

Chapter 269 I Was The One Who Was Engaged To You

"You and Ryan are sworn enemies, and now you care so much about Elena. It's very difficult for people to not suspect you."

Roman's eyes lit up. He felt that there was something wrong with Spencer and Elena.

"Huh." Spencer sneered, "Your company is already in someone else's hands. And you actually still have time to care about my relationship with Elena."

"I'm not the only one in the company. Don't forget, you also have a part in this company. If the company collapses, you won't get any benefits either."

It was Spencer who contacted Roman and it was also Spencer who invested the most. If the company went bankrupt, Spencer would suffer heavy losses.

Hearing this, Spencer sneered. He gave a wicked smile. "Tsk tsk tsk, you are mistaken. If this company goes bankrupt, I will only lose a sum of money. It is not a big deal. But to you, if this company goes bankrupt, you will lose the hope of making a comeback. At that time, you will no longer be able to be compared with Ryan."

He would not have any problems opening more than a dozen companies like Roman's, but Roman could not. Roman put all his time and energy into this company. If the company was gone, he would have nothing.

Roman did not say anything in response to Spencer's mockery. Because Spencer was telling the truth.

If the company was gone, his money and status would be gone with the wind.

"This company is your life. You should know how to deal with it." Spencer reminded Roman to put all his energy on the company and strode out of the office.

After Spencer left, Roman threw everything on the table to the ground and said with a fierce face, "Ryan, we are irreconcilable."

Ding!

At this time, the sound of a message came from the phone.

Roman picked up the phone and checked it.

It was the notification of a large amount of money being credited from his account.

He didn't need to guess to know who did it. Only Amara could move his card.

Thinking of Amara, Roman's face turned very ugly.

During this period of time, Amara's attitude towards him had clearly changed, especially after he left the company.

Every time he returned home, she would deliberately cause trouble and quarrel, to the extent that Roman did not even want to see Amara now.

But Roman knew that he could not do anything to Amara. This company also had the help of the Lewis family. If Jonathan got into trouble, he would not be able to gain any benefits.

However, what Roman didn't know was that Amara was currently dressed up beautifully and had left the house.

Amara held the make-up mirror and looked at the exquisite makeup on her face. She revealed a charming smile and said, "This time, I want to seize the opportunity."

Amara lifted her eyes and looked at the door of the room, seemingly waiting for someone.

Not long after, a tall and slender man walked into the room.

The man's gaze swept across the room and stopped at Amara's face. With a cold expression planted on his face, he said, "If you have something to say, say it quickly. I don't have time to waste with you."

Looking at the man's handsome face, Amara's eyes were shining as bright as the stars. She put away the make-up mirror and a smile hung on her delicate face.

"Director Monor really has a lot of things to do every day. I have asked you out for so long but you still can't get me. If it wasn't for my sister, I'm afraid you wouldn't have given me face."

Ryan sneered when he heard that. If it wasn't for her talking about Elena today, he wouldn't have rushed out to meet her.

"If you have anything to say, just say it. I'm very busy." Ryan looked at the time and urged. He felt disgusted when he saw this woman.

Amara was wearing a sexy low cut black dress which was hardly covering her chest. She adjusted her dress as if it was natural which showed her fair and delicate cleavage.

Amara put the ordered coffee in front of Ryan and said softly. "The coffee here is not bad."

Ryan frowned and remained silent.

"Don't look at me with such a strange look. To be honest, I admire your talent."

If Elena had not replaced her to marry Ryan, she would be the wife of the president of the Monor Group now!

"If you have nothing to say, I will leave." Ryan stood up. He did not have time to waste with Amara.

"Director Monor doesn't want to know why Elena married you." Amara stood up and came in front of the man. She put her hand on Ryan's shoulder.

"You should know what position Elena has in the Lewis family. With her position, how could she have the chance to marry you? If it wasn't for me, you wouldn't even know who Elena is."

Ryan narrowed his eyes and looked at the hand that was placed on his shoulder. He then grabbed Amara's arm and threw her hand away. Ryan's voice carried a faint mockery. "You mean you helped us?"

Amara was thrown to the side but she didn't seem to mind about it.

Amara smiled and said "That's right. I was the one who was engaged to you. Elena was replaced for some reason. She was born a lowly person. If it wasn't for our family's pity, why would she have such a good life?"

Amara really regretted it.

Why didn't she marry Ryan back then? Why did Roman leave the Monor Group now?

Although he had opened a new company, how could it be compared to the Monor family's century-old company?

Thinking about it Amara's eyes flashed with a faint light.

She once again raised her hand and placed it on Ryan's chest. She slowly approached his face and said softly.

"It was originally our marriage. Why should we give it to someone else?"

After saying that, Amara's hand became dishonest and started to grope Ryan's chest.
