

Chapter 278 Thomas Family

The housekeeper was in a bit of a pickle. He had already used a lot of excuses before. And if he couldn't finish the mission this time, he would really be fired.

"Miss, I know you don't like that kind of occasion, but the old chief has already given the order. If you don't go back, I will be fired. I hope you can pity me and go back to take a look." The butler begged.

Amber's face suddenly turned cold, "You know I hate people forcing me."

"I dare not." The butler bent down and showed a sincere attitude.

"I won't do it again."

Amber got someone to change the flight ticket and followed the housekeeper back to the Thomas Family.

The car stopped at the entrance of the Thomas Family Villa. When Amber got off the car, she saw a car parked in front of the door. It was not their family's car.

"Who is here?" Amber looked at the security guard standing at the entrance of the villa and asked.

"It's the car of the young master of Langford family." The security guard replied respectfully.

Hearing this, Amber sneered, "He is in such a hurry to marry me out. This father of mine is really good."

"Mom, who is Grandpa going to marry you to?" Sam stood at the side and asked doubtfully.

"Nothing. You don't need to care about it. Just rest well." After Amber finished speaking, she turned around to look at Butler Lee, "Take Sam back to his room first."

Amber did not want her son to get involved in this matter, so she simply let Butler Lee take him away.

Seeing Sam going to his room, Amber lifted her foot and went into the villa.

As soon as she stepped in to the living room, Amber saw a man in military uniform sitting on the sofa.

Taylor Thomas saw that his daughter came back so late, and his face showed a trace of displeasure. "Didn't I ask you to come back earlier? Why did you only come back now?"

"There was a traffic jam on the road." Amber did not explain much and directly sat on the sofa.

"Where are your rules? Didn't you see that there are still people in front of you?" Taylor said sternly.

Taylor originally thought that his daughter who had been training in the army for so many years, was dignified and well-behaved. But he did not expect that she would not say a word when she saw the guest.

Hearing this, Amber raised her eyebrows and her tone was cold. "I am not blind."

"You. . .!!" Taylor was very angry. "I see that you have been used to being wild outside these few years. You do not know what rules are at all."

"Why is Uncle Thomas so angry? You should be more casual in your own house. You don't have to follow the rules of the army."

William Langford, who was sitting silently on the opposite side of the sofa, saw the father and daughter confront each other and helped Amber out of the predicament.

"My daughter has been spoiled by me since she was young. Don't take offense." Seeing William speaking up for Amber, Taylor didn't want to continue being angry.

"Hehe." Amber laughed lightly with her eyes flashing with endless sarcasm, "Father, aren't you afraid that saying this will make you lose your tongue? Why don't I remember that I was spoiled by you for a moment since I was young?"

At the end of her sentence, she snorted coldly.

Spoiled since childhood?

They did not even take a serious glance at her when she was a child.

Back then, there were two children in the Thomas family. Her brother was left behind to train in the Thomas family because he was a man. But she was sent out because she was a woman.

Thomas family always supported man over woman and looked down upon woman.

A seven or eight year old little girl left the family and went to a strange place to live.

No one knew how she survived.

But now the person who ruthlessly abandoned her saying that he loved her since childhood. Why could she take it?

"How dare you! Is this how you talk to your father? Don't forget that you are a member of the Thomas family. Your life and death are closely related to the Thomas family." Taylor saw Amber's attitude was tough and decided not to give her any face.

William could not help but felt a little awkward when he saw the scene in front of him. He quietly stood up and said with a smile, "Uncle Thomas, I have something to do at home. I will go back first."

"Okay. Come over again in the future." Taylor smiled gently which was a sharp contrast to his behavior with Amber just now.

Taylor understood that William did not want to get involved in their family business, so he did not ask him to stay.

“Thank you, Uncle.” William greeted Taylor and went out of the Thomas Family Villa.

After William left, Taylor turned to look at Amber with a gloomy face. "Do you know what you were doing just now? You should never expose your family's dirty linen to the public. How dare you talk about the Thomas family in front of outsiders? Don't you have any shame at all? "

Amber closed her eyes when she heard Taylor's sarcastic remarks. All these years, her father had always been tough and strict with her. He had never doted on her like the others fathers doted their daughters.

Seeing Amber kept silent, Taylor's facial expression softened a little. But his tone was still stern. "You'd better cut off your connection with Hai City. I will never allow the Thomas family to be mixed up with a businessman."

In Taylor's mind, the businessmen were all insidious and cunning. They would use their relationship with the Thomas family to achieve their goals. Therefore, Taylor would never allow his family to interact with the businessmen.

"This is my own business. You don't have to worry about it." Amber raised her eyes and looked at her father coldly.

Regarding Ryan's matter, Amber did not want to give up. And she did not want anyone to interfere in this matter.