

Chapter 271 Don't Regret Your Choice Now

When Amara heard Elena's words, although she was very angry, she could not say anything in rebuttal.

Elena was right. At that time she did not like Ryan at all.

Amara's engagement with Ryan was set long ago by Mason. At that time, Ryan was still the president of the Monor Group and could walk around like normal person. So Amara didn't have any problem with this engagement.

But afterwards, Ryan met with an accident and was declared as paralyzed for rest of his life. Then he lost his position as president, so Amara didn't like him anymore. She felt shameful when someone mentioned her engagement with Ryan.

When her wedding with Ryan was near, Amara bribed the doctors of the hospital and asked them to stop Eleanor's treatment.

The reason for doing this was simple. When Eleanor's condition would become worse, Elena would definitely come to them to beg for money. At that time, they could force Elena.

And sure enough, as they had planned earlier, Elena indeed fell in their trap and Amara asked Elena to marry Ryan on her behalf.

But who would have thought that a cripple who did not have any real power at that time could actually become the president of Monor Group.

No one knew how shocked she was, when she saw the news about Ryan being able to stand up like normal man. And then he even kicked out Roman out of the Monor Group.

Amara felt that her whole life had turned upside down in just short of two days.

Now that Roman had lost his money, power and status, Amara naturally lost her interest in Roman. After weighting pros and cons, she again wanted to carry favors with Ryan.

Amara originally thought that with her beauty, she could pull Ryan over, but she did not expect Ryan to sit still.

Ryan even called Elena to humiliate her like this.

When Amara thought of this, she became even angrier and roared at Elena, "Elena, don't you forget how you returned to the Lewis family. Without the Lewis family, you are nothing now."

"Then thank you for your generosity."

Elena took a step forward and said coldly, "It was you who treated the pearls as fish eyes back then. Don't regret your choice now."

After Elena finished speaking, she pulled Ryan's hand and left without looking back.

After the two of them left, Amara sat on the chair and cried out loud.

If she had known earlier, she would not have disliked Ryan back then. She would not have let Elena marry instead of her.

She originally thought that Roman was an outstanding person and could naturally take over the company, but in the end, he could not even beat a cripple who did not have any real power.

Elena and Ryan sat in the car. The atmosphere in the car was very silent.

Ryan could clearly feel that Elena's mood was very bad.

"Are you angry?" Ryan held Elena's hand and asked gently.

However, Elena pulled her hand back and turned her head away from Ryan.

"Cough cough!" Ryan coughed awkwardly and said. "I know she has bad intentions. That's why I asked you to come with me. If I wanted to betray you, why would I inform you on the first place?"

Elena was still not convinced by his words and ignored him.

Amara had already tried her first time, so there would definitely be a second time or even third time. In Amara's eyes, nothing was more important than wealth and glory. And for these things, she could go to any instant.

Now that Amara dared to seduce Ryan in board day light, she must have a way to escape unscathed.

It would be fine if she acted openly, but Elena was afraid that Amara would play a sinister trick.

"Don't worry. I will never go to her appointment again in the future. Even if I see her on the road, I will stay far away from her. Don't be angry, okay?"

From the day they got married, Ryan and Elena had never been quarreled until now. But they had quarreled over such a thing now. If Amara hurt the relationship between them because of it, then the loss outweighed the gain.

Listening to his honest words, Elena could be angry with him anymore. She sighed and said. "I am not angry with you. I just feel that since Amara had her first time, she will definitely continue to look for you. The first and second times are still alright. If it is too long, it will affect your reputation if others find out."

Other than Amara's tricks, what Elena was more worried was about Ryan's reputation. It was not easy for Ryan to get to this position today. Only she knew how complicated it was, so she must not let Amara ruin Ryan like this.

"Mr. Monor, why don't you find Roman and tell him about Amara's actions?" Xavier, who was driving in front, asked in confusion.

Xavier had wanted to get rid of this matter when Ryan mentioned it for the first time but Ryan didn't let him do it. Xavier had thought that Ryan must have other plans, however, he did not expect Ryan to spend so much effort to invite the Elena over.

Before Ryan could speak, Elena was the first to speak. "It's useless to inform Roman. Now that Amara dared to invite Ryan out so openly, she naturally won't care about Roman's feelings anymore. Now, Roman is no longer the glorious Roman Monor of the past. So Amara naturally won't give him a good look."

Furthermore, the Lewis family had contributed a lot to Roman's company. Therefore, Roman was now half a head shorter than Amara. So even if Amara really had something outside, Roman could only clench his teeth and swallow his anger down.

Ryan saw that this matter would make Elena unhappy and felt that he must solve this as soon as possible. He looked at Elena and slowly said. "Roman snatched some business from me. I have been busy during this period of time."

"What do you mean?" Elena did not understand what Ryan meant.

"Everyone in Hai City knows that Roman and Amara are husband and wife. Roman has set up his own company in a few short months and has a few big businesses. Naturally, there will be reporters who wanted to know about them. If they are busy, they will not be able to play any other tricks."

When Ryan thought of what happened in the coffee shop, he felt extremely disgusted. In the past, he thought that although Amara was arrogant and domineering, she would at least not do such dirty things.

However, he did not think that today would really refresh his worldview.

Elena thought about this point and felt it was right.

What Amara cared about the most was her reputation. If there were news about her outside, she naturally would not have time to care about others.
