

Broad World

Chapter 76 Mysterious Attack

It was quiet at midnight in the northern district of Waterdeep City, and everyone had already fallen asleep. Suddenly, a group of guys wearing black cloaks walked out from a dark corner, and a woman at the head whispered to everyone: In the name of the Spider God Queen, kill all these bastards on the surface! After finishing speaking, the people behind her He took out his weapon and sneaked into the houses on both sides of the road, killing unsuspecting citizens. Under the cover of night, the massacre was carried out silently. When these people came to the door of Hawke's house, they encountered a lot of trouble.

Priest Shannen, what is this huge monster? a person asked in a low voice.

The woman named Shanann took a closer look. This should be a surface beast called a bear. It is very powerful and not easy to deal with. She just finished explaining that the huge beast opened its eyes and stood up, scaring the people who were about to attack jumped.

Ares was lying soundly asleep on the grass at the door, when he suddenly smelled a bloody smell. It opened its eyes and saw a group of guys with weapons standing in front of it. Staring at these malicious guys, the brown bear uttered a huge roar, and then rushed up to attack. The two people standing at the front dodged in no hurry, and were knocked down hard to the ground. Ares bit off their necks one by one.

The loud roar woke Henry who was sleeping, and he quickly stood up, put on his clothes and jumped out of the window inside the house. The scene in front of him surprised him. With the help of the moonlight in the sky, he could clearly see the appearance of the invading enemy. These guys who are confronting Ares are about 1.6 meters tall. They are slender with dark skin and silver-white hair. Dark Elf! Henry recognized the race of these attackers immediately. Before he had time to think about it, he immediately began to bless himself with protective spells. The dark elf's attack arrived just as the iron skin spell was cast. A poisonous arrow shot over and hit the spell, making a ding sound and falling to the ground.

Henry ignored these attacks that did not pose a threat and continued to chant spells loudly. Ares rampaged in front of him to fend off enemies who wanted to rush up and interrupt the spellcasting. Seeing this situation, Shanaen at the back yelled loudly in the dark elf's unique language: You idiots, go and attack the mages behind! Do you want me to teach you this! After hearing her words, the other dark elves Quickly began to disperse, they formed a circular encirclement and quickly approached Henry, Maggie glanced at the soldiers and began to pray loudly to her god.

Just when Henry's spell was about to be completed, several black shadows suddenly rushed out from behind. All kinds of short swords and daggers stabbed at the vitals of his body, and at this critical moment, the half-orc warrior rushed out from the gate. He threw the two axes vigorously, directly splitting the heads of the two assassins, and the huge inertia knocked the other dark elves to the ground.

Vaughn turned around and yelled at the people in the house: There are a lot of enemies outside! Find a place to hide and don't come out. After finishing speaking, he closed the door tightly. At the same time, the priestess Shanan cast a four-divine spell coordinated defense on all the dark elves, and the cooperation among the soldiers immediately became very coordinated as a whole.

She shouted: Leave that lowly orc alone! Kill the mage quickly. After speaking, she took out the snake head whip at her waist and waved it to attack. At this moment Henry's chanting stopped, he sneered at the dark elves approaching, and then a huge hailstorm fell within ten meters around him.

Shanaen shouted angrily: Get out of here! But it was too late, hail covered many dark elves. Although their skin had a certain degree of magic resistance, their defense against cold and fire was very poor. . A large number of enemies were knocked down to the ground and passed out, but not many actually died. .

The priestess stared into her red eyes and said to Henry in common language: Mage on the surface, I will bypass this house. You don't need to fight us desperately for these irrelevant people.

Henry looked at her cautiously. How do you make me believe what a dark elf said? Maybe you are thinking of some conspiracy when you speak. You must know that your race has no credibility at all.

Shanna swung the snake head whip a few times angrily, and then cursed a few words in dark elf language. Finally she held her head up. I can swear in the name of the Queen of God, as long as you don't interfere with our actions, I promise not to come near your residence again. Henry observed the priestess carefully, and it seemed that she was not lying. Then Henry raised his head and looked into the distance, and he found that it wasn't just here that was under attack. It seems that these dark elves seem to have some conspiracy, otherwise such a large-scale hunting team would not be dispatched. If she agrees to her proposal now, I'm afraid I won't be able to explain it to Deep Water City when the time comes.

He glanced at the warrior lying on the ground with a sarcastic smile on his face, and then took out the fireball staff and released several fireball spells in succession. The violent explosion and flames blasted all the surrounding dark elves who fell to the ground and burned them to death.

When Shanann saw it, she roared angrily: You dirty bastard! How dare you refuse the proposal of a noble priestess! I'm going to kill you! come up. Vaughan picked up his ax on the ground and Ares blocked all the warriors back to back. The half-orc warrior knocked a dark elf away with his shoulder and said loudly to Henry: Head, get rid of that black-skinned woman quickly! .We can't last long with so many dark elves.

Henry didn't have the mood to answer at all now, he was carefully avoiding the priestess' whip. Shanann swore while waving her whip, I'm going to dig out your heart and liver with my own hands as a gift to the Queen of God in a while, and see how long this spell on you can last.

Henry didn't dare to distract himself from speaking at all, the effect of the iron skin technique on his body had disappeared. Now he was forced to dodge around and couldn't cast spells at all, and there were already several welts on his arms and face, which irritated his nerves. Just as he was in a hurry, there was a sound of incantation chanting on the second floor, and then an acceleration spell was blessed on him. Henry looked up, and Debra immediately released a flash spell, and with the help of the two spells, he quickly opened the distance between him and the priestess. After re-blessing himself with a stone skin spell, he picked up the fireball staff and fired a fireball at Shanann behind him.

The air wave of the explosion directly knocked her out. Henry stepped forward and quickly stripped off all the equipment and clothes of the priestess, and then used an activation rope to tie her up firmly. Before the effect of the acceleration technique disappeared, he quickly ran back to Hawke's house. Ares and Vaughn's bodies were covered with wounds in just a few minutes, and black blood had flowed out in many places. The weapons of the dark elves have always been smeared with **.

Seeing the critical situation, Henry immediately cast a human immobilization towards the front, and only about four dark elves resisted the spell. The half-orc warrior took the opportunity to kill several immobile guys. Henry cast another slowness technique, and the remaining dark elves found that their movements had slowed down a lot, and they were all killed before long. As soon as the battle was over, Vaughn and Ares sat on the ground, and Henry hurried over to pour them with anti-inflammatory and healing potions.

Looking up at the second floor, he found that Debra had fallen in front of the window, with a black arrow sticking out of her shoulder. Her dark complexion was obviously poisoned. Relying on his dexterity, Henry climbed directly up the outer wall of the house, chopped off the arrow with a dagger, and pulled out the arrow body. Feed her to drink the detox water and cast a magic spell heal moderate damage. A few minutes later, the female mage slowly woke up. She glanced at Henry and asked, How is the situation outside the master?

Henry used magic to heal the welts on his hands and face and said: We have dealt with all the enemies here, and there is still a prisoner outside. But the scale of this attack is very large, and I saw many people in the distance Large-scale riots have occurred everywhere.

You wait here for a while and I will bring the prisoners back. After speaking, he jumped off the second floor and walked down the street to find Shanan who was still in a coma.

It didn't take long for Henry to bring her back on his shoulders. The living room was already full of people. Juliet and Mia had obviously never experienced such a thing, and the expressions on their faces were a little horrified. After seeing Henry walking in, Hawke stood up and took the prisoner, and tied her to a post in the middle of the room. Juliet glanced at Shannen in a panic. I knew it must be the dark elves and monsters from the city below the mountain, otherwise no one would be able to attack Waterdeep City.

The city under the mountain? the half-orc warrior asked.

After comforting his wife, Hawke explained to the half-orc warrior: The city under the mountain was built by the legendary mage Helast in black robe. It is said that it is full of various monsters and treasures. Countless adventurers come here every year. But most of them will never come out of it again. Some people say that it is directly connected to the Underdark, and some say that all the creatures were captured by the Helast black robe as props to fool adventurers. In short, it is a very dangerous place, and I also think the attack tonight is a bit weird, why don't we interrogate the captives first.

Debra glanced at Hawke and said, Dark elves are very patient and good at lying, especially the one in front of me is obviously a female priest. How likely do you think she is to tell the truth?

Henry shook his head. Let's not get involved in this matter for the time being. We will hand her over to the council when order is restored after dawn. With the power of Waterdeep City, we will interrogate the specific situation soon. After he finished speaking, he left Vaughn here to guard the prisoners. Everyone else went back to the room to rest. After a fierce battle, everyone was a little tired. When the effect of the acceleration technique disappeared, Henry could barely move his legs. After returning to the room, he turned on the system to check and carry out upgrade.

Occupation: Mage Level 11 403113750000, Druid Level 12 40311'50000

Debra Monca

Occupation: Mage (Protection Department) level 6, experience 5000060000

1st-level spell slots: 5

2nd-level spell slots: 3

3rd-level spell slots: 3

Henry touched his stuttered wound, he killed probably less than twenty dark elf fighters tonight. On average, one has nearly 4,000 experiences. It seems that this is really a powerful race. Fortunately, they can't live on the ground.

Ask Sanjiang, ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Ask for collection

Chapter 77 Lord of Deepwater

After a night of chaos, the city watchmen and city guards in Waterdeep drove most of the invading dark elves back underground. Order was gradually restored on the streets, and a large number of troops began to patrol the streets back and forth, searching for those who hadn't had time to escape. It didn't take long for a team of watchmen to discover the dark elf corpse in front of Hawke's house. At the same time, they also saw a big brown bear lying on the ground sleeping with blood stains all over its body.

The captain signaled everyone to stop, and he cautiously looked around. After confirming that there was no danger around, he slowly walked forward a few steps, wanting to carefully examine the corpses on the ground. Suddenly the huge bear eyes opened, and it glared at the captain, turned over and continued to sleep, completely ignoring the meaning of these people. The captain wiped the sweat off his head and heaved a sigh of relief. He also noticed that this big guy didn't seem to be hostile. Probably some druid or ranger's animal companion.

He squatted on the ground and looked at the corpses. Most of these dark elves had burnt marks on their bodies. Many people's heads have left their necks, and they should have been chopped off by sharp weapons. It appears that the house is inhabited by at least one spellcaster and one powerful warrior. Coupled with the brown bear at the door, the incoming dark elves' assault team must have been killed by them.

After figuring it out, the captain bypassed Ares and went straight to the door, knocked on the door and shouted loudly, Is there anyone? I'm Captain Hunter of the City Watcher, and I want to ask about last night's situation. A few minutes later The door was opened, and the half-orc warrior Vaughan walked out from inside.

He scratched his head. Our place was attacked last night. About 20 dark elf warriors were killed. There is still a living prisoner in the room. The head told me that if you want her, let the lord of Waterdeep City Peel Galen Palatinsta himself has come.

Hunter froze for a moment and then said to Vaughn: You mean you caught a living prisoner!

Vaughn nodded. That's right, she is a priest who is tied to the pillar in the living room. If you need me, I can let you take a look, but don't try to take her away before the lord arrives. The captain turned around and ordered a few words to the people behind, and then A person stepped out of the team and ran towards the castle area.

After seeing that the messenger had set off, Hunter said to the half-orc warrior: I have sent someone to the castle to report to the lord, now let me take a look at this prisoner first. Vaughan led the captain into the living room without saying a word . Shanann had already woken up, her whole body had been stripped clean, and Henry didn't even leave a piece of cloth in order to prevent accidents.

Hunter glanced at Vaughn with a stern look, and the half-orc warrior quickly explained: Hey man! Don't look at me like that, I didn't do anything. That's how it looked when the head grabbed her back , and also ordered not to pay attention to anything she said. You should know how deceitful and dangerous these dark elves are. After speaking, he also showed scars on his body.

Seeing that he had misunderstood Vaughn, the captain hurriedly apologized. I'm sorry I misunderstood you, but your vigilance is commendable. May I ask her a few words now?

Vaughan took out the cloth that was gagged in Shanaen's mouth. Please, but I think this job is best left to mages. Hunter was about to ask a question when he heard a long series of curses popping out from the prisoner's mouth, at least half of the words in it He has never heard of it.

Seeing the captain's stunned expression, Vaughan quickly gagged Shanann's mouth, and then he laughed and asked: How, I warned you. Ordinary interrogation has no effect on these guys who came out of the ground. All you can hear is a long list of obscenities.

The captain took off his helmet and patted his face. It's really scary. I've never heard such a wealth of swear words. The swear words in the tavern are nothing compared to her. He also found a chair and sat down.

Half an hour later, there was a loud noise outside the door. Captain Hunter immediately opened the door and ran out. He bowed deeply to a man. Good morning, Lord Pergalen, I am Captain Hunter of the Watchmen.

Pier Galen glanced at him and asked, I heard that there is a living female prisoner here?

The captain pointed to Hawke's house and replied: It's in a room, but all the captives want to see you in person.

The lord looked at the corpse on the ground. Understood, you close the team now. Let us handle this. After speaking, he walked in with the guards and mages behind him.

Henry had already been awakened by the sound downstairs, and when he was going down the stairs, he happened to see a group of people coming. Pierre Galen looked Henry up and down and said to him, I heard that you want to meet me in person, what's the matter?

I am Earl Henry of the Angome Islands. I am here to become a trade ally with Waterdeep City. I don't know what you want? Henry said after bowing slightly.

Pier Galen was stunned for a moment, then he smiled. You are the legendary Belgost hero, Earl Henry? I will give you a definite answer on whether to form an alliance, but I will submit it to the lord's council.

Henry nodded. That's good enough. I believe other lords will make the right choice. The captives in the room can be taken away now, but I suggest that you better conduct a magic interrogation as soon as possible. These dark elves are likely to have some serious problems. conspiracy.

Piergalen sighed. I will act immediately. The loss last night was not small. If there is any result of the interrogation, I will send someone to inform you. After all, you captured her. After speaking, he asked the guards behind him to release Shananen from the pillar It was taken.

Before leaving, the lord expressed his gratitude to Henry for his actions last night. He said, Thank you very much for your contribution to Waterdeep City last night. The rewards will be delivered later. Go in the direction of the tower.

When Henry returned to the living room, Debra had already sat down on the chair. Due to the excessive blood loss last night, her face was still a little pale. After Henry sat down, she opened the door and asked, Master, was that the public lord of Waterdeep City, Piergalen Palatinsta?

Henry nodded. A target to attract attention on the bright side, but he has agreed to submit our request to the Lord Council. And now that Waterdeep City has suffered such a large-scale attack, it must have suffered a lot. They should urgently need some good news to stabilize Citizen sentiment.

The female mage lowered her head and considered for a while. It seems that the possibility of them agreeing is very high, but it still depends on the results of the interrogation of the prisoners.

Henry rubbed his dry eyes. I hope there is no big trouble, otherwise our shield may not be effective. After speaking, he got up and went back to the room to catch up on sleep.

An interrogation is underway in the Tower of Order in Waterdeep. The public lord Piergalen stood at the front, and next to him was Kelben Blackstick Orosan, the elector of the goddess of magic. There are more than a dozen masked people standing behind the two, all of them are members of the Lords Alliance, and they all wear this uniform when they appear in public. The mask full of magical power on the face well protected everyone's identity, and the citizens of Waterdeep City even regarded guessing the hidden lord as an entertainment. In charge of the interrogation was Lyla Silverhand, one of the Seven Sisters of the North, princess of the Goddess of Magic, and wife of Kelben, a charming lady.

She asked the dark elf priestess whose mind had been controlled by magic, Who are you and why did you attack Waterdeep City?

Shanan replied with dull eyes: I am Shanan Heyoun, the fourth daughter of the Malam family, the priestess of the Queen of God. The one who issued the order was Zest of the first family of Eredlin City Mistress La is said to be here to collect the souls of humans on the surface.

Her answer made Lyra frown. Collecting human souls was usually the work of demons and devils. When the dark elves are interested in these things, there must be some ulterior secret in it. Then she asked again: How did you come to the surface?

Zestella continued to answer with a blank expression: Through the lower city, we spent a long time opening up the passage there.

Kelben was taken aback. How did you pass there, didn't you encounter monster attacks?

The eldest daughter of the first family carried a precious magic item, which screened the perception of all creatures around. Then we raided the mage's tower underground and trapped the black robe of the mad mage Helast inside. Kelben gasped, although he didn't like the guy who had been digging holes under the mountain of Waterdeep City either. But if he was really trapped, the countless monsters underground might lose control, and Waterdeep City was in danger of being attacked at any time.

Lila glanced at her husband and said to all the lords: We must send someone down to rescue the mad mage, and block that passage by the way.

Piergalen sighed. Who should I send? Who can guarantee that Hellast will not be attacked after the black robe is rescued?

Kelben turned around and said to the whispering lords behind him: Everyone, start voting now. Please raise your hand if you agree to send troops to the city below the mountain. The whole scene was silent, and no one agreed except him and Leila .

Piergalen sighed watching this embarrassing scene. Forget it, let's solve another problem first. The lord of Angome Island has come to this city, and he proposed to form an alliance with us. He killed a dark elf commando in the northern district last night. This It was from him that I brought the captive.

Laila's eyes lit up. Then why don't we hire him to complete this mission? I've heard about his adventures. He defeated an army of monsters with the Mithril Five and his partners on the outskirts of Belgoost.

Pierre Galen nodded. This is a good idea, but you have to think about it. He is a rich lord, and the price of employment is not cheap. And things like gold coins obviously can't satisfy his appetite.

Kelben stroked his beard. It doesn't matter, we can talk about the conditions slowly. And I think it would be a good idea to form an alliance with him. I heard that some merchants brought back spices and weapons from Blue Winter City last year. These are the commodities that Waterdeep City needs. .”

Ask Sanjiang, ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Ask for collection

Broad World

Chapter 78 Conditions

After the lord voted, everyone unanimously approved the proposal to hire Henry and his party, and the Kelben couple went to the council for further negotiations. After lunch time, the couple came to the door of Hawke's house. Laila saw Ares at the door playing with his tail biting. She laughed and said to her husband, Haha! It's so interesting to see that brown bear. , but its behavior looks a little silly.

Kelben stroked his beard and smiled. This must be the animal companion of the lord, but it does look very joyous. After speaking, the two started to move forward, Ares stopped the game and stood up to stare at the two vigilantly. Let out a low growl to warn the Kelben couple not to approach. The instinct of animals made Ares feel the danger.

Kelben comforted the somewhat irritable brown bear. Don't be afraid of the big guys, we have no hostility. Now let me go and knock on the door.

Henry heard Ares' low growl in the living room, and he walked out immediately. As soon as he went out, he saw Lila's iconic silver hair, and a man holding a black cane was stuck beside her. He immediately realized who the two people in front of him were. Henry tidied up his clothes and walked over to stroke Ares to calm him down, then saluted the two of them. Welcome, Master Kelben, and of course your beautiful Lady Laila.

Kelben looked at Henry and resumed his usual serious expression. Earl Henry, I'm here to discuss something with you on behalf of the council. The situation is a bit critical now, let's go in and talk. Henry was stunned for a while, although he knew that Kelben was one of the lords of Waterdeep City, But it never occurred to him that he would be the negotiating representative. You must know that this legendary mage is notoriously serious, and he is known for keeping secrets. An adventurer once broke the news that he asked Kelben about the details of the mission after accepting the employment, but the archmage only said nine words: You know so much is enough. Henry couldn't imagine what it would be like to negotiate with this voter.

After inviting these two legendary mages into the living room, he couldn't wait to ask: Excuse me, what happened, I don't think the council would invite you two out if there were no major events.

Lyra glanced at her husband. You know the sneak attack last night. These dark elves connected to the city below the mountain, and they also trapped the black robe of Rast in the mage's tower. Now it's a mess down there. I'm afraid the monsters there are going to riot. We hope If I can hire you, I can go to the city below the mountain to rescue him, otherwise Waterdeep City will soon face a steady stream of attacks.

Hearing the news, Henry frowned tightly, this matter was too dangerous. Not to mention the huge number and variety of monsters there, the dark elves' army alone is enough to kill him several times. Moreover, the spirit of the mad mage has not been very normal in the underground, if he attacks himself indiscriminately at that time, he will die. Although he really wanted to form an alliance with Waterdeep City, if he wanted to use himself as cannon fodder, forget it.

Thinking of this, Henry raised his head with a serious expression and said to Lila, I'm sorry Ma'am, I'm not capable enough to deal with this matter. The city under the mountain is too dangerous for me, so I can't agree to this request.

After hearing Henry's refusal, Lila turned to look at her husband, and Kelben thought for a while with his head down. Please don't refuse in a hurry. We will provide you with some necessary support for this operation. If this mission is successful, as long as you promise not to become a member of the evil camp, the following spells from the Legend of Lila and I will permanently grant you Open. And Waterdeep will ally itself with your domain.

Hearing Kelben's promise Henry was a little excited, he knew what Kelben's magic warehouse meant. As one of the richest and most magic masters in the mainland, he possesses almost all spells below legend. Although this operation is very dangerous, wealth and wealth are in danger. After secretly making up his mind, he raised his head and asked: Master, your proposal is very powerful. May I ask what your support for this operation includes?

Kelben nodded. Of course, it includes a scroll that can break the magic seal. At that time, you only need to activate it in front of the mage tower in Helast's black robe, and the entire magic shield clothed by the dark elves will disappear. There are also some transformations for camouflage The ring, you only need to wear it to turn into any human creature. This will help you sneak into the dark elves' territory. Finally, you can go to my warehouse and pick two items to take away.

Henry thought for a while and asked the last question. There is still one biggest problem that has not been resolved, and that is how to ensure that I will not be attacked after the operation is successful. You must know that this is a legendary mage. If he wants to make a move, I have no room to resist.

Kelben sighed. To be honest, I don't have any good solutions. How about I give you a teleportation badge. If you find that he has attacking intentions, you can activate this. It will summon all creatures within fifteen meters around you to my mage tower Before. Hailast was very sensible when he was on the ground, and we will negotiate with him in person.

After getting some security guarantees, Henry took over the task. Kelben took out a magic scroll and five transformation rings, and told Henry to go to his mage tower tomorrow morning to pick two magic items. He then teleported out of Hawk's house with Lila. Henry called all his subordinates out to discuss it, and finally decided who to act together. There are only half-orc warrior Vaughan and mage Debra, and Ares has no way to carry it. Its bulky body will be easily found after it reaches the ground.

After distributing the rings to the two, Henry said to Hawke: Sir, we are going on a dangerous journey now, and Waterdeep City is not safe now. Get rid of the goods on the ship as soon as possible, and bring Juliet, Mia and Ares leaves the city.

Hawk looked at Henry worriedly. Count, there is no need for you to take risks. Our territory is already rich enough. If we need allies, we can go to Amn. I believe they will not refuse you.

Henry smiled. I'm not just here for the alliance, but more importantly, if I complete this mission, the door to magic will be completely opened to me in the future. In order to obtain stronger power in the future, it is worth taking some risks now.

Hawk saw that Henry had made up his mind and stopped dissuading him. He straightened his clothes, stood up and bowed solemnly and asked, Then I wish you a smooth journey. I will help you deal with the matter of the territory, please. Don't worry. How should I answer if your family asks?

Henry touched his chin. Just say that I am discussing the details of the alliance in Deep Water City, and don't tell Shikodi and my mother the details.

The old captain sighed. Okay, I'll keep it a secret from them for the time being, but please return as soon as possible, this kind of thing can't be kept secret for long.

After dealing with the matter of the territory, Henry turned around and said to Debra, who was sorting out the magic items, How does it feel to be going to the city under the mountain, are you nervous?

The mage looked up at him. It's similar to the feeling I just joined the Arcane Brotherhood. The surroundings are full of danger and hostility, and I may die at any time. But I'm used to it. Only such an environment can hone a strong will. Seeing Debra's understatement Having said this, Henry no longer worried about her condition. Obviously this woman has learned how to protect herself in a dangerous environment, and to regulate her emotions at any time.

The half-orc warrior Vaughn was cleaning his armor. This was the first time Henry saw him maintaining his armor. Patting him on the shoulder Henry said, Are you nervous?

Vaughan glanced in surprise and said, Is it that obvious? I think I'm doing pretty well.

Henry sighed and said to him, I've known you for so long, and this is the first time I saw you oiling your armor. Only those who are nervous will subconsciously do things that they wouldn't do at all.

Vaughan dropped the armor in his hand and sat down on the chair. He touched the scar on his arm. Very nervous indeed. I've heard of the fame of Downhill City when I was wandering in the North. Elminster said: It's the place where the most famous adventurers are famous, and the greatest heroes that people know The mound. Thousands of adventurers die in it every year, and I'm not sure I'll make it out alive.

Henry looked at the orc warrior, his glasses were full of uneasiness and worry. Vaughn still remember what I said at the door yesterday, everything in this world can only be won by ourselves. Now we are about to go through a so-called adventure before, and if we succeed, we will get huge wealth, The reputation will also resound all over the west coast. Everyone who sees you will cheer for it, and no one will discriminate against you because of race in the future. You can get so much in one adventure, what are you still hesitating about! afraid of what!

After hearing these words, the half-orc warrior opened his mouth and laughed. He patted his chest. Boss, you're right. I'm a soldier, and those thoughts of looking forward and backward are not suitable for me. I'm fine now, thank you for your enlightenment. Henry patted Vaughn's arm with a smile and went upstairs rest.

The next morning, a group of people came to Kelben's mage tower. Lila brought Henry to the storage warehouse. She pointed to the huge warehouse and said, You can choose two of all the magic items here at will. After you choose them, you can leave with your friends. In addition, this is a transmission badge for you. , activate it if danger arises.

Henry took the badge and said to her: Don't worry, ma'am, I will complete this task.

Lyra pinned a lock of her hair behind her ear. Don't be brave, return first if you encounter danger. I don't want to kill an innocent person because of this.

Henry smiled and put the badge next to his body. I will do what I can. It's not my style to take risks. After speaking, he began to walk around the warehouse, carefully selecting every magic item.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

;

Chapter 79: The Remains of the City Under the Mountain

Henry, who was in the ocean of magic items, was almost dazzled by picking things. There are tens of thousands of amulets, boots, hats, headbands, rings, staffs, robes, gloves, etc. It's worthy of being one of the richest mages in Faerun, he sighed silently. After two hours, he came out with an amulet and a pair of boots. After saying goodbye to the owner of the mage tower, the group immediately rushed to the entrance of the city down the mountain. On the way, Henry carefully checked the details of the two magic items.

Boots of Speed: The Claws of the Cheetah, these enchanted boots belong to a relentless killer. He loves to hunt down his victims, and even his victims on horseback cannot escape him because of his speed. Slowly, the killer's reputation spread. Although no one knew his real name, everyone knew the last sentence the victim heard: You can hide, but you can't escape!

Equipment capacity:

accelerate

Psychic Barrier Amulet: This is an amulet made by Kelben as part of the Mastermind Killing System during his adventures, and it resists the psychic powers of any mind flayers.

Equipment capacity:

Immune to intelligence drain

immune to charm

immune domination

After seeing the attributes, he put on his boots and put on the amulet. It didn't take long for the half-orc warrior to notice that Henry was walking much faster than usual. He looked up suspiciously. Head, why did you suddenly speed up?

After stopping, Henry turned around and pointed to the boots on his feet and said, The boots of speed, the magic item I just got from Kelben's warehouse, I think you must have heard of its name. Now I can't Very good speed control, so go a little faster.

Vaughn's eyes lit up and he looked down at the unremarkable leather boots, showing an envious expression. These are really good boots. When I was in the North, I saw someone wearing them and killed a leader of the bear goblins before walking away. The rest of the monsters could only stand in place and shout. They couldn't catch up. he.

Seeing the half-orc's fiery gaze on the boots, Henry felt that his wish should be granted. The enchanting process of this kind of boots is not too complicated, but it needs some leather with strong magic resistance. I will make a pair for you when I return to the Mage Tower.

Vaughan laughed happily when he heard it. Head, thank you, I can't wait for what you said.

It didn't take long for the group to arrive at the entrance of the mountain city. This is a spiral staircase extending downwards, and you can't see your fingers inside. Debra picked up a small stone on the ground and threw it, and it took a full five minutes to hear a landing echo. It's a very deep hole. It seems that we have to go up a long flight of stairs.

Henry blessed Vaughn's ax with a light spell and said to him: Vaughn, you lead, I'm in the middle, Debra, you follow at the end. The half-orc warrior nodded and walked down the spiral staircase without a word, the two people behind followed closely. Henry walked along the stairs while observing the surrounding environment.

Here before the establishment of Waterdeep City, Helast Heipao had already begun to excavate huge underground ruins. He summoned and captured various monsters, built a huge maze, and finally piled up countless treasures in it. It attracts a large number of adventurers every year. Countless people used their bravery and lives to please this crazy mage. In Henry's view, he is simply the perfect combination of reason and madness, more like a legendary archmage than Kelben and Elminster. As for the red robes, the City of Shadows, the Guild of Masked Mages, etc., they have deviated from the original intention of magic and have become a political tool.

After a long journey, everyone finally finished the stairs. They stood on the ground and looked up at the entrance above. It has become a small bright spot that has become inconspicuous. Henry took a deep breath and said to the other two people: Be vigilant from now on. This is the legendary mountain town where monsters gather. Try not to speak unless necessary. We communicate with sign language or mouth movements.

Debra took out a ribbon from her body and tied her hair up. She took out the crossbow made by Henry, hung up the bowstring, loaded the crossbow and held it in her hand. After everyone was ready to work, the half-orc warrior walked in the front with a glowing axe. Everyone keeps a distance of about five meters. If there is danger, this distance can not only provide quick rescue, but also prevent everyone from stepping into the trap together. The three of them proceeded cautiously along the cave. They were in the dark underground, and they couldn't hear a sound except breathing, which made people feel very depressed.

I don't know how long I walked, maybe only a few hours, maybe it has been a day. Suddenly the orc warrior in front squatted down, he turned his head and made a gesture to stop advancing. The two people behind approached carefully, and Vaughan pointed to a cave ahead.

Henry took a closer look, and there were many creatures about one meter long. They had black scaly skins, and even if they were so far away, they could smell the smell of a stinky ditch. The eyes of these guys are very bright with red light, and there are two small brown horns growing on the top of their heads. Henry quickly determined the identities of these little monsters, kobolds! There are at least a few hundred here, and perhaps a few kobold warlocks among them. After thinking about it for a few minutes, he decided to make a strong attack. After all, most kobolds are weak in combat and there is still a long way to go, so we can't waste too much time here.

He turned around and made an attack gesture to his two partners, then began to chant spells. The half-orc warrior rushed out after getting the permission to fight, and he chopped down a piece instantly with two axes in his hand. The kobolds behind reacted quickly, and they threw their spears and javelins one after another, but these had no effect on Vaughn who was wearing full body armor.

Soon Henry's spell was completed, and a monster immobilization body fixed a large number of kobolds in place. Then Debra's fireball exploded among them, and a large number of kobolds were blown to pieces, charred corpses and internal organs flying everywhere. Vaughan rushed into the cave along the bloody road, and suddenly shot a Ma Youfu Acid Arrow from the depths of the cave and hit his helmet. The orc warrior took it off and threw it aside, the acid eating away a hole in the helmet and scratching a bit of skin in just a second.

There are three kobold warlocks here! Vaughn shouted behind him. Hearing his words, Henry rushed over immediately, and released a flash spell into the cave, and the three kobolds were instantly stunned by the strong light. The orc warriors rushed over and decapitated two of the fellows, and Debra pierced the last warlock's eye with a crossbow bolt. The three kobold warlocks were killed, and the rest were basically old, weak, sick and disabled. After seeing the leader's death, they dropped their weapons and turned and fled into the depths of the mine. Henry didn't pursue it. He simply searched the tribe's warehouse and seized a little mithril and more than 20 gems.

Vaughan touched his acid-burned scalp and said to Henry, Boss, my helmet is broken.

Here, this is the last one. I only brought a spare set of armor. Henry took out the helmet from the dimension belt and threw it over.

Vaughn put on his helmet and clapped twice. Just the right size, hope this lasts a little longer.

Debra looked down at the acid-corroded gash in her helmet. I advise you to be more careful, and don't chase it lightly. There are many monsters at the foot of the mountain. They have been captured from various planes, and they have all sorts of strange spell-like abilities. There is no way to protect yourself by relying on a suit of armor.

The orc warrior nodded. Now I have a deep understanding of this, and I will be more careful in the next journey.

In this case, let's move on, and I hope we won't encounter other monsters. Otherwise, even if it takes a month, we won't be able to reach the mage tower in Hailast. After speaking, Henry led a group of people and continued on their way .

It didn't take long before they encountered a new problem. A huge metal door appeared on the only way. The half-orc warrior bumped it hard a few times and found that it couldn't be opened at all. This gate must be locked, who can tell me what is written on it. Vaughan turned back and asked the two mages behind him.

Debra stepped forward and gently touched the words carved in front of the door with her hands. After a while, she said to Henry: This is the text of ancient Netheril. It means that the road to the past is about to open , the giant's eye is the spoon. The black dragon's blood is the road.

Henry stared wide-eyed. You mean there's a black dragon nearby! And there's a giant! My God, Hylast really knows how to play with adventurers.

The sorceress nodded. According to the prompt above, these two creatures are nearby. We must obtain these two things to pass through. The door is cast with powerful magic, and ordinary mages can't even try to crack it.

Vaughan held the ax tightly, took a few deep breaths, turned his head and said to Henry: Head! Are we going to slay the dragon!

Henry frowned tightly as he looked into the eyes of the orc warrior. I will try my best to obtain dragon blood without fighting, but black dragons are usually not very good-tempered, and they like to sneak attack very much, so you should be prepared to fight. Be careful of acid spit, then the player should Just a little bit of it will instantly corrode your bones.

Vaughn nodded. All the barbarians in my hometown yearn to have a great battle to gain honor. Dragon Slaying is undoubtedly the highest level among them. This is the best test for me, even if I die in this battle There will be regrets.

But I hope everyone can survive, and don't do stupid things during the battle. Henry reminded when he saw his excited and flushed face.

The half-orc warrior beat his breastplate vigorously a few times. Don't worry, I still want to continue to go on adventures with you. This battle is just a grand beginning. Now let's find this dragon first. After speaking, he turned and took the lead to walk to the left fork.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

;

Broad World

Chapter 80 Black Dragon

Walking on the path, Henry whispered to Debra from behind: You can help to watch Vaughn for a while, he is too emotional now. His mind is full of those damn honors, I am worried that he will do something stupid.

The female mage looked at the half-orc warrior walking in front, and then nodded. I'll keep an eye on him, but don't get your hopes up too much. You know, these fighters never care about the consequences once they get their blood on the line.

Hey, let's play it by ear when the time comes. I hope he doesn't rush up as soon as we meet. Henry sighed and caught up with the half-orc warrior in front. As the three of them moved forward, a huge shadow suddenly passed over their heads, and then a barbed tail swept across the ground viciously. Vaughan pushed Henry away vigorously, and used his back to make the sneak attack. The armor behind him was cut wide open by the sharp tail thorn, and bright red blood flowed out from it. He quickly took out a bottle of healing potion from his belt and drank it, then nervously looked at the black figure standing on the stone wall.

Henry quickly got up from the ground, and soon he saw the true face of this huge black shadow. This is an adult black dragon! It has shiny black scales, and the skin around the base of the black horns on the dragon's head and around the cheekbones has degenerated, making it look like a skeleton. Strong limbs and powerful wings all show that this dragon has entered the prime of life.

Just when the great battle was about to break out, the black dragon said in its deep voice: You humble bugs! You are really overwhelmed by your attempts to snatch the property of the great black dragon, Feernicas Duying. Now hand over Give away all the gold, magic items, weapons, and armor you have on you. That way I might consider letting you go.

Henry began to retreat cautiously, keeping a safe distance from the black dragon. After he pushed to a safe place, he tried to negotiate with Fernicas. The great black dragon Fernicas, we are not here to snatch your property. The road ahead is sealed by magic, we only need a little blood from you.

The black dragon's nose spewed out a stream of hot air, and he flapped his wings vigorously a few times and roared: Blood! You despicable guys actually want to make Feernicas bleed! It's impossible! I've changed my mind now! , It's better to kill all of you.” After speaking, he flew into the sky and made a dive, and then sprayed the dragon's breath containing strong acid on the ground.

Find cover! Vaughn yelled loudly, and found a rock to hide behind.

Henry hid behind the rock and quickly took out three protective acid scrolls to bless everyone. The black dragon searched around the top of the cave, shouting while searching: Come out! You dirty little mice, don't think that hiding can make the great Feernicas helpless. I will slowly take you one by one. Find all of them and eat them. After speaking, he began to carefully search every corner and rock crevice around him.

The half-orc warrior took a deep breath and rushed out from behind the rock. He stepped on the uneven part of the wall and quickly climbed to a high place. When he was close to the back of the black dragon, he raised his ax and jumped. The power of one blow reached its limit. The ax slashed heavily on the top of the black dragon's head, and then Feernicas let out a scream, and he immediately slapped Vaughn away with his claws.

The half-orc warrior fell to the ground and coughed up a mouthful of blood. Henry yelled at Vaughan: Run! Be careful of its wings and tail! After speaking, he began to chant spells loudly, trying to attract the attention of the black dragon. .

The black dragon quickly pulled out the ax above its head with its claws. Because of the protection of the dragon's skin and skull, the brain did not receive too much damage. It swung its tail and knocked Vaughn out who had just struggled to stand up. The half-orc warrior hit a hard wall, and spit out another mouthful of blood and fell unconscious on the ground.

You bastards! How dare you hurt the great Feernicas! Be obedient and die! After the black dragon roared, it took another breath towards the passage.

A large amount of acid was sprayed out, most of which were blocked by the invisible stand on his body. However, white smoke still rose from Henry's face and hands, and a few sporadic drops splashed on it and burned his skin. Enduring the pain, Henry cast a level 4 spell Resistance Weakening on the black dragon, and Debra, who was hiding aside, immediately added a Lightning spell. The white electric light directly passed through the black dragon's huge body. Since the spell just now had greatly reduced the magic resistance of its scales, the current made his body twitch. Taking advantage of the black dragon's twitching time, Henry used the speed boots to back up quickly, and started chanting the spell again. The female mage took out a crossbow and shot a piercing arrow.

The arrow directly passed through the big mouth and pierced into the upper jaw of the black dragon.

After Feernicas regained control of his body, he bit off the arrow and vomited it to the ground. Now I'm going to be serious! Let me show you the overwhelming power of the great black dragon Fernicas! After speaking, it also began to chant a spell loudly, and soon the stone skin technique was blessed on the dragon scale. Then it released a plague swarm at Debra, and countless bugs surrounded the female mage and began to bite, making it impossible for her to concentrate on casting spells.

Just as the black dragon was about to rush over to bite, Henry released his spell. The black dragon that had been enchanted by the mentally handicapped spell instantly entered a sluggish state. It had been greatly reduced in resistance just now, but it failed to resist the magic. Henry carefully walked around the front and ran to Feernicas. Then a sixth-level divine spell Injury was released, and huge energy poured into his body through touch. Feernicas's mouth and eyes began to bleed non-stop, and after a few seconds He fell heavily to the ground and did not move.

Seeing that the black dragon was dead, he immediately ran to Debra's side and helped her kill all the bugs. The entire neck and arms of the female mage had already been bitten with countless red spots. She quickly took out a bottle of healing potion and drank it. The red and swollen areas quickly formed small scars.

Seeing that she was fine, Henry ran to Vaughan again. The half-orc warrior's breathing was already very weak, and he didn't dare to neglect to use the last sixth-level divine spell Healing. Powerful natural force poured into Vaughan's body to repair every scar on his body, and Vaughn woke up a few minutes later. He nervously grabbed the ax on the ground and looked around, and soon saw the corpse of the black dragon lying on the ground.

Debra glanced at Vaughn and said to him, I really don't know whether to say you are brave or stupid. You just jumped up and attacked the dragon's head. Don't you know that is the hardest part of their body? In this case, remember to attack the abdomen, which is the most vulnerable part of the dragon.

The half-orc warrior dropped his ax and didn't care about the female mage's taunt. He laughed and walked to Henry. Head! We have completed a dragon slaying! This is an incomparable honor. If we bring the dragon head back to the surface, it will immediately attract countless bards.

I hope you won't be so impulsive next time, you know? If I'm a few minutes late, you'll die! After speaking, Henry began to use magic to heal the burns on his face and hands.

Vaughn patted his face hard, forcing his brain to calm down. After today's battle, I will never be so impulsive again. Also thank you for saving me.

Okay, that's the end of the post-war summary. Debra and I will be responsible for collecting some dragon blood, and Vaughan will help you peel the skin and extract the bones. The body of a dragon is a huge treasure, and these are the best magic Materials. Said Henry began to take two people to deal with the black dragon's body.

After a lot of work, they peeled off the black dragon skin, pulled out the dragon's bones, and finally collected a large amount of dragon blood. The dragon's head was chopped off by the orc warriors and put into a dimensional bag. Henry was going to deal with it and hang it in his bedroom. This was a rare trophy. Then everyone explored further, and found Fernicas's lair not far away. The scattered gold coins and gems dazzled Vaughn's eyes, and he grabbed a handful and threw them out vigorously. We're rich! Look at the treasure. No wonder the poets keep singing the dragon-slaying warriors. It's unbelievable.

Debra squatted down and picked up a few gems, looked at them and suggested to Henry. We'd better keep these gold coins and gems separately, and put them aside if we find other things. Finally, we will see if they are magic items.

Henry nodded. Come on, let's rest here after sorting out these treasures. Generally, there are no other monsters around the black dragon's lair. Henry said as he took out the dimension bag and handed it to Vaughn. This kind of physical work has always been done by Soldiers do it. The half-orc warrior carried the bag and desperately filled it with gold coins, while Debra used a few small cloth bags to pick out the gems and sort them.

An hour later, Henry stood up with a sore back and a sore back. He hammered his waist hard and stood up. It's finally finished, now let me identify these two magic items. As he spoke, he performed an identification technique on an ax on the ground, and the information soon appeared in his mind.

Cracking Throwing Axe:

This throwing ax is one of the most magically powerful weapons of its kind. Its pattern is generally owned by dwarves, but no dwarves in Faerûn have yet expressed any kinship to the pattern's author. This has led some to suggest that it may not have been at the hands of the ground dwarves, but another plane. The dwarves scoffed at the notion, and of course the Maker had no time for inquisitive scholars.

special power:

The greater the strength during the throwing process, the higher the damage

Fly back to the user's hand after being thrown

It's a throwing axe, which suits Vaughn well. Henry handed it to the half-orc warrior and said, The name of this magic ax is called the Throwing Axe. Every time it is thrown, it will automatically return to the user's hand. I think it suits you very well. Vaughan accepted it happily He came over and stroked the ax blade carefully, rubbing it with leather several times before pinning it to his belt. He opened his mouth wide and smiled and said, Head! Thank you. Now I also have a magic weapon of my own, and it will follow me and become famous everywhere. Henry smiled and continued to identify the next item .

Displacement Cloak

A displacement cloak causes the wearer's image to shift slightly. The wearer can choose a direction, and his image will appear in that direction, with a certain distance from his real location. Combat defenses aside, it can be quite tiring for a companion's eyes.

Equipment capability

Ranged weapons will no longer be able to aim

Able to resist death and breath

Henry handed the cloak to the female mage. She doesn't have level 4 spells yet, and her protection against physical attacks is still too weak. Debra said thank you after taking it, and put it on her body. In an instant, her figure began to become very blurred, and many double images appeared.

Ask for a click, ask for a recommendation. Ask for collection

;