

Chapter 11

"You will be safe now, Love. You'll be fine..."

That was the words Lilly could hear before she went back to her slumber again.

The triplets looked at their mate desperately and confused as she was going to open her eyes but then she closed it just before they could see what is the color of her eyes.

"Baby?" Finn stroked her cheek softly.

"Why isn't she wake up? What's wrong?" Panic instantly rushed back to their blood as soon as Lilly closed her eyes and didn't respond to any of their calling.

"Love?" Luca stroked her forehead lightly and the three of them looked back to Myrna with their frowned forehead.

The beautiful witch sighed heavily, she had been living in this world for so long and had seen so many reactions from the 'love over heels' men or women. Exactly, like this.

Always hasty, always impatient. They even couldn't see what was happening in detail and that made her almost roll her eyes.

"Alphas... She is tired. She also wants to wake up but her body is tired..." Myrna spoke with her bright tone but her flat face told them that she was bored with their love-sick puppy behavior.

"She needed rest. Let her sleep." Myrna said once again before turning her heels and ready to get out of the room.

"She is fine now right?" Declan asked her and Myrna tightened her lips.

"Yes, Alpha. She is and she will gain more energy and rest if you don't surround her and suffocate the air around her. Give her space!"

With that, she took quick steps and got out of the room.

The three of them quickly looked at their little mate and each other. That was true. They were always standing so close to her, touching her, even the light from outside the window and the light from the bulb in the ceiling couldn't reach Lilly because they always standing so close and towering her little body. 1

"I-I'll get Luna the IV," Alysa spoke just before she shut closed the door. 1

Suddenly the room filled with silence as the triplets looked at each other. Their hands still holding their mates. Declan was still brushing her hair softly, Luca was holding her little fingers meanwhile Finn didn't want to let go of her delicate and bruised wrist.

"Step back, she needs some air," Declan spoke to her brothers with eyes still looking at them intimidatingly.

"You step back." Finn spat out with a low growl. He didn't want to wake his little mate.

"Enough, all of us, give her some air." Luca finally let out his opinion and soon the three of them took a step back.

Declan sighed and took another step back before the other two followed him.

"I'm sorry, I just can't take my eyes and hands off of her," Finn admitted. He rubbed her thumb to the inside of Lilly's wrists gently, hoping that it would help shoot her pain.

"Me too," Luca said and Declan nodded in agreement.

"I can't believe we finally met her. She is here. I mean this whole time she actually existed and we didn't even know about her condition." Finn sadly spoke while looking at her face. He swears will revenge on his mate in any way possible. Whoever did this, didn't deserve death.

"You are right. I felt like a very bad mate letting her live in such horrible conditions and treating her like this." Declan spoke out his guiltiness.

"Do you think she will accept us?" After a few seconds of silence, Luca finally let out his mind. He didn't take his eyes off his little mate.

"What do you mean?" Declan frowned. Finn was also looking at his brother like Luca already losing his mind.

"Didn't you see? She didn't want to come back even though we already call her to go back. Myrna needed to pull her out in force, if not, she will..."

"No. That's not happening." Declan and Finn cut his words, growling lowly and looking at Luca dangerously. They didn't want to hear any harmful words toward their girl.

"I mean..." Luca sighed and finally looked back at his two brothers.

"There is a possibility that she won't accept us. Just see what she's been going through. We knew what happened to her... from her wound..." Luca gulped down the bitterness in his throat. Seeing his mate in this condition made him sad, angry, and restless.

"She probably didn't want anyone, she just wanted to rest..." Luca finished his words and his two brothers knew what he meant by that last sentence.

"I will never accept her rejection. She will never reject me. I'll make sure of that. I will never allow her to reject me." Finn's last words were said by Oscar. His animalistic voice startled his two brothers immediately sending him a glare.

"Lower your voice, Oscar, Don't worry she will not reject us," Declan warns him, and Finn's pupils back to blue.

"Yes. But remember. We need to do everything slowly and never scare her. Make her comfortable in any way possible. She is our queen, she must be treated that way, Nothing can harm her anymore." Luca told them and they nodded in agreement.

"We'll talk about those motherfuckers who treated her this way. They will never pass our rage. Death will be the best gift for them." Declan's eyes flashed between blue and red. Draco was present and gave them his sinister idea of how to handle the bastards.

"Of course. For now, we need to make sure that her condition is getting better. She is our priority now." Luca said.

"Yes." Finn nodded and suddenly he remembered something that they wanted to find out the moment they found their mate."

"What color do you think her eyes are?" He asked excitedly. The three of them immediately looked at their mate's closed eyes. Sighing dreamily Luca stroked her chin and shrugged his shoulder.

"No matter what it is, it must be beautiful. She is beautiful. She is the most beautiful girl I have ever met." Luca smiled softly while praying constantly in his heart that this baby of his will open her eyes soon for them.

"Yes. You are right. She is the most beautiful girl I have ever seen in my entire life! Her current condition didn't even cover the beauty, I can't wait the moment she healed and her condition got better and we can..."

Finn didn't realize that he took steps closer to their mate while touching and rubbing her hand all over. Hypnotized by the mate bond and their beautiful mate.

"Stop it, Finn. Get yourself together. She needed to get well first and accepted us. Keep your hands to yourself." Declan smacked his hand from Lilly's and Finn pouted in response.

"You didn't think that way? I can't stop thinking about how she tastes, her scent makes me crazy." Finn's low growl showed that Oscar was present and agreed with his words.

"Of course, we feel the same way. Only you show it like a dog in heat." Declan spoke to him indifferently, while Luca seemed to not care about his two brothers bickering.

Yes, he did feel the same way as Finn and Declan. His little mate alluring her made him feel like he could pounce at her at any moment and keep her for himself, have his way with her. But he knew that she couldn't accept any harsh or sexual activity right now. She needs her time.

But one thing that lingers in his mind now.

"What is she?"

"Huh?" Finn confusingly looked at him.

"I mean... I can't sense any scent of the particular mythical creature on her... What do you think she is?"
