

Chapter 361 You Deserve Better

Elena felt as if something had burst inside her mind. Her mind went blank and she looked at Spencer without blinking.

Ryan found Spencer's Island and he had sent his men there?

Did that mean Ryan had already taken away the twins by this time?

If the twins were really with Ryan and he knew that she had run away, then in order to force her back, he would hide the twins somewhere she couldn't reach.

She knew Ryan's means. Once he was irate, there was no reasoning with him.

At that time, she would have no option but to return to his side again!

Her love for her children was much greater than her resentment towards Ryan. She absolutely couldn't live without her children.

Elena's face turned pale in an instant.

She was lost in her thoughts when she heard Spencer shouting her name.

Spencer was looking at her worriedly, "Are you okay?"

Elena didn't answer him, instead she asked, "Ryan found your island?"

Spencer nodded, "Yes, he has. But don't worry, I have already sent the twins to another place."

Hearing this, Elena collapsed on the car seat. She was scared to death just now.

Spencer saw her expression and knew her feelings. He said gently, "The day you went to Ryan's side, he sent some people to watch me all the time. I knew then that Ryan's next target was to find my island and bring the twins back. In that way, you won't have any path to retreat and stay with him forever."

Spencer paused for a moment and turned to look at Elena. Seeing her anxious expression, he continued his words, "Thus, once Ryan investigated my island, I sent Paul and the twins to another island the next day. I have left some guards and caregivers in the island, so that Ryan wouldn't doubt anything. I will send you there now."

Elena let out a sigh of relief. She was scared to death just before.

Elena looked at Spencer gratefully. For the first time, she was glad that Spencer knew Ryan very well.

They were rivals, after all. They knew each other very well.

But that didn't concern her. Her biggest problem which was to stay away from Ryan's eyes was solved by Spencer for the moment.

She did not know what happened between Spencer and Ryan and why they oppose each other, but Spencer had indeed helped her very much.

Thank you was very short for the help he had given her and the risk he had taken for her.

Elena wanted to express her gratitude. But before she could utter a word, she heard Spencer's hurried words.

"It won't take long before Ryan found out about your absence. We don't have much time left. I have to send you to the island immediately. But I can't go with you. If Ryan comes back later and finds out that you and I have disappeared together, he will definitely suspect that I have taken you away. Therefore, it's best for me to stay here and face Ryan."

Spencer had seen Ryan's means last time. The moment Ryan knew Elena went missing, he would be the first suspect of Ryan.

Therefore, Spencer had to create an illusion that he had no hand in Elena's absence this time, so that Ryan would never be able to find Elena again.

Only then did he could protect Elena from Ryan's trap.

Elena lowered her head. She said somewhat guiltily, "I understand, but I don't know if it will bring you trouble again this time."

Elena was already very embarrassed about what happened last time. She did not want Spencer to lose his face again.

Spencer smiled when he heard it. "Don't worry about that. We are friends. Since I have already said that I will help you, I will definitely take care of it till the end. The private jet is already ready. After arriving on the island, you will be safe."

Spencer did not have time to think about anything else now. He could only send Elena away first. Ryan was out of town and hadn't received the news yet. Therefore, it was best to leave at this time.

"But Ryan. . ." Elena still had the fear that Ryan might find her again.

However, Spencer cut her off. "Don't think about him. I'll stay here to misguide him. As long as I'm here, he won't be able to find you."

Elena fell silent after hearing this. In fact, she did not know what to say at this moment.

As much as she was grateful for Spencer's help, she also felt guilty for putting him in danger.

She had seen Spencer's father's attitude last time. If Ryan really caught Spencer this time and Spencer's father found out about this, it would be very disadvantageous for Spencer.

They were silent until they reached the private airport.

In order to avoid Ryan's suspicion, Spencer did use his own private jet this time. Instead, he borrowed one from one of his acquaintances.

Another reason was that, if he used his own aircraft, his father would also know.

Spencer knew his father better than anyone else. If he and Ryan fell out because of Elena, then Marcus would not hesitate to kill Elena and her children.

Therefore, after thinking from all these directions, he made this plan.

Spencer had already arranged everything beforehand, therefore, it did not take long to pass the boarding.

When Elena stood in front of the plane, Spencer did not even think and carried Elena into his arms. His voice carried a deep melancholy, "I really regret it, Elena. Only if I met you before Ryan, if you did not marry Ryan back then, I would have definitely been the first to pursue you."

Elena did not reject Spencer's hug. She lowered her eyes and was silent. She found Spencer's words somewhat funny.

If she were given a chance, she too wanted to go back to the past. She also did not want to marry Ryan.

But unfortunately, everything was just her own thought and imagination. No matter how much she tried or how much she regrated, she would not be able to change her past.

"Thank you very much but there is no way to change the relationship between Ryan and me. You are a good man. You deserve to be cherished by a better woman." Elena's voice was soft but it carried an unusual firmness.

She was not a person who liked feigned discussions. It was her fate that she met Ryan in this life. It was also her destiny for being betrayed. She was sad but that did not mean that she would accept other men.

As much as she was unwilling to accept it, the truth was that, other than Ryan, she had never imagined someone else in her life.

She also knew that after all this she would not be able to trust any other man again.

In Elena's heart, the most important thing now was to take care of her children and mother.

About other things, she did not want to care.

A bitter smile appeared on Spencer's face. He knew Elena would say so.

Spencer had witnessed the relationship between Elena and Ryan. Although the two of them had already reached this stage, their love had not diminished yet. Elena still missed Ryan in the deepest part of her heart.

Spencer held Elena in his arms for a few moments. Then as if he made up his heart, he gently let her go. He then urged her in a hurry, "Hurry up and go. Don't waste your time here. Your children and mother are waiting for you."

As Spencer finished speaking, Elena immediately turned around and got on the plane.

Under Spencer's sorrowful gaze, the plane quickly took off and gradually disappeared into the sky.
