

Bride of the Mysterious CEO chapter 293-Ryan didn't expect William to come to Hai City, much less coming to his home. In the eyes of the people of the capital, no one was stronger than them.

"Ryan Monor, after so many years, you still don't plan to let my family go?" William's face was full of anger.

"Oh?" Ryan sat on the sofa gracefully. He did not understand William's words. "Why do you say that?"

Ryan did not even care about the conflicts in the capital any more let alone doing anything.

Could it be that this guy blamed the crisis of Langford family on him?

William's eyes were full of coldness. "Don't play dumb with me. Since you are already with Elena, why are you still thinking about Amber Thomas? You clearly know that their family will not be with a businessman like you. Why do you still want to provoke them?"

Hearing this, Ryan's face suddenly turned cold. "William, is there something wrong with your brain?"

"No! There is nothing wrong with my brain, instead there is something wrong with your heart. You clearly have such a good and gentle woman like Elena, but you are still having relations with Amber! Stepping on two boats, aren't you too shameless?"

Before coming here, William was only angry because Amber mentioned about Ryan and he thought that Ryan and Amber were having some unknown relationship.

But after coming here and finding out that, Ryan actually married Elena, the woman he liked for years, William's anger turned into envy. He was so envious that it almost drove him crazy.

Why could Ryan get all the benefits? Since he already had Elena, why was he still poking his nose in his marriage with Amber.

"Swoosh!" Ryan suddenly stood up from the sofa. His handsome face was as cold as an iceberg. "William Langford, mind your words."

Having relations with Amber? Who? Him? He is not that crazy.

“Don’t try to deny it. I know what you have done all these years. Let me tell you, you are not allowed to ruin the marriage between me and the Thomas family. Otherwise, you will be in trouble.” William threatened.

“You...”

“Are you guys arguing?” Suddenly a voice came over stopping the argument between two men.

Elena stood at the corner of the staircase and looked at the two men in the hallway. She asked with a puzzled expression.

“Why did you come down? The children are sleeping?” Ryan, who was originally angry, suddenly eased up his expression when he saw Elena. Even his previous cold voice turned gentle.

Ryan took less than two seconds to change his whole persona. In comparison William appeared a slight awkward.

William could not believe his eyes.

“Yes, they are sleeping. What were you guys doing just now?” Elena asked as she came down the stairs.

Elena clearly felt that the way they were getting along was very strange, as if there was a grudge between them.

Ryan turned to look at William, his eyes full of warning. “It’s nothing. We were chatting. It was just that our voices were a little loud.”

William smiled and followed Ryan’s words. “Yes, it’s just that our voices are a little loud. I have come today to invite you to my wedding.”

After William finished speaking, he carefully observed Ryan’s expression. But surprisingly, William didn’t notice any change of expression in the man’s face. He was as expressionless as ever.

“Marriage? You are getting married? Congratulations.” Elena came to Ryan’s side. Hearing William’s words, she smiled and congratulated him.

“Yes, I wonder if you have time to participate?” William took out the invitation card as he spoke.

Ryan looked over. This guy really had an invitation card.

Elena took the invitation card from William’s hands. When she saw the bride’s name, she was slightly stunned. “The one who is marrying you is Amber?”

After Elena said that, she looked at Ryan with a face full of doubt.

Ryan nodded and did not say anything.

“That’s right. I heard that your husband and my fiancée know each other very well. That’s why I rushed over to deliver the invitation. But I didn’t expect you to become Mrs. Monor.”

Although William was smiling on the surface, his eyes were filled with regret. If he had not returned to the capital back then, would he already be together with Elena now?

Elena smiled. “It is fate that my husband and I are together. “

After finished speaking, Elena held Ryan’s hand, her face was full of smiles.
