her home. "

"Yes." Xavier said and went forward to help Amanda up and said, "I'll take you home."

"No, I'm not leaving. Ryan, aren't you afraid of retribution?" Amanda didn't care about the feelings of others and cursed Ryan restlessly.

"Drag her out." Ryan's expression didn't look good. He had already given her face by not throwing her out.

Amanda was dragged outside by Xavier. However she did not forget to scold Ryan.

The people present at the company lobby looked at the scene and shook their heads helplessly.

Some people will never change. Her own son was not capable enough to do anything. Now when someone else came and trying to stabilize the situation, she was cursing that person. Furthermore, that person was also her another son.

The situation of the rich families was really complicated. Both of them were her sons. They couldn't understand why Amanda favored Roman so much but didn't like Ryan.

However, right at the moment Amanda had no time to care about people who were talking about her. She, who was dragged out by Xavier, kept cursing Ryan loudly.

Tina, who was standing at the company's entrance, heard those unpleasant words and frowned. She turned around to the source of the voice and stunned for a moment.

Was this still the gentle Madam of the Monor Family, Amanda?

Tina sighed helplessly and could not help but pull Amanda. "Auntie, why are you here?"

When Amanda saw clearly who the person was, she immediately pushed her away. She pointed at Tina's nose and said, "Don't touch me. You and Ryan ganged up to bully my son. You are also not a good person. "

Tina quickly shook her head, "I did not."

"You did not? If you didn't do it, why would you be here today? Did you forget when you begged my son like a dog?" Amanda fiercely cursed. If not for Xavier holding her back, she would definitely have attacked Tina.

Tina never would have thought that the once glorious and rich Madam of Monor Family would actually throw a tantrum like a woman in the market.

"Auntie, you should go back first. There are many people here. If they see your current appearance, it will affect your reputation." Tina persuaded patiently.

"You don't need to care about that. Now that Ryan became the President, didn't you come here to hug Ryan's thigh? But don't forget how you begged Roman to stay by his side."

Although Amanda was not in the company, she knew everything about the company.

Tina was a fence-sitter. When she saw Ryan lose his power, she cried and begged to go to Roman's side. Now she came to Ryan again. Was she begging him to give her a meal?

Although she was very dissatisfied with Amanda's words, Tina did not say much and asked Xavier to quickly send Amanda away.

When she opened the door of the CEO's office, she saw Ryan sitting in a chair in a daze.

Hearing the sound of door open, Ryan looked up. When he saw who the person was, he said in a frivolous tone, "Amanda just left and you came again. Everyone likes to come to me today. Do you think I have treasures here?"

"Cousin, I actually came today because I have something serious to tell you." Tina looked at Ryan with a complicated expression.

Tina never thought that Ryan not only became the CEO of the Monor Group, but also recovered from his leg disease. It was really hard to predict what would happen in the world.

Ryan leaned on the chair and said coldly, "Speak."

Tina took out a file from her bag and handed it to Ryan. "Cousin. . . No, Director Monor, this is my property deed and transfer certificate. Take a look."

Ryan did not understand and asked. "Why did you give this to me?"

"You bought our house. You bought everything in my house. These do not belong to us, so I want to return these things to you."

Tina had thought about a lot during this period of time. She originally thought that she deeply loved Ryan and that she could obtain his favor. However, she did not expect that she would push him further and further away.

The difference between her and Ryan was like heaven and earth. No matter how hard she tried, she would not be able to catch up to him.

Ryan heard Tina's words and looked at her calmly. "No need."

"Huh?"

Tina looked at Ryan in puzzlement. "Why?"

"Your mother saved my grandfather back then. This is an indisputable fact. Our Monor family ought to repay her. Take that house and the things inside as a way to return the favor from back then."

Ryan didn't want to owe anyone, and he didn't want the Monor family to owe anyone either.

Tina lowered her head in shame, and her eyes were filled with tears. "Director Monor, I have done a lot of things that have let you down. I am very guilty. I hope you are magnanimous and do not make things difficult for me."

"If I want to argue with you, do you think you can still appear in Hai City?" Ryan remembered the kindness of Tina's family when they saved his grandfather's life. That was why he did not do anything to Tina.

If it was someone else who betrayed Ryan, that person would have fallen into the streets long ago.

"Director Monor. . ." Tina suppressed her crying, "If you want to punish me, I can accept any conditions, but don't treat me so well. The more you do that, the more I feel sorry for you."

Back then, she had plotted against Ryan together with Roman because she wanted to chase him out of the Monor Group. But she had never thought that Ryan would repay her meanness with kindness and not do anything to her.

Tina regretted it. If she had been determined and did not choose to follow Roman, would her relationship with Ryan be better?

"You chose the path yourself. No matter what the result is, you have to bear it yourself." Everyone would make mistakes on the path they chose. It was understandable, but it was not worth forgiveness.

Tina revealed a bitter smile, "Yes, it was my own choice back then. I can't blame anyone else. "

Recalling what happened during this period of time, Tina felt that she was very childish. She always fantasized about things that she shouldn't have. If there was a chance to do it again, she definitely would not choose to live like this.

"You can leave. With your ability, you will find a proper job wherever you go, but I will not let you enter the Monor Group again."

Monor Group was not a charity organization. He would never use this person who had betrayed him.

"Director Monor?" Tina's face was full of excitement. Her mouth was trembling. "You are not going to chase me out of Hai City?"

"Do you really want me to kick you out?" Ryan asked back.

"No, no. Thank you, Director Monor." Tears rolled down Tina's eyes like beans, but she could not suppress her excitement.

"You can leave. I have something to take care of." Ryan did not want to say any more nonsense.

Tina nodded and left excitedly.

The office became very quiet once again. Gu Tingchen rubbed his temples tiredly.

So many things had happened today, he also did not have the mood to take care of work. It would be more fun if he spent his time with his wife and children.

Thinking of Elena and the twins, Ryan once again became energized. He packed his things and went home.
