

Chapter 56: Beheading

Henry felt that he slept very well this time, and he didn't wake up until there was a loud noise downstairs. After rubbing his eyes with his hands, he realized that it was already afternoon. He stood up, put on his clothes and shoes, opened the door and went down the stairs. Standing at the stairs, he was stunned by the sight in front of him. Drizzt, his four partners, Vaughn, Amy, and Cagan were sitting around the table in the living room, eating various dishes, blocking the door Ares, who couldn't get in, was drooling. Seeing her son get up from bed, Lily smiled and said to him: Henry, are you awake? Hurry down and have something to eat. These friends of yours have been here for a while. Henry nodded a little blankly. Then he said to Drizzt who was sipping the cake on the table: I said, why did you come to my house? The dark elf laughed after swallowing what was in his mouth. A few hours after you left, Ares' stomach started to growl. I had a brief chat with it, and it told us that there is food here, so it brought it here. In addition, your His mother is really hospitable and the food is delicious.

Henry patted his forehead, then walked into the kitchen and brought up a large pot of bacon and potatoes that was being stewed. Mother quickly stopped and said: Don't move, the things in that pot are not cooked yet. Henry waved his hand. It doesn't matter Mom, what Ares eats doesn't need to be fully cooked, even if it's raw. Didn't you see that its saliva is about to flood our house? After speaking, he gave the pot to the brown bear. Ares didn't care about the hot food when he saw a large pot of food, and panted for breath while eating to let the food in his mouth cool down quickly. After eating, Wulfgar came over and patted the brown bear's head and said to Henry, Your animal companion is such a brave warrior. I saw it knocked away a bunch of hobgoblins when it charged. Henry smiled. Said to the barbarian: Ares is only a little over a year old, and it still has a lot of growth. I look forward to the day when it grows into a giant, and then you can compare your strength with it.

Wulfgar opened his mouth and said in surprise: It's only over a year old? My God, what do you usually feed it? I can't beat such a big brown bear in terms of strength. Henry rubbed Ares's cheek ear. When I first saw this guy, it was so pitiful. It was hungry and thin, and its mother had just died and couldn't catch prey by itself. At that time, you would never have imagined that it would have such a mighty figure. At this time, Drizzt He also walked over and said to Henry with a smile: This is the guide of nature. There is an inevitable connection between you and Ares. Just like me and Guenhuffa, I knew from the day I first saw it that we are It will be a lifelong partner. Bruno drank all the ale in the cup and said loudly to the dark elf: Alright Drizzt, now is not the time for druids and rangers to discuss life and nature. We are here to prepare Fighting. After speaking, he turned his head and shouted at the halfling: And you glutton! How many times have I told you not to stretch your stomach so big, otherwise you won't be able to move in a while. The halfling Regis touched his stomach, turned his head and said to the dwarf, Hey Bruno, don't be so mean.

You must know that the food made by this gentleman's mother is so delicious. God knows what we ate all the way. .”

The brown-haired Catti-brie poked his stomach with her finger, laughing. Regis, if you don't lose weight, I'm afraid you won't be able to be a thief. You know, even half-orcs don't have a waistline as thick as yours. Vaughn grinned dissatisfiedly. Ma'am, you are attacking me personally, I protest. Catti-brie rolled her eyes and said to the orc, Don't worry, I just want Regis to keep fit. And I'm right, your waistline is indeed a bit smaller than his. Vaughn lowered his head in frustration after measuring the waistline of himself and the halfling with his eyes. You're right, he is indeed a bit thicker than me. My goodness, are halflings all this powerful now? Amy walked over and patted Vaughan on the shoulder. As long as you can eat half of your body weight in one meal like him, I believe it won't take long for your waistline to burst through your armor. Kagan patted Bruno on the shoulder and laughed loudly after hearing it from the side.

The happy time always passed quickly, and everyone returned to the city wall after eating. Henry looked at the busy army of monsters from a distance, they were cutting down trees to build ladders and catapults. He didn't plan to fly into the sky to harass him now, but the opponent had several ogre mages. If he flies up and gets hit by a dispel spell, he'll just drop to the ground and wait to be dismembered. After observing for a while, Henry took out a large number of potions from the dimension bag, including speed potions, healing potions, invisibility potions, and strength potions. He said to everyone: I still have some magic potions here, but they are the last stocks. Now everyone pick a few bottles that you use, don't skimp on night raids. It's up to us whether we can annihilate these man-eating monsters this time. After speaking, let everyone choose. Everyone took a few bottles and stuffed them into their belts.

The sun went down quickly, and when it was completely dark, Henry stood up and said to the personnel involved in the operation: Now we start to act, and I will ask Amy to bless each of us with an invisibility technique in a while. Everyone's movements are Be as gentle as possible, and no matter what you see along the way, you are not allowed to make any noise or make any attacking actions. Otherwise, we will be discovered immediately. Drizzt flicked his scimitar. Don't worry my friend, we are all veterans who have been through battles and will be cautious. Henry nodded and said, Then I will announce the start of the operation, and Bruno will start organizing as soon as he sees a string of red flames in the sky. The guards are attacking the monsters outside. The dwarf king patted his shield. No problem, leave it to me, I will let them feel the power of the dwarf's bottom cut.

When the invisibility technique was blessed on everyone, they climbed down from the city wall along the rope. They were careful not to make a sound and quickly passed through the camp full of monsters. Coming to the innermost tent, Henry found five ogre mages gathered here to discuss how to attack Belgost. Due to the blessing of the invisibility technique, Henry didn't know the current situation of the other companions, he only knew that everyone had entered the tent. According to the pre-discussed plan, he was about to launch the first round of attacks. With the sound of chanting spells, the ogre mage discovered that there were enemies here. One of them stood up and quickly released a detection stealth, and all the partners in the hall were immediately revealed. Drizzt rolled towards an ogre mage, raised his scimitar and slashed at him. Then he found that his scimitar was blocked by a stonewood spell. At this time Henry's spell was cast, and a dispel magic dispelled all the stone skin spells of the five ogre mages. The dark elf took the opportunity to cut off the enemy's head with his double knives crossed.

Wulfgar saw that his partner had succeeded in the surprise attack, raised his warhammer and threw it at the mage closest to him. The huge force of the magic warhammer pierced through the mage's armor and smashed hard on the monster's chest. The ogre mage's chest was crushed and he fell directly to the ground. Suddenly the half-orc Vaughn slashed at Henry with an axe. Henry rolled backwards and yelled at Amy: Vaughn is under control! Use magic to dispel the control on him. Female The warlock quickly prepared to cast the dispelling magic on the half-orc warrior. Vaughn, who had rushed to Henry and continued to chase him, stopped and stood still. After a few seconds, he turned his head and threw the ax at the ogre mage behind him, and the two axes were embedded in the monster's head and chest respectively. Then he turned around and shouted loudly, I'm sorry! I was controlled by a spell just now. Henry stood up and said to him, Don't worry, it's not your fault, now hurry up and get your weapon back. The two ogre mages found that the situation was not good and wanted to escape, Henry immediately activated the dimensional anchor to block the entire space.

The ogre magi found that the teleportation spell wasn't working and cast a Human Hold on Wulfgar and Drizzt before charging forward with his greatsword raised. Ogre mages are no ordinary mages. Their huge size and strength allow them to cast magic and use heavy weapons. When the giant sword swept over, the dark elf pounced on the barbarian who stood still and couldn't move. Obviously, his blood once again helped him resist the spell. Amy cast a fireball at an enemy a little further away, but the huge explosion knocked it to the ground but didn't kill it. Vaughn threw the double ax he had just drawn out again and nailed it to the ground. Now there is only one enemy left. Wulfgar yelled angrily after the hold spell was released: You damn bastard! How dare you use evil magic on me! Die! After speaking, he entered a berserk state and hit the poor man with a hammer like a storm. The ogre mage, and soon it turned into a pile of minced meat.

Bah! This is what happens when you use evil methods on barbarians. Wulfgar cursed, spitting at the minced meat. Amy looked at the barbarian with some fear, obviously frightened by his attitude towards magic. Henry said to everyone: Okay, our beheading operation is successful, now go out and send a signal to wipe out all these monsters here. Drizzt shook his dusty cloak and said: You'd better hurry up, we The sound of the battle just now has already aroused the ideas of the surrounding monsters. They are now swarming over. Amy fired a fireball at the door of the tent, and the monsters gathered at the door were blown away by the air wave. Henry took the opportunity to rush out and cast a magic trick on the sky, and a string of red flames hung in the night sky. Bruno had been holding the ax tightly and staring outside, and suddenly she noticed the flames in the distant sky. Turning around and shouting at the guards and companions: They succeeded! The leader of the enemy has been killed now! It's time for us to perform well, go ahead and kill all these bastards. He opened the gate and everyone followed him They rushed into the monster's camp together.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Broad World

Chapter 57 Annihilation

Sarevok had never felt so good before, he cut an ogre in half with his great sword. A large amount of intestines and blood spilled all over the ground, and half of the monster's body struggled on the ground in pain. He rushed up and crushed the ogre's head with one foot. Ah! Kill, kill, kill! Salovek roared forward, and he felt as if something in his body had suddenly awakened. He waved the weapon desperately but could not feel a trace of fatigue, as if infinite power gushed out of his body. The people around looked at him in awe, and the monster's minced meat was all tens of meters behind him.

Salovko! You're so excited, stop now. Otherwise, you'll exhaust yourself. Cagan yelled at him. After hearing this, Salovek stopped and panted heavily, the blood in his eyes gradually receded, he felt as if his body was not his own, and he couldn't even move a single finger.

Damn it! What's wrong with me. I'm so tired. After speaking, he sat down on the ground.

Cagan ran over and looked at his face and laughed and said, Man! You were so brave just now. Look behind you, you hacked all those monsters to death. You must have been stimulated, but next time it's best Don't be like this, I've seen many exhausted warriors eventually die from exhaustion." After speaking, the dwarf pointed to the internal organs and minced meat on the ground.

Salovek looked at the blood road behind him and smiled wryly, he knew that it was definitely not overexcitement just now. It was a voice that kept ringing in his ears and it shouted: Kill! Kill all living things in sight. Kill! Die! Then he lost control.

Henry heard the shouts of killing outside in the tent, and said with a sneer on the corner of his mouth: It seems that our reinforcements have arrived, and it's time to release the killing. I announce that the monster killing competition will start now! After speaking, he began to shout After chanting spells, Wulfgar, who had long been unable to hold back, let out an angry roar, picked up his warhammer and killed him.

The half-orc warrior followed closely and yelled at the barbarian, Hey! Friends, would you like to have a competition with me to see who can kill more! We will bet on the celebration wine after victory.

Wulfgar hammered a hobgoblin flying and shouted over his shoulder, For the wine! I accept your challenge.

Drizzt sliced through one ogre's ligaments with the scimitar of his left hand, then plunged the scimitar of his right into its brain through the lower jaw. He pulled out the two scimitars and shook the blood on them and said, Then count me in, although I'm not very interested in wine. Just when Drizzt finished speaking, Amy shouted loudly: Back! The master is about to release the death cloud spell. Henry released the death cloud spell as soon as he finished speaking.

A large cloud of poisonous fog exploded outside the tent, and countless monsters squatted down and coughed up blood violently, then fell to the ground and died. Drizzt and the others ran back holding their breath because they heard Amy's warning in advance. As soon as he entered the door, Vaughn said to Henry: Head! Do you want to kill us too? My God, this damn spell is too terrifying.

Wulfgar said dejectedly, That's why I hate mages. They're not as reliable as fighters and swords.

Drizzt took a few breaths. But you can't deny that the power of magic is indeed extremely powerful. Just look at those guys outside. After speaking, he pointed to a large pile of corpses that fell outside, and now there were no living things there.

Henry glanced at the poisonous cloud outside and said to his companions: There should be no way to pass through the main entrance now, let's go through the side entrance. He cut a big hole on the other side of the tent with a machete and drilled come out. After all the group left the tent, they saw that not far away Bruno was leading a large number of guards and was surrounded by dozens of trolls, unable to attack them.

Henry cast a fireball after seeing these remaining trolls, and a bang violent explosion and fire exploded among the trolls. It was the dwarf king who also found the group who carried out the assault, and he shouted: Damn! These guys are mine. You can't take my fun away.

With another explosion, Amy's fireball was also released, and Wulfgar, Drizzt, and Vaughn all rushed in to slash and kill the trolls, and soon the trolls were chopped into several pieces and then burned to death. Didn't you bastards hear me? Bruno yelled at the group.

Sorry, the sound was too noisy and we didn't hear it. Henry explained. His statement was agreed by everyone, and everyone nodded desperately. The dwarf king was so angry that his beard turned up and he turned to vent his anger on the remaining hobgoblins.

Henry said to Drizzt: It seems that our tactics are very successful, now it's time to pick the fruits of victory, let's go after them. After speaking, he blessed himself with flying skills and took off to face the escaped hobgoblins Start a hunt with a small number of ogres.

Wulfgar yelled into the sky, You're cheating! I hate cunning mages. Then he raised his hammer and charged at another group of hobgoblins. Drizzt silently took out the statue and called out Guan Haifa to hunt down the remnants of the enemy. After an hour of fighting, most of the monsters had died in the outskirts of Belgost, and only a few fled back to the mountains. When Henry and his party returned to the gate of the town, the residents gave a huge cheer, and a large amount of food and wine were carried out. The victory carnival began.

Bruno walked up with his glass high and said: This is my favorite part of the adventure, the triumphant return, the cheers of the people and the wine.

Regis sighed as he ate. It's a pity that these damn guys have no valuable loot except for tattered leather armor and some low-quality weapons.

Wulfgar took a sip of the mead. At least we got the honor and an epic win.

The mayor smiled and directed two people to come over carrying a box. The ten thousand gold coins are my thanks to you on behalf of Belgost. In addition, I will inform the Baldur's Gate Council about this matter, and the council's rewards will be sent over soon.

Henry smiled and said to Drizzt: This is my hometown, and I am obliged to fight this battle. You can accept these gold coins.

The dark elf shook his head. I'm a ranger, and I don't have high material requirements. I don't need these gold coins.

The dwarf king patted Drizzt on the shoulder. I am King Bruno, and there is no shortage of gold in my kingdom.

I am a warrior who seeks honor, and wealth is not what I want. Wulfgar also dismissed the gold coins.

The halfling was about to take the box but was dragged back by the dwarf. He said dejectedly, Well, I don't need them either.

Henry looked at Catti-brie, who was still fiddling with her bow and arrow, and she didn't intend to accept it. He turned his head and said to the mayor, It seems that none of our friends need the money, so you should take it back. Make amends to families who have lost loved ones.

There was a look of admiration in the mayor's eyes. You are all worthy of respect. Your noble deeds will be engraved on the square in the middle of Belgost. We will build an obelisk there and remember it forever. After speaking, he turned and took the people away.

Vaughan said to Henry while eating chicken legs: Head! I'm finally a hero now, and I have to say it feels really good.

Henry patted the orc on the shoulder. Because you have paid enough, these are the rewards you deserve. After speaking, the half-orc warrior left.

The carnival lasted all night, and the troops from Baldur's Gate arrived the next morning. As in all the films before Henry Crossing, the police are always the last to arrive. The leader of the team was Grand Duke Anta Silver Shield. He couldn't close his mouth in shock after seeing the corpses all over the ground.

Seeing Henry, he immediately walked over and asked, Did you kill these monsters?

Henry pointed to the Mithril Five behind him. Mostly, but I got great help from them. You should be familiar with Drizzt and his companions.

The Grand Duke suddenly realized. It turns out that they are also here. I don't think you can accomplish such a terrifying feat alone. Now I have to say hello to them on behalf of the council. After finishing speaking, he ran towards the dark elves.

Thank you for your contributions to Belgost. If it weren't for you, I can't imagine what kind of scene will be here. On behalf of the council, I grant you the title of honorary citizen of Baldur's Gate. You will always be the most important people in Baldur's Gate. Welcome visitors. Anta Silver Shield loudly said meaningless official words without any real rewards to Drizzt and his party. Henry thought that bureaucracy was unavoidable everywhere, and he secretly looked at the expressions of the Mithril Five and found that they were still happy to accept such nonsense. If it were me, I might have already started yawning.

Not long after the Grand Duke finished speaking, Drizzt came over and said to Henry: Goodbye comrades! We are going back to Ten Towns, and hope to have the opportunity to fight side by side in the future. You will become a great person in the future, and I can see your potential.

Henry gave the dark elf a hug. Goodbye, if you have any troubles, you can send someone to my territory to find me. It's not far from Baldur's Gate, about ten days' boat ride away.

Drizzt nodded. I will. After speaking, the five people walked out of the gate and entered the wilderness.

The Duke came to Henry's side. Count, you have made great achievements this time, and the rewards for returning to the Baldur's Gate Council will be very rich. We can also take this opportunity to hold a grand celebration. It is time for you and Shikodi to get married.

Henry touched his chin. I agree, now I'll go home and bring my mother and sister out on the road together. So many guards can just escort them all the way to Baldur's Gate. After speaking, Henry took Cagan back home, and Cagan took the whole Everything in the hammer and blacksmith shop is packed into the dimension bag. Then Henry went back to his home and took his sister and mother with him. After simply packing some cash and daily necessities, they arrived at the gate of the town. Anta Silver Shield and his army have been waiting for a long time.

After seeing Henry and his party coming, he walked over and said: Hello, Ms. Lily. Henry mentioned you to me. You must be his sister Lina. I am the elder brother of his future wife. You can call me Anta The Duke and Henry's relatives exchanged a few simple greetings and then led the troops to set off. When they left, there was one more person who was Sarevok. He has been silent since the last battle, as if a person has fallen into some kind of memory state. Henry knew that this should be the awakening of the god within him.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Broad World

The mighty army arrived at the Arm of Friendship through the coastal road, and the Duke immediately lifted the blockade here and informed everyone that the Earl of Angomey and his friends defeated the army of monsters. Salovek also took the opportunity to leave and returned to his adventure team. Henry thought maybe he would return to the Iron Throne from now on to start his own plan. The Duke of Anta Silver Shield kept building momentum for Henry along the way, and when he returned to Baldur's Gate, he had already become a well-known legendary hero.

When he came to the mouth of the Dragon Bridge, the Duke said to Henry: Okay, I'm going to the parliament to report what happened in Belgost. You should find a hotel to stay in first. I think they will send someone to bring the rewards tomorrow. As for the wedding ceremony, we will talk about it tomorrow.

After thinking for a while, Henry replied: I'd better go back to the boat first, Hawke must be worried to death now. In addition, I also need to arrange to purchase some supplies and bring them back to the island. After finishing speaking, he took his mother, sister and his own The partner turned and walked towards the dock area. The Duke yelled at him: If you need help, send someone directly to my official residence. We are already a family now. You are welcome. Henry turned around and nodded with a smile.

When he came to the dock area, Henry found his ship at a glance. After all, this is the only giant ship here that can reach 2,000 tons. Hawke saw Henry rush out from the deck and hugged him. My earl, you are finally back. I have been worried to death for two days since Ban Burke came back to report. There is no accident, right?

Henry patted the old captain on the shoulder. Of course not. We killed all those damn monsters. Now you are a well-known hero here. I hope you can use this operation to recruit some people to return to the island with us to settle down.

Hawke thought for a while and replied: No problem, leave this matter to me. You must be exhausted all the way, go and have a good rest now. Henry nodded and turned to walk to his mother.

Lily observed this huge warship in surprise, and she asked softly, Son, does this big ship belong to you?

Henry laughed when he heard it. Yes, I still have three warships of this size. Okay, mom, I'm looking for someone to arrange a cabin for you to have a good rest. You and your sister are exhausted along the way. You see, Lina is already dozing off standing up. It's gone. The mother looked at her daughter who was following behind her, and the girl's eyes could no longer be opened.

Lily took her gently in her arms. This little guy has never traveled such a long way before. Find her a place to sleep now. Henry returned to the room on the boat after he settled his mother and sister. After closing the door, he turned on the system to check the front The harvest of several nights.

Occupation: Mage Level 11 381113750000, Druid Level 12 38111'50000

Level 1 spell slots, 4+4+1

Level 2 spell slots, 4+4+1

3rd-level spell slots, 4+1

4th-level spell slots, 3+1

5th-level spell slots, 3

Amy Restan, Occupation: Warlock Level 11 402600750000

1st-Level Spell Uses 6: Mage Armor, Protection from Evil, Intimidate, Magic Missile, Grease

2nd-level spells 6 uses: Invisibility, Voice, Shadrak's Killing Arrow, Mayouf's Acid Arrow, Detect Invisibility

3rd-level spell uses 6: hold person, dispel magic, fireball, invisibility ward

4th-level spell uses 6: stonewall, dimension door, greater invisibility

5th-level spell uses 4: control, confusion

Henry looked at his upgraded information. He has become an eleventh-level mage, and he should start preparing to build the mage tower. Considering that the funds at hand are relatively tight, he decided to wait for the basic construction of the territory to be completed before going to Gaolibao to find his teacher Tyrantier to buy the basic materials for the mage tower. Not long after, he lay down on the bed and fell asleep.

The next morning, Skaar came to Henry's boat in the dock area with the council's decision. After Hawke saw the logo on his chest, he hurried over to greet him. Scar said to the old captain, Hi, I am the representative of the council to convey the reward to Earl Angomey. Please convey it for me.

The old captain was smoking his pipe. Your Excellency the Earl has just gone through a big battle, and he still hasn't woken up after driving for a few days. I'm going to wake him up now.

Scarlet had a look of respect on his face. Of course, he is a legendary hero. Even if all of our Flame Fist mercenaries are dispatched, we may not be able to do better than him. After this battle, I believe that these monsters have been seriously injured, and they will not give up for a long time. We're in trouble.

Hawk smiled and bowed. Thank you for your praise. This makes me, the earl's subordinate, very honored. Then I will go to inform the earl first, please wait a moment. After speaking, the old captain walked into the cabin and came to Henry's room.

My count, are you up? The messenger sent by the parliament has arrived. Hawke stood at the door and shouted loudly.

Henry opened his eyes and rubbed his forehead vigorously. Understood, I need some time to get dressed and wash my face after a while. He got up and got dressed, made some water for himself, simply washed his face and rinsed his mouth.

After opening the door, he found that the old captain was standing at the door smoking a cigarette, he smiled. My admiral, the people in the council are really early enough. Who is here?

Hawke led the way and replied: Ska, if I remember correctly, he is a high-level flame fist. Henry nodded and he remembered that this person was calculated and killed by Sarevok in the game tragic figure.

When he came to the deck, he walked up to Scar. I am the Earl of Angomey, you can announce the decision of the parliament now.

Ska bowed deeply and said, It's a great honor to meet you, Earl. Please allow me to express my gratitude to you on behalf of Flame Fist. You have solved a huge problem for us. Now I will start to read the rewards of the council, please be careful. Listen well. The council decided to reward the Earl of Angomey for his war in Belgoost based on the information provided by the Grand Duke of Antar Silver Shield. The rewards are as follows: 1. A luxurious villa in the north of Baldur's Gate City. Two, to provide the Earl of Angome with 5,000 people as residents of his territory. Third, to grant the Earl of Angome the right to confer nobility below the viscount. The above is the commendation given to you by the parliament, do you have any questions?

Henry smiled and waved his hands. No, thank you very much for the council's reward. Especially the 5,000 population really solved my urgent need, but the number of ships I brought this time is limited, and I'm afraid I won't be able to take so many people away at once.

A small smile appeared on Scar's serious face. This council has already considered it. At that time, I will lead the fleet to follow you back to the island and establish a route for future trade.

Henry thought for a while and felt that letting businessmen come to the island earlier would help the development of the territory and the prosperity of business, so he agreed.

Scar took out a piece of parchment from his body and handed it to Henry, saying, This is your deed. The villa is next to the Temple of Heim. Do you need me to send someone to take you to receive it?

Henry took the deed and looked at it. No need, since there is such an obvious reference, it should be easy to find. This is my little thank you, please accept it. After speaking, he took out a small bag of gold coins and handed it to Ska.

Ska obviously hesitated for a while and finally took it. He said to Henry: Thank you. The money should not have been collected, but considering that you are a great nobleman, it is very rude to refuse you. Accepted. Then please allow me to say goodbye first, if you want to return to the territory, please notify me at the Yanquan headquarters three days in advance, so that we can prepare ships and people in advance. After speaking, he led the team and left.

Henry waved the deed to his sister, who was playing on the deck. Dear Lina, we have a villa now, do we want to go and see it together?

The little girl jumped up happily and shouted, Of course! Shall we go now?

Henry walked over and touched her head. Of course not. You have to wake up Mom, Sister Amy, Grandpa Cagan, and Uncle Vaughan. We will take Ares and Bamber with us then.

Lina nodded, jumped into the cabin and shouted loudly: Mom is up! My brother got a villa.

Hawk smiled and said to Henry: This little cutie is really energetic. She reminds me of my own daughter. After the territory settles down, I'll go to Waterdeep City and let their mother and daughter pick them up.

I hope she won't be too naughty in the future. I'll be with you when I go to Waterdeep City. Just go to see the largest city in the Northland, and see if there is any trade that can be done. Henry looked at his sister's figure and said to the old man. said the captain.

It didn't take long for the little girl to pull the sleepy-eyed Amy and her mother out, followed by the half-orc warrior naked. Lily said after seeing Henry: Your sister told me you got a villa?

Henry handed his mother a towel and motioned her to wipe her face. Yes, Mom, the council rewarded me for defeating the monster army in Belgost. Look, this is the house deed, it's next to the Temple of Heim. Then he turned his head and said to Amy and Vaughn behind him: You also Hurry up and pack up, we will all move to the villa today.

The orc warrior opened his mouth wide open. Boss, I actually think it's nice to be on a boat. I don't feel comfortable living in a place that's too luxurious.

Henry patted him on the shoulder. You have to get used to it for a while. You are my guard and you will follow me in and out of the noble's mansion and the lord's castle. You can't always stay on the boat.

Well, you are the leader and you have the final say. I'll go to the ship and put on the helmet. I don't want people to look at me strangely along the way. Vaughn touched his face and said.

Don't worry, you're a hero here now. I've reported your name to the council, and they'll announce it soon. By then, you'll be free from being bothered by your race like Drizzt. Henry said to the orc. -----

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Chapter 59 Wedding Celebration

At around ten o'clock in the morning, Henry brought everyone to the gate of the villa, and the Flame Fist mercenaries who were waiting here saw the deed and completed the handover with him and left. Hawke briefly looked around and said to him, Count, at least six servants, twelve maids, a butler and two cooks are needed here. In addition, such a large garden also needs a gardener to take care of it.

Henry thought for a moment. Then do as you said and try to find some reliable people. I don't want my villa to be inserted into other people's eyes and ears.

Hawk nodded slightly. I will pay attention to this point. In addition, I have already bought some common eagles and kestrels for the raptors you want. They have been put into cages and placed in the cabin. Since there are no servants for the time being, everyone has to do it in the kitchen by themselves. Had some simple food for lunch.

In the afternoon, Duke Anta Silver Shield came to the villa, stepped forward and hugged Henry and his mother. Good afternoon, Ms. Lily, and you, my dear Earl. Why didn't you see any servants here? Didn't the Council prepare for you?

Henry nodded helplessly. You really hit the Duke, but I have already asked Hawke to hire someone. Fortunately, I don't need to live here for too long. This villa will be my temporary foothold in the city in the future. He said Bring the Duke into the living room. After everyone was seated, Amy served everyone a cup of tea. Henry frowned, because the so-called tea in Faerun was actually a kind of mint leaves. After they've been brewed they also add some mess that makes the whole drink have a pungent taste. He vowed that when he returned to his territory, he would cultivate tea trees on the earth, and then sell them all over the world to get rid of this disgusting thing.

The Duke closed his eyes and took a sip and exclaimed, It's really delicious. It's a supreme pleasure to have a refreshing and pungent taste passing through your throat. Henry suppressed his lunch as much as possible, and said out of conscience : Thank you for your compliment, I also like this drink very much.

Anta Yindun took another sip and put down his teacup. Count, I think we can discuss the celebration of the wedding. I know you are in a hurry to return to the territory, so how about we speed up the progress and hold it in three days?

Henry thought for a while and asked, Is there only a few days of preparation time?

The Duke smiled. With the strength of the Silver Shield family, these are not a problem at all. I have already submitted an application to the parliament and got the approval. The celebration will be held at the Duke's mansion. As for the food and the venue, these should be taken care of by the woman's family and you don't need to worry about it. And now you are at the time when the voice is the highest, holding the wedding during this period is good for the reputation of our two families.

Henry lowered his head and thought that because there are many gods in the whole continent, no priests will be invited to witness the wedding, because the husband and wife often believe in different gods. The whole wedding process is probably to invite some relatives and friends to have a big meal, and then everyone will be a witness together to be married. It shouldn't be a big problem to prepare a large banquet and reception in three days.

He raised his head to the Duke and said, No problem, let's proceed in three days.

Anta Yindun stroked his beard. It's been so long. By the way, my dear Earl, you still have to order a gorgeous dress for yourself. You must know that you are a high-ranking nobleman. It is not very good to wear a mage's robe at the wedding.

At this time, Lily stood up and said to the Duke, Don't worry, I will personally order a beautiful dress for him to ensure that he will not be rude.

The Duke bowed slightly to Henry's mother: Then please ma'am, dress up your son beautifully. I will take my leave today, and we will see you at the wedding ceremony in three days. After speaking, he stood up and took The entourage left the villa.

After seeing the guests leave, the mother stood up and walked to Henry. I didn't expect you to get married so soon. Mom is so happy for you. Now stand up and let me measure your figure, so that the dress will look good. Henry sighed, but he didn't mind at all. Don't want to wear those ridiculous gowns.

Then he stood up and said to his mother, Mom, I'm actually fine wearing a mage's robe. You see, my mage's robe has several powerful spells attached to it, and it's much more expensive than a dress.

Lily used a rope to roughly measure his height and arm length. Henry, you are going to get married instead of fighting. No expensive magic item is more flattering than a beautiful dress.

At this time, the younger sister also ran over and started to make trouble. She said loudly to her mother: Mom, I also want a beautiful dress.

Mother smiled and patted her head. Of course dear, when the time comes, mom will definitely dress you up like a princess to attend your brother's wedding. Henry closed his eyes, he had already given up struggling and thought about it, anyway, it would be like this once in a lifetime.

In the evening, Hawke came back and told Henry that the servant had been hired and would arrive at the villa tomorrow for work. Three days passed in the blink of an eye, and now Henry is changing into the uncomfortable dress under the supervision of his mother. The whole set of clothes is somewhat similar to the European style of the fifteenth century on earth. A wide-sleeved tights with buttons, a half-length folded top and coat, and silk stockings are inserted into a pair of leather shoes. This attire made him extremely uncomfortable, and the most terrifying thing was that the housekeeper in charge of etiquette even asked him to twist his buttocks when he walked, saying that it would make him more attractive.

If it wasn't for his mother still watching him, he would send this guy to death with a fireball. After he was dressed, he got on a specially customized float and rushed along the street to the Duke's Mansion, attracting countless passers-by along the way. Ten minutes later, the carriage arrived at its destination, and the butler sitting in front stepped down and opened the door for Henry. Your Excellency Earl, your wedding scene has arrived, please get out of the car.

Henry took a deep breath and stepped out of the carriage with the mentality of going to the execution ground. See that our handsome groom has arrived, let's applaud now. Anta Yindun said to the guests who came to watch the ceremony.

Henry walked up to the Duke. Thanks, you know I'm suffocating right now. This dress makes me very uncomfortable.

The Duke laughed out loud, and he patted Henry on the shoulder. Don't worry, I was more nervous than you when I married Brila. In fact, it doesn't matter. The whole process is to take the opportunity to meet people from other families, accept their blessings and treat everyone to a big meal. You have to relax, Many people came here to see the heroes of Belgost, so don't let them down.

Henry nodded and sorted out his clothes, then followed Anta Silver Shield into the Duke's Mansion. As soon as he entered the door, he heard huge cheers from the hall, and then a large number of flower petals were scattered from the second floor by the girls. Mrs. Brila came over with Shikodi in full dress,

She said to Henry: Your Excellency the handsome Earl, I will now hand over Shikodi to you and hope that you will have a happy life in the future. After she finished speaking, she handed over the girl's hand,

Henry took Shikodi's hand and replied: Please rest assured, Your Excellency the Duke, I will not disappoint his trust. After speaking, he took Shikodi's hand and walked towards the center of the hall.

Henry came to the middle of the hall, took the girl's hand and bowed deeply to everyone, and then he said to everyone: First of all, I would like to thank you for coming to witness my wedding, secondly, thank you Lord Duke for your trust in me, and finally thank you My mother raised me. Now I declare the wedding ceremony to begin! Please enjoy all kinds of food and wine." After a burst of warm applause, everyone began to disperse and gather in twos and threes to start socializing and socializing .

Anta Yindun came over and said to the newlyweds: Bless you, Shikodi, my dear sister, I hope you will become the Earl's good helper and build a foundation for his family.

Shikodi returned the gift. Thank you for your blessing brother. I will be a qualified wife.

The Duke turned his head and said to Henry: Okay Earl, now give your wife to Brila first, and I will take you to meet some new friends.

Henry kissed his new wife lightly and said to her, Wait for me here for a while, and I'll be back soon.

Shikodi nodded to her husband. Go ahead, Brila is with me here. After speaking, the Duke took Henry to the second floor of the hall.

Here Henry found that each duke had formed a small circle, and each of them had the support of a large chamber of commerce behind them. Merchants formed alliances with dukes to defend their own interests and expand their business and sphere of influence, while dukes used the funds provided by merchants to form armies to expand their political influence. After Anta Yindun led him around for a long introduction, Henry also understood who would be his ally and who would be his competitor in the future. The celebration lasted for a whole day, and the guests did not leave until midnight.

When leaving, the Duke whispered to Henry: Count, I wish you a happy wedding night.

Brila patted her husband with a smile, and Skodi blushed. After returning to the villa, the butler sent everyone back to the room. He said to Henry and his wife: My lord, I have already arranged everyone. Please rest assured that no one will disturb you tonight. After finishing speaking He quit.

Shi Kodi sat on the bed and rubbed the corner of her clothes nervously. Henry walked over and gently lifted her chin and kissed her. The girl responded fiercely. Then Henry took off his clothes and kissed his wife's lips all the way down, and soon the couple rolled on the bed. After a while, the girl let out a scream, which slowly turned into bursts of screams. The butler nodded in satisfaction when he heard it outside the door, turned and left. It wasn't until early morning that Henry fell asleep with the tired Shikodi in his arms. At noon the next day, he slowly opened his eyes, and the sunlight had already filled the entire room.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Chapter 60 Set Sail Back to the Island

Henry got up from the bed and began to get dressed. Shi Kodi opened her eyes and found that her husband was already dressed and standing in front of the window. She tried hard to sit up but the pain in her lower body made her fall on the bed.

Henry turned around and smiled and said to his wife, Okay dear, according to my estimation, you won't be able to get out of bed today. Now take a good rest, we will leave for the territory in two days.

Shikodi stroked her hair back and blushed slightly. Don't worry, I can go back by boat with you at any time. And there is a merchant ship called the Countess at the port, which holds all my dowry.

Henry walked over and kissed Shikodi. I will take your countess with me when I set sail, now you can sleep well for a while, how long did you sleep last night. After finishing speaking, he walked out of the room and closed the door.

Shi Kodi watched her husband leave and lay on the bed thinking that the current situation is much better than she expected, at least she did not marry an old and ugly businessman like her sister. I heard that she is not doing well now, and because her husband has been unable to satisfy her needs for a long time, she has become dissolute. Thinking of this, Shi Kodi thought of the madness with her husband last night, her face began to flush slightly, and it didn't take long for her to fall asleep with a smile. For a young girl, last night's exercise seemed a little intense.

Henry walked down the stairs to find his mother and the others sitting at the table smiling at him. Lily looked at her son and said, Henry wishes you a happy wedding, Shikodi will definitely become a good wife.

Henry walked to the table and pulled out a chair to sit down. Thank you mom, I've decided to return to the territory in a few days. If you have anything else you need, buy some as soon as possible in the next few days, otherwise it will take about half a month to go back and forth after you leave.

Mother nodded. I'll make a list for the butler to buy in the afternoon. Your Excellency, your lunch and soup. The butler came over with a tray and put the food on it in front of Henry.

Henry said to Hawke who was smoking while eating: How is our plan to recruit people going?

The old captain exhaled a puff of smoke. It went well. I hired a few bards to adapt your deeds into stories and sang them around the taverns in the city. After that, I advertised that your territory is fertile and pleasant, and most importantly, there are no monsters that eat people. Now we More than 3,000 people have been recruited, and with the rewards given to you by the council, we already have close to 10,000 people who can be filled into the newly built city.

That would be the best. In fact, both our Emerald Isle and Hart Island can support more than one million people. For a long time, we need to keep introducing people. In addition, Shi Kodi said that she was at the port There is a Duchess full of her dowry, and I hope you can go and receive it together. Henry took a sip of the soup while talking, and suddenly he fished out the genitals of some kind of male animal from the soup.

Housekeeper! What's the matter with this soup? Why is there such a thing in it? Henry asked the butler.

The butler came over and bowed before answering: Count, this is a soup specially given to newly married men by all noble families. It is said that it can increase the fertility of men and give birth to qualified heirs for the family as soon as possible.

Henry patted his head and suddenly felt nauseous. He said to the housekeeper, Don't give me this kind of thing anymore. If you have special food in the future, you'd better show me the raw materials before making it.

The butler nodded and answered meticulously: Follow the earl. After lunch, Henry began to deal with various things. Including buying some cloth, carpets, clothing and daily necessities, and then sending someone to Yanquan headquarters to inform Shika of the departure date. A few days passed quickly in a busy way.

On the morning of the third day, Henry boarded his giant ship with his newlywed wife, relatives and friends, accompanied by Shika, the chief of Flame Fist. The Duke of Anta Silver Shield and Jasuo, the leader of the Seven Suns Alliance, came to the port to see him off.

The Duke stood on the shore and said to Henry: Your Excellency, I wish you a smooth journey, and remember about the spices. I will go to your territory to see in person next year.

Henry waved his hand. I'm looking forward to your arrival. Don't worry, I will definitely prepare enough spices for you to ship.

After the Duke left, Jasuo stepped onto the deck and said to Henry: Your Excellency, next month my fleet will go to your territory to fetch salt. I hope there will be enough supplies by then.

Henry smiled. Don't worry my friend, the output will surprise you when the time comes.

After bidding farewell to all those who saw him off, he said to Hawke, Admiral! We should go home.

The old captain laughed and shouted: Everyone, get ready! Leave the port and set sail. Following an order, the sailors began to get busy, and soon the ship left the port and sailed slowly to the sea. Henry's two ships were followed by these dozens of merchant ships, all of which carried many people to settle on the island.

After entering the deep sea, Henry said to Ska: We will have to sail for about ten days to reach the territory. If you have nothing to do, you can walk around on the deck and fish. If you are tired, go to the cabin to sleep for a while. You must know that sailing at sea is a difficult task. Very boring thing.

Ska looked at the sea. Thank you for your reminder, I will adjust myself, please don't worry. After speaking, he walked to the stern and began to ask the sailors about some things about sailing at sea. Seeing nothing to do, Henry took his wife to the bow of the boat to watch the seabirds flying around and the occasional dolphins jumping out of the water. Shikodi, who went out to sea for the first time, was very excited, running around with Lina like a little girl, curious about everything. Since there were still many merchant ships behind him, Hawke took the method of sailing during the day and stopping at night to rest, and it took half a month to reach the Angome Islands.

Seeing two huge islands for the first time, Shikodi's eyes widened in surprise. She shouted to her husband: My God! You never told me that your island is so big and there are two. It's literally a continent."

It's not bad, this is our home from now on. After speaking, Henry smiled and thought to himself that Taiwan Island was only 36,000 square kilometers when he was on Earth. There is no problem in establishing a kingdom after the camp is completed. After landing on the shore, the younger sister rushed out quickly and yelled, and the mother quickly chased after her and pulled her back. After Henry got on the pier, he saw that the entire port city had already taken shape.

Robert came over and said to him: Master, our sewer system has been completely completed. Now we can start building houses and city walls on a large scale.

Kegan also came over. I went directly to the blast furnace. If you have anything to do, go find me there.

Henry nodded to Cagan. Go ahead and forge steel blocks into weapons, armor and agricultural tools. First, forge at a ratio of two to two to six.

Understood! Just give it to me at ease. After speaking, he walked towards the blast furnace.

Henry turned around and said to Robert: Now hand over your work to Hawke. I want you to start building an underground intelligence agency in the territory, which will be responsible for monitoring the entire territory for me. If other forces are found to start infiltrating, I will uproot it, and if the other party is powerful, come to me directly.

The young thief's eyes lit up when he heard that. Don't worry, master, I will do a good job. Henry handed him a large bag of gold coins and patted him on the shoulder. Robert took the money and turned to leave, preparing to form his underground guild.

After visiting the scenery on the island, Ska came over to Henry and said, Your Excellency, your territory is really big enough. When will the residents on board be able to go ashore.

Henry looked at the slaves who were building houses. You can land now, but now they can only be ordinary workers and settle down after the city construction is completed. Of course, I will pay them salaries according to the price of Baldur's Gate.

Scar thought about it. No problem, I will be responsible for appeasing these people. After sending these people ashore, I will leave directly. The council is still waiting for me to go back and report on the route.

Henry nodded. Now that the facilities on the island are not complete, I won't keep you here. I hope you can come and play for a few days after the construction is completed.

Shika nodded, then turned around and shouted to the merchant ships parked at the berth: Everyone line up and get off the ship now. More than 10,000 people with their families walked onto Hart Island, with a little bewildered expression on their faces. little hope. These people were then assigned to various construction sites on a family basis and began to build their own cities. Henry arranged his wife, mother, and younger sister to live in the largest house for the time being, and then began to let Hawke send people to organize a group of slaves to leave the port and go to the countryside to open up villages for agricultural production. Henry personally brought 4,000 newly arrived residents to Emerald Isle to build several settlements, and cleared a large forest by the lake to start planting pepper, nutmeg and ginger. Then he began to use the druid's ability to give birth to these plants and let them begin to enter fruit production.

In the following days, he selected more than a dozen children from underage slaves as druid apprentices, and opened up a small village in the valley of the Emerald Isle for them to live and study. A month later, Jasuo's ship arrived at the unbuilt city as scheduled, and Henry asked Amy to bring 50 tons of freshly produced salt to the warehouse with a dimensional bag.

The captain who led the team ordered the sailors to pack all the salt into wooden barrels and bring them back to the ship. He took out several golden tickets and handed them to Henry. Your Excellency, these are the gold coins settled last month. Please accept them. We sold half of the 30 tons of refined salt. The total is 500,000 gold coins. According to the contract, the 200,000 gold coins are your reward.

Henry took the golden ticket and said to him, Thank you, say hello to Mr. Jasuo for me when you go back, and ask the artisan when he will arrive.

The captain stroked his beard. I must bring the news. If there is nothing else, I will lead the fleet back to Baldur's Gate. Henry nodded. Then I wish you the best of luck, goodbye.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection