

Broad World

Chapter 61 Comprehensive Construction

After sending away Jasuo's fleet, Henry began to teach these selected young druids the knowledge and the teachings of his own sect, and then he began to let them often perform natural summoning ceremonies in the valley. In just half a month, two apprentices who could use the zero-level spell: Cure Slight Injury appeared, which made Henry very happy. Soon another half month passed, and Amy used the message technique to report that Cagan had sent a batch of weapons and armor for him to go back and deal with.

Flying across the strait from Emerald Island to Hart Island, Henry found the dwarf who was waiting for him. After landing from the sky, he said to Cagan, My friend, I heard that you have brought a batch of weapons and armor?

The dwarf puffed out his chest proudly. That's right! It's definitely top-notch steel and first-class craftsmen. I have built about a hundred sets of tall armor for barbarians, and about 500 sets of ordinary armor. Weapons mainly include three hundred long swords, one hundred crossbows, Four hundred daggers, and a thousand spear points. Finally, four hundred steel-clad wooden shields and double helmets.

Henry took out a long sword and swung it vigorously a few times. He felt that the weight was moderate, the material was hard, and it was quite sharp. He looked at the armor again and found that the outermost armor for barbarians was made of steel plates, the middle was sandwiched with chain armor, and the innermost layer was a thick layer of leather armor. The three-layer sandwich is both strong and resistant to considerable impact.

It's a perfect design, these armors are so well made Kegan. He admired.

After hearing this, the dwarf's beard rose up. Of course, these armors cannot be worn by ordinary soldiers. But it is suitable for these tall and strong northern barbarians.

Henry nodded and said to Amy who was standing aside: Go and ask Asembu and his soldiers to stop patrolling and come over to collect the armor, and let Captain Hawke choose some strong men from the residents as soldiers. Amy After receiving the master's order, he turned and left to find the barbarian leader and the old captain.

The dwarf scratched his head and continued to say to Henry: The output of steel blocks is very large now, but we don't have enough manpower to make them into finished products. Are you going to sell some?

Henry shook his head. Build a warehouse to store unused steel blocks. We don't sell materials but finished products. Are there enough ordinary workers there?

Cagan smiled and said: Of course it is enough. I have built a lot of transfer rooms near the mine for miners and blacksmiths to rest. If you have nothing to do, I will go back first. There is still a furnace of steel smelting there.

Then go ahead, I'll wait for Amy to come back here. Henry finished speaking and watched Cagan leave with the others.

It didn't take long for Amy to come back with more than seventy barbarians. She said to Henry: Master, I brought Asembu and his people. Admiral Hawke said that he needs a day to select personnel.

Henry smiled at Amy. Good job. Now go and do your work. I'll call you if I have something to do.

The leader of the barbarians saluted with his right hand on his left chest and asked, My lord, why did you ask us to come?

Henry pointed to the armor on the car. Those armors are specially prepared for you, and you will wear them on patrol in the future. Asenbu and his men cheered, and they rushed over to put them on. Soon a group of more than seventy barbarian hoplites appeared in front of Henry. Henry smiled looking at this mighty and majestic army. Although their discipline is not very good, they are absolutely qualified as fighters.

He said to the barbarian leader: With these armor islands, most of the people and beasts will not threaten your safety. Now send the rest of the car to the warehouse.

Okay, I'll send them there right away. As he spoke, Abson began to direct his companions to start pushing the cart. Henry went to Robert to inquire about the development of the underground guild, and then prepared to go home and take a rest. When he came to the door of the house, he saw his younger sister sitting in the yard reading a book, his mother was busy preparing lunch, and Shi Kodi was sitting by the window calculating the expenditure of various projects. He walked to the side of his sister and found that what the little girl was reading was a book of Mathematics written by scribing based on his memory before time travel.

Lina stood up when her brother came back and said, Brother, this book is so difficult to understand. I have been reading it for several days and can only understand the first few pages.

Henry touched her little head. My sister, you are already very smart. You can't just read this book by yourself. You'd better start reading from the bottom shelf in front of the bookshelf. The girl nodded half-understanding.

After bluffing with his mother, he came into the house and saw Shikodi sitting in front of the window looking at a lot of expense reports. Since she came to the island, she has assumed the duty of a wife and started to help Henry with various accounts. service.

Henry walked over slowly and put his hands on her shoulders and pressed them a few times, and then his hands began to caress down dishonestly.

Shi Kodi said without looking back: If you don't want my whole morning efforts to be wasted, you'd better stop.

Henry stopped the next action in embarrassment and said to his wife: Why are you still calculating these messy expenses?

Shi Kodi pressed her head. A nobleman must be well aware of all the income and expenditure of his territory, otherwise there will be a big deficit or even bankruptcy. Although we are rich now, we can't spend it randomly.

Henry smiled and massaged his wife's head for a while. From then on, all the expenses of the territory will be taken care of by you, and I will concentrate on educating my apprentices. After the construction of the territory is completed in a few months, I will go to Gaolibao to find my teacher and start building my own. Mage Tower.

Shikodi lay on the back of the chair. The Mage Tower is a huge expense, but it brings a lot of benefits. I heard that you have already started training Druid apprentices?

Henry nodded. Yes, two of the eighteen students can cast zero-level magic. They all have potential, and it's only a matter of time before they become druids.

Shi Kodi stood up abruptly and said to Henry: Really! That's great! We can train our own mages after the mage tower is built, and the foundation of the leadership will be stabilized by then.

Henry kissed his wife. I'll go to the study for a while, don't be too busy and be careful to tire yourself out.

Shikodi hugged her husband. Go and do your work, just leave it to me. After walking out of the room, he quickly came to his study. There are densely packed books on a large number of bookshelves inside. These are all copied by him every day with scribing skills, some of which he has seen in Tyrantyr's library, and some of them have been seen by Master Habasser. The most important thing is some knowledge on the earth, including physics, chemistry, geometry, biology, mechanical manufacturing, aircraft, steam engine, internal combustion engine, etc., which he has learned or read on the Internet.

He took out a piece of parchment and used a copying technique on the ink and quill pen, and the quill pen stuck to the ink and rustled and began to write. As long as he is free every day, he will organize the knowledge in his mind into a book and write it into a book. After several months of hard work, the bookshelves here are now full of books in different categories, and in terms of number, they have surpassed the two great masters. After his mage tower is completed, all the books here will be transferred there. He is now an eleventh-level mage, and a copying technique can make the quill automatically write for nearly two hours. Soon a book made of golems was finished, and Henry threaded the paper and bound it into a volume and put it on the bookshelf behind.

In one afternoon, he added ten more books to his study, when Lily's voice sounded outside the door. She knocked on the door and shouted, Henry, you've been in the study all afternoon. Now it's time to come out and finish your meal.

After Henry opened the door, he said to his mother: Okay mom, I'm going to eat now. After seeing Henry coming out, she took her son into the hall, and Henry found that the high-level executives of the territory had arrived tonight.

He walked to the main seat, sat down and asked, Why are you so organized today? Did you discuss it in advance?

Hawke smiled. That's not the case, my count. We all have our own affairs and need to ask you for instructions. I want to ask how many soldiers you need in total?

Henry thought about it. Currently four hundred people are needed. The barbarians are good fighters, but their methods of maintaining law and order are too rough. I heard that more than 30 people were injured by them last month.

Asenbu touched his bald head and argued, My lord, it's because they are too weak. We didn't use any weapons at all, just punched a few times.

Robert glanced at him. Ordinary civilians can't stand your sandbag-sized fist. I remember you beat a wolf to death with your fist outside the city, right?

The orc warrior nodded. Yes, I saw it with my own eyes. He beat the poor wolf's mouth full of blood with two blows. It was cruel.

Asembu turned his head and yelled at Vaughan: If I remember correctly, you ate the most meat at that time! You still have the face to say it.

Henry pressed his forehead hard. Okay, stop arguing. Hawke, you will be responsible for selecting 400 people tomorrow. Asembu, you will be responsible for training their fighting skills. I hope to see these people start their duties in the city in a month.

Understood, Hawke and the barbarian leader replied at the same time.

Henry glanced at Asimbu. Do you really understand? I don't want to hear about someone being crippled or dead from overtraining in a few days. Got it?

Don't worry, I will treat them very gently. The barbarian leader wiped his sweat with his hands, that's what he thought just now.

Henry turned his head and said to the old captain: How are the houses in Hawke's city and the villages outside our city?

Hawke thought for a while. The construction of the city on Hart Island is basically completed, only the city wall is missing. Dozens of villages have been built, and large tracts of farmland have been reclaimed and planted with potatoes. Most slaves have been pardoned and become citizens. The proportion of about 100 people has been distributed. I have also checked Emerald Island. People in several settlements have also built houses and reclaimed large fields. The spices you planted and spawned have also begun to bloom in large areas. It worked out.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Chapter 62: The Arcane Brotherhood

After listening to Hawke's report, Henry signaled the butler to start serving the dishes, and everyone started to eat dinner. Half an hour later, the dinner was over, and he said to the old captain: Build and distribute the houses in the urban area as soon as possible, so that the city can start to operate on its own. The city wall can be slowly built after the city is completed. There was a time when a lighthouse was built in the port to guide passing ships.

Hawke replied while smoking his pipe: Okay Earl, I will send someone to build a lighthouse on the mountain. Also, we need some livestock now. We need to buy some cattle, horses, sheep, chickens and ducks.

Henry nodded when he heard it. If you don't remind me, I will forget. How about this, you can calculate the type and quantity you need to buy in a while, and tell Shikodi the required expenses, and she will allocate funds for you. When the time comes, you will personally lead all the ships to buy enough at once. Livestock can be used as a loan to be distributed to the people in the first place, so that they can pay off next year. Cats and dogs also need some, although there are no monsters on the island, but there are still a lot of wild animals and mice.

The old captain put away his pipe and stood up. Then I'll take my leave first, and I'll have someone deliver the bills I'll pay later.

After watching Hawke leave, Shikodi said to her husband: Are you sure you want to buy so many livestock and poultry at one time? This is not a small expense.

Henry smiled and explained to his wife: These are all one-time expenses, and they will multiply on the island in the future. And you have complained about too many mice and no carriages when you go out.

Shikodi smiled mischievously. Alright then! I'll go and calculate the accounts. I'm afraid there will be a lot of ships this time. It's best to bring some cargo so that the ships don't run empty as much as possible.

Henry scratched her nose. I'll ask Kagan to make more armor and weapons. There are still about a thousand sets of armor in the warehouse that can be shipped and sold. After speaking, he stood up and prepared to leave.

Robert suddenly stood up and walked to his side and whispered: Master, I found that some strangers got into the sewer this afternoon. Do you need to go in and kill them tonight?

Henry froze for a moment, then turned his head and asked softly, Strangers? Did they come by boat?

The young thief lowered his voice as much as possible and replied: I sent someone to search the surrounding waters and found a small merchant ship parked eight nautical miles away, but after searching, I found that there was no one there. There are traces of them, they are likely to fly over.

After hearing the news, Henry immediately became alert. He felt that this matter had something to do with the Arcane Brotherhood. Don't drive the boat into the port yet. I'll go to the sewer with you at midnight today. See what these people are doing. He turned and told his subordinates.

Robert bowed his head and said, I'll keep an eye on them. Then he turned and left.

Henry came to the study and began to prepare for the night's battle. He can now be sure that there will be at least one mage among the opponents. Fortunately, they got into the sewer, otherwise, once a war broke out in the city, it is estimated that at least one street would be completely destroyed. Time passed slowly, and at eleven o'clock he stood up, left the study and walked to the balcony. After blessing a flight, he quickly flew to the location of Robert's underground guild. The young thief had been waiting here for a long time. He walked up to Henry and said, Master, I have found out their location. These people are digging holes in the sewer.

Henry frowned. It seemed that these guys were planning to establish a stronghold here. Don't worry about what they're going to do, now the two of us are going to get rid of them all.

Under the leadership of Robert, the two quickly passed through the sewer, and soon Henry heard someone talking in front of him. Both stopped and began to listen quietly.

Ven, why don't you just contact the lord here directly? He bought so many slaves in Luskan, so he shouldn't refuse to cooperate with us, right?

You're an idiot, didn't you see that he freed all the slaves as civilians? If we get in touch rashly, we may expose the Brotherhood's plan, and the mentor will make our lives worse than death.

Okay, you two, if you have time to chat there, why don't you hurry up and help dig the soil. Damn it! This shouldn't be the job of a mage. Why aren't we allowed to bring a golem over?

How big does Ryan need to dig this hole? We have now dug out a hall of tens of square meters.

Keep digging, we need to build an underground labyrinth here that can hide at least five hundred people.

My God! You kill me. Just a few people can't dig such a big project. Maybe we should go back and apply to bring some ratmen over. They are very good at digging holes.

What a genius idea, but how are you going to bring them to the island? I'm afraid that as soon as these smelly guys appear, the lords here will find out. I don't want to face a powerful mage and his barbarians. Did you see the armor those barbarian patrols wear? I don't think even a single fireball spell would do much damage to them. Don't be fancy, dig hard for me now!

You said that we will be promoted when we complete the brotherhood's plan this time?

I don't know if it will be promoted or not, but the failure of the plan will definitely be severely punished. It's not like you haven't seen the way they deal with losers.

After listening for a while, Henry made sure that the members of the Arcane Brotherhood seemed to be building an underground base here. However, the purpose is not yet clear, it seems that he wants to establish some kind of connection with himself. He gestured to Robert and the two of them waited quietly. Soon a few mages with poor physical strength stopped digging, and after a while, they were estimated to have fallen asleep in the cave. After asking Henry for permission, Robert began to slowly approach the past with the silent steps of a thief.

A few minutes later, the young thief came back. He mouthed Henry and said, Everyone inside is asleep. I have disarmed all the magic traps they set up just now. Henry nodded and made a gesture to signal the start of the action. . The two walked over quietly and found that a large place had been dug out here. All ten mages were sleeping soundly in their sleeping bags. Maybe digging the hole consumes too much energy, and they don't have any vigilance for the intruders.

Henry took out a bottle of hypnotic potion and signaled Robert to hold his breath, and then he opened the stopper and fell around the mages. The magic potion made these tired guys sleep even more dead, and Robert took away all the items on the mage. After a few minutes, all the magic items were piled aside, and under Henry's signal, he began to make up for these people. In the end, Henry only left three people, and he was going to interrogate to see if he could dig out any information. After separating the three he had Robert wake one of them up. The mage seemed to be around 20 years old at a young age. When he opened his eyes, he found that his hands had been trapped with a special technique. There is also a dagger with blue light on the neck. Then his eyes began to scan around looking for a way out of trouble.

Henry walked up to him. Don't read it. Most of your companions have been killed by my men, and I only left three captives including you. I hope you can answer my question honestly, and it is best not to lie. Otherwise Once I find out that you and the two people behind you don't match up, I might do something very bad to you. Now tell me who sent you here, what is the purpose, and are there other accomplices?

I'm just a little guy, I don't know anything. I'm only responsible for digging here. The mage replied with his head down.

Henry smiled when he heard this obvious lie, and he walked over and patted the mage on the face. It seems that you don't believe what I said, Robert will teach him a lesson. Robert took out a steel needle and some thread from the tool bag at his waist, walked to the mage with a sneer and began to take off his clothes.

The mage began to feel that his situation had become very bad, and he shouted loudly: Don't! I said! We were sent here by the Arcane Brotherhood to build a base. They heard that the lord here bought a large number of slaves and wanted to turn this place into a Your own ally. Robert stopped and looked at Henry waiting for instructions, and Henry shook his head. Sorry, I'm a man of my word. You're too late.

After Robert got the order, he passed the thread through the steel needle and began to sew on the mage's chest. The mage screamed as the thick needle and thread pierced through the skin, muscles and ribs, and his voice woke the other two prisoners. The eyes of one of the female mages showed fear and panic. Soon Robert completed the sewing process on the entire chest, and the mage was already dripping with sweat and blood. While the young thief secured the mage to the ground, he passed a rope through the sewn thread and tied a knot. Then he walked away from a distance and suddenly pulled the rope, and the tortured mage's chest was all turned into pieces of meat. He let out a loud scream and passed out.

Henry walked over and looked at the minced meat, ribs and beating hearts all over the place. Actually, you should pull the string a little later. Waiting is sometimes more frightening than blood.

Robert replied blankly: Understood my master. At this moment, I am a little impatient to practice this kind of punishment for the first time.

Henry patted him on the shoulder. Don't worry, we still have two experimental subjects. But look at their fearful eyes now, I believe the subsequent interrogation will go smoothly.

Then he turned his head and said to a man and a woman lying on the side: Are you right? The two with gagged mouths nodded desperately. In their hearts, I am afraid that Henry can already talk to the devil and the abyss in hell. The devil is equated. -----

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Broad World

Henry sat on a rock and looked at the two people who were scared out of their wits by the torture in the bloody forest. Robert unfastened the cloth on their mouths and stood behind him to monitor every move. The female mage looked at her companion's bloody chest in horror. Just ask if you have any questions. We are just low-level members of the Arcane Brotherhood and don't know much.

The corners of Henry's mouth were slightly upturned. I've got some information just now. Now tell me your name, and by the way, how the Brotherhood intends to make me their ally.

The female mage moved her body and raised her head. My name is Debra. The Brotherhood's plan is to establish an underground force here first, and then send a group of lycanthropes from Luskan. They will slowly nibble away at the residents here until they are all transformed. A full Cities with lycanthropes will inevitably be rejected by cities that tend to be kind, such as Waterdeep City and Neverwinter City, so they can justifiably send people to form alliances.

After hearing this plan, Henry secretly broke out in a cold sweat. If they succeed, I am afraid that he will really join the evil camp. He looked up at the other mage and beckoned him to speak.

The mage sighed. Debra has already told you all that can be said, and I don't have any new news. I just hope that when you kill me later, you will try to be as happy as possible, and don't let me be tortured before I die. Henry's sharp eyes scanned the two people lying on the ground. The female mage was very beautiful, and she was trying hard to show her curves, so as to win a chance of survival for herself. The male mage completely gave up hope, closed his eyes and waited for death.

A weird smile appeared on Henry's face. Originally I planned to kill all of you, but now I have changed my mind. I plan to let the two of you have a gladiatorial fight, and the winner can become my subordinate to serve me. After finishing speaking, he motioned for Robert to untie the two of them. rope.

The two people who were untied looked at each other and slowly backed away, their eyes full of vigilance. The male mage turned his head and said to Henry: Can you return the spell book to us? I can't perform a gladiatorial fight that satisfies you in this state.

Henry smiled and shook his head. Please don't take me for an idiot, and I don't want to see a magic duel. After speaking, he took out two daggers from the dimension bag and threw them over. This is your weapon. There is no limit to the means. The first to kill the opponent wins. I will announce the start of the gladiatorial fight. As soon as the words were finished, Debra rushed up, picked up the dagger and stabbed at her companion. Startled, he shouted: Little biao! You're crazy! Don't you see that he wants us to kill each other? Don't you fear the punishment of the Brotherhood Necromancer?

Debra tossed her hair back and grabbed another dagger. I think brother can't protect me now, it's time for a new owner. After she finished speaking, she threw one of the daggers vigorously, and the male mage quickly rolled on the spot to avoid the throw. Debra jumped up vigorously and stabbed down. After a scream, the male mage's thigh was pierced through, and blood spurted out. The female mage turned around and stared into Henry's eyes, hoping for approval.

Henry stretched out a finger and shook it. You know that if you want to be my subordinate, you must make a decision that satisfies me. Now you haven't done enough. The female mage gritted her teeth and pierced the dagger into the male mage's heart, then stood up and walked over.

Henry nodded in satisfaction. That's right, I'm a little bit more satisfied now. But there seems to be a half-dead mouse over there that needs to be cleaned up. Debra endured the disgust of the minced meat and ended up with her comatose companion, then dropped the dagger and knelt down in front of Henry .

Henry lifted her chin with a smile, admiring the beautiful face of this cruel woman. Then he said, Now I want you to swear allegiance to me with your soul.

The female mage trembled when she heard the word soul, and she didn't even notice that her teeth had bitten her lips. In the end, she seemed to bow her head in resignation. I, Debra Monka, swear with my soul to serve the master in front of me for the rest of my life, until death. Henry was relieved when he saw the system's logo flying into her forehead.

He raised his hand to help the woman who was kneeling on the ground. Very well, now you are mine. Now you can pick up some magic items there and retrieve your spellbook.

Debra stood up and saluted Henry, then rummaged through a pile of magic items. It wasn't long before she was on her feet with three spellbooks and a few magic items. After Henry put the other trophies into the dimension bag, Robert led the way out of the sewer. He asked Robert to return to the guild and took the female mage to the Druid Valley on the Emerald Isle. After entering his wooden house, he looked at the beautiful woman behind him. Debra deliberately took off her clothes slowly and put on a naked pose. Henry felt his blood start to surge, he hugged her vigorously and threw her on the bed, then jumped on her. After Debra groaned in pain, the man's rapid panting and the woman's * shenyin sounded on the bed. After enjoying the beautiful female mage, Henry put on his coat and walked out of the house to the wild. He gently turned on the system.

Soul Control used 36

Debra Monca: human, female, 24 years old, neutral evil (she will do anything to survive).
Occupation: Mage (Protection Department) level 5, experience 040000

Strength: 10 She can't lift anything heavy

Dexterity: 12 Barely able to do some evasive actions

System: 11 is about the same as most mages

Intelligence: 18 She is a genius and can learn almost anything

Wisdom: 16 Characters are decisive, know how to observe words and emotions

Glamour: 14 An attractive woman, although her last name is not very flattering

1st-level spell slots: 5

2nd-level spell slots: 3

3rd-level spell slots: 2

He smiled when he saw Debra's message. This is a protection mage with very good attributes. Although he can't learn transformation spells, it doesn't matter. The most important thing is that she belongs to the evil camp. In the future, some things that are not convenient to come forward can be entrusted to this woman. After turning off the system, he went back into the house, took off his clothes and fell asleep hugging the woman on the bed. The next morning, Henry, who was sleeping, was woken up by birdsong in the valley. He opened his eyes and found that Debra was wearing clothes on the ground. Henry rubbed his dry eyes and stood up to find his robe.

After the female mage was fully dressed, she came over gently to help Henry put on his clothes and shoes, as if a wife was serving her husband. Henry stared at the woman for a while and then said: I hope you don't cause any trouble to my life in the future. Before the mage tower is built, you are responsible for helping Robert monitor the changes in the territory. If you behave well, I will be there After the Mage Tower is completed, I will reserve a good place for you. Henry understands that for this kind of woman, she must understand her own limit, otherwise even if there is a system to control her, she will not betray and disturb the restlessness of the house.

Debra looked up at Henry. Understand my master, I will be your shadow to help you deal with the enemies in the dark. Seeing the female mage on the road like this, Henry nodded in satisfaction and handed her the spell book hanging around his waist as a disguise. The magic spell created by the nineteenth-level archmage that has recorded countless magic spells has finally come into play. Debra quickly flipped through the spells recorded above and her hands were trembling. Since she made the oath yesterday, she found that she couldn't think of resisting at all. Soon she realized that she had been controlled by unknown magic. Last night, she raped Henry with her body and had a successful relationship. She hoped to use this to improve her status.

But Henry's words just now sounded the alarm for her. Thinking of the bloody corpse in the sewer yesterday and the heart beating naked in the air, these made her fear her master's evil and cruelty. Just when she felt that her life was bleak, she suddenly got such a spell book. After reading it, she found that there were countless spells in this book that even her mentor in the Arcane Brotherhood couldn't master much. In an instant, Henry's image was infinitely elevated in her mind, and the female mage's brain automatically added countless guesses.

Debra knelt down in front of Henry and kissed the top of his shoe. Thank you so much! Generous and great master! You are both evil and powerful, and your ruthlessness fascinates me. Please allow your servants to follow you forever and deal with those nasty rats for you. Henry looked at her with admiration and fear. The mixed expression showed that the female mage was thinking about it, but it didn't explain that he felt that the current state might be better.

Henry held up Debra's face and gently stroked her smooth chin with his hand, then said, I allow you to serve me by my side, now report to Robert. I don't think the fraternity will let it go. Well, they'll be back soon. Study the spells in the book and get rid of these pesky bugs for me.

The female mage's eyes were blurred and her whole body trembled. Obey my master. After she finished speaking, she stood up to calm herself down, then blessed a flying technique and flew away in the direction of Hart Island.

Henry tidied up his clothes and walked out of the room. The druid apprentices in the valley had already gotten up, and they began to cultivate and observe plants and take care of some injured animals. Henry walked over to gather the apprentices and took out a book that had just been sorted out from the dimension bag for them to pass around and watch. You must know that the druids in this world are extremely against civilization. They train apprentices through oral teaching, and they will never use any form of writing, let alone books. Henry can be said to have pioneered the Druids, but he doesn't know whether he will be praised by people like Newton on Earth, or he will be burned alive by other angry Druids like Bruno. Fortunately, he only advertised his sect in his own territory, otherwise there would inevitably be a few duels between druids.

After distributing the teaching materials, he went around the lake on the island to check the growth of spices. When I came to the lake, I saw that the peppers that had been spawned had bloomed, and the nutmeg had grown a lot of green fruits. It will take only a few months to start picking. He picked up a ginger plant and found that the rhizome was already very large, and he could organize manpower to dig it in more than a month. Finally he came to the settlement of Emerald Isle and asked about the residents. Most people answered that the land is fertile and the freshwater resources are abundant, but there are too many beasts in the forest, and they hope that the lord can organize people to drive them away. Otherwise, things in the field will always be stolen by wild boars. ---

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Chapter 64 The city is built

After Henry returned to Hart Island, he organized a dozen barbarians and asked them to carry a large number of javelins to hunt around the settlement of Emerald Isle. Henry believes that it won't be long before these outstanding hunters in the North will teach those arrogant wild boars a profound lesson. Half a month has passed quickly, and the island is already in midsummer in August. The huge sun hangs in the sky, and the hot and humid climate allows crops to grow rapidly. According to Henry's estimation, the spring wheat on the island will be harvested in another one or two months. Just when he was about to go to Debra and Robert to see if the Arcane Brotherhood had any new moves, Hawk came.

The old captain was wearing an ordinary sailor shirt but was already drenched in sweat. Henry released a freezing ray at the kettle on the table after seeing his embarrassed appearance. Then he picked up the cold kettle and poured Hawke a glass of water with ice slag and handed it over. Admiral, it seems that you are not used to the hot climate here. This is the first time I see you coming to see me without formal clothes.

Hawke took the ice water and drank it down. Then he exhaled. Ha! This is really enjoyable, sorry Earl, can I have another drink?

No problem. But I suggest you not drink too much, or you will have diarrhea. Henry poured him another glass while speaking.

Hawk picked up the cup and took a sip slowly. It's really rude, but this kind of weather is really too hot for someone like me who has been running boats in the Northland all year round. I am here this time to inform you of good news. Our city has been destroyed except for the city wall. All completed. According to your design, the whole city is divided into dock area, commercial area, aristocratic area, city gate area, entertainment area and college area. The city can accommodate hundreds of thousands of people in total except for special buildings such as the Lord's Mansion and City Hall. To live in. But for now we only have ten thousand adequate residents, and the city will look a little empty. Now you can give the city a name, my count.

Henry was also a little excited when he heard the news that the city was built. He lowered his head and thought for a while and said to the old captain: Let's call it Blue Winter. The city of clear water matches the color of the sea water near us, doesn't it?

Hawk took a sip of ice water. Then it's called Bluewind City. Now that the city has been built, I'll lead the fleet to buy livestock tomorrow. Do you have any orders?

No, but remember to go to the warehouse to pick up the goods when you leave tomorrow. I asked Cagan to forge a lot of weapons and armor, remember to sell them at a good price. Henry said with a smile.

The old captain nodded. Okay, I'll let someone ship these things tonight. If there's nothing else, I'll leave first, and I can finally avoid the hot summer here. After speaking, Hawke walked out.

After seeing off Hawke, Henry came to his wife's room. Shikodi was lazily sitting on a chair with her eyes closed in a gauze dress, and the young girl behind her was gently shaking a fan for her. After Henry walked in, he motioned for the girl to go out, and the young maid put down her fan and saluted, went out and closed the door.

He gently approached his wife, bowed his head, kissed Shikodi's shoulder and said with a smile: Our city is built, and we can move to the Lord's Mansion tomorrow.

The sleepy wife opened her eyes and asked happily: Really? That's great. I can't wait to move into our new home. What did you name the city?

Henry found a chair and sat down. Bruwent City, and Hawke will go to sea tomorrow to buy livestock. If you need anything, just tell him and bring them back together.

Shikodi happily sat on her husband's lap, wrapping her arms around Henry's neck. This sexy posture made Henry feel a little excited, he lowered his head and began to kiss and touch his wife. Soon the two of them rolled on the bed in the house like dry wood meeting a raging fire.

An hour later, Henry gasped and said to his wife, Honey, you must fuck me first this time.

Shi Kodi gave her husband a blank look and turned around to ride on him. She said to Henry: For the stability of the family, a qualified male heir is essential. I am just fulfilling my duty as a wife. Tomorrow I will let The housekeeper is responsible for moving all the things here, is there anything special you need to pay attention to?

Henry lifted his wife off him. Be especially careful with the books in the study, and don't damage any of them. You'd better supervise the servants to carry them yourself.

Shikodi lay beside her husband. I will pay attention to it. Remember to ask Hawke to buy more cloth tomorrow. Our inventory is running out.

Henry stroked his wife's hair. Understood, I'm going to Robert's tonight. I may not come back tonight. Recently, some forces in the territory want to infiltrate.

Shikodi nodded. : Be careful yourself, don't do anything too dangerous. After she finished speaking, she closed her eyes and fell asleep not long after.

Seeing his wife falling asleep, Henry gently pushed her away, then stood up and began to get dressed. After getting dressed, he walked out of the room lightly and slowly closed the door. Walking on the streets of Bishui City, he saw many people wearing only short-sleeved shirts on their upper bodies, and some were even naked. It seems that the hot and humid climate makes most immigrants from the north very uncomfortable, but after a few years they will like the weather here. After all, safety and fertility are what ordinary people in this era are after.

Robert's Thieves Guild is built on the east side of the dock area, where there is a small warehouse. Since Debra came here, the operation of the entire union has become smoother, and the things that the thieves could not do well were easily solved with the help of magic. Now every foreign ship docked at the port will be monitored, and the two responsible persons will know immediately if there is any trouble. But Robert didn't like this woman, thinking she was cruel and unscrupulous. Debra also didn't like Robert, she felt that the thief blocked her way to approach her master. But the female mage didn't show this, because the torture that Robert performed that night left a considerable shadow on her.

Henry tightened his hood and came to the door of the union. He didn't want anyone to know that he was the mastermind behind the thieves' union. The thief watching the wind at the door was very alert. He aimed at Henry with a hand crossbow and asked, Who are you and what are you doing here?

Henry's face hidden under the hood showed a satisfied smile, and he said to the thief, Don't be nervous, just take this in and give it to Robert and Debra, and they will know what to do. A special badge, which is a token he made with Robert and has his own magic mark on it.

The thief took the badge vigilantly, checked it first, and turned his head after confirming that there was no danger. You wait here, I'll go in and report. If you dare to break through and see if there are any holes on the top, countless crossbow bolts will be shot from above to turn you into a hedgehog. After speaking, he turned and entered the warehouse. After seeing the thief's performance, the smile on Henry's face grew stronger. It seemed that Robert had done a good job of killing his thieves.

After receiving the badge, Robert checked it carefully, and found Debra after confirming that it was not forged. The master is here, and he is at the door now. He wants me to take you to him.

Debra froze for a moment and then showed a pleasant expression on her face. These days, apart from helping the thieves make some simple magic props and wiretapping devices, she spends most of her time studying the spells in the magic book. After careful study, she found that there are not only a wide variety of magic in this book, but also top-level magic such as seventh, eighth, and ninth levels. As long as you study the spells in this book thoroughly, becoming a legendary mage will no longer be just a dream.

She stood up and said to Robert: Then what are you waiting for, let's go see him now. A few minutes later, the two came to the warehouse door and saw Henry wearing a hood. He waved to them and turned to lead the way. .

Debra and Robert followed closely behind, and Henry listened and took off his hood after reaching an empty alley. He smiled and said to Robert: You did a good job, I found that you trained the other thieves in the union quite well.

The young thief leader bowed his head. Thank you for your compliment, but this is far from enough. I heard that the shadow thieves in Askatla are the best thieves organization in the world. If I have the opportunity in the future, I would like to study there for a while.

After hearing these very motivated words, Henry walked over and patted him on the shoulder. Don't worry, you're still young. I'll contact them personally about this after we open up the trade with Amn. After speaking, he turned his head and looked at Debra. The woman stared at him with fanatical eyes, Henry walked over and stroked her smooth face. Debra, is there any news from the Arcane Brotherhood recently? How is the magic research going?

The female mage kissed Henry's hand lightly. Master, you killed all the people last time, and the Brotherhood will not act rashly without ascertaining the specific situation. That spell book is too esoteric, and I only learned some magic below the third level .Sorry to disappoint you.

Henry smiled. Don't worry, you are also a mage and you should understand that magic can't be rushed under any circumstances. First master as many spells below level three as possible, and I will take you out after a while.

Debra nodded. I obey my master, it is my honor to serve you.

Henry turned his head and said to Robert: Tomorrow Hawke will lead the fleet to go to sea to buy some livestock. I hope you will follow him to spread our intelligence system in the north. This matter will be resolved by you. , do you have enough gold coins?

The young thief leader thought for a moment. There are enough gold coins. I will take the guild's most loyal and capable men and let them lurk in various regions to collect information.

Henry looked at his hands with satisfaction. Then you go get busy first, I still have something to do with Debra. After hearing his order, Robert left along the shadow of the alley. -----

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

Chapter 65 The Harvest Season

Not long after Robert left, Henry brought Debra to the slaves' residence. It used to be full of people, but now most of the rest are underage boys and girls. Most of the adult slaves have become civilians through hard work. The working ability of these children is obviously not the opponent of adults, so they are still slaves for the time being. Henry is going to brainwash these kids and send them to the Academy as the first students. In the future, these people will become the foundation of his rule and will not be easily bought by other forces.

He said to the female mage: I think you should know how to choose a mage apprentice. Now I want you to pick as many as possible here, and the rest will be sent to the academy to learn martial arts, management, business, construction, agriculture, etc. Sailing and other professional knowledge. Be nice to them, these children will be of great use in the future.”

Debra instantly understood what the master meant, and she watched these busy little slaves. Understood, they're going to make this their home. You're their master. I'm going to train them well, that's what I did with the guards in the fraternity.

Henry looked at the female mage in surprise. Have you ever done this? It seems that your status in the Brotherhood is not low. This kind of work is usually assigned to the most trustworthy subordinates.

A charming smile appeared on Debra's face. Because most members of the Brotherhood disdain contact with those guards, they discriminate against all fighters and think their value is far less than a golem. I was the only one who took the job and used it on these guards I cast a little charm spell. It didn't take long for the entire guard force to cover my eyes and ears, and they will eradicate the enemy for me with just a small hint.

Henry looked at Debra and thought: This woman from the evil camp is really good at certain things. If it wasn't for the system controlling her soul, my first reaction would be to kill her immediately. But now she can rest assured that she will do all the shady things behind the scenes.

Very good, then I will leave the matter here to you. The selected apprentices will be brought to the thieves union for Robert to train briefly. I don't need to make them thieves, as long as they know how to guard against daggers from the dark. Alright. Also remember to control their thoughts, I don't like betrayal. Henry said seriously to the female mage.

Debra bowed deeply. Obey Master, you will soon have a group of loyal apprentices.

Two months passed in a flash, and Hawke's fleet made large-scale purchases in all cities in the Northland. A lot of livestock and poultry were brought to the island and distributed to the villagers to raise them. The 30 apprentices selected by Debra have already started learning the basics of magic, and some of the books in Lord Henry's Mansion are open to them for borrowing. The other boys and girls were also sent to the school, and Henry's subordinates began to teach them knowledge and martial arts. The ears of wheat in the field have already crushed the stalks, and the large fields of spices are full of fruits.

This is a harvest season. Under Henry's signal, Hawke began to organize manpower for large-scale harvesting, and even the people who were building the city wall were transferred away. Large fields of wheat were harvested and dried, and all but a few seeds were hulled and put into barns. Villagers in many villages send these wheat grains to windmills or waterwheel mills to be ground into flour for storage. A large number of potatoes were also dug out of the mud, and the quantity was too large to fit in the warehouse. Finally, after discussing with his wife and Hawke, Henry decided to sell it to the businessmen who came and went.

After harvesting the grain, Henry brought some conscripted farmers to the lakeside of Emerald Isle, and started picking spices with the residents living here. The nutmeg fruit is picked and put into a basket and taken to an open space to dry. After drying, the pulp and skin are stored separately. After the pepper is picked, it is put into wooden barrels and stored directly after drying. Finally, dig out the ginger in the soil and wash it to complete the task.

Shikodi stood next to Henry greedily smelling the scent of these spices. She turned her head and said to her husband: Honey, all these spices are going to be sold to my brother? Will we suffer too much? ?”

Henry helped her smooth out her wind-torn hair. I only plan to give half of your brother's production, and the rest will be sold on the island to attract merchants to come and trade. This way our territory can attract more people to come and live. You don't see how empty the whole city is. .

Shikodi nodded. Half of the quantity is enough for my brother to digest for a while. When are you going to let him pull the goods?

Looking at the mountains of spices piled up in the warehouse, Henry smiled mischievously and said to his wife: Don't worry, we will start selling in the market at the pier first. I believe the Grand Duke will get the news soon, am I right?

Shikodi smiled and kissed her husband on the face. You are such a naughty bad guy, but I am already fascinated by you. At that time, my brother will definitely bring the fleet and run over from Baldur's Gate impatiently.

After returning to the lord's mansion, Henry found that Amy was waiting in the living room as if she wanted something. Henry let go of his wife in his arms and walked over and asked, What's the matter, Amy?

Amy smiled. It's gold coins, my master. We have already provided the Seven Suns Chamber of Commerce with a large amount of salt. They just sent over the gold tickets that have been settled in the past few months. The total is 800,000 gold coins after deducting taxes. The gold tickets are here. If there is nothing wrong I went to read a book.

After Henry took the golden ticket, he touched Amy's long golden hair. You really should be a mage and not a warlock. Your thirst for knowledge surpasses most mages. Now I allow you to enter the back half of my study and read all the books there.

Amy jumped up happily, she gave Henry a hug and turned and ran upstairs. Shi Kodi stood by and looked at the girl who was younger than herself. She knew that her husband liked her very much. But which aristocratic male surname will not have a few prostitutes, and the husband is also very good to himself and has not done anything to the maids in his mansion.

She walked over to Henry and said, Honey, you like Amy very much.

Henry nodded. Yes, the Restan brothers and sisters were the first to follow me. And Amy is already a powerful warlock.

Shi Kodi smiled and said to her husband: Then why don't you turn her into a prostitute, only in this way will she work for you even more wholeheartedly. Henry looked at his wife and thought: Yes, it seems that Fei Lun is not a husband Monogamy. A person of great power can have multiple wives or husbands. Elminster, for example, was first the goddess of magic and then the seven daughters of the goddess. Silvermoon City Lord Alastriol also seems to have many husbands and wives.

He smiled at the thought. My dear, thank you for your reminder, but Amy is still a little young now, let's talk about it when she grows up.

Shi Kodi looked at her husband and said seriously: I know you will not be an ordinary person in the future, so I don't envy you how many s you have outside. As long as you remember this is your home, I will always be your wife Will suffice.

Henry smiled and held his wife's face in his hands. How could I forget such a beautiful wife. As he spoke, he gave Shi Kodi a deep kiss, and then the two quickly walked back to the room. It didn't take long for a woman's moaning sound to be heard from inside.

The next morning, Henry stood on the balcony on the third floor overlooking the whole city. Most of the more than 10,000 residents live in the port area, and Robert's union has opened several pubs, casinos, casinos, and theaters in the entertainment area. Many sailors who have just disembarked like to go there for a night. In the future, the city will become bigger and bigger, and the population will also increase. And all kinds of things will emerge one after another, requiring a dedicated person to take care of them. Thinking of this, Henry decided to promote Hawke to become a nobleman and concurrently serve as the mayor of the city. I believe the old captain will be very happy when he hears the news. And my recent gold coins are almost enough, I can go to the teacher to buy blueprints and materials to start building the mage tower.

After he figured it out, he turned around and said to the butler standing quietly behind him: Now go and inform Hawke, Vaughn, Asembu, and Cagan to come to see me, and let Mrs. and my mother also attend.

The butler bowed. Follow the earl, but I'm afraid it will be noon when they arrive, do you need to prepare a sumptuous lunch?

Henry thought for a moment. Let's prepare together, remember to prepare a few bottles of good wine. There are important things to announce then.

Understood, I'll tell someone to do it right away. After speaking, the housekeeper turned and left.

It was almost noon when Hawk came to the Lord's Mansion first. He walked into the hall and saw Henry drinking a glass of iced juice. After saluting, he asked, Count, is there anything important to inform me today?

Henry smiled and motioned the maid next to him to pour a glass for the old captain as well. Don't worry, I promise this is a good thing. Hawke sat down when he couldn't ask anything for a while, and began to drink cold juice slowly. It didn't take long for other people to arrive one after another.

After seeing that everyone was here, Henry stood up and said to everyone: Everyone, I have called you here today because I have something to announce. Before that, please allow me to express my sincere thanks to you. There is no such a beautiful city today. Today I decided to canonize all of you as nobles, and my mother and wife are here as witnesses. Hawke, you have followed me since the beginning of the voyage. Most of the construction of the city is done by you The command is completed. I decided to confer you a knighthood and allow you to find any place on the island that does not exceed 2,000 acres to establish a manor as a hereditary territory. Vaughan and Asimbu I canonize you as knights, and you can choose a place that does not exceed 2,000 acres. More than a thousand acres of land to build a manor. Cagan, my friend, you led me through my first adventure. I also knighted you. But I don't think the dwarves will be interested in the manor, so I decided to let you choose A mountain as its own territory.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

