

Bride of the Mysterious CEO chapter 292-“I was...” Elena was about to explain when she was suddenly interrupted. “Elena.”

While William was talking to Elena, Ryan hurriedly walked over to Elena’s side. He put his hand on her shoulder and reminded, “Carry the children up first.”

Although his tone was as calm as usual, it could not hide his displeasure at this moment.

Elena felt that Ryan’s mood was not right, so she could only nod at William and bring the child upstairs first.

Ryan watched Elena going upstairs before turning to William. He looked at William coldly, “What are you doing here?”

It seemed that his villa’s security measures should be properly taken care of. Anyone could come in.

William’s expression also turned very ugly. He sneered and said, “Do you think I’m willing to see you like this?”

When William saw Ryan, he wished he could kill him with one slash.

“Then why did you come into my house in my absence? This is trespassing. Didn’t they teach you this in army?” Ryan’s voice was full of indifference.

“You...” William was furious at Ryan’s words. This man could make anyone’s chest hurt.

William glanced at the direction Elena left and turned to Ryan. His voice was cold, “What are you doing with Elena?”

“Huh. While standing in my house, you are asking me what I am doing with my wife? Young Master Langford is really audacious.” Ryan said with disdain.

Ryan found it funny. This man first came to his house without his permission and now this man was asking him why he was with his wife. Isn’t it funny?

William, however, had a strange expression on his face. “Your wife? But weren’t you engaged with the Eldest Miss of the Lewis family?”

Ryan and William had been enemies for years. As the saying goes: Keep your friends close, but enemies closer. So both of them knew each other's dirty sides very well let alone a well-known "secret."

Although Amara and Ryan's engagement might be a secret for the outside world, as a prominent figure in the capital it was a piece of cake for William to find out about this.

Ryan was already irritated by the fact that William knew Elena, and now hearing William asking about Elena again and again, Ryan's anger finally blew up. "Do I need to ask you whom I should marry? You don't need to care who I was engaged to. Elena is my wife and that's the fact."

"If Mr. Langford doesn't have anything else, he should leave. I do not welcome you!"

Ryan was clearly chasing William away but William seemed to have not hear Ryan's words. A complicated look appeared on William's face. "Out of all woman in this world, why did you want to marry Elena? Why only Elena?"

At the end of his sentence, William became excited, totally losing his composure. No wonder he couldn't find Elena after turning from army. It turned out that she had actually married Ryan.

William was a little emotional. He did not understand why all the good things could fall on Ryan's hands. He, on the other hand, always left with nothing.

If Ryan still could not understand what's going on, then his years of experience would be a waste.

The air of the living room suddenly stopped as the temperature dropped several degrees. A dangerous aura appeared on Ryan's body as he took two steps forward. His usual calm eyes were filled with killing instinct at this moment.

"William Langford, I advise you not to have any evil thoughts about my wife. We are already married. She is my wife and the mother of my children. So you better stay away from her."

The faint warning in the man's voice could not be concealed.

The matter between the two of them could not be involved with a woman. He would not allow it.

William also realized that he became too agitated and lost his composure in front of Ryan. It made him even more angrier.

"I did not expect that such a vicious man like you would be able to marry a good woman like Elena. Ryan Monor, you are not worthy of her!"

William was jealous. He was so jealous that he went crazy.

Before coming here, he knew that Ryan was married and had children. But he didn't know that the person Ryan married was Elena.

He and Elena were junior high school classmates and used to spend a lot of time together. William had a crush on Elena.

At that time, Elena's parents were still alive and she was the bright and beautiful Young Miss of the Lewis family. William on the other hand belonged to the most powerful family from the capital.

Elena was a beauty since she was young and in terms of background, she was no less than William's, so it was inevitable that William took a fancy on Elena.

After finishing junior high school, William went back to the capital to join the army and he lost contact with Elena. Last year, when he finally returned and tried to reach Elena, he couldn't find any information about her. It turned out that it was Ryan who did this!

Thinking how Ryan was able to marry the woman he liked for years, William's knuckles turned white. He wished he could kill Ryan at this moment.

"Heh." Ryan sneered. "Whether I am worthy or not, you don't need to care. Instead, you should care more about your own business." Ryan paused and looked at William with a meaningful expression. "Aren't you going to marry Amber too?"

"You know?" William asked in surprise.

"I don't only know about this. I also know that something is wrong with the Lengford family. That's why you urgently went to marry in the Thomes family to help your family get through this crisis."

Williem's pupils contracted when he heard this. He suddenly seemed to realize something and immediately grabbed Ryan's collar, "How do you know these things? Did you do it?"

About his family crisis, even the members of his own family didn't know about it yet. How could Ryan who didn't even stay in the capital know about all this?

"Williem, when can you change this impatient habit of yours?" Ryan pushed Williem away impatiently and tidied his wrinkled clothes.

Before coming here, he knew that Ryan was married and had children. But he didn't know that the person Ryan married was Elena.

He and Elena were junior high school classmates and used to spend a lot of time together. William had a crush on Elena.

At that time, Elena's parents were still alive and she was the bright and beautiful Young Miss of the Lewis family. William on the other hand belonged to the most powerful family from the capital.

Elena was a beauty since she was young and in terms of background, she was no less than William's, so it was inevitable that William took a fancy on Elena.

After finishing junior high school, William went back to the capital to join the army and he lost contact with Elena. Last year, when he finally returned and tried to reach Elena, he couldn't find any information about her. It turned out that it was Ryan who did this!

Thinking how Ryan was able to marry the woman he liked for years, William's knuckles turned white. He wished he could kill Ryan at this moment.

"Heh." Ryan sneered. "Whether I am worthy or not, you don't need to care. Instead, you should care more about your own business." Ryan paused and looked at William with a meaningful expression. "Aren't you going to marry Amber too?"

"You know?" William asked in surprise.

“I don’t only know about this. I also know that something is wrong with the Langford family. That’s why you urgently want to marry in the Thomas family to help your family get through this crisis.”

William’s pupils contracted when he heard this. He suddenly seemed to realize something and immediately grabbed Ryan’s collar, “How do you know these things? Did you do it?”

About his family crisis, even the members of his own family didn’t know about it yet. How could Ryan who didn’t even stay in the capital knew about all this?

“William, when can you change this impatient habit of yours?” Ryan pushed William away impatiently and tidied his wrinkled clothes.