Chapter 10

The three huge Alphas immediately roared when they saw what was all over their girl's body.

Cuts and bruises. The most obvious to their eyes were what looked like scratch marks covering her stomach and thigh.

"What the fuck are these?!" Declan with red eyes like a burning flame, signaling that Draco was about to take over and showed his anger, he roared at the state of his girl.

"S... She... was whipped?" Alysa's soft voice made the three of them immediately realize that there was someone other than them who saw these wounds all over their naked girl's body.

Instantly, the room was almost in chaos. Alysa is a female Lycan. They also have the same sensitivity as male Lycan. From the corner of her eyes, she saw Luca was ready to attack in her direction. Alysa quickly dodged to the room's other side, protecting herself from the raging monster.

position ready to pounce on Alysa.

"A-Alpha... I'm here to help. Please..." In the corner of the room, Alysa whimpered in fear.

"Luca!" Declan and Finn swiftly blocked and stopped their brother who was already in a

Her body trembling as she lowered her head, didn't even dare to look at Luca's burning red eyes.

"If you dare talk about this to other people outside this room. I'll fucking kill you!" It was

"I-I promise, I promise!" Alysa bopped her head repeatedly and Lorcan stepped back, looking at her still with his warning eyes but didn't plan to attack her anymore.

"She will keep her word. Leave it to me if she breaks her promise."

Alysa instantly looked up and met eyes with Finn. Her teary eyes got bigger the moment she found out that it was Finn who spoke so coldly to her.

Lorcan. He warned her with his authority.

heart she received.

that. He told her the moment he approached her.

It's like the moment he found her mate, she was nobody to him. He didn't want her anymore.

Alysa gulped down her sadness and broken heart. She nodded and bowed, trying not to let any tears out of her eyes. This was the consequence when you dating with unmated male or female. Once they find their mate, they can never avoid or resist the mate bond, this especially happens around Lycans and werewolves.

Lycans were ancient creatures. They were the purest of their kind. Mate bond is sacred and none of them can resist it.

Finn surely saw how disappointed her expression was. But of course, he didn't think much about it. Alysa knew from the start that he just wanted her to warm his bed, no more than

She tried to understand it and hoped that she would find her mate soon to heal the broken

After a few minutes of silence. Alysa back to her work and the triplets cleaned up their mate's body gently.

Her body was too small for her age. Before this, Alysa told them that she guessed her age to be around nineteen or twenty. If that's true, then she is a petite girl. Moreover, her skinny figure made her look even more fragile.

wounds on her back not long ago.

The triplets didn't want anyone to know this news because of some reason. They needed her permission to let other people know and the triplets didn't want anyone to think bad about

The cuts and bruises were worse on her back. Those were fresh cuts. She just got these their mate. Especially when these bruises, cuts, and wounds indicate that she often got tortured and sexually harassed. She needs their protection from the outside world. They broke her enough already.

Luca wiped her hands and body gently, so slowly wiped her with the soft warm towel. Cleaned all the dirt on her body, softly avoiding her wound. His hands looked soft, in Contrast to his hard expression.

Luca was concentrating on wiping and cleaning his baby girl, fighting Lorcan to come out to the surface and flying to attack everyone he thought had already harmed their mate. His eyes flashed from blue to dark red and back to blue. Lorcan was flaming inside his head. Howling and growling in anger, looking at his mate's poor condition.

This condition did not only happen to Luca. Declan and Draco, Finn and Oscar were also fighting silently with each other. Their Lycans desperately wanted to come out and tear anyone's flesh that touched their girl this way. But their human instinct didn't want to do it

Finn was wiping her legs and Declan was brushing and cleaning her long hair when someone knocked on the door.

The tension in that room was so intense that Alysa almost couldn't breathe while checking right now because they knew, their mate needed them right now.

and taking note of any wounds on this girl's body.

happens."

anymore.

position, helping him.

little because they could hear her little gulp.

"Come in," Declan spoke. He didn't take his eyes off his mate that still lying unconscious on the bed. They knew who was standing behind the door.

"Alphas, here is the potion that she needed. It will restore her energy faster than it naturally Myrna told them as soon as she entered the room. The triplets nodded their head in agreement and Alysa immediately took the potion from the witch.

"We need to make sure that she drinks this. At least she swallowed it a little and that would be fine."

"Give it to me." Declan took the little bowl from Alysa and the other two Alphas took their "Baby, can you hear me? You need to drink this and you'll be fine. You need to wake up soon, I want to see your eyes, baby girl, I want to see you open your eyes for me." Luca spoke softly with his deep voice. Kissing the top of her head, followed by his two brothers.

by little into her slightly open lips.

Finn massages her throat very gently to make her swallow it. Even though some of it flowed on the sides of her mouth, the three of them were sure, that their mate already swallow it a

Declan slipped his big hand under her neck and lifted her head a little, Finn gently opened her lips and jaw, meanwhile, Luca put the bowl closer to her lips and poured the liquid little

The triplets let out a little breath they were holding. A single sound even if it was her body system they could hear from her, already made them relief and super excited.

A few hours ago was the most terrifying moment of their life. The three of them were ready to tear the entire werewolf clan if this girl in their arms was gone. They are even ready to give up on life and follow their mate to the afterlife if they can't live with her in this world

A few seconds passed, all of them hoping that the potion work as soon as possible. Looking forward to any good changes in their girl's fragile condition.

A tiny gasp made them instantly perked up. The Alphas, along with Myrna and Alysa, looked at her with their full attention. Especially with the triplets, they desperately wanted to Lilly tried to move but her body felt so weak, she didn't have any energy. She tried to open her eyes and finally managed to see what was happening around her.

"You are safe here now, Love..."

see her awake and open her eyes.