

Chapter 270 You Are Quite Bold

Ryan was not moved. He looked at Amara as if he was looking at a clown.

"If Roman knew about your current condition, what do you think he would think?"

Hearing Roman's name, Amara's eyes flashed with disgust. "I don't care what he thinks. He is just a trash. It would be better for him to be with someone useful. It would be a waste for me to wait for so long."

After saying that, Amara pulled Ryan to a chair. They were in a sealed room with no windows. The gentle lights shone on the two of them, adding a little bit of fun.

Amara had thought it through. If she succeeded in seducing Ryan and slept with him today, she could get pregnant with his child. And then she could blackmail him using the child.

When that happens, Ryan would have no option but to divorce Elena and marry her.

At that time, she would become the wife of the President of Monor Group!

Amara thought about it and became excited.

When Amara pulled Ryan, he didn't resist at all. He just sat on the chair quietly.

Seeing Ryan obediently following her, Amara became even more excited and her hand became even more shameless. Amara lowered her head wanting to kiss him.

Just as Amara was about to kiss Ryan's lips, Ryan, however, grabbed Amara's arm and threw her to the side.

This time it was not a gentle push but Ryan exerted a lot of strength.

Amara lost her balance and was directly thrown to the ground, with her back hitting the coffee table. She was in a very sorry state.

Amara's face was full of displeasure, "Ryan, what are you doing?"

Ryan was silent. He picked up the wet towel on the table to wipe his hands, as if he had touched something dirty.

"Amara Lewis, you are quite bold."

At this moment, a sudden voice sounded from the door, scaring Amara.

Amara looked at the source of the voice and was stunned for a moment, "Why are you here?"

She then looked at Ryan in disbelief, "You did it on purpose."

"You have been asking my husband out all this time. I have been very curious what you want to do. But I did not expect my cousin to seduce her brother-in-law so openly."

Elena's voice was as cold as ice. And her body was emitting a dangerous aura.

"You are talking nonsense. I did not seduce anyone. Elena, don't slander me." Amara said angrily.

Even if she did try to seduce Ryan just now, she won't admit it in front of Elena.

"Of course I will not let anything happen between you and my husband. I am afraid that my husband's reputation will be tarnished because of you."

Elena paused and took a step forward towards Amara. She looked straight into Amara's eyes and said coldly, "Amara, if you are obedient, the two of us can be at ease. But you insisted on coming here to disgust me...Then don't blame me for being rude to you."

Elena originally thought that the person Amara liked was Roman that's why Amara forced her to marry Ryan. But Elena did not expect that what Amara liked was wealth and glory.

Back then, Ryan's legs were crippled and he didn't have any real power in the Monor Group. So Amara gave up on him and chose Roman.

Now that Roman was expelled from the Monor Group, and Ryan had regained his power. She also wanted to be with Ryan.

Did she really think that other people were idiots?

"You...!" Hearing Elena's words, Amara was so angry that her whole body trembled.

Unable to say anything, Amara raised her hand and wanted to hit Elena.

Ryan, who was silent all the time, saw this and was ready to come forward and protect Elena.

However, before Ryan could make a move, Elena had already raised her hand and tightly gripped the hand which was about to hit her.

Being her hand caught by Elena, Amara was a little flustered. "Elena, let me go."

Elena didn't say anything and let her hand go. But before Amara could relax, Elena raised her and slapped Amara.

Slap!

A loud and crisp sound of the slap echoed the whole room.

Amara's face turned to the side and one side of her face instantly turned red.

Amara looked at Elena in disbelief and yelled, "Elena, are you crazy?"

Facing Amara's fury, Elena's expression didn't even change, "First, you dared to seduce my husband in the board day light. Second, when you were caught red handed, you even tried to attack me. And now, you are even throwing a tantrum here. Amara, am I crazy or have you lost your mind for wealth and glory, huh?"

"Aren't you ashamed to seduce your own cousin-in-law and a father of two children?"

Amara held back her tears and pointed at Elena. She said, "Elena, are you a good person? If I didn't ask you to marry Ryan on my behalf, how could you have today's wealth and glory? Back then, you thought that it was our family that forced you to do this, but now you are still sitting on the seat of Monor family's Second Young Mistress."

"Ask me to marry Ryan? If it wasn't for the fact that you all dislike Ryan and didn't want to marry a cripple, why would I be the wife of the president of the Monor Group today?"

Elena said with a sarcastic smile.
