

Chapter 346 Torturing Each Other

"I'm tired. You go out first." Ryan closed his eyes and leaned back on his chair. He did not want to discuss this topic anymore.

The thing had developed to this extent. There was no point of talking about the past anymore. Both of them needed some time to cool down and get their thoughts together.

Now that Elena had returned to his side, it was the best result. Although she was angry and did not want to talk to him, with her beside him, half of his problems were solved.

And he believed that as time passed, the misunderstanding between him and Elena would be resolved.

Michelle looked at the man and still wanted to say something. But in the end, he just sighed and went outside the office.

People are fools in love. A small thing can both make and ruin a relationship.

No matter how much someone loved another person, when he or she reached to the point of desperation, they would not want to continue the relationship anymore.

No doubt Elena loved Ryan. But that didn't mean that she would let go of this matter easily.

Everyone had a bottom line and Ryan's actions, intentionally or unintentionally, had touched Elena's bottom line.

And now, by locking her up without her consent would add fuel to the fire. Elena would only hate Ryan further by this.

But Ryan would not listen to anyone. In his mind, he was right. And once Ryan decided on something, he would absolutely not listen to anymore.

Michelle heavily sighed again. He just hoped that this problem would solve soon.

Elena was locked up for three days.

These days had been a great form of torture for her. Besides the pain of her body, the pain in her heart unimaginable, making her suffocate and desperate.

The ironical thing was that the person who was causing this pain was none other than the one who had promised to protect her from everything and everyone.

Her lips curled up and she revealed a slight yet heartbreaking smile. With each passing day, her already broken heart was breaking even further.

Elena glanced around the luxurious room that she was in. Every corner was filling with expensive stuffs.

However, for her, it was just a prison.

A prison in which she was locked in without her consent.

Her eyes fell on the table on which a few plates filled with exquisite dishes were placed.

During these three days, she did not eat a single bite of food. She did not even take a drop of water. The food that was sent in was all knocked to the ground by her.

Apart from her anger and resentment, the other reason for doing so was because she wanted to feel this pain. She wanted to realize how weak and incompetent she was in front of that man.

She wanted this pain to teach her a good lesson. She wanted to harden her heart.

Ryan was no better than her. He did not return to his villa in Western Europe, but stayed in his office these days.

These days had been a huge torture for him. He did not dare to go to Elena's room, as he was afraid of her eyes and words, and that he did not know how to solve this.

No matter how hard he tried to explain himself, she did not want to listen to him at all. He was really frustrated and did not know what to do.

Someone knocked on his office door. Irritated, he called that person in.

Xavier showed up in the next second. He stood in front of Ryan solemnly and reported Elena's situation.

Ryan fell silent. He asked hoarsely, "She didn't take a single bite of food?"

Xavier shook his head. His expression was serious, "No. The person who sent food said that Madam did not eat anything. She did not even drink a drop of water. If someone tried to persuade Madam to eat, she would knock the food to the ground."

He paused and looked at the man's face. Seeing Ryan silent, Xavier continued, "Mr. Monor, Madam had a surgery not long ago. She still hasn't recovered completely. If she continued to starve herself. . ."

He didn't dare to finish his remaining words, upon seeing Ryan's dark face.

Xavier could not help but feel a little anxious. These few days had been very hard for them. First, Elena had an accident, then Spencer took her away and finally, when they found her, Ryan locked her up.

Day by day, things were only worsening. There, Elena wasn't listening to anymore and here, Ryan did not want to listen to anyone. Instead of solving the problem, both were torturing each other.

And Xavier was facing the direct impact of this. Ryan had gotten exceptionally irritated. Even a small thing could trigger him these days. He had been working day and night, like a machine, without much eating and sleeping. No matter how much Xavier and Michelle tried to persuade him, Ryan did not listen to them.

Elena, on the other hand, was torturing herself. She refused to meet anymore or to take any food. If this continued, her body would not be able to take it anymore.

If something happened to Elena, what would they do?

Ryan's face was ice-cold. He stood up and said, "Come with me to take a look."

"Yes." After saying that, Xavier immediately brought Ryan to Elena's room.

The whole upper floor of KING headquarters was reserved for Ryan. No body could enter or leave without authorized permission. There were laser detectors everywhere and it was very hard to escape.

Seeing the man approaching, a few servants, standing in front of the room, bowed and said, "Sir, the lady refused to eat again."

Ryan nodded and through the glass, he saw the woman sitting motionlessly on the bed. Her face was even paler than before and she looked even thinner and weaker.

She was looking straight ahead and her eyes were blank. It was unknown what was going on in her mind.

Compared to before, she had become even more fragile.

Subconsciously, his fist clenched. He took a deep breath to calm down his conflicting emotions.

"Have you prepared the food for today?" Ryan asked slowly.

"They are all ready. The food hasn't been brought over yet." Xavier finished speaking and quickly asked someone to bring the food over.

When he saw Ryan taking over the tray, Xavier originally wanted to stop him. After all, Elena was still angry with Ryan. If he went inside, she would be even more agitated.

However, when he thought about Ryan's behaviours these few days, he stopped himself.

Ryan glanced at Xavier. Xavier immediately understood and opened the door. Ryan walked in.

"Get out! Even if you bring the food in, I won't eat it." Elena turned her head to the side when she heard the sound of door opening. She did not want to look at the faces of those people.

Ryan gave Xavier a look. Xavier immediately went outside the room and dismissed all the people who were guarding the door. He then closed the door behind.

Ryan walked to the bedside and sat down. He put down the tray on the bed.

When Elena felt the bed shrink, she looked over. Seeing the man in front of her, she could not help but be stunned.

He hadn't come for three days. Why did he suddenly come today?

Worry surged in her heart and all the things that had happened recently came into her mind one after another.

She could not help but wonder what was his intention for coming here.

Ryan did not speak. Instead, he began to prepare the plates and utensils for her silent.

Silence filled the whole room. It slowly began to suffocate her.

Finally, Elena could not take it anymore. She asked slowly, "What are you doing here?"

Ryan raised his head and glanced at her. He then lowered his head and continued what he was doing. His tone was calm, "I heard from Xavier that you haven't eaten anything for the past few days. If this continues, your body will not be able to take it."

After Ryan finished speaking, he filled a bowl of porridge and handed it to Elena. "Have a taste first."
